THE NORTH CAROLINA FAYETTEVILLE, N. C. WEDNESDAY MORNING, AUGUST 6, 1859.

Mexico. "Ten" the Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Sun, writes to that paper with reference to the supposed contemplated regulation of this happy country. We cannot vouch for the reliability of the statements; but from the usual correctness of the correspondent, it may be regarded as being true. "It is believed that a very extensive military and political movement is now on foot in this country, with the purpose of uniting in a plan for the re-organization of Mexico. About ten thousand men, already been enrolled as 'Knights of the Order of the Montezumas.' Funds of the order of war have been, or will be, fully provided. The enterprise is headed by General Santa Anna, and adequate American arms will be supplied by the United States Government. The whole debt, foreign and domestic, would be a 'dead-weight,' as Mr. Disraeli would say, in comparison with the revenue to be derived from her vast mineral and agricultural wealth."

FATAL ACCIDENT.—We learn that an accident occurred at Leland's station on the Western Rail Road on Wednesday last by which a negro woman was killed and a black man severely injured. We have been unable to learn the particulars, more than that the hands were making an excavation and the dirt fell on the woman and man, smothering the former and severely injuring the latter. In endeavoring to extricate them, Mr. Foshee, a very estimable gentleman, one of the officers strained himself too much, from the effects of which, we regret to say, he is now very low.

REMOVAL.—The Post Office is to be removed to the building one door west of Mr. George Lauder's Marble Factory. On and after Monday next the mail will be supplied from that place.—Mr. Cook is entitled to the thanks of the public for this removal in the right direction.

The following article we clip from a recent number of the Constitutionalist. It is well timed and appropriate, and is well worth a perusal: "THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY.—These are trite and true observations, and applicable to all things—that it is much easier to fly than to remedy—easier to suggest reforms than to accomplish them—and easier to denounce than to intelligently and zealously cooperate. Acting upon the principle that it is easier to oppose the measures of the Democratic party, than to suggest and sustain different measures in their stead, the friends of the Union, the old opponents of our party have organized themselves under the name and style of the opposition party. They are many the friends of the policy and measures of the Democracy; but they are not so generous enough not to allow the people to know and examine the principles which they desire to see inaugurated in the place of those they oppose."

Paris, Monday, July 27, 1859. Messrs. Editors: Our community was startled this morning by the announcement that Mr. Benjamin D. Williamson, a well known citizen of this place, had committed suicide by throwing himself from a window of the Hollingshead Hotel. Upon proceeding to the hotel, I learned that deceased had been laboring for some time with a violent attack of mania, and yesterday was something better and came out of his room and stayed some time in the park. Nothing was seen of him from late yesterday evening when he went to his bed, until about the middle of this morning, at which time officers Myle and Pillow of the watch who were passing in front of the hotel heard a window raised and immediately afterward a loud crash as if some heavy body falling on the roof, they immediately ran to the roof, and there discovered the body of the deceased lying upon the ground in the agonies of death; they instantly gave the alarm but before any assistance arrived he expired. The window from which he jumped is in the fifth story of the building and the fall was such that it extended from the second story landing to the ground, and he was crushed into a shapeless mass; as it was, very little external injury was sustained, but it is thought that nearly every bone in his body was broken.

Child's Elopement. The daughter of Mr. E. G. Root, of Genoa, in this State, a young lady of thirteen years of age, eloped from her father's residence on Saturday afternoon last, and arrived here yesterday morning, but at what time she arrived here, she does not say. She was accompanied by a man, who she says is a stranger, and who she says is a man of police was arrested at her residence, on Monday street, by an uncle of the girl, and information was given to the Chief of Police, who immediately proceeded to the depot, and after a thorough inquiry, was convinced that the girl had eloped from her father's residence, and had been conveyed to the depot by a man in one of Caspar Cord's carriages. The Chief of Police immediately proceeded to the depot, and after a thorough inquiry, was convinced that the girl had eloped from her father's residence, and had been conveyed to the depot by a man in one of Caspar Cord's carriages. The Chief of Police immediately proceeded to the depot, and after a thorough inquiry, was convinced that the girl had eloped from her father's residence, and had been conveyed to the depot by a man in one of Caspar Cord's carriages.

What her object or desire was in fleeing from her parents, she would not divulge; but the fact of a young child of thirteen having the nerve and will to attempt such an act, and carry it out almost to completion, is a sufficient lesson in our minds, that Young America has taken up its quarters in the female sex.—Buffalo Rep.

Romance Extraordinary. On Friday last week, two individuals, calling themselves Jack and Charlie, made their appearance in the streets of Fayetteville, and through their town the latter attracted much attention—appearance, voice and manner seeming to indicate that he could not justly claim to be of the sterner sex. His companion Jack had drunk very freely, and he was somewhat tipsy, and he was accompanied by a young girl of thirteen, who he had just rescued from the hands of a man who had been carrying her off to a house in the town. The girl was very beautiful, and she was very young, and she was very much attracted to the man who had rescued her. The man who had rescued her, was a man of police, and he was very much attracted to the girl. The man who had rescued her, was a man of police, and he was very much attracted to the girl.

THE SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN says that the word "single" as applied to thin pieces of wood for covering or roofing houses, is peculiarly American, and is never used in such a sense in Great Britain. Shingle houses are also peculiar to this country, and there are few classes of machinery on which more ingenuity has been expended.

ACTIVITY OF NAPOLEON.—A private letter from the seat of war, says that since the active work began Napoleon knocks up two horses every day, being in the saddle from four o'clock in the morning; and some of his generals have just reached Paris for a new supply from the imperial stables. His indefatigable inspection of all matters involving supply, commissariat and reinforcements, was the theme of the whole army.

NOVEL MODE OF PENITENCE.—Jefferson county, Texas, has no jail, in lieu of which prisoners sentenced to confinement are fastened, night and day, to a rack in the public square by a chain attached to the ankle. If the prisoner's offence is light or he has previously borne a good character, he is allowed an umbrella to protect himself from the sun and rain.

SEA BATHING AT CAPE MAY.—The beach at Cape May presents an odder scene during bathing time. It would seem as if a regiment of light-armed were enjoying a dip in Old Neptune's domain. There is no mark to distinguish age or sex, all are placed upon a common level. Here is an old fellow with the dimensions of Lambert, and another old fellow vainly endeavoring to drown himself under the idea that he is going to improve his health thereby. THE SOUTH CAROLINIAN, published at Columbia, contains a long and elaborate communication from Hon. E. W. Pickens, Governor of South Carolina, on the political history of this country. It was written to clear Mr. Calhoun and President Polk from certain allegations contained in Col. Benton's "Thirty Years in the United States Senate," relating to the annexation of Texas, the Texas, the visit of Mr. Pickens to Mr. Polk, the dismissal of Messrs. Blair & Rives from the "Government organ," and many other matters of interest. The publication of this remarkable "refutation" would have been made at an earlier period, but for the death of Col. Benton in the spring of 1858. As Mr. Pickens was the original and sole depository of the facts upon which Col. Benton's representations are alleged to have been founded, he deems it proper at this time to make public a full and true statement of everything that transpired in the visit alluded to by Col. Benton.—N. Y. Day Book.

A YOUNG LADY ON DRILL.—While drilling recruits, a Liverpool sergeant discovered among the ranks a very pretty girl disguised in male attire. She had been permitted by the United States to go to the seat of war in order to gain military insight into war tactics by observation of the contending powers, have been refused passage to Europe, and she has been returned to her parents. TERRIFIC GYAT STORM.—The Louisville Journal says that a terrific storm of gats prevailed in that city on the night of the 6th ult. Places of amusements were rendered unbearable. They were snowed out of the scene by a great deluge of water, and the public square by a chain attached to the ankle. If the prisoner's offence is light or he has previously borne a good character, he is allowed an umbrella to protect himself from the sun and rain.

ITALIAN GIRLS.—The idea of a girl in Italy is indissolubly connected with that of a being devoid of self moral sense, infallibly preferring wrong to right, and who can only be kept from harm and evil by the most incessant watchfulness. A mother's whole parental duty toward her daughter seems considered in Italy to be comprehended in the one act of vigilance. "My daughter has never been, since she was nine years old, out of sight for more than twenty minutes at a time," said an Italian countess boastfully; and by her declaration she appeared to think that she never could take rank in life in Italy is practically a perpetual marriage. Into society she must not enter; neither in the one, fete, nor in the evening dance is she permitted to display her charms and graces. An occasional walk with father, or brother, or mother, is permitted; but she must not go outside of the house unless accompanied by her nearest kindred. To be seen alone, even but a few yards from her father's door, would entail upon her the deepest disgrace and heaviest censure. Kept under a perpetual surveillance, every thing she writes, and every line she receives, are subjected to rigid scrutiny.—Life in Tuscany.

"Ah, Pat, Pat," said a school mistress to a thick headed urchin, into whose muddled brain she was attempting to beat the alphabet, I am afraid you will never learn anything. Now what's that letter, eh? "Sure and I don't know mam," replied Pat. "Thought you might have remembered that." "Why, mam?" "Because it has a dot over the top of it." "Oh, mam, I mind it well, but sure I thought it was a fly spoke." "Well, now remember, Pat it's I?" "You mam?" "No not U, but I." "Not I, but you, mam—how's that?" "Not I, but you, blokehead." "Fool! fool!" exclaimed the pedagogues, almost bursting with rage. "Just as you please," quietly returned Pat, "fool or blockhead—it's no matter as long as yer free to own it."

The happiest being in the world is supposed to be a nigger at a dance.—In our opinion this rule is too limited. A nigger is not only happy at a dance, but in every position. A dake may be poor, but he is never low spirited. Whatever he earns he invests in fun and devilry. Give him a dollar, and in less than an hour he will lay seven shillings of it out in yellow neckties or a cracked violin. There is something in an African that sheds trouble as a duck will water. Who ever knew a 'culid pussum' to commit suicide? The negro is strongly given to love and jealousy; and he has no taste for arsenic. He may lose his all by betting against a roulette, but he don't find relief for his despair as white folks do, by resorting to charcoal fumes, or any bedstead, but by visiting de fete sex, and participation in the many influence of the occupational convulsions of der clarinet!

ABOUT A PIG.—Patrick, the widow Molony tells me that you have stolen one of her finest pigs. Is that so? "Yes, yer honor." "What were you doing with it?" "Killed it and ate it yer honor!" "Oh, Patrick, Patrick, when you are brought face to face with the widow and her pig, on the Judgment day, what account will you be able to give for yourself when the widow accuses you of the theft?" "Dunno, say the pig would be there, yer riverver?" "To be sure I did?" "Well, then yer riverver, I'll say, Mrs Molony, there's yer pig?"

THE ARTIST.—Out of an art a man may be so trivial you would mistake him for an idiotic—at best, a grown idiot. Put him into his art and how high he soars above you! How quietly he enters into a heaven of which he has become a denizen, and, unlocking the gates with his golden key, admits you to follow, an humble reverent visitor.—Butcher.

WHERE SHALL I PUT THIS PAPER?—so as to be sure of seeing it tomorrow? inquired a sister of a brother. "On the looking-glass," was the prompt reply.

DECLINED.—The Standard says that Hon. Daniel M. Barringer has been tendered, by Mr. Buchanan, the mission to Central America, which, says the same paper, that gentleman has felt constrained to decline.

TARBORO' BRANCH RAILROAD.—The Survey of our Branch Road was commenced on Thursday last, in this vicinity by Messrs. Henry McRae, Jno G. Ashe, Gaston Lewis, and C. C. Le is. They are said to be progressing finely towards Rocky Mount.—Tarboro' Southerner.

THE GREAT PENITENCE.—Miskey Free completed a walk of 110 consecutive hours, at Brooklyn, N. Y., on Saturday. He walked for a wager of $500, and is the same person who once ran a celebrated racing horse at or near Boston, a year or so ago.

RESIGNED.—Captain John Carson has resigned the station of General Superintendent of the Washington and Alexandria Railroad. Mr. Baynton, the Conductor on the road, will discharge the duties of that position.
