Modern Marriage.

A hat, a cane,
A nobby beau!
A narrow lane,
A whisper low.
A smile, a bow,
A little flirt!
An ardent vow
That's cheap as dirt!
A hand to squeeze,
A girl to kiss,
Quite at ones ease,
Must needs be bliss.
A ring, a date,
A honeymoon,
To find too late
It was too soon!

Republican Platform.

Following is the full text of the republican platform adopted by the Territorial Republican Convention:

Resolved, That the Republican party of Arizona declares its unqualified allegiance to the National Republican party, and endorses the Chicago platform of 1880. We claim a common heritage in the grand history of the party which saved the American Union from dismemberment, rehabilitated a disorganized country and has since so managed the finances of the nation that today the credit of the United States is unparalleled.

Resolved, We charge that the course of the Democratic party has demonstrated that in its desire to control money, it will sacrifice the best interests of the people, disregard its pledges and, as is fully illustrated in its platform, will not put to the test of popular approval by plain and straightforward statement its views upon issues directly affecting the welfare of the Territory. We arraign our present Delegate in Congress for the inactivity, incompetency and his entire failure to obtain the passage of any measures for our benefit.

Resolved, That we hold to the great principle of equal and exact justice to all, and that railroad and other corporations are subject to the people through the Legislature and are amenable to law. This convention favors any and all measures that will tend to bring labor and capital, organized or unorganized, into Arizona. Equality before the law is the fundamental principle of the Republican party of the nation, and we pledge the Republican party to such a course of legislation as will extend to corporations and corporate capital in Arizona the same protection and the same laws accorded to individuals, no more and no less, requiring corporations as well as individuals to perform their just share of the labor and to pay their just share of the taxation we pay to carry on the government, making the same rule apply to corporations as to individuals.

Resolved, That the Republican party, in conformity with its record and traditions, declares in favor of fostering and maintaining free public schools in every town and precinct in the Territory.

Resolved, That in our opinion there is too much money appropriated annually for the support of hostile Indians to permit a speedy and just settlement of this vexed question and we believe that a tribe of hostile savages should not be kept in our midst, fed and supported out of the public treasury, and we earnestly recommend that the safety and protection of the frontier settlers be made the first object of all legislation affecting the Indians. We are in favor of the disarmament of all Indians of hostile tribes in this Territory as indispensable to the safety of our people.

Resolved That we welcome all foreigners, Chinese only excepted, who, in good faith come and settle among us, and guarantee to them the same equal rights which are now enjoyed by native born Americans, and we further declare that we are unalterably opposed to Chinese importation or immigration.

Resolved, That just compensation should be paid all public servants to their services, and that they be held to a strict accountability; that the present fee system, while perhaps not being sufficient in some minor offices to induce competent persons to accept such positions, in other cases secures to county officers an extravagant and unreasonable amount for their services. The fees of such officers in such cases should be reduced, or the amount so received in excess of reasonable compensation for such services, should be paid into the treasury of the several counties where such conditions obtain.

Resolved, That we favor a reorganization of our courts by Congress to the end that litigation may be lessened and made easier; that the law's delay in mining litigation, and the delay in the trial of cases, and the expense of such litigation, be lessened and encouraged the development of our mineral resources to the fullest extent.

Resolved, That we declare ourselves in favor of the free and unlimited coinage of silver upon the same terms and under the same regulations as is gold, and pledge ourselves that if elected our candidate for Delegate will exert himself to the end that both gold and silver will be fully and equally recognized according to their respective values as the money of the country.

A Bad Scrape.

One of the most terribly awful things that ever was occurred Friday at the Sunday-school picnic given at Boyle's Grove, west of the city. It was a warm day, and everybody wore as few clothes as decency and health would permit. One couple from this city went to the picnic all bedecked in their spotless linen, swiss, etc. In some unaccountable way the couple—very nice couple they are, too—strayed a little ways off from the rest of the flock, and sat down upon a log and looked at the cows and dandelions, and talked about what kind of a house they were going to have when they got married. All went as merry as a sleigh bell at a charivari until a big red-headed ant crawled down the girl's back, just where she could not reach him. When first she felt the sensation she thought it was the strong arm of the young man beside her, and she didn't kick. Presently it dawned upon her that it might not be her beau, whom she suspected was trying to keep her from falling by holding his arm around her gentle waist, so she looked around. The horrible truth flashed upon her and she began to squirm and scream. The young man was of course very much frightened, thinking that perhaps she had seen a mouse and would faint on his hands. Between screams she told him what was ailing her. Here was the ticklish point—what would he do? He couldn't leave the dear girl to the mercy of the ant and listen to her piercing shrieks, nor did he feel like ramming his hand down her back and hauling up the dread monster by the fet lock, but something had to be done and quickly. Pulling off his coat and rolling up his sleeve he made a dive for the enemy lurking in ambush, and lurching off a choice snate rib. He succeeded in ripping the lady's garmenture from Gehenna to breakfast on the first effort. After a protracted chase, and just as he was about to give up in despair, he espied the animal, and the way he slapped it against her architecture nearly paralyzed the frame-work. The blow was hard enough to have knocked a pound of Peoria butter off its feet. Of course the ant was then ready to be laid out and killed in some bread dough, or palmed off for seasoning in fruit cake. It made its mark in the world and left it upon the neck of its last sad resting place. The unhappy pair fixed up the lady all forlorn the best they could and started for home. When they reached the camp the other picnickers all looked suspiciously and wise at them. Some then went so far as to say: "Cowd you, or did you stumble over a blackberry patch?" Other wondered if they hadn't been struck by a cyclone, or tried to jump a tree. When the girl's father came to the front she wanted to kill the young man, and chased him all over the grove with a piece of custard pie, and wouldn't listen to an explanation. Why she chased him we can't guess. That young man's life has been a burden ever since, and when he sees anybody coming he looks wild out of his eyes and talks mad, and shrinks away like a frisky creditor. He says that if he ever goes to another picnic he hopes that he will know it, and if his girl was being swallowed by an ant he wouldn't pull her out to save her life. She says that her young life is blasted like an early tomato, and that she is going to Normal, or curl up and die—Bloomington Eye.

Wells, Health Renewer, greatest remedy on earth for Impotence, leemnes, sexual debility, &c. $1 at druggists. Arizona Depot, J. J. MACK, San Francisco, Cal.

There is a gospel tent at the corner of Michigan avenue and Fourth street, and of a Sunday evening there is a considerable passing in and out on the part of pedestrians. Last Sunday evening a boy of fourteen encountered a stranger, who stopped him and enquired:

"Say, bub, what kind of a performance is going on there?"

"Purty good thing," was the reply.

"I'd kinder like to see the fat woman and the living skeleton, and the Albino children once more, but I'm purty near strapped. Is there any way I can work in?"

"Us boys crawl in under the canvas."

"Anybody around to knock you stiff?"

"Never saw anybody. I'll show you where to go under."

"By hooky, I'll try it. It's no use to throw away a quarter if you can beat a sideshow."

The boy took him around behind the tent and saw him safe under, and then crossed the street and sat down. He waited just exactly three minutes, and then the stranger came out of the tent by the door. He looked up and down the street, scanned closely every youngster about him, and finally said to a boot-black:

"Bub, I'm looking for a youth about two hoads taller than you—peaked nose, brown straw hat, hair cut short. I want to see him so bad for about a minute that I'll give you half a dollar if you can find him around here."

Buchupa, Ca.
Stinging, smarting irritation of the urinary passages, diseased discharge, cured by Buchupaiba $1. at druggists. Arizona Depot J. J. MACK, San Francisco, Cal.

As a steamboat was about to start from Cincinnati a young man came on deck, leading a blushing damsel by the hand and approaching the polite clerk, said, in a suppressed voice:

"I say, me and my gal has just got married, and I'm looking for accommodations."

"Looking for a berth?" hastily inquired the clerk, passing tickets to another passenger.

"A birth! thunder and lightning, no!" gasped the astonished man, casting a glance at the fair form of his blushing bride; "We han't but just got married. We want a place to stay all night, you know."
