WESLEYAN EXECUTIVE

INSTALLED TODAY WITH IMPRESSIVE CEREMONIES

President Taft, Vice President Sherman and Senator Root Among Distinguished Guests Who Are Honored With Degrees.

(Special from United Press.) "I welcome you into association with a group of college presidents and officers who find business and responsibilities lightened by association in a common cause for which all stand shoulder to shoulder."

Following the luncheon the great crowd attending the installation ceremony at Fayerweather Gymnasium, where the collegiate and university delegates, numbering hundreds, were formally presented to President Sherman and Vice President Taft.

The degree of doctor of divinity was conferred on Rev. Richard Watson Cooper, president of Upper Iowa University, Rev. George William Knox of Iowa Theological Seminary, and Dr. Nicholas Nicholson, corresponding secretary of the board of education of the Methodist Episcopal church.

Dr. Shanklin's ministry began in Southern Kansas in 1887 he joined the Methodist church. He was pastor of several important churches in Kansas and finally went to Reading, Pa., where he assumed the pastorate of one of the most important churches in the Philadelphia Conference.

Dr. Shanklin was elected president of Wesleyan at a special meeting of the board of trustees, which was held at the home of the president in Washington.

President Shanklin's response to the address of the president of the board of trustees was brief and to the point, indicative of the preciseness of the man. He said:

"I need not tell you of the burdens that will come to you about men and money that haunts the cold days of January and the hot days of July and August. The anxiety is always with me, and I call to this office, is sensitive to the meaning of this trust. However, in spite of this sag in things, the generosity of our officers and the tightening of the purse strings where Wesleyan's gold lies concealed, there is an idealism that works at the root of all life."

While the center of attraction today was within the grounds of the university the townspeople made the event a notable one. Public buildings and business houses were decorated with flags and banners and forty arches of bunting reached across Main street at intervals.

The parade started as soon as President Taft could reach Main street from his private which arrived at 8:30 o'clock. The guests of honor, including President Taft, Vice President Sherman, Senator Root and many prominent members of the board of trustees, were in automobiles.

Dr. Shanklin, I welcome you to the rare opportunity. May the completion of the decades as they come and go find you with eye undimmed, doing ever greater things through Wesleyan for the Commonwealth, the Nation and the Kingdom of God.

President Shanklin's welcome at the hands of the other New England universities was especially cordial. The principal addresses were given from the colleges were delivered by President Hamilton of Yale, President Stryker of Hamilton and President Sherman of Harvard.

President Hadley said in part: "On behalf of those who are to be your nearest neighbors and I hope your closest associates, I offer a word of welcome."

"We sometimes hear complaints that the old days of plain living and high thinking are gone; that wealth has overthrown our college democracy, that multiplicity of studies has undermined our curriculum, that athletic and social interests have usurped the place in the mind of the student which rightfully belongs to intellectual pursuits. It is true that the educational problems of today are more complex and in some respects more difficult than those which beset our fathers. The increase of wealth has made it harder to insist on simplicity of life; the increase in variety of studies has made it harder to maintain unity of intellectual and moral ideals. But the same high purposes which inspired the fathers still animate the children."

JACKMAN ACCUSES PRESIDENT BULLARD

OF MIXING POLITICS AND TUBERCULOSIS

Former Manufacturer's Refusal to Contribute to Fund to Elect Lee Announced as Lack of Interest in Fight Against White Plague.

True Situation Declared in Sharp Communication Addressed to The Farmer by Former President of Anti-Tuberculosis Association.

Former Alderman George W. Jackman, a leading manufacturer and real estate owner, who was until recently president of the Fairfield County Anti-Tuberculosis Association, has written a letter in which he accuses Dudley P. Bullard, the present president of the association, of "mixing politics and tuberculosis," and of misrepresenting a conversation which apparently took place between them, relative to politics.

The alleged misrepresentation took place at the annual meeting of the association, which was held yesterday. In reply to a letter from Dr. Donaldson of Fairfield, President Bullard is said to have replied, "I have it from Mr. Jackman's own lips that he is absolutely uninterested, for he said to me 'the association need not expect any help from me.'"

Former President Jackman declares that he never made any such statement to Mr. Bullard, nor to anybody else. But he did have a conversation with Mr. Bullard on such a nature, and refused to contribute $10 to the Republican campaign fund in the last municipal election. He also gave Mr. Bullard his reasons for refusing to contribute.

This is not the first time that politics and the anti-tuberculosis movement have been mentioned together. The interest which a number of persons formerly took in the movement has waned since certain fat offices were taken over by the association.

When Jackman was accused of the brutal murder of Anna Peley, he was hanged and his body cremated, the mob still thirsting for blood, stormed the jail and took out Henry Salinger, white, accused the murder of his wife and hanged him.

Then the leaders began a search for another negro, Arthur Alexander, whom James implored to help the mob made in whispers after the rope had been placed about his neck. In this hunt the mob was unsuccessful.

In August, 1905 Dr. Shanklin was elected president of Wesleyan at a special meeting of the board of trustees, which was held at the home of the president in Washington.

Dr. Shanklin's ministry began in Southern Kansas in 1887 he joined the Methodist church. He was pastor of several important churches in Kansas and finally went to Reading, Pa., where he assumed the pastorate of one of the most important churches in the Philadelphia Conference.

FRANK MILLER SUED

$65,000 CLAIMED

Edward A. Beale of South Manchester Alleges in Complaint That He Found Customer for Lumber Company at $600,000—Claims Ten Per Cent. Commission Although Deal was Not Consummated.

Shall an agent get his commission for a deal which he has arranged, but not consummated? Edward A. Beale of South Manchester thinks he should. Frank Miller of this city disputes. Accordingly Beale has brought suit in the Superior Court against Miller for $65,000 damages. Beale in his complaint, says that he and the defendant on April 13, 1909, entered into a mutual agreement, whereby he, acting as a broker of lumber for Miller should effect a sale of Miller's lumber business in this city, for $600,000 and that the defendant should pay him ten per cent. commission or $60,000.

Beale, acting on this agreement, declares that he spent large sums of money in securing a customer. He had succeeded in landing a prospective buyer when Miller informed him not to go any further in the matter.

Irving B. M. Sherwood Leaves His Pretty Wife Without Food or Money.

BREAKS WORD TO COURT

Mrs. Clara Sherwood, the pretty 20 year old wife of Irving B. M. Sherwood aged 18 who has been in the city court twice for non-support called at the charities department today to see Superintendent Brennan. Mrs. Sherwood said her husband had left, she hadn't seen him for two days and she did not know what to do. She had no money and no way of earning any. She is ill. This case while familiar to the police department was practically unknown to Superintendent Brennan and he said he would do what he could for the wife of the man.

When Sherwood was in court, the last time, he promised that he would take his wife from the home of his parents and provide for her. He promised to treat her as a wife should be treated. Judge Foster took him at his word and put him on probation for a month. During this month he acted in a way satisfactory to the probation officer. The month was up Saturday. The probation officer returned to the court and recommended the nolle. Only a few days later Sherwood disappeared and has not been seen since. His wife Sherwood has been working as a painter for the N. Y. N. H. & E. R. His father is also employed as a painter for that company. He has a small business with his wife on Central avenue.
