JACKSON'S

MR. JACOB ADLER.

Mr. Jacob Adler, the eminent Yiddish tragedian who heads the Jacob Adler All-Star Yiddish Company which comes direct from Adler's Grand Theatre, New York city, to the Jackson Theatre for one performance only, this evening, is claimed to be the foremost Yiddish speaking player of the Yiddish stage. His work has not only appealed to the Yiddish speaking people of New York but has attracted the attention of and has been commented upon by the representative critics of that city. The above mentioned actor, supported by the favorite Yiddish players, Mme. Sarah Adler, Miss Frances Adler and an all-star cast of popular Yiddish players, will present for the first time in this city "The Stranger," a drama in four acts of Yiddish life in America, and written by the late Jacob Gorkin.

LOUIS MANN.

Mr. Louis Mann comes to Jackson's to-morrow evening when he will be seen for the first time here in "The Man Who Stood Still," the character comedy that has just concluded an engagement at the Tremont Theatre, Boston and a New York city run at the Circle Theatre. As to Mr. Mann himself his coming is always an event with interest to local theatregoers. It is easy to tell the story of "The Man Who Stood Still," for it is involved in an outline description of the character enacted by Mr. Mann—John Krauss, is an elderly Swiss watchmaker, who refuses to keep pace with the tide of progress that sweeps by him, leaving him figuratively standing still. Yet we sympathize with him, for he says that the old ways are good enough for him as they were for his grandfather, and his grandmothers. If they found it well enough why should not he? That is the Krauss philosophy. He is out of patience with the money grabber and with that phase of New York life that is constantly crowding, shoving and pushing. He hates that spirit. He does not understand that the same phenomen is visible throughout the entire world, for he sees only the small bit that revolves about his little shop on the Bowery. So it is evident that Krauss is a Bourbon, racially, religiously and socially. He learns nothing new, and he forgets nothing old. The play is one of the intimate type that we see too rarely on the stage. It tells a story that is readily understood and one need not have the analytic faculties sharpened to the keenest point to appreciate "The Man Who Stood Still." Mr. Wm. A. Brady stages the play and he has selected for Mr. Mann's company such tried actors and actresses as Mathilde Cotterly, Louis Hendricks, Emily Ann Wellman and Lillian Sinnott and others of equal prominence.

"THE CLANSMAN."

That intensely interesting drama of the Reconstruction period, "The Clansman," will play a brief engagement at Jackson's next Saturday matinee and evening. Viewed as a stage product simply, "The Clansman" is one of the most powerful dramas ever put on the American boards. Such scenes as the High Court of the Ku Klux Klan and the parting of the lovers, Ben and Elsie, would alone be sufficient to make the fortune of any play. The power of the play as a play is proven by the enthusiasm with which it is received both North and South. Popular support, not critical opinion, is what makes and mars plays, and the tremendous business done by "The Clansman" in every section of the country shows the people's verdict. Seats are now on sale.

"THE GIRL OF THE GOLDEN WEST."

On Thursday evening, Oct. 7, David Belasco's play, "The Girl of the Golden West," comes. This beautiful Belasco story of the early days of California, which had a remarkable run of two years at the Belasco Theatre, New York, will be given here with the same attention to detail that characterized its performance in the metropolis. The sale of seats opens Monday morning.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

An anniversary of interest was the observation, yesterday, of the eighty-fourth birthday of Mrs. Garritt Haulenbeck at the home of her daughter, Mrs. James Edwin Russell, 51 Fifth street. During the afternoon and evening scores of friends and relatives called informally to tender their felicitations to Mrs. Haulenbeck, who received in a handsome gown of black satin brocade relieved with point lace. A buffet luncheon including an elaborate birthday cake was served by Mrs. J. E. Russell and Mrs. Bessie Phillips at Mrs. Haulenbeck's in the widow of Rev. Garritt Haulenbeck of Norwalk, and is a bright and vigorous woman of intellectual charm. Her unimpaired faculties, in conjunction with her active interest in literature and current events, render her a pleasing conversationalist. She was the recipient of many choicest gifts, testifying to the esteem of the donors. Remembrances and notes of congratulation were received from out of town relatives who were unable to be present at the celebration.

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized at St. Mary's church, yesterday morning at 8 o'clock, when Rev. Father Murphy united in marriage with a nuptial mass Miss Hannah McCarthy of Connecticut avenue and Mr. Ayles McPadden, also of this city. The bride was very neatly gowned in a traveling suit of gray with hat to match. She was attended by her cousin, Miss Della Cullen, of New York, who wore a blue cloth suit with at to match. The best man was Mr. John McPadden, a brother of the groom. After a wedding breakfast at the home of the bride's brother, Mr. and Mrs. McPadden left on a noon train for Boston and other places of interest.

Miss Clara A., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Chaffee, 52 Maplewood avenue, was married last night by George E. Osborne of Waterbury, by Rev. James A. Osborne of Waterbury, father of the groom. Miss Eloise Chaffee, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, and J. W. Ludby of New York was best man. Mr. and Mrs. Chaffee will reside in Waterbury where he is employed by the Scoville Mfg. Company.

Co. I, Second Regiment, U. S. A., gave an entertainment in the lyceum of the German Reformed church last night which was well attended, and enjoyable. "Wanted, a Nurse" was presented by Louise Meyer, Mathilda Gotthardt, Max Kirschner, Esther Bayless and J. Bradshaw. Others who participated were Helen Levering, Lydia Myer, Matilda Wiermer, Edna Hungerford, Elizabeth Stein, James V. Bradshaw, Otto Donath, Max Kirschner, and F. J. Enders.

Catalpa Circle, Companions of the Forest, have raised a committee of 20 to arrange for a celebration of the 12th anniversary of the founding of the circle.

Because of her approaching wedding to Dr. J. Francis Quinn, Miss Florence O'Hara was given a linen shower by her friends, the Misses May Rock, Sallie Levery and Anna O'Hara at the home of Miss Rock, last night.

Among pleasant social functions recently held on the East Side are numbered the birthday party given to Miss Anna Conway, at the home of her parents, Drew Place, in honor of her 18th anniversary; the surprise party tendered to Miss May Bissett at her home in Malden Lane, Monday evening; and the birthday party given by Mrs. W. P. Lyons in honor of her sister, Mrs. Charles Smith, of Coney Island, who had just attained her 24th birthday anniversary.

David Price of 229 Wade street, had a narrow escape yesterday when he drove onto the tracks of the Berkshire division at 11 a. m. His horse, with ashes, the horse was injured so badly that it was killed and the wagon was badly shattered.

Dr. and Mrs. Healy accompanied by Mr. James F. Healy of Derby are attending the Hudson-Fulton celebrations in New York City.

England Acts in South American Case

(Special from United Press.) London, Sept. 20.—The Foreign Office today ordered the English agent at Peru to make a complete report of the alleged atrocities committed by the Peruvian-Amazon Company against its employees in the Putumayo river district of South America. The interference of the Foreign Office is warranted by the fact that the Peruvian-Amazon Company, engaged in rubber manufacture, is working Earbadoes negroes who are British subjects as well as Huilotos Indians. This, it is believed, will avoid international complications. Discussion of the subject was had at last night's parliamentary session at which charges made by W. E. Hardenburg, an American engineer who visited the Putumayo district, against the English company, were presented. Buttons grow larger and more or-

CITY BRIEFS.

Mrs. Walter Laidlaw of Washington Terrace, who was injured by a fall in Park avenue on April 26, and who was in bed up about four weeks with an injured knee, has petitioned the city to reimburse her for loss of time and for the services of a nurse and physician in consequence of her injury. The matter was referred to the chairman of the Claims committee and the city attorney at a meeting of the committee last night.

Members of the East Side Athletic Club, attended the annual smoker last night. There were a number of boxing and wrestling events. Refreshments were served and the latter part of the evening devoted to songs and stories.

FASHIONS AND FADS

Straight lines are still the rule for gowns. Never was the topcoat more worn than to-day. Sweaters this year are longer than ever before. Many of the gayest parasols have jet black handles. Fringe now appears on a great many articles of dress. New silk stockings have heels and toes of like thread. Hats made in fine batiste are enjoying a remarkable vogue. Silver jewelry is the craze on the other side of the water. There is a persistent rumor that the old-time pannier will soon be with us again.

StopCough

Those hard night coughs of the children! What shall you give them? Just what your mother gave you, and just what her mother gave her! In some families, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral has been the only cough remedy for the cough and colds of medicine for seventy years. Once in the family, it stays. Keep it on hand.

Not Many Store-Sales Are Uninfluenced by Store-Advertising!

The store-sales to-day that are uninfluenced, directly or indirectly, by store-advertising will not have amounted to ten per cent. of the total business of the day. By the direct influence of advertising is meant the sales of articles specifically advertised. By the indirect influence of advertising is meant the articles sold that are not specifically advertised, but are displayed to the customers who are drawn to the store BY THE ADVERTISED ARTICLES. In the latter case, as surely as in the first, the advertising must be credited with the sale.

Observant merchants know that this is true. They should gain courage from the knowledge to strengthen their advertising campaigns to the point of matching their store-hopes and plans.
