RICHARDSON KILLS HIMSELF
Indicted Elmira Shoe Manufacturer Escapes Arrest.

Harrisburg, Pa., March 25.—Frederick H. Richardson, formerly a shoe manufacturer of Elmira, N. Y., wanted on a charge of embezzlement, committed suicide here yesterday when cornered in his hotel room by the police.
Richardson had been tracked from Chicago to Pittsburgh and thence to Harrisburg. The man was located at the Hotel Lynch and the Chief and W. C. Aldinger, the proprietor of the hotel, went to his room.
Aldinger knocked. "Who is there?" came the question from within.
"This is the proprietor," Aldinger answered.
The door was opened and the man's head appeared for an instant. Then before the chief had a chance to make a move the fugitive observed him and slammed the door and bolted it.
A moment later the pistol shot was heard.
Waiting until several patrolmen arrived, the door was broken open and Richardson was found lying on the floor with his head under the bed. Examination showed that he had died instantly. The valise lying near by was broken open and within it was found a letter written on Hoyt Lynch paper.
"My name is F. H. Richardson, Elmira, N. Y. Call H. H. Rockwell of Elmira, N. Y."

Body Found in Pembewick.
The body of a man was found in Pembewick, Saturday evening. As yet no one has been able to identify him. Several pennies and a jackknife were found in his pockets. Near the place where the body was found is a high embankment. It is supposed he missed his footing and fell several feet. There was a bad wound over the left eye. The victim was about 60 years of age and six feet in height. He had a full beard and light hair.
Rev. Charles M. Selleck.
Rev. Charles M. Selleck died at his home in South Norwalk, Sunday night, at the age of 78 years. He was a native of South Norwalk and spent for many years a teacher in the district schools. Later he went to Troy and established a boys' boarding school. In 1855 he returned to Norwalk and opened Selleck's Military Academy, which he sold in 1888. During this time Mr. Selleck studied for the Episcopal priesthood, was ordained, and was for many years rector of St. Paul's church. He was later in charge of the East Norwalk and Lewisboro, N. Y., missions and finally returned to Norwalk, but leaves a sister and brother. At the time of his death he left unfinished a history of Norwalk which he was writing.

Hat Factory Burns.
One of the most serious fires that has occurred in Bethel in some time, was the burning Monday night of the Judd & Co. hat factory. The factory was filled with hats, and was roused with orders, with every prospect of a long and busy trade. The fire coming at this time makes the loss to both employer and employe a most serious one.

Destroyed by Fire.
The large double tenement house in New Hartford owned by Frank B. Mann, was destroyed by fire Tuesday morning. It was occupied by Edw. Mitchell, the Misses Stedman and a Hungarian family. William Platt, one of the volunteer firemen, was seriously injured by the falling of a chimney upon him. The fire is supposed to have been caused by the Mitchell children starting the fire in the range.
Several Public Bequests.
The will of Samuel Allen, who died in New Hartford recently, contains a bequest of $1,000 to the Litchfield County Hospital. Bequests of $1,000 each are also made to the North Congregational church of New Hartford, St. John's Episcopal church of Pine Meadow and the Washington Hill church of Barkhamsted. The estate will probably amount to $70,000.
Cannot Maintain Action.
Judge Platt in the Circuit court of the United States has dismissed the bill of complaint filed by the Trumbull Electric Manufacturing Company of Plainville against the Connecticut Manufacturing Company of Bantam. The plaintiff alleged an infringement of certain priority rights in connection with electrical switches and cut-outs. Judge Platt wrote a long memorandum in deciding the case in which he says: "The gist is this: There is the gravest doubt whether there is any invention in the patent. I've granted the patent as I do, it is so plain that he who runs may read the fact: That other people had the thought before the patentee had it. If they look at the matter as I do, it is not strange that they did not consider it worth the trouble and expense of asking for a patent."

'THE TALK OF NEW YORK'
Victor Moore and Original Cast and Production of This Great Cohan Success at Smith's Theatre.

Victor Moore comes to Smith's theatre Friday and Saturday of this week, with a special Saturday matinee, directed from a successful run at the Tremont theatre, Boston. This time the actor of "Kid Burns" in "Forty-five Minutes from Broadway" will appear as a star in George M. Cohan's musical play, "The Talk of New York." "Kid Burns" of the earlier successes using the name of his operations to New Rochelle, but in "The Talk of New York" he has moved from that metropolis to the bright lights of the village of New York. Since then he has acquired a very large bank roll after the methods of Pittsburgh Phil and other illustrious gentlemen, who have from time to time decorated the betting ring.
In other words, Geo. M. Cohan has made "Kid Burns" a successful race-track plunger in "The Talk of New York." Although these two Cohan plays are distinctly separate stories by themselves, the new one is designed as a kind of sequel to the earlier exploits of "Kid Burns" in "Forty-five Minutes from Broadway." It is a comedy of course, that all Cohan plays must possess speed, ginger and snap and it is said that "The Talk of New York" bears every characteristic for it is reported to be the speediest production that has as yet come from the brain of the prolific young Mr. Cohan.
The story of the play takes place among the familiar scenes of New York sporting circles and fashionable resorts. The first act shows the betting ring at Sheepshead Bay racing track, where the story moves to the massive office of the Hotel Astor, to the Booth Lawn at Claremont, on Riverside Drive, and finally returns to the well known and beloved residence of "Kid Burns" in New Rochelle, where we found him in "Forty-five Minutes from Broadway." The intricate methods of Moore in portraying this celebrated character has made the "Kid" more likeable than ever, and the neatly turned philosophical precepts which are phrased in the best of Geo. M. Cohan slang have been widely quoted. In "The Talk of New York" the "Kid" has a love affair with the daughter of a millionaire and goes through many humorous events before his affairs are brought to a happy conclusion at the end.
Besides the ever-present indefatigable Cohan chorus of sixty, Mr. Moore will have for his support the original cast which supported him during the long runs in New York and Chicago. Among the principal members of his company are: Stanley H. Forde, Osborne Searle, Saldie Harris, Mildred Elaine, John Smith, Mark Lorenz, Atwood, Emma Littlefield, John Conroy, Saldie Livermore, Lulu Wells, Arthur V. Gibson, F. E. Francis, Maurice Elliott, E. C. Donnelly, A. J. Thornton, J. McGarry, Joe Simons and Lee Myers.
The Geo. M. Cohan musical numbers are as many and as varied as ever and are said to include the best inspirations that have come from the pen of this talented young composer. The very titles, which follow, suggest a novel lyric in each case. They are: "Burning Up the Boulevard", "Follow Your Uncle Dudley", "Put a Little Bet Down for Me", "When a Fellow on the Level with a Girl That's on the Square", "Mr. Burns of New Rochelle", "When We Are M-A-Double R-I-E-D", "Bussy Little Broadway", "Claremont", "Drink With Me", "Under Any Old Flag at All", "Gee Ain't I Glad I'm Home", and the song that has become the greatest rage at the moment, "That's Some Love".
The play comes direct from a successful engagement at the Tremont theatre, Boston.

—Sheriff Doolan.
"I was proud to walk with our boys Monday evening."
—Joseph C. Ivers.
Aragon Council, K. of C., are preparing for a little entertainment at their rooms in Main street, next week. As they have many musical artists among their members, a rare treat may be expected.
The Antlers have engaged Masonic hall for the evening of April 16, the occasion of their informal reception.
Miss Helen Simonds and Miss S. Bassett of this city, students at Mt. Holyoke college, are home for the Easter recess.
Probate Clerk William V. Devitt and Mrs. Devitt leave the city the latter part of the week for Great Barrington, Mass., for a period of rest, which the physician of Mr. Devitt has ordered. His many friends hope the change may prove most beneficial and that he will soon return fully restored to health.
Horace Jackson is justly proud of the letter received from ex-President Roosevelt, acknowledging with thanks the good wishes extended him by Mr. Jackson. The secretary also states that the ex-President has received so many thousands of letters from all parts of the country it would be impossible to reply to them.
Thomas H. Suckley of Ogden street, father of Police Sergeant Suckley, is confined to his home suffering from a fractured rib and other serious bruises, the result of a fall in East Main street, Monday afternoon. A defective sidewalk was the cause, and owing to Mr. Suckley's enfeebled condition his physician is not certain at this time what the outcome may be.
