BELKNAP & CO.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—The indictment of Belknap, Marsh and Tomlinson, Mrs. Belknap's brother, will be pressed before the grand jury this week.

The House committee are said to be informed of five post traderships besides Fort Sill, sold for the benefit of Belknap. All post traders will be required to give evidence. The committee will also report charges based on alleged outrageous frauds in the expenditure of one million dollars appropriated for headstones for union soldiers' graves. Gen. T. Richards, formerly a Captain in the cavalry, says he reported upon the Fort Sill tradership in 1872, whereupon he was transferred, and in 1874 he sent President Grant formal charges and specifications against Belknap, accompanied by evidence, whereupon he was court-martialed and dismissed from the service.

The St. Louis Times publishes a long account of Ovid Grant's operations on the Missouri River, said to be derived from Durfee & Peck, saying that Grant was in partnership with Belknap, and sold post and Indian traderships, himself collecting the purchase price, and being aided by the War Department orders to commanders of several posts to furnish him transportation, guards, etc., as required. This statement concludes with an emphatic recommendation to investigate affairs at Fort Buford.

The President has nominated Richard A. Dana, of Massachusetts, to be Minister to Great Britain, vice Schenck, resigned. The latter sailed for home on Saturday, having forwarded his resignation by mail.

MILITARY MOVEMENTS.

FARGO, D. T., March 6, 1876.—The storm having abated, the train will probably get through to-morrow. Gen. Custer arrived last night, a detachment accompanying him from Fort Ripley, Abercrombie and Pembina, in all about

Join the expedition, from Fort Totten. The expedition will not get off for a month yet. It is probably intended for the Yellowstone. Gen. Gibbon takes an expedition from Fort Shaw, about the same time, while Gen. Crooks will start from Fort Laramie. The expedition is intended to subdue the Northern Sioux, and open the Big Horn country for settlement. While troops will not interfere with the miners, the Indians disturbing them will be made to suffer the consequences. Fighting with the red skins ended with the Red Cloud council and the appointment of Zach Chandler. Major Rodney Smith is here en route for Forts Seward and Totten. Maj. Wm. Smith will be up to pay the Missouri River troops during the present week. There are fifteen or twenty car loads of Black Hills supplies here, and probably forty Black Hillers will go out on the first train.

WASHINGTON, March 7.—It is reported that Grant removed Babcock on discovering that evidence against Belknap, forwarded by an army officer, was not allowed to reach him. Attorney General Pierrepont, in a published letter, says Babcock, or some one for him, abstracted and published a copy of a secret circular to district attorneys, which was published just previous to Babcock's trial.

Gen. Sheridan is instructed to notify Evans, trader at Fort Sill, that his privilege is revoked. He will be permitted to sell goods at prices fixed by the council of administration until his successor is appointed. The council is to meet and recommend a suitable person for trader.

Babcock's friends in New York, Philadelphia and Washington are trying to raise thirty thousand dollars to reimburse him or his trust expenses.

HEAVY SNOW STORM.

FARGO, March 7.—A heavy snow storm, the worst of the season, raged here yesterday.

BIG LAND SALE.

ST. PAUL, March 7.—Over D. Drymple and Eastern capitalists have purchased seven thousand acres of land on Maple river, near Fargo, for a wheat farm. They will break and sow seventeen hundred acres this year.

WHAT SHERIDAN THINKS.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—Gen. Sheridan recommends to the House Committee to have two new military posts established near the mouth of the Big Horn and Tongue rivers. He writes that the Black Hills country will probably be covered with towns and villages during the next five years. He believes the largest gold deposits are farther west, on headwaters of Wind river and in Owl Creek Mountains, in Big Horn valley, on Powder river and Clark's fork of the Yellowstone.

GEN. PILL-W.

NEW YORK, March 2.—Gen. Pillow publishes a letter here concerning his bankruptcy. He describes his misfortunes and, in ending, says: "I become, with my family, without shelter, and poverty is staring me in the face at an advanced age. My present prospects are so gloomy that my heart gives way, and the conviction is forced upon me that I have lived too long."

GOV. KELLOGG.

NEW ORLEANS, March 2.—The House has formally impeached G. V. Kellogg, but the Senate refuses to have anything to do with it.

NEW YORK, March 2.—Gen. Schenck starts for home Sunday. He declared himself against damaging evidence of J. E. Lyon, of Racine, Wis., before Congress committee, with reference to Schenck's part in the Emma mine swindle.

FARGO, March 8.—Freight and passenger trains left Bismarck about 9 o'clock this morning.

Gen. Custer left Fort Totten yesterday with ten companies of cavalry for the Big Horn to be some 12

A Long Postponement of Pay.

The Secretary of War has sent to Congress a deficiency estimate for $500,000, to cover the pay of officers of the army for the last half of June, 1875. The appropriation granted two years ago for the pay of the army amounted to $1,297,493 less than the amount estimated by the Paymaster General, and $900,000 less than that asked for by the Secretary of War. The figures are as follows: Estimates for the pay of the army, &c., for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1875, as made by the Paymaster General, $2,697,463; reduced still further by Congress, $900,000; appropriated, $1,797,463. The army expenditures for the last fiscal year are short about $500,000, and no officers have received their pay for the last half of June, 1875.

HE IS ONLY A PRINTER.

"He is only a printer." Such was the sneering remark of a leader of aristocracy who was the Earl of Stanhope? He was only a printer. What is Prince Frederick William, married to Princess Royal of England? He, too, was only a printer. Who was William Caxton, one of the fathers of literature? He was only a printer. Who were G. P. Morris, N. P. Willis, Horace Greeley, Bayard Taylor, Charles Dickens, Thiers, Geo. D. Prentiss, and Senator Dix, Cameron, Hamilton Miles? They, too, were printers. Who was Benjamin Franklin? He was also a printer. Everyone cannot be a printer, brains are necessary.—Burlington Gazette

A MATTER OF NO CONSEQUENCE.

The day had been set and the young man was happy. But his father failed in business and he collected together all the pink love letters, the lock of hair, the faded violet, &c., and started for her father's mansion. He was high-minded and honorable, and he felt in duty bound to release her from the engagement. Yet he grew faint as he was ushered into the parlor. Such love as his wouldn't stay crushed.

"George! dear George!" she exclaimed, as she entered the parlor and seized his hand.

"Anabella, I am here to-day to do my duty," he said, as he rose up.

"What's the matter?" she asked.

"Haven't you heard of—of my father's failure?" he inquired, his heart beating painfully.

"Why, yes, dear George, and what of it?"

"Aren't you—won't you—that is—?"

"I'm glad of it—that's all!" she cried.

"You are?"

"Of course I am! I was talking with father, and he said if your father failed to $50,000 he would make at least $50,000 out of it, and of course you'd get twice as much as you counted on!"

ON "A TALK."

Last Saturday, two Rutland men came to Whitcomb for the purpose of having a "talk."

After visiting many saloons and getting a full load of spirits aboard, they sought for the Hall House to put up for the night.

Mr. Wheeler, the gentlemanly clerk, lit a sperm candle and showed the "set up" part to a room, with only one bed. At this they demurred, each one insisting that they must have a separate bed. They were then shown into a room with two beds.

After disturbing themselves, they both started to blow out the candle, but their weight coming together on the same side of the table, tipped it over, with a falling thunder, and of course extinguishing the candle. They finally managed to get up, and after a few moments' trial, got into bed together. In a moment one of them said:

"Jim—the bloked if'er ain't nother else—but—my bed!"

"By my 'nother self'ers 'nother—hic!—up in my bed. What'd I do 'bout it?"

"Kick the lubber—hic!—out of was you!"

Just then there was a heavy sound as if some great weight had fallen on the floor, when Jim began to groan and cry.

"What's er matter, Jim, ole feller—hic!"

"Matter? Confound it! Matter? Strike er high quick. This 'ere son-of-a-gun in my bed has—hic!—kicked me out on 'er floor—hic!"—Whitchall Times
