GOLD WATCHES FOR M. H. SEXTON'S BOYS

East Bridgeport Friends Give Complimentary Dinner to Contractor.

Michael Sexton, well known in this city as one of the family of monument builders which has furnished a large proportion of the stone memorials in the cemeteries of this vicinity, was honored last evening, a complimentary dinner at Flahaven's restaurant, 842 Pembroke street.

Mr. Sexton has a monument business in Los Angeles and usually passes the winter there. Two of his sons are now in California. Last night Mr. Sexton was induced to meet Patrick Cuddy, Thomas Rogers and Patrick Flahaven at 7:45 and he was immediately conducted to the restaurant where over 50 of his friends had assembled for the occasion. After discussing the menu which was most elaborate, Thomas Rogers, as toastmaster, in behalf of the guests, presented Mr. Sexton with three leather cases. The first contained a combination card case and diary bound in Russian leather. Each of the others contained a handsome gold watch, as Mr. Rogers stated, "for the boys," who are now in California. The boys were remembered because the donors thought Mr. Sexton would enjoy a gift to them more than to himself. Mr. Sexton will soon leave for Los Angeles. He has been detained here later than usual this year on account of pressing business. He was too much overcome at the time of the presentation to say very much, but thanked his friends for their gifts. The sons will be heard from later.

An impromptu program was rendered which put everyone in good humor. Patrick Dunn, John Reilly, Thomas Rogers, Dan Flahaven and John Keefe sang in solos and quartettes. Patrick Ahearn, of Stratford, and Anthony Zang gave some humorous recitations. Those present were Joseph P. Coughlin, Edward Ferguson, Thomas Finnegan, Thomas Halligan, Patrick Dunn, John Kelly, Thomas Cleary, Jr., Michael O'Connor, William Russell, Gus Coffey, Anthony Zang, George Zink, Patrick Horn, William Doherty, James Flahaven, Thomas Cleary, Sr., John Keefe, Frederick Schreiber, J. A. McGuinness, Charles Clark, John J. Hope, F. C. Mullins, Charles Freeman, Alex. Heaphy, Thomas Quinn, Patrick Flahaven, Daniel Murphy, John Reilly, Jr., John Flahaven, Michael Smith, Timothy O'Rourke, Charles Ellis, Thomas Manlon, Timothy Ryan, Stratford, Timothy Ahearn, Stratford, Thomas Langdon, Michael Gregg, Peter Walsh, John Gordon, Lawrence J. The "pure food law" is designed by the Government to protect the public from injurious ingredients in both foods and drugs. It is beneficial both to the public and to the conscientious manufacturer. Ely's Cream Balm, a successful remedy for cold in the head, nasal catarrh, hay fever, etc., containing no injurious drugs, meets fully the requirements of the new law, and that fact is prominently stated on every package. It contains none of the injurious drugs which are required by the law to be mentioned on the label. Hence you can use it safely.

TROOPS FIRE ON STRIKE RIOTERS

Bloody Battles in Streets of a Portuguese Manufacturing Town.

(Special from United Press.)
 Covilhao, Portugal, Jan. 18.—Violent strike riots in which several persons are believed to have been killed and a large number injured, are in progress here to-day. The local garrison has been doubled and has repeatedly fired on the mobs in whose ranks are scores of women armed with revolvers and knives. Those who have been shot among the rioters have been carried away by the mob and the casualties are not known.

Covilhao is the center of the Portuguese manufacturing district. The trouble arises over the employment of a German superintendent at the local woolen mills. The workmen charged the new superintendent with cruelty and struck. The employees of between thirty and forty factories, having been through sympathy and the worst strike in years was inaugurated.

The strikers and their sympathizers were in almost constant clashes with the soldiers yesterday and to-day the attacks were renewed. The factory owners have appealed to the government to send additional troops as it is feared the strikers will attempt to burn the manufacturing district.

INTERNATIONAL PEACE CONGRESS

New Move to Limit Armaments Talked of in Europe.

(Special from United Press.)
 Berlin, Jan. 18.—A new international Peace Congress, looking to the universal limiting of national armaments is now being discussed seriously by European governments according to to-day's Kiener Journal. The general lines of movement, the Journal says, are that all the powers guarantee one another the absolute integrity of their present territorial boundaries for a definite term of years.

King Edward's visit to the Kaiser on February 9 is expected to play an active part in the scheme for limitations according to the report in the Journal. There have been many rumors as to just what Edward will propose at this meeting. One is that he will demand that Germany cease her naval expansion at the cost of England's friendship. This story has greatly aroused the German people who have already expressed to the Kaiser their opposition to such a scheme. Another version is that the King will propose a joint limitation of naval armaments by England and Germany and still a third is that the King will ask the co-operation of the Kaiser in a movement such as outlined by the Kiener Journal.

Germany, it is believed, would give a universal move her heartiest support.

BURGLARS BIND AND ROB WOMEN

Elder Victim, 85 Years Old, Will not Recover, it is Feared.

New Haven, Jan. 18.—Three masked men entered the house of Mrs. Plin Morgan, one of the wealthiest residents of the country town of Woodbridge, yesterday morning, shortly after midnight, bound and gagged her and her daughter, Miss Florence Morgan, and at the point of a pistol forced them, under threats of murder, to tell where their money was hidden. Mrs. Morgan went to the drawer where her pocket-book was concealed and handed its contents, about $10, to the robbers, who tied the women to posts and fled. Working herself loose after a fierce struggle, Miss Morgan rushed to the telephone and called Howard Peck, a neighbor. He telephoned to Constable W. H. Tompkins, and the men set out across the fields towards the Morgan house. They sighted the burglars and gave chase.

There was a running fire and the fugitives separated. Tompkins and Peck overtook one and, after a fight in the snow, overpowered him. He was a big man and it took all their strength to subdue him. Tompkins was thrown down and beaten badly by the man before Peck rescued him. The captive was taken to the New Haven police station. He gave his name as George Miles. A small amount of money and a razor were found in his pockets. He refuses to talk. Mrs. Morgan is 83 years old and her daughter 45. They live alone. Several hundred dollars were concealed in the house, but aside from a few small articles of silverware which the robbers stuffed in their pockets, the $10 in change was all the trio got.

Mrs. Morgan is prostrated by her experience and fear is felt she will not recover. The robbers are thought to be members of a gang which has
