How to Secure Tickets For Musical Club's Coming Concerts

Next Event Scheduled for First Congregational Church, Wednesday, November 10.

The subscription list of the Wednesday Afternoon Musical club has grown so large that it has become necessary to restrict strictly to members no one shall be admitted to either Artists' or Club concerts without presenting a ticket. It is not necessary to bring the entire ticket. Each coupon is dated and numbered and may be detached by holder of ticket. Coupon No. 1 is the only one good for the concert at the First Congregational church, Wednesday Nov. 10th at which Miss Janet Spencer, Contralto and Fritz Kröber, Violinist, will appear.

REMOVAL NOTICE.

Albert M. Vack, factory distributor of pianos, who for the past few months, since being in the piano business, has been located in the Waldorf Building, corner of Main and Elm street, has been obliged to move into more spacious quarters, as with the rapidly increasing business, more room was badly needed. He is now located at 35 John street, Public Library building, on the ground floor and first seconds from Main street. The new salesroom is an ideal one allowing ample room in which to display the complete line, which includes all styles of Hallett & Davis, Conway, Kimball and Bowen pianos and player pianos. A large shipment of sample pianos just received will surely interest you. A few slightly used pianos which we can offer at a saving. Square pianos and organs. Come in and inspect the new store and see the big new stock.

MISS MABEL CHOATE IS MUCH IMPROVED

(Special from United Press.) New York, Nov. 6.—Dr. Frederick P. Kinecutt, who is attending the Miss Mabel Choate, daughter of former Ambassador and Mrs. Choate, announced today that Miss Choate is now much improved. Her condition was so serious last night that her parents were summoned from Lenox, Mass., and made the trip to this city in a special train. Dr. Kinecutt stated that there was no reason for alarm and that he expected his patient to recover.

MISS LEIGH DE LACY WHO STARS AT JACKSON'S ALL NEXT WEEK IN REPERTOIRE

The announcement of Miss Leigh De Lacy's engagement at Jackson's theatre, all next week with daily matinees, in a repertoire of high class offerings, has aroused considerable interest among local theatregoers, and this clever artist and her excellent supporting company assured of a hearty welcome. The impression made by this organization upon their previous visit has not been forgotten here, and lovers of the better class of plays will undoubtedly show their appreciation of the efforts of Miss De Lacy and her fellow players by a hearty and generous support. Every play that will be presented next week has the established reputation of a successful New York engagement and in some instances has served as starring vehicles for some of our most notable stars.

FURIOUS TRIBESMEN ATTACK CONSULATE

(Special from United Press.) Teheran, Nov. 6.—Despatches from Ardabil today say that the revolting tribesmen have commenced a furious attack on the consulate where all the foreigners in the town have taken refuge. The consulate is guarded by a small force of Russian Cossacks, but it is believed they will be unable to hold out against the savages. The Cossacks, however, are putting up a desperate fight to hold the consulate until the arrival of reinforcements which have been hurried from here and from Tabriz.

MARY GARDEN, PRIMA DONNA, ON HER ARRIVAL FROM EUROPE

When Mary Garden, the prima donna, arrived from Europe to open her third season at the Manhattan Opera House in New York she told the reporters that she was not overjoyed to be married as had been reported from abroad, but she admitted that she had left her heart in Paris, adding, "And I went all the way over." Notwithstanding all the tears she confessed having shed, Miss Mary was more

"ED" SAVAGE MAY SUCCEED CAPT. TED COY NEXT YEAR

Bridgeport Boy Is the Wonder of the Gridiron, His Work Being of Sensational Nature

Look at the head lines in the papers of the big cities. "Savage lives up to his name," "Savage is a terror," "Savage the find of the season," and then ponder. They're all talking about the Bridgeport boy who has taken the Yale admirers by storm and little wonder it is so, for his work has been the one big feature of the Yale play in the past few weeks. Rivaling the work of his captain, Ted Coy, he is looked upon as the successor of the Yale captain in the backfield, when Coy graduates this coming year. It is stated that if he continues to play at the present speed he will be used as one of the first string of backs in both the Princeton and Harvard games, an honor which very few first year men attain.

Only Physically and Mentally Fit Should Play on the Gridiron

(By Harry F. Porter.) The recent football fatalities, lamentable though they are, carry nevertheless a useful lesson. No hasty judgments should be formed. There are those who straightway condemn the game altogether and would abolish it at one fell swoop. Most people are undoubtedly alarmed, and anxious parents are laying down decrees. For a time the sport will suffer disfavor. However, it is by no means wholly bad. It is not even so bad as most people think, even though it does result in the occasional fatality or lifelong disablement to a participant now and again and bring great sorrow home. It is the common lot of mortal life. Things of this sort must, it so seems, happen from time to time. The few suffer that the many may benefit.

WILLIAM R. HOPSON DEFENDS HUNDREDS WHO KEEP POULTRY

Editor of the Bridgeport Farmer: I have no rights and privileges which the members of the board of health are bound to respect? Does my residence of more than 40 years in Bridgeport count for nothing? What I ask for nothing, more than a "square deal" for every one. I feel it more when I am personally discriminated against. Now who are these city officials—these servants of the people—who do things, but who can give no reason for their conduct? There are those who believe I have done as much for the comfort, if not for the health of the city, as any or all of these gentlemen. There was a time when DENSE CLOUDS OF MOSQUITOES WOULD LONG would drift with the light east winds across our harbor and fill Seaside Park and the city with their music. It was through my efforts and at the expense of many thousands of dollars that THIRTY BREEDING PLACES ON OVER TWO SQUARE MILES OF SALT MEADOWS adjacent to and partly within the city limits were destroyed. The value of that work to the property owners and residents of Bridgeport has been estimated at hundreds of thousands of dollars. The good old town of Stratford recognized the value of that work to them by a voluntary donation of $2,000. What has the city of Bridgeport done? Is it too much then for me to ask for protection from the un-called-for ordinances? A little board of city officials in the interests of parties unknown to me and for causes equally unknown to me has deprived me of valuable rights and privileges freely enjoyed by others in all parts of the city. No menace to health was alleged, and none existed. There was no allegation of injury to any one, and none could have been proved. Had these gentlemen really thought, which is very doubtful,

AMERICAN SOCIETY NOT REPRESENTED AT COPENHAGEN

(Special from United Press.) Copenhagen, Nov. 6.—The National Geographical Society of America will not be represented at the examination of the records of Dr. Frederick A. Cook, the American Arctic explorer, by the University of Copenhagen. The professors of the university today decided to refuse the request of the American Society that a committee, the same committee that endorsed the Peary records, be allowed to participate in the examinations of the university.

Weather Indications

(Special from United Press.) New Haven, Nov. 6.—Forecast—Fair to-night; Sunday fair and warmer. Pleasant weather prevails this morning in all sections of the Rocky Mountains. The temperature is rising in the west and central sections but continues low in the eastern sections. A slight disturbance is central in Montana. Conditions favor for this vicinity for weather with much change in temperature to-night. Sunday fair with rising temperature.
