HILL OPPOSES INCOME TAX

Declaring Strongly Against Such a Measure in Time of Peace.

HENRY VOTES WITH HIM AGAINST AMENDMENT

Other Members of Connecticut Delegation Vote For It.

Washington, July 13.—Features of the income tax constitutional amendments in the House yesterday were Representative E. J. Hill's speech against the proposition and the split in the Connecticut delegation on the vote. Messrs Hill and Henry voted against the amendment, while Representatives Tilson and Higgins voted for it.

Mr. Hill said in part: "I shall vote against this amendment for the following reasons: In the first place, I do not believe that this extra session of Congress was called to completely change and revolutionize the taxation system of the United States. I think that a question of such magnitude should be submitted to the people and discussed in a campaign preparatory to the presentation of so important a measure as an amendment of the constitution. This proposition was found in the Democratic platform and not in the Republican platform on which the Presidential campaign of 1908 was won. My understanding is that Congress was called together for the sole purpose of revising the tariff law on the basis of the difference in the cost of production at home and abroad and so far as the House is concerned an honest attempt has been made to do that. I voted in the ways and means committee for a supplement to that revision in the shape of an inheritance tax. My judgment was then, and is now, that it was not necessary. I am a firm believer that in times of peace the revenues of this country should be derived from customs duties and internal revenue taxes, and that if these are not sufficient, as prudent people, we ought to reduce our expenses to a point where they will be covered by a few cents and yet, under all the circumstances, and realizing that the inheritance tax would bear heavily upon the people of my state, I voted for an inheritance tax.

"I do not know now but that I may ultimately vote for a corporation tax. My mind is not yet made up on that question. I shall not vote for an income tax. We ought to have the power to lay an income tax in time of war, but I am not in favor of giving the government the power to lay an income tax in time of peace. With an amendment limiting it to time of war or other extraordinary emergencies, I would vote for it.

"We did have an inheritance tax in 1900 to 1902. Take the collection district which I have the honor to represent in part, including Connecticut and Rhode Island. That district paid $680,753 of that inheritance tax in the year ending June 30, 1902. "All told 35 states paid $1,000,000 less than the little states of Connecticut and Rhode Island, and yet you come and ask me in time of peace and in the ordinary current of affairs of this government to vote now for a constitutional amendment which will enable thirty-five states to impose a far greater tax upon my state. "A roll call showed 317 Representatives for the proposed amendment and only 14 against it, one man answering present. "The fourteen opponents of the measure were all Republicans. They were Allen of Maine, Barchfield, Daisell, McCrary, and Wheeler of Pennsylvania, Calderhead of Kansas, Fordney of Michigan, Gardner, McCall, and Weeks of Massachusetts, Henry and Gleason of Connecticut, and Southwick of New York. Four of these are members of the conference committee on the tariff bill that will have the corporation tax to consider—Fordney, Calderhead, Daisell and McCall.

"LEAH KLESCHNA" GIVEN AT POLI'S

Miss Fleming Makes Title Role Interesting and John Ince Plays Paul Sylvaine.

"Leah Kleschna", given at Poli's last night for the first time, falls into a group of modern plays, rapidly increasing in number, which are tinged with the philosophy of Carl Marx. In other words they are socialist. It will be seen at once that it makes quite a difference in a man's attitude toward crime whether he believes that the criminal is a person absolutely of free will to do right, or wrong; or whether he believes that crime is the result of environment, defective inheritance and the like. In the one case his attitude toward the criminal will be like his attitude toward a vicious wild beast. The criminal must be put out of society whether by death or confinement matters not. But if the crime is due to defective environment, then the criminal is a social product; society is to blame for him and society must undertake the task, not of punishing, but of reclaiming him.

Were there no such philosophy as the late, Paul Sylvaine, member of the chamber of deputies, never could marry the reformed thief, Leah Kleschna. Yet this is what he does. The character of Sylvaine is well taken by John Ince. Possibly Miss Fleming is too young to develop the part of Leah with quite the understanding brought to it by Mrs. Fiske, who made the part famous, but she does it well. Many people avoid a play with a problem in it as they do a pestilence. These persons need not be afraid of this play on that account. The lesson is unobtrusive. The action is almost melodramatic. Especially so is the scene in the second act in which Sylvaine finds Leah at his safe with his family jewels in her possession. The work of Scott Sigina, as Kleschna is realistic and entitled to commendation. J. Hammond is Dalley as Schram, the pal of Kleschna, does something a little out of the line he has hitherto attempted in this city, and does it in the same conscientious way. The settings are good. Especially is this true of the second and third acts where the scene is in Sylvaine's studio, and a wealth of detail is introduced.

It sometimes happens that a few people wander into a theatre who should never be allowed to move than a block away from home. This was the case last evening when some persons who had never heard that policemen are not dressed all over in blue, the world found something mirth inspiring in the characteristic uniform of a Parisian gendarme who appears for a moment upon the stage.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

The marriage of Miss Ella Agnes Kiernan and Mr. Claud A. Randolph took place yesterday morning at St. Augustine's church, 870 Broad street. The Rev. John Cyril France officiated and performed the marriage ceremony. Miss Kiernan is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Kiernan of 48 Sanford avenue, and is a sister of Dr. W. M. Kiernan. The groom was formerly a resident of this city, but is now in business in Hartford, Conn. The bride was attended by her sister, Margaret and Francis Shanley of New Haven acted as best man. After a trip through Canada, Mr. Randolph will reside in Hartford.

Tom Lannon, the well known South End ball player, was surprised, last evening at his home, 870 Broad street, by a visit from a number of his friends. Carter's orchestra furnished music for the guests, while dancing was enjoyed.

The successor to the Rev. E. Livingston Wells, who accepted a call to Christ Church, Hartford, July 1, has been appointed by Bishop Brewster of the Episcopal Diocese of Connecticut. The Rev. John Cyril France, who has had charge of St. Paul's church in Huntington, will become rector of St. Luke's church at Stratford avenue and Sixth street. Mr. France is a farmer, being a native of Tennessee.

A special meeting of all the committees in charge of the Lawn Fete of the Queen's Club, which is to be held Thursday, July 29, will take place, Thursday evening, of this week, at St. Augustine's church, at 8 o'clock.

The picnic and trolley ride of the children of St. Patrick's church which was to have taken place this morning has been postponed to tomorrow because of the threatening weather. The children will board trolley cars at the church at North avenue and will then proceed to Milford, returning to Steeplechase Island. Cars will leave the church at 9 a. m.

BIGAMIST JOHNSON WEDS MANY WIVES FOR THEIR MONEY

(Special from United Press.) San Jose, Cal., July 13.—Explaining, brokenly, that he would never survive the seven year prison term to which he was sentenced yesterday for bigamy, Johnson, in the presence of the Sheriff Langford, made a full and complete recital of his dealings with women all over the United States and his means of obtaining money from his many wives. Johnson acknowledges that he is the man known as "Madson" and "Anderson," for whom the police of several cities have been looking for years on bigamy charges.

Johnson's action was not the result of any over-weening fondness for the fair sex, he said. His motive in becoming fiance and husband to so many women was purely mercenary. In explaining his marital exploits he said: "I had as many wives as I could absolutely remember all of them. I don't think I could tell the exact number of them. I have been making my living by making love to and marrying women for over three years. "Why did I do it? Well, in 1906 my health failed. I was then in the business of buying horses for the governments and my illness forced me to give up my work. It was necessary that I have money and as I had always been getting money from the women whom I married, I perceived the idea of travelling about the country, becoming engaged to women and getting what money I could from them. "I did not wish to marry any of these women but as in many cases it was impossible to get their money without marrying them and I did it. My first marriage was to Mrs. Mary Brown in Springfield, Mass., in 1906. I next married Mrs. Sylvia Pollard in Boston, Mass. Under the name of Madson I married only one woman. "She was Mrs. Jones, of Portland, Ore., and I got $1,800 from her. I think the entire amount I received from women whom I married or had arranged to marry was about $5,100."

SERIOUS EXPLOSION BOTH LONESOME COMMIT SUICIDE

(Special from United Press.) New York, July 13.—Lonesome among New York's four million, two foreigners took their own lives to-day, rather than struggle alone in a country where they were alone and homesick. Otto Kucher, aged 45, a German out of work since he came here six months ago, jumped from the fourth story window of an apartment house and was crushed to death. Sixteen year old Minnie Mesthke, homesick for her native land she left six months ago, turned on the gas in the kitchen of her employer's residence and was asphyxiated.

THREE DEATHS FROM SWELTERING HEAT

(Special from United Press.) Cleveland, July 13.—Three deaths and a number of minor prostrations comprise the toll of the sweltering heat wave which has subsided somewhat to-day as the result of the terrific wind and rain storm of last night. In each case the deaths resulted from heart disease induced by the intense heat.
