

MAY ROBSON, IN "THE REJUVENATION OF AUNT MARY"

May Robson will be seen at Jackson's next Friday evening and Saturday matinee and night in her great success "The Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary" which she has played for two whole seasons on the road without closing.

As a character actress Miss Robson stands alone. In the delightful role of Aunt Mary she has created a part which stands alone, no one could portray the part so true to life as Miss Robson. L. S. Sire, under whose management Miss Robson is starring has given her able support and the production is one of the best seen on the stage.

The play is quite different from anything of its kind ever presented on the stage. It is one big surprise for the theatergoer. It is a new and different sort of comedy that makes one laugh with a whole-souled spirit. The lines scintillate with wit and humor, and Aunt Mary is the center of it all, a big-hearted woman of generous impulses, all bound up in her scape-goat nephew.

Aunt Mary is Miss Mary Watkins. Jack's Aunt Mary, a wealthy warm-hearted woman, left single in this world because the one she loved in her youth never returned after he left. She lived in the country with Lucinda, the maid of all work and Joshua. She has brought up Jack as her own son and has bestowed upon him all the love of a lonely woman. Jack's school bills, looked after him when he was expelled from college and to her he ran with all his troubles when he got into scrapes. She, by a stroke of fortune, never joined a mother's club, but the motherhood is there. She herself wonders why old maids love to have cats around, and then soliloquizes that it is because they want something to love.

Aunt Mary lives in a house with mahogany door and brass knocker. Now York, which she has not visited in 25 years, is a den of iniquity to her, but despite that she visits the city after receiving a pathetic letter from one of Jack's chums to the effect that her boy has the measles. She has already disintegrated him because of a suit for $15,000 for breach of promise by a girl from Kalamazoo, but she can't bear the thought of him being ill.

Nervous Dyspepsia and Neurasthenia

Weakness of the Nervous System Often Dependent Upon Long-continued Indigestion

Neurasthenia, also known as "nervous exhaustion," "nervous debility," and "nervous prostration," is a disease, which in these modern, strenuous times is becoming more and more prevalent. It is a condition in which there is more or less irregular and persistent loss of energy, together with considerable irritability.

Persons who suffer from this trouble are easily excited and irritated, cannot do as much work as formerly, and in attempting any mental effort, quickly become confused, and are unable to concentrate their attention.

But by far the most prominent manifestation of Neurasthenia is Nervous Dyspepsia. In nearly every case, the disturbance of the stomach dominates the complaint. Cause and effect may be transposed, and dyspepsia may be the result of Neurasthenia, but often indigestion is the original cause of the nervous condition.

The use of "nerve tonics" in this condition is a mistake; they merely stimulate, but do not rebuild nerve tissue. Completely new and original is usually the origin of the trouble, by taking STUART'S DYSPEPSIA TABLETS in doses of one or two after each meal, or whenever needed, until the long train of nervous symptoms will be cured along with the nervous dyspepsia.

This celebrated remedy is without a peer in the treatment of nervous indigestion and in fact, indigestion of any kind. They digest all the food with great thoroughness, and facilitate its absorption by the blood, which carries it to the weakened, diseased nerves and builds them up.

FARMER COWLES HAS GOOD CROPS

The Silo is Full to the Top, "Taters" is Looking up, Pigs are Butter Fat, and Hens are Laying Overtime.

Superintendent Merie Cowles of the Lakeview Home has been very successful this year with his crops, notwithstanding his limitations in the way of help and the drought, which he, with all the other farmers, suffered. Fourteen of the forty acres under cultivation were used to grow corn. The silo is about filled with the ensilage from the seven acres of silo corn. There will be enough to last into the middle of summer. The corn crop was a good one. There is over an acre of cabbage and two acres of turnips. The hay crop was light. The potatoes have not been dug, but 12 acres have been planted and the yield ought to be over 2,000 bushels.

The pride of the town farm is in the pig pen. Superintendent Cowles has some of the finest porkers ever raised in this city. Strayed from the pen upon the scales they would tip the beam at two tons.

HYDRAULIC CO. TO BUILD NEW SHOP

ITS GROWING NEEDS REQUIRE A MORE CAPACIOUS LABORATORY. At an expense of about $7,000 the Bridgeport Hydraulic Co. is going to build a brick building on its property with a frontage in Thomas street, at the rear of the building of its construction departments which faces Water street. The new building will be equipped on one floor as a laboratory and used by the company's chemist, S. E. Targett, in making analyses of the waters of the various streams and ponds of the company used in supplying this city. Strayed from the pen upon the scales they would tip the beam at two tons.

The Water street building has been outgrown by the company and in the future it will be used as quarters for the caretaker of the company's yard and the office of the construction department.

Many Gifts for Nellie L. Feller

At the annual convention of the Shepherds of Bethlehem held in Wilmington, Delaware, yesterday, John Betts, of New York city, was elected Supreme Commander to succeed Mrs. Nellie L. Feller, of this city, who was the first woman to be elected to the place. Mrs. Feller was urged to accept a re-nomination by the convention but having passed through a very busy year in looking after the duties of her office she felt that she would prefer to retire. Mrs. Feller was the recipient of many handsome gifts from various lodges and individual members of the big organization. Pittsburg, Pa., was agreed upon in preference to eight other cities as the meeting place of the next convention.

Physician Drowns Himself Over Grief of Cow's Death

Oberlin, Ohio, Oct. 13.—Grief over the recent death of a favorite cow is believed to have caused Dr. J. F. Siddall, 39 years old, to end his life yesterday by drowning himself in a cistern. Mrs. Siddall said that her husband had been mourning the loss of the cow, and that the family became so alarmed over his condition that he was watched.

Mr. Siddall was the father of Attorney Benjamin Siddall, of this city, and John Siddall, a magazine editor.

ECZEMA VICTIM GAVE UP HOPE

After Suffering a Year with Raw, Watery Humor on Hands and Face—Prescriptions Did Not Do a Bit of Good—Scratched Till Blood Came and Had to Quit Work.

COMPLETELY CURED BY CUTICURA REMEDIES

"I suffered with eczema for one year and had two of the best doctors in town, but their medicine did not help me. First of all there were small white pimples on my left hand and I had to scratch until the blood came. Then I had to scratch until the water would run out. Wherever this water would run there would be more pimples until my whole left hand was a mass of sores. Then my other hand became affected and they were like a piece of raw meat. Then it came on my face, neck and under my right arm so that I was unable to raise my arm for two weeks. It became so bad that I was obliged to give up work. About four months ago I started to doctor and the doctor told me it was eczema. So he told me to get ointment and soap. I used them for a month and they did me no good. I got good so I tried another doctor. He gave me three different kinds of medicines, but I was very much put out when these remedies did not help me. I was unable to sleep at night and I gave up all hope until I decided to try the Cuticura Remedies. I used them for a month and I am glad to say I am cured. Miss Nora Shultz, 243 North Third St., Reading, Pa., Jan. 4 and 7, 1909."

Hair Growth Promoted by shampoos with Cuticura Soap and light dressings of Cuticura. This treatment allays itching and irritation, destroys hair parasites, cleanses, purifies and beautifies and tends to make the hair grow upon a clean, healthy scalp.
