Puget Sound Settlement.

A meeting was held in New York on the 24th ult. at Cooper Institute, under the auspices of the Lockwood Union, with a view to giving information to those interested in the formation of a colonization party to settle at Puget Sound. Horace Greeley made a brief address, in which he spoke very favorably of the project of a Puget Sound colony, portrayed the advantages to be derived by those who first settled in the great Northwest, and strongly advised those desirous of obtaining homesteads to join in this enterprise under the auspices of the Lockwood Union. Mr. Mercer, of Washington Territory, spoke at some length on the inducements offered to colonists on the line of the Northern Pacific Railroad. The Lockwood Union was organized December 20, 1870, with the Rev. L. C. Lockwood as President, Edward N. Sweet, Secretary, and Horace Greeley, Treasurer. The object is to found a city, surrounded by suburban farms and village settlements, at the terminus of the Northern Pacific Railroad, Puget Sound, Washington Territory.

A NOVEL POISONING CASE.—A mysterious case of poisoning is reported to have occurred recently in Nottingham (N. H.). A prominent physician received an anonymous letter with two postage stamps inclosed, requesting him to send a reply to a given address. He wrote the reply, inclosed it in an envelope, and put one of the postage stamps on his tongue to moisten it. Instantly he was seized with a violent pain and symptoms of poison. He informed his wife, and she touched her tongue to the other stamp, when she was attacked in the same manner. Both of the parties recovered, but it is thought that the doctor's life was saved by the fact that he had a quid of tobacco in his mouth, which served as an antidote. If the facts are as stated, there can be little doubt but that the affair was a deliberate attempt to poison the doctor, and it certainly develops what may prove to be a very dangerous agency for that class of crime.

Thomas Buchanan Reid, the American painter and poet, is dead. He was born March 12th, 1822, in Chester county, Penn.

A REMARKABLE CAREER.—A strange story is told of a Boston woman who sailed many years ago, being then a girl of eighteen, with her missionary husband for India. The vessel was wrecked, we are told, on the Arabian coast, and all on board perished save her husband and herself. He was preserved only to fall a victim to Arab cruelty, and she to Arab slavery. While her beauty lasted she was the favorite wife of the most powerful chief in the South Arabian desert, but when that waned she fell from her "bad eminence," and was transferred to the harem of an inferior Sheik. And so she lived, praying for death, but not daring to die, till banded from one barbarian to another, she, a Boston lady, in whose veins flowed the purest Puritan blood, found herself the wife of an Arab water-carrier. From his power, an American traveler freed her and provided her with the means to reach home.

Bishop Stephens, of Philadelphia, has returned from his European tour, having accomplished the mission assigned him by the late General Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church. He went to establish churches on the continent where there are American citizens residing for pleasure, business or education.

MISCELLANEOUS.

NOTICE.

We have this day sold our entire retail stock to HENRY S. FITZGERALD and CHARLES H. KENYON, who have opened one door above our old stand "on the corner." We bespeak for them—our successors—the patronage so liberally bestowed upon us for the past twenty years, and also trust that they may continue to supply the public for the next twenty, for the benefit of all concerned.
