BANNON REPLACED POLLARD, LATTER WAS EASY MARK

"Rube" Pollard was so bad yesterday against Waterbury in that city, and because Manager O'Rourke did not care to use Freddie Gibbs, George Bannon was called in from left field to pitch the eighth inning for the Orators. Waterbury won, 11-4, almost repeating their winning performance of Wednesday in this city. If you want to fatten your batting average get a game with the Orators. Sillery was hit hard enough to win an ordinary outcast but win can't be recorded when you're out-slugged as on yesterday. One error came the Orator way, that on a hit which Ladd led go through his legs. The score: Waterbury, 0 0 0 3 0 0 2 11-15-2 Bridgeport, 1 0 0 0 3 0 0 4-9-1 Batteries: Sillery and McDonald; Pollard, Bannon and Koehler.

WHY YOU DUNBAR LISTEN TO O'BRIEN

South End's Executive Hands Out a Bunch of Talk to Newfield's Match Maker--Talkfest Apropos Relative Merits of the Respective Ball Teams--Whose Who in Ballroom.

Sporting Editor of The Farmer. Dear Sir:—

In your last night's edition of the "Farmer" there appeared an article signed by C. H. Dunbar, manager of the Newfields, in regards to the prospect of the City Championship of that team.

He mentions the fact that we were defeated by the All-Meridians and the Washington Club. The former team we have defeated, being the only Bridgeport team to do the trick while we have not up to date played a return game with the Clee Club.

Manager Dunbar does not state his failure to take the All-Waterbury team into camp while we have defeated the latter team had its full aggregation on the field. Frank White was in the box and the South Ends found him for 17 hits. When the South Ends are defeated they acknowledge it and do not try to smooth matters over with the half truth excuse of playing with a "stretched up team."

NATIONAL LEAGUE

The Pirates made a slight gain on the Chicago yesterday and every little helps a good deal at this stage of the race. While the Pirates were breaking even with the Boston the Cubs were being vanquished by the Brooklyn. The Cardinals broke their losing streak at the expense of the Giants, while the Reds and Phillies divided a doubleheader. The results: At Boston—Boston 1, Pittsburgh 0 (first game); Pittsburgh 5, Boston 3 (second game). At Philadelphia—Cincinnati 3, Philadelphia 3 (first game); Philadelphia 5, Cincinnati 3 (second game). At Brooklyn—Brooklyn 3, Chicago 1. At New York—St. Louis 5, New York 2.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

The New York Americans closed their Western season yesterday, winning and losing in a doubleheader with the Cleveland. They broke even on the series in Cleveland, the only city in the West in which they fared well on this trip. By beating the Boston the Detroit took the entire series. All's grist that comes to the Tigers' mills just now, they having won fifteen straight. The White Sox down the Browns and took Cleveland's place at the bottom of the first division. The results: At Detroit—Detroit 5, Boston 5. At Cleveland—New York 6, Cleveland 1 (first game); Cleveland 2, New York 1 (second game). At Chicago—Chicago 6, St. Louis 3.

CONNECTICUT LEAGUE

The same story yesterday, the pitching staff of the Orators was weak, and could not stop Waterbury from hitting, with the usual result. It's good night to Holyoke as champions of 1909. Yesterday at Springfield the Papermakers dropped both ends of a double attraction. Northampton seems to have lost her mid-season hoodoo over Hartford, yesterday losing for the second time this week to the Senators. In a sensational fielding game at New Haven, the Undertakers went down for the count. The results: At Waterbury—Waterbury 11, Bridgeport 4. At Springfield—Springfield 8, Holyoke 2 (first game); Springfield 4, Holyoke 1 (second game). At Northampton—Hartford 4, Northampton 3. At New Haven—New Britain 2, New Haven 1.

LIVE BASE BALL TIPS

Two games with Springfield here this afternoon.

Tomorrow the Meadow Larks are here for their last appearance of the season. A preliminary will be on between the Crane No. 1 and Holmes & Edwards teams of the Industrial League.

The Authors are swatting the ball with a vengeance. Fifty-one hits in the last three games, an average of 17 to the game, and all off the Orators.

It's second place sure for the Papermakers this season. They tried hard and might have won out, but the reverses were too many. A broken arm laid Pitcher Sinder low, while broken ankles put Third Basemen Perkins and Edell aside.

Jimmy Savage has left for New York

regards to the fact that we were defeated by the Newfields last April. Let us quote a statement of Manager Dunbar: "Most of the games won by the South Ends were from city teams, which are not of the first water." According to this statement, the Newfields must be of that grade, and yet with all the more honor to ourselves, as we have defeated them.

Again, Manager Dunbar at this late date desires to play a series of games with the South Ends to see which club shall play the West Ends. Preposterous! If the Newfields are so desirous of taking on the South Ends, where were they when the South End manager approached Manager Dunbar in regard to games at earlier dates during the season. Manager Dunbar threw the bluff that he had games, but as a matter of fact, the Newfields never played on those dates. It looks like a clear case of "lay down" so that a little pecuniary interest might be gained at the close of the season.

In defeating the Bridgeport State league team the South Ends have without the shadow of a doubt shown that they are the fastest and snappiest non-professional club that ever represented the Park City on the diamond.

A MATEUR FOOTBALL

Chief Miller was way up in batting with a triple, three singles and a base on balls out of five times at the bat, making a perfect record.

"Pop" Foster has made a big success as manager of the Reading Club in the Tri-State League. His team had been contenders for the pennant until yesterday when they were knocked out. The season ends on Labor Day, with Lancaster the winner.

If Dr. Cook brings the North Pole back with him when he returns, Manager Clarkin will try and secure it to float the pennant from. It would be a novelty, anyway, as no one from this section ever saw the North Pole.—Hartford Courant.

BIG SHIPMENT OF ROOSEVELT GAME

The Arrow football club will practice this evening at 8 o'clock at the end of Lafayette street at Seaside Park. Any youngster with a little sand and weighing about 80 or 100 pounds may report.

The Housatonics, formerly the Defenders, held their first meeting of the season last evening organizing for the season. All members and those wishing for a tryout may report for practice Tuesday at 7:45 sharp at North Washington avenue and Grand street.

Charlie Fallon, the former Senator, who played in the Eastern League this season, has been purchased by the Utica club of the New York State League. Utica is now leading in that organization, but is closely pressed. But one more week is to be played.

Jet
In his "Mirror of Stones" Camillus Leonardus calls jet "black amber" and states that it possesses the peculiar property of attracting to it when rubbed light substances of all kinds. He also tells us that the thin smoke produced by this friction of rubbing was used by the ancient Britains for driving away devils and dissolving spells.

"Jet," says Dr. Young, "appears to be wood in a high state of bituminization." And certainly jet often appears with traces of ligneous structure. At the same time there are specimens of bones which seemingly have been gradually impregnated with and at last wholly replaced by this substance. Among the jet rock there is found a liquid hydrocarbon somewhat resembling petroleum oil, which occurs in the cavities of ammonites, etc., and is also sometimes found in nodules, the presence of which is generally supposed to point to a rich vein of jet.

From these and other observations it would appear that jet existed as a liquid substance and that this substance gradually permeated between the laminations of the shales, etc., covering over or in some cases entirely replacing any woody matter which it met with.—New York Post.

little recking our trouble they brought. It really was hard to decide. They were both so delightful, she thought. She couldn't say which one she'd have, her efforts fell hopelessly flat. It's really exceedingly hard selecting a new autumn hat.

He Told Her.
Housekeeper—You promised that if I'd give you a good meal and a suit of old clothes you'd tell me how to keep the premises free from tramps.
Tramp—Yes, mum, an' I'm a man of my word, mum, an' I'll keep me promise, although that meal wasn't no great shakes an' this suit of clothes ain't much of a fit. But I'll tell ye.
"Well, what course am I to pursue?"
"Never give 'em anything, mum. Good day, mum."

Good and Simple.
Let it not be in any man's power to say truly of thee that thou art not simple or that thou art not good, but let him be a liar whoever shall think anything of this kind about thee, and this is altogether in thy power, for who is he that shall hinder thee from being good and simple?—Marcus Antonius.

How He Raised It.
"How on earth did you ever cultivate such a beautiful black eye?" asked Brown's friend.
"Oh," replied Brown, who had unintentionally been illustrating the fall of man on roller skates, "I raised it from a slip."—Everybody's Magazine.

Shows No Improvement.

"No?"
"No. She helps her mother with the housework just as if she hadn't been educated."—Detroit Free Press.

An Apt Simile.
Some men have a career like a golf ball. They are helped out of one hole only to get into another.—Lippincott's.

Three Reasons For Declining.
Lord Broughton had a temper which sometimes exploded in a most discouraging manner. It is related that on one occasion he dined with a large party at "The Squire's" house, and after dinner some especially fine mackerel was produced. In his usual genial way the novelist pressed this on his guests and, patting his neighbor, Lord Broughton, on the back, remarked, "Now, my dear old boy, you must try some of this."
A chill fell on the company when the noble lord retorted, "I am not your dear boy, I am not old, and—your wine."

The Only Thing Left.
Jeremiah Jinks is rich and stingy. An acquaintance of his met Jinks' son the other day. "Your father seems to have lost a good deal of money lately. The last time I saw him he was complaining and saying he must economize."
"Economize! Did he say where he was going to begin?"
"Yes, on his table," he said.
"Then he must be going to take away the tablecloth," was the filial declaration.—Exchange.

Parried.
"And that young man kissed you on the lips! Why didn't you offer him your hand?" said the father.
"Oh, I didn't have to, papa," said the girl. "He's going to ask you for that."—Yonkers Statesman.

A Case For Sympathy.

Snuff Spoons.
All the world is familiar with snuff-boxes, but snuff spoons are pretty little refinements of which this generation has hardly heard. Very probably they came into use about two years after Sir George Rooke's expedition to Vigo bay in 1702, when he captured half a ton of tobacco and snuff from the Spanish galleons, and snuff thus became a common article in England.

One of the characters in a comedy published at Oxford in 1704, entitled "An Act at Oxford," by Thomas Baker, says, "But I carry sweet snuff for the ladies," to which Arabella replies: "A spoon too. That's very gallant, for to see some people run their fat fingers into a box is as nauseous as eating without a fork."

In the forties and fifties of the last century snuff spoons were still in use on the Scottish border. They were of bone and of a size to go into the snuff-box. People fed their noses, it was said, as naturally as they carried soup to their mouths. As late as 1877 a farmer at Norham-on-Tweed was seen using one.—London Saturday Review.

A Tramp of Resource.
Much experience of thirsty tramps had caused the author of "An English Holiday," J. J. Hissey, to foreknow almost exactly what they would say to him. One day, when sending his motorcar slowly along a shady English road, he met one of this guild, who accosted him with the preliminary touch of his cap. Mr. Hissey anticipated him by exclaiming: "I'm mortal thirsty! Have you, good sir, the price of a glass of ale about you? I've driven nearly fifty miles today, and since the morning not a bite of food has passed my lips."
The look of astonishment that tramp gave me was a delight to observe. But this tramp was a man of ready resource, and, seeing I was a hopeless case, he rose to the occasion and promptly exclaimed, with what dignity he could command and with a comically serious expression: "If there were a policeman in sight I would give you in charge for begging, that I would!"

Between Two Fires.
She was desperately gone on them both, and she couldn't think which one to choose. It was rather perplexing, no doubt, for one she was bound to refuse.

She gazed at them both in despair, quite puzzled to know what to do. As soon as she thought about one she cared for the other one too.

They still remained under her gaze.
