The occasion is also greatly favored by its musical friends who will take effective parts. The dedication will take place at 10:30 to-morrow morning. Former Mayor Thomas E. Taylor, chairman of the building committee will present the keys. Rev. H. A. Davennort, the pastor, will preach the sermon and conduct the consecration service.

Motorcycle Sulky Unique Racing Rig

New Haven, Oct. 23.—Down at the Rafter Wagon Works, 82 Franklin street, there is being built a vehicle which is very unique by reason of the fact that it has only one wheel, a distinction enjoyed, so far as known, by only one other type, the time honored wheelbarrow. This "monocycle" or one wheeled sulky is for racing purposes only and was designed by Thomas Wilson of this city. The wheel is a common bicycle wheel, 26 inches in diameter, with shafts and a seat attached thereto. The sulky will weigh when completed only 25 pounds, which is said to be only one-half the weight of the standard two-wheeled sulky, consequently the draught will be considerably lessened. The plans of the novel rig were turned over to the Rafter people with instructions to have it completed in time to be shipped to New York for exhibition at the horse show there next week.

TOOK AMBULANCE 25 MINUTES TO RESPOND TO CALL

Charles P. Dimick, the cigar store proprietor at 174 Fairfield avenue, and a score of others who witnessed the unreasonable delay of the ambulance corps last evening in getting to the cigar store where Lewis McPhee, son of Hugh McPhee manager of the Maxwell and Briscoe automobile company at Tarrytown, N. Y., was in agony as the result of an overdose of cocaine and morphine are very indignant. It was exactly 25 minutes said Mr. Dimick from the time when a man was sent to call the doctor to the time when the ambulance rolled up in front of the store a distance of only a few blocks. It could be walked in five minutes easily. It was suggested to Mr. Dimick by a friend that he complain to President Stone of the Board of Charities but he decided that it might hurt in a business way. He said that he had never received such discourteous treatment from a city of officials as he did from ambulance Surgeon Krause.

When Dr. Krause was interviewed this morning to get his side of the story he replied: "I have nothing to say. I don't give two damns for Dimick. He can say it took an hour and a half if he wants to." That was all the doctor would say. The story of the affair as told by Mr. Dimick and substantiated by others is as follows: McPhee walked into the pool room complaining of having "a head." He sat down and in a few minutes was taken very sick. He lost all control of himself and was turned to his informant and said: "Keep still, can't you see that I am busy. Taken aback at this reception the man returned to the cigar store.

Meanwhile McPhee was kept moving in the fresh air behind the store. Fearing that the ambulance was not coming Harry Ford's automobile was used to hurry McPhee to the hospital. Near Broad street the automobile and the ambulance passed each other. When the ambulance arrived at the store, after a 25 minute wait, Mr. Dimick chided the doctor for the delay and was told by the physician that he had too much to say. The ambulance then returned to the dispensary. Without treating him at all, say those who took McPhee to the dispensary in the automobile. Dr. Krause said "We will send him to Vincent's hospital." McPhee expressed a preference for the Bridgeport hospital where he was taken. He is admitted to the use of drugs and he will probably be discharged today.

HARVEST FESTIVAL AT IMMANUEL BAPTIST CHURCH

The "Flower Committee" of Immanuel Baptist church has made the church interior look like "outdoors" for the occasion of the "Harvest Festival" to be held Sunday night. Autumn leaves, flowers, wheat-sheaves and hoppers, have been tastefully arranged. The scene gives the effect of a combination wheat and corn field with a forest background. The walls are hung with autumn leaf boughs, and the corn stalks decorate the pulpit, the baptistry is over shadowed by a bower of leaves, the choir will be sheltered by a large oak tree, a row of wheat sheaves serve as a railing about the platform and fruits and vegetables mounded in front of the pulpit and hung in clusters on the wall. The scene gives the effect of a beautiful autumn landscape. The new organ recently presented to the church by Mr. S. T. Velle, stands out prominently in one corner, and the organist, Mrs. Benjamin Stewart has arranged to give several selections upon it, by special request, beginning at 7:15 p. m. sharp. The choir will render several anthems during the service and the pastor will give a short talk on the subject "Life's Garden, It's Fruits and Flowers."

Fall colds are quickly cured by Foley's Honey and Tar, the great throat and lung remedy. The genuine contains no harmful drugs. F. B. Brill, and Curtis Pharmacy, local agents.

The last trace of Mueller the police now have is that he was heard of in Trinidad, Col., several months ago. Otto Seibert has also told the police that he met a man whom he thinks was Mueller some time ago in Savannah, Ga.

Worry Causes Suicide Of Miss Oppenheimer

(Special from United Press.) New York, Oct. 23.—Worry over the contents of a letter from her fiancé by the cause given by Coroner Harburger after an inquiry today into the suicide of Miss Leah Oppenheimer, 33, an heiress of Butte, Mont., late yesterday in the apartments of her sister, Mrs. Majorie L. Simons, No. 4 West 33d street. Miss Oppenheimer was a sister of J. E. Oppenheimer, head of the New York Realty Company and the Simons Dry Goods Company of Butte. The brother returned this morning from Europe on the French Line steamer La Provence. Up to a year ago Miss Oppenheimer was head of the departments in the Butte store. She then came to New York to visit her sister, intending to return west next week. Last Thursday according to a maid, the young heiress received a letter from her fiancé in Butte and seemed very unhappy after reading it. She had threatened to commit suicide on previous occasions but was dissuaded by relatives. She burned the letter.

Marriages in Spain.

Though marriages in Spain are often arranged without the consent of the bride elect, law or custom gives the Spanish woman the power of appealing to a magistrate if she wishes to escape from a union which is distasteful to her, and the magistrate may take her from her father's house until she is of age and her own mistress, while if she determines to marry a man of whom her parents disapprove she may also place herself under the protection of the law, and she cannot be deprived of her share of the family estates. On reaching her majority she enjoys the same privileges as her brother with regard to property. She may inherit, will, buy and sell. But when she marries she again reverts to the position of a minor, and her husband has entire control of her possessions, which he can squander without rendering any account to her, though she cannot spend a penny of her own money without his consent. He may desert her and her children without incurring any punishment or much public condemnation. A Spanish lady confers on her husband the titles of nobility and any privilege connected therewith she may possess at the time of her marriage.—London Globe.

Early Prejudice Against Potatoes.

The way of the potato was said to have been barred by the prejudice that it was never mentioned in the Bible. In the Lothians it came in about 1740, the year of the famine, from Ireland, but was confined to gardens till about 1754, when it was planted in fields about Aberlady. By the close of the century it was a general article of diet. Ramsay says that George Henderson went about 1750 for a bag of potatoes to Killybeg, where the Irish method of field culture had lately been tried, and introduced the potato into Mensteth, where a few had been known, but only in kale yards. The old folks, however, did not take kindly to the new food. Old George Backop, one of the Ochertyre tenants, when told by his wife that she had potatoes for supper said: "Tatties! Tatties! I never sipped on them a' my days and winna the night. Gie them to the herd and get me sowens." It is significant that Burns, who sings the praises of kale and porridge and haggis, should have nothing to say of the potato.—Blackwood's Magazine.

A Convert.

An old Cambridge friend of mine who had a good deal of the wisdom of the serpent in him had a farmer in his parish in Norfolk whom he could not get to church. Whenever he pressed upon him his neglect or his bad example he was always met with the same excuse, "You be too young and do not know enough to teach such as I." At last he gave up the farmer in despair. But one day he happened to pass by the farm while his parishioner was engaged in killing a fine pig. My friend said: "What a pig! Why, he weighs thirty-four stone!" "What dost thou know of pigs?" replied the farmer. "I only wish he weighed as much." When they next met the farmer, to his surprise, told my friend that the pig had been found to weigh just thirty-four stone. He added, much to my friend's gratification, "And thou wilt see me at church next Sunday, parson."—London Globe.

A Problem in Mathematics.

The town of Sturgis, in Mississippi, is the only round square town in existence. By legal enactment the circle has been squared, and the mathematician may now proceed to calculate the area of a square circle. In the laws of Mississippi for the year 1888, on page 682, is found the following: "An act to incorporate the town of Sturgis, in Oktibbeha county, Mississippi. "Section 1. Be it enacted by the legislature of the state of Mississippi that the town of Sturgis, in the county of Oktibbeha, is hereby incorporated and that the corporate limits of said town shall be as follows: Beginning at the quarter stake in front of Caleb Hannah's residence and running 600 yards in every direction, making said corporate limits 1,200 yards square." Thus the circle is squared by the solemn declaration of the law.—Youth's Companion.

Turks and Animals.

In the matter of kindness to animals it is said that the Turk cannot be surpassed. Thus at Stamboul the wandering dogs are treated with great gentleness, and when puppies come into the world they are lodged with their mother at the side of the street in improvised kennels made out of old boxes lined with straw and bits of carpet. And frequently when a young Turk happens to be flush of money he goes to the nearest baker's shop and buys a quantity of bread, which he distributes among the dogs of the quarter, who testify their gratitude by jumping up at him with muddly paws and sniffing muzzles.

Muffs again are of mammoth proportions, but this year they are round instead of flat.
