

Sick people of last week have all entirely recovered.

Snow fell Friday night and during Saturday to the depth of four or five inches.

A young man named Lick, living with his mother, at the old Mooney place, on the Payette, died on Saturday night, the 13th inst., of consumption. He had been sick a long time.

Lec Pow, Chinese merchant, has forty-five thousand pounds of freight on the road between here and Kelton. It will arrive in about ten days.

The remains of Mr. Liellenthal left Boise City at twelve o'clock Thursday night, by special stage for Kelton, and will be forwarded thence by railway to San Francisco.

R. N. LIELLENTHAL, who so rashly took his own life at Quartzburg last week, was a thorough chemist, and one of the most highly educated gentlemen in the country.

Angle's boys, on the Payette, have found and located a coal mine near their ranch. The vein is several feet in thickness, and gives evidence of great extent. The coal is said by those who have tested it to be of excellent quality. It resembles canal coal, and burns something like it.

Mr. Thos. Barry bought thirty-two ounces of gold dust last Saturday. It was a handsome lot, and he paid $16 50 per ounce for it. The dust came from the claim of the French company, who are drifting in Gold Hill.

Donald Grant has discovered another quartz ledge out at Banner. He says he is perfectly satisfied with the prospects obtained from it. Donald has everything ready to take rock out of the Crown Point, and intends to take it out all winter.

An infallible sign.—An old covey says that whenever his wife gets up in the morning any time in the month of November, and hauls one of her stockings on wrongside out, and manages to maintain a serene temper while turning it, a mild winter follows. This circumstance occurred on Saturday morning last. He says he has noticed the sign for twelve years, and it has never failed yet.

In speaking of a lawyer who once resided at Boise City, and divided his time between gaming and the practice of his profession, Joe Oldham said: "He is a smart little cuss—one of the cleverest men at short cards I ever saw; and if he'd stick to the paste-boards he'd do well; but every time he makes a winning at cards he goes and fools it away trying to plead law!"

When a member of the "T. T.'s" is found in a state of intoxication, he is immediately arrested and closely confined until duly sober. A special meeting of the Order is then called, and the erring brother is branded in a certain spot in a peculiar manner. Found a second time in that condition, he is subjected to the same treatment with a different brand; and if guilty of a third repetition of the offense he is guillotined. This mode of reformation is the most efficacious in reclaiming drunkards now known. The victim is never guilty a fourth time.
