Another Order Prohibiting the Sale of Arms to Indians.

An Extensive Forest Fire in Wisconsin.

Several Persons Burned and a Large Amount of Property Destroyed

MISCELLANEOUS.

ABOUT TO FAIL.

Chicago, Aug. 7.—The auditor of public accounts filed a petition in the circuit court yesterday stating that the condition of the Protection Life Ins. Co., was such as to render its continuance in business hazardous to the insured and praying for an injunction against the company's transacting further business and the appointment of a receiver. Judge Williams issued the injunction as prayed for and Edward D. Cook was appointed receiver with bonds of $200,000.

LITERARY EXERCISES.

Fairpoint, N. Y., Aug. 7.—The first exercise to day was an admirable address on manners, delivered by Miss Emily Huntington Miller, of Chicago. At 11 o'clock John B. Gough delivered his lecture on eloquence and orators to a very large audience. At 2 o'clock Rev. W. W. Ramsey, of Kentucky, presided over the second church conference in the pavilion, and brief addresses were delivered by several clergymen. Regular sessions of the Chautauqua National Sunday School Assembly will open to-night.

TOOTH TINKERS.

Chicago, Aug. 7.—A large number of delegates were present at the seventeenth annual convention of the American Dental Association which met here this morning. A number of papers relating to the business of the association were read.

WM. MCKEE'S CASE.

St. Louis, Aug. 7.—The case of the government against Wm. McKee, is set for the third Monday in September. It is understood similar suits will be brought against other parties and that petitions are now being prepared.

A STREET PARADE.

Shenandoah, Pa., Aug. 7.—A large number of men paraded the streets last night. They were dispersed by the authorities and forty-seven were arrested.

A GOOD ONE.

Washington, Aug. 7.—The cabinet to-day authorized an order prohibiting the sale of arms to the Indians, and the order was soon afterwards issued.

A DEFAULTER.

Meriden Conn., Aug. 7.—Ex city collector Frank G. Olin, is a defaulter in the sum of $8,555. Olin has no bondsmen and no property.

EX SECRETARY ROBESON.

Washington, Aug. 7.—Hon. George M. Robeson, instituted a replevin suit, in the supreme court of the District of Columbia, yesterday, to retake from the county constable ten rolls of newspapers, as is used upon a Bullhead press, which is understood had been seized on execution as the property of the proprietor of the National Republican. Paper is valued at $200. This is the first occasion in which Robeson has taken any public steps, showing his connection with the National Republican newspaper, although that connection has been imputed to him for some time.

FIRES.

PARTIALLY DESTROYED.

Ney York, Aug. 7.—The Brooklyn oil works at Green Point were partially destroyed by fire last night. Loss $100,000; fully insured. These works were known as Stoke's oil works, and there has been much litigation over them recently.

MILLIONS OF PROPERTY DESTROYED.

Chicago, Aug. 7.—A Green Bay, Wis., special says a farm in the village of Eaton, Brown county, Wis., about fifteen miles east of this city, was totally destroyed by fire. The forest has been burning for five weeks. The fire is extending many miles in every direction, destroying many million feet of timber and thousands of dollars worth of property. Some twenty-five families were burned out in Eaton, losing every thing they possessed. A large number of animals were roasted alive. One family it is stated, have perished in the flames, and four other entire families are missing.

NEW YORK.

FAILURES.

Charles G. Martin, broker, No. 234, Broadway, failed. Liabilities $80,000.

Statement of the Citizens fire Ins. Co., of Newark, whose collapse was announced yesterday, shows a deficit of $61,000.

ASSULTED BY A REJECTED LOVER.
Mrs. Frank Holmes was fatally assaulted by Thos. Henry Clark, a rejected lover, at her residence, Lexington Ave., last evening. Clark had been watching for her for weeks and as she was entering the house last evening, attacked her with a hatchet cutting five terrible gashes in her head.

RUSSIAN GUNBOATS DESTROYED.

London, Aug. 7.—A despatch from Constantinople says in a naval engagement in the Sulind river the Turkish iron clads attacked seven Russian gunboats and destroyed two of them.

WILHELM AND FRANCIS JOSEPH MEET.
New York, Aug. 7.—A despatch from Berlin, says the emperors of Austria and Germany met near Ision, Wednesday last, and that the conference was very important. Emperor Wilhelm urged a strict neutrality on the part of both Austria and Germany.

A despatch from Vienna says that the formation of the Russian landwehr has been found to be difficult, owing to the great want of organization.

LORD SALISBURY'S SPEECH.

London, Aug. 6.—At a conservative demonstration at Hatfield, yesterday, Lord Salisbury, in a speech made the following reference to the government's foreign policy: "We earnestly deprecated this war; we are allies and friends of both contending parties; we desire our neutrality, not only to be neutrality of act, but of speech. But I will ask you to believe while we are thoroughly convinced that the patriotism of Englishmen, if we need to appeal to it, is equal to any emergency, and will shrink before no sacrifice which the interests or honor of the country may demand."

LORD SANDON

also spoke. He said he trusted when the moment for settlement comes, we shall bear in mind it is the greatest interest of England that every country in the world should be prosperous, and that if any country runs the risk of being humiliated, we should try to prevent the humiliation, whether it should be the assailant or the assailed; and I hope, also, he said, that we shall avoid the fault, which in my opinion has been the great fault of the European powers in the past, of interfering on behalf only of our co-religionists, instead of asking the Turk to secure a good government to all the people of his vast empire, whether they be Druses, Yezedes, Mohammedans or Christians.

RESULTS OF THE BATTLE.

Speculations as to What Will Follow the Turkish Victory at Plewna
By Cable to the Chicago Inter Ocean.

London, Aug. 4, 1877.—There is quite a jubilant feeling here on account of the Turkish victories. The fact is recognized that so long as there is a Russian disaster there is no danger of English intervention. Notice had been given the minister of important questions relating to the foreign policy, but there is a disposition to withdraw them and let events take their natural course. We are scarcely yet in a position to appreciate the consequences of Plewna. It is not known where the Turks drove the enemy from the positions occupied prior to the attack on the Turkish entrenchments. If possible, Osman Pasha may take advantage of the disorder and confusion and effect a junction with Mehemet Ali at Tirnova, and crush the force of the grand duke concentrated at that point. On the other hand, if General Krudener has held his ground, the Russian loss may be confined to the actual number hors du combat, and reinforcements can be pressed forward which will enable him to renew the attack. In that case only diversion in Osman's favor by Mehemet Ali could save the former from defeat. It is believed that the latter, who is in communication with Osman through Constantinople, will press forward against Tirnova.

The London "Times" considers that this week's work means either the prosecution of the war with immensely increased forces and most stubborn resolution on the part of Russia, or else the acquiescence of that power in a failure which changes all its relations to its neighbors. Some important moves on the political chess-board are now expected. The more pressure the Czar feels, the more will he be inclined to summon to his aid the lesser nationalities. Once he decides on this step he will surround himself with grave difficulties. Austria has shown that she is alive to the situation, and this power, owing to her geographical position, holds the fate of the Bulgarian campaign in her hands. The slightest menace on her part would compel the Russians to recross the Danube and conquer the Austrian army before they could proceed with their operations against the Turks. For the time being, England is out of range of the complications, and can afford to remain quiet so long as there is a prospect of the continental powers having to defend their national interests.

There is danger that the czar will be troubled with difficulties at home. The Pan-Slav section of the empire are again agitating, and the recent reverses have thrown the whole country into a state of despondency. Should nothing occur to brighten the gloom, revolution in St. Petersburg and Moscow is not unlikely. One effect of the Turkish victories will be to keep Midhat Pasha longer in exile. It is only in times of great desperation that this statesman is in request.

POSTGATE.

The Mississippi Pilot embraces the present excellent opportunity to offer the following remarks:

Riots are prevailing in many of the Northern states, and the civil authorities are compelled to call on the president for troops to aid in suppressing them.

In 1875 riots prevailed all over this state and men were murdered by hundreds, the main object being to kill and intimidate republicans, while the main object of the strikers—or rioters—of the North is to compel an increase, or prevent a decrease, in their wages; and is not interfered with no lives are endangered. When the riots prevailed in this state and Governor Ames called on the president for troops, a great cry went up from the sentimental and dough-faced republicans of the north not to send them; "Let him call out his militia and suppress his riots." This time the shoes is on the other foot, and the sentimental's money and property are in jeopardy, and we venture to say that, in nine cases out of ten, they are the first to cry for national interference, for they are the last ones to endanger their lives or money by trying or aiding in suppressing the riots. They now cry, "Give us soldiers to protect our property," but when republican lives were endangered, and their rights were being taken away, "Do not interfere; let them call out their militia and protect themselves."
