Dr. Gordak—I have been for more than two years labor an under a peculiar state in health—although for the greater part of the time I did, from necessity, perform my accut, tomed duties. About three months since, my complex was so starming, the family physician was exited, and of at tended one regularly several days. He directed thesers for the relief of my bend, and other medicines for "stamuch. At his directions were faithfully attended to but the relief. I felt was movely temperary from his skits. Before I applied to you. I suffered such from directions in the head, a numberess and prick-square from the man, &c.—frequent faintings, great motors in my stemperary, direction my stemper, direction my stemper, direction in the head, a number work with loss of appetite, my toning was much coated with wanker. I had no appetite, my stomach so cold that the softest medicine had no effect, at times I found difficult is breather particularly at right; my steep.

I found difficult to breathe, particularly at night; my sleep was restless—I could not lay, and often sat up in bed the greater part of the night. I was much troubled with pater tation of the heart.—After taking your medicine about the fourth day, my braith began to improve in every respect—
