

AUTOMOBILE PARADE ENORMOUS IN EXTENT

Three Thousand Machines Filled With Richly Dressed Men and Women Pass Through Fairfield Avenue

Nearly 3,000 automobiles passed through this city, from 6 o'clock this morning, until after 2 o'clock, on their way to Yale field...

In Connecticut avenue, shortly after 11 o'clock, a big automobile struck the rear wheel of a buggy and turned it over without hurting its only occupant...

The rapidly moving procession was well worth seeing. It was the parade of the rich with an occasional car that was not so richly equipped...

When washing this, use soda and hot water. After drying, use polish with a little turpentine or powdered whiting and a clean cloth.

Outrages of the Telephone. That the telephone has blessed many a man, saved many lives and helped pile up fortunes is true, but has it not cursed some women, ruined more lives and hastened domestic misfortune?

As the use of artillery became more common and the advantages of portability and a greater rapidity of fire were recognized, guns, except among the orientals, became smaller, but of better workmanship and construction.

Old Names For Guns. As the use of artillery became more common and the advantages of portability and a greater rapidity of fire were recognized, guns, except among the orientals, became smaller, but of better workmanship and construction.

A Cutting Retort. Before dinner, at the house of a rich banker in Florence, Colonel (afterward the Earl of Dundas) had said some sharp things about the crudities of America.

Cursory. "Eddie," said the teacher, "can you give a definition of cursory? The word is generally used in connection with public speaking. For example, we often read that somebody 'made a few cursory remarks.' Please write a sentence containing the word cursory."

On Their Minds. "I've got something on my mind that I've got to get rid of," said the author, bursting in and seizing a pad and pencil.

Desirable. A lady just arrived from Australia was recently negotiating with an agent in London for a house in one of the newer districts of Kensington.

The Amateur Laureate. "If I were you," he said as they started out to dinner, "I'd get me another washerwoman. That waist of yours is very badly ironed. What's the matter?"

PUBLIC OFFICE TO BE A PRIVATE PLUM

Harry Franklin Porter Makes a Few Remarks Upon the Subject of Office Holding and Consequent Duties

To the Editor of The Farmer, Sir: I have been very much amused by the numerous, well meant but misconceived, queries that have been put to me since election by friends whom I have had to meet, to the effect, "Well, what are you going to get out of it?" meaning, "What is to be your reward for your part in the recent campaign?"

A public office is most decidedly not a plum, and when affairs are once ordered so that it is not a plum, but a public office is only to the most fit. A public office coming as the result of a hard fought political campaign is not a plum, but an opportunity.

Efficiency and economy ever go hand in hand. To secure more economical service it is not necessary to pursue a policy of retrenchment or to know the names of the men who are to be put to work for the improvement of efficiency.

YALE PENALIZED. Read made 2 yards through Andrus and McCormick punted to Philbin on Yale's 40 yard line. The latter returned it 5 yards. Coy went around Ball and Read, but was blocked by Philbin through Selging. Coy punted to Tiger's 25 yard line to Hart, who returned it 7 yards. Read failed to gain the yard line. Philbin was downed by Read who was downed by Tiger's 50 yard line. Coy made an on side kick to Read who was downed on Princeton's 15 yard line. Yale was penalized 5 yards for off side.

Coy was forced out of bounds on the Tiger's 25 yard line and the ball was brought out to the Tiger's 40 yard line. Selging punted down Coy with a yard gain and it was Princeton's ball on downs on their own 4 yard line. McCormick punted behind his own goal posts but the kick was blocked by Philbin. McCoy recovered and the ball was brought out to the 25 yard line and McCormick punted to Coy who returned it 12 yards to Philbin who returned it 12 yards to Princeton's 50 yard line. Coy made 13 yards around Princeton's right end. McCoy recovered and the ball was brought out to the 30 yard line. Daily skinned left tackle for 4 yards. Ballin heeled a catch on the 13 yard line. McCormick punted to Philbin who returned it 5 yards for off side. Princeton's ball on their own 25 yard line.

Let the administration of the public weal be invested in the hands of a general prosperity and good will only can prevail. Readjustment, the righting of wrongs, then proceeds slowly perhaps but surely and have a sense. Manifest conformers are of course made to conform to law and order, but those whose present holdings are the result of circumstances and conditions and not the point of deliberate misdeed, are dealt with gently, and with due and proper consideration.

The goal to be attained of course is a state so ordered as to conform with the sublime principles enunciated in the Declaration of Independence and incorporated in the Constitution of these United States, summarized in the statement that "All men are created free and equal and have certain inalienable rights, among which are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness."

JOE CANNON IS RED HOT UNDER COLLAR

Speaker Says Bitter Opposition Is Due to His Refusal to Accept a Bribe. Declares Ridder Offered Him Support of Big Metropolitan Papers.

Bloomington, Ill., Nov. 13.—Declaring that the bitter opposition against him in the newspapers of the country is directly due to his refusing a bribe influence to do their bidding, Joseph G. Cannon, Speaker of the House of Representatives, defending himself in an exceedingly bitter speech here early to-day, Cannon declared that Herman Ridder, publisher of the New York Staats Zeitung and during the last campaign treasurer of the Democratic National Committee offered him a Republican United States paper for President if he would force Congress to remove the tariff from wool and flannel.

Cannon was the chief speaker at the annual banquet of the Business Men's Association and his remarks, which he has been admitted in advance would be told in the extreme, wound up the program. It was plain from the minutes that he took his stand that he was angry.

"They have made Cannonism an issue in the newspapers of the country," Cannon said, "and I will tell you why. It is because I support tariff and caljery and refused to be placed at the hands of Herman Ridder the great democrat. They demanded that I have the tariff removed from wool pulp and were willing to give me their support for the president in return. When I emphatically refused to be a party to their scheming or to have any part in railroadizing their bill through Congress they refused to attack me and they are doing so."

Cannon branded as a lie the report that he restricted the Littlefield temperance fund and declared that both Senators LaFollette and Cummings have lied about his course in their recent public utterances. Cannon went on to declare that the National Club was Herbert Parsons of New York. "When he asserted that I entered into a compromise with the Democrats whereby I was to have the House rules continued he made what he knew to be a malicious and deliberate lie," Cannon said, "and I pounded the table so hard that many of the dishes fell on the floor."

RIDDER HURLS BACK THE LIE. New York, Nov. 13.—"It is a lie," said Herman Ridder, publisher of the New York Staats Zeitung, when shown the statement made by Speaker Cannon that the publisher had offered the support of the New York paper to Cannon and declared that Cannon had forced Congress to remove the tariff from wool pulp. "I say it is an absolute lie," continued Ridder, "and I never talked to him about the office. How could I pledge him the support of newspapers in New York. The man is crazy, absolutely crazy and I never talked to him about the office. Cannon must be crazy to make such a statement. I did not pledge him the support of even my own paper, and I never talked to him about newspaper support in any shape or manner. That is all I have to say."

DANBURY ENGINEER KILLED BY SWITCHER. The body of the man who was killed by being hit by a switching engine near the Spring street tower in New Haven Tuesday night and which remained for some time unknown in the undertaking rooms of Cox & Helms in Meadow street, was identified yesterday as that of John B. Welch, a railroad engineer, whose home is in Danbury. The body was carried by another employe of the tower. The relatives of the dead man were notified to-day and it is expected information will be obtained as to what the engineer was doing with the body. Welch was about 45 years of age.

Cravenette-top shoes for women.

There is a novel attraction and a sturdy goodness about these new women's shoes with top made of cravenette cloth. They have an unusual grace and refinement; are quietly nice. The cloth tops are counted as better than suede leather because they hold their color firmly and are more durable. Being firm of texture, they will stretch but little and so the shoe can be expected to retain its shape during all of wearing-time.

Either in gray or black and in lace or button, they are very graceful and distinguished. Four dollars. Main floor, rear.

Fine shoes of a new shape.

So built as to make the foot look short and well-arched, here is one of the new-shape shoes of the season that is singularly attractive. The toe is broader than in most shoes. It is a fuller toe, too. Yet it is graceful and is full of comfort. The vamp (that's the lower part of the shoe in front) is cut short and the heels are built on new-high models. The result is a shoe that is well-arched, that is daintily trim, that is fine for wear with skirt of walking length. Patent calfskin and Vic kid, button,—$5. Main floor, rear.

Girls' coats.

Trim new coats that are as good of service as they are of looks,—$5. Nice fabric and durable. Made up in tasteful fashions and finished with just enough trimming to make them additively attractive to girls of taste. Bright colors or quiet, just as you prefer. Sizes from 6 to 14,—$5 and more. Second floor.

New petticoats, silk and saten.

Cut on lines that make the handsome skirts of this season hang with extra grace, here are new petticoats. Black silk and colored, colors those that are most sought and that harmonize with costume shades,—$5 and more.

WALL STREET TO-DAY.

New York, Nov. 13.—(Opening)—Active trading at the opening of the market was confined mostly to the low priced issues with inter-borough and tropical most prominent. The market of high priced issues showed fractional losses. If a m.—After the first 15 minutes buying centered in the copper stocks with a moderate budget of activity resulting in those issues. Other stocks were strong.

Deaths and Funerals.

The funeral of Elvira Augusta Mead Eyre, widow of John Eyre, was held this afternoon at 1 o'clock from her late home at Carter's Farms, Monroe, by Rev. M. Sheffield conducting the services. The interment was in Monroe, Conn.
