NEWS IN BRIEF

George G. Berger, the real estate man, has no trouble finding tenants for his modern business block located in Main street opposite the Stratfield Hotel. A Frank, the Jeweler, who just closed out his stock, had a lease to January 1, 1910, and this has been taken off his hands by Mr. Berger's new tenants, Harrison Bros., of Boston, who conduct a chain of stores throughout New England, dealing in daily products, teas and coffees. In addition to taking the lease, the firm has taken the store for two years with the privilege of renewing the same. Fireman Fred Senter of No. 5 Engine Company, is being congratulated because of the arrival of a daughter at his home, 1423 East Main street. Mother and daughter are doing well.

STRATFORD

Welcome to New Pastor — Remarks by, G. W. Fairchild, and Elliot W. Peck
A New Tailor—Liquor Destroyed — Minstrels—Personals.

Last evening at the Sunday school room of the Methodist church there was a large gathering of the faithful to welcome the new pastor, Rev. Geo. Farrer and his family. After a piano solo, Mr. George W. Fairchild called the meeting to order and in a few words stated its object. He said that if he was a preacher his text would be "Loyalty and be true to yourselves." He was glad to see so many friends of the church present. Gazing upon the sea of roses upon the hats of the ladies and the sparkling jewels they wear he was reminded that in the early history of Methodism it was counted a sin for women to indulge in such vanities. What a change, he exclaimed. But we live in a progressive age and for one he was glad we do. He wished all of his hearers to be happy in love, in religion and politics. Mr. Elliott W. Peck was the next speaker, and he gave a summary of the work done by the various branches of the church—the Sunday school the kindergarten, the Epworth League, the Ladies Aid Society, etc. He said the new pastor was an up-to-date man, and he added that the Sunday school is the great hope of the church. But the teachers and officers must do their part. Mr. Peck spoke of the work accomplished by the woman's aid society, and said all were glad to do the best they could. She hoped it would have 100 members. And she wished a lot of men would become honorary members. Rev. M. V. B. Abbott was asked to speak as an old pastor of the church. He advised the people to talk about the new pastor and to pray a good deal for him. Mr. Fairchild on behalf of the Board of Trustees gave Mr. Farrer the hand of fellowship and welcomed him to the church as its pastor.

Rev. Mr. Farrer made a brief but interesting reply. He remarked that Burns said he could ask nothing more than a warm greeting. You have given it to me. You are here with your hearts and happy faces. He was delighted with what he had seen of the workings of the church. After the transaction of some business matters the public was introduced to the new pastor when the company adjourned to the dining room of the church and partook of refreshments.

There is a startling rumor in town that a venturesome man proposes to open a tailor shop in the famous When restaurant. Not long since there was a sartorial artist in the center who came well supplied with snippers, thread and a goose, but he found the field unprofitable one to cultivate. After waiting for some coats and breeches to patch, he pulled up his stakes and passed out of sight. If the new tailor should open a roof garden on the spacious top of the Whiting building, and connect it by a bridge with the Cuphead club house, there are those who think the venture might pay.

Next Monday will be the annual election of the Sons of the Revolution at the Board of Trade in Hartford. Several members of the order from this town propose to go to the meeting. Wilson Smith of Longbrook avenue, who was taken to the Bridgeport hospital was operated upon yesterday morning. Harry Stagg has been ill for a week with the influenza. The Red Men held a good meeting on Monday evening, and listened to an interesting address from Mr. E. E. Treadwell of Bridgeport. A repeat followed. Mr. Justice Bacon Wakeman and Attorney Clitus King came up from Fairfield on Tuesday morning to institute condemnation proceedings against the liquor seized by the state police sometime ago, and connect it by a bridge with the Cuphead club house, there are those who think the venture might pay.

At the coming Red Men's minstrel performance the Squaw Song will be given by Harry Brown assisted by a prominent young lady who will take the part of the squaw. The young people will be expected to imitate paposes. The song is said to be quite clever. The costumes for the event are being made in New Haven, and red neckties and white roundabouts will be conspicuous. The hall is to be rewired for electricity, and foot lights will be provided for the stage. The boys are putting up something like $250 for the event. A spot light from New York is to be introduced, and some good scenic effects are promised. One young man in town has paid $14 in back poll and military taxes. A large number of our local Grangers went to Milford last night to pay a fraternal visit. Mr. George A. Smith has returned from a winter in New York. Miss Eliza Graham, L. H. Moulthrop and Sidney Colborn, all Stratford folks, are to sing in Bridgeport churches for the ensuing year.

Mrs. William White has gone to Cleveland, Ohio. It is now thought the fire drill will take place some pleasant day in June, when nobody will be apt to get wet. The old board of directors of Union Cemetery has been re-elected—John C. Wilcoxson, F. S. Beardsley and David L. Rhoades.

Women Against Proposed Reduction of Hose Duty

Washington, May 5.—A delegation of women workers in the hosiery mills of Philadelphia visited Washington yesterday to protest against the proposed reduction of the duty on hosiery in the Senate tariff bill. They were met at the station by Representative J. Hampton Moore and W. W. Foulkrod of Philadelphia.
