How to Make Good Coffee.

You published from the Atlanta Constitution a Georgia woman's receipe for making coffee. It's nonsense. Her coffee is "allowed to boil awhile. Thus she gets rid of the fine aroma and extracts the tannin, which is not healthful. Now, let any woman who has not a reputation for fine coffee try this recipe: Buy the best coffee and grind it to the consistency of corn meal. Into a French teapot put an ounce of coffee for every person. One pound of coffee will make sixteen caps, and no more. Have everything clean, and as soon as the water in the kettle begins to boil moisten the coffee and leave it to soak and swell for three minutes: then add a little more water; don't be in a hurry; continue to add water until you have obtained not more than a large coffee cupful of the extract. If carefully done the entire virtue of the coffee will be in the cupful of liquor at the end of five minutes. For four persons use a quart of pure milk and have it piping hot; heat the large cups by pouring into them hot water; now divide the coffee into the four cups, each of which will be onequarter full; fill with the boiling milk. This is pure breakfast coffee, the coffee of the gods, of which no man after drinking would be so base as to call for a second cup. Such coffee cannot be had at any restaurant in New York. He that drinketh it this morning will be unhappy if he fails to get it to-morrow morning. But these instructions must be followed to the letter .- C. D. L. in N. Y. Times.
