season and this is greater activity than is shown by any similar organization in the world. It is an unwritten law that the orchestra shall not play two concerts in one day and it is very seldom that a concert and a rehearsal take place on the same day.

LIABILITY ACT TEST

New Haven Road to Take Walsh Case to United States Supreme Court

Boston, Dec. 4.—For the purpose of testing the constitutionality of the federal employers' liability act of October, 1908, counsel for the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad announced their intention of bringing to the United States supreme court the case in which the widow of Daniel P. Walsh, of New London, Conn., was awarded $5,500 by the United States circuit court yesterday.

CALLS REV. SLAUGHT

New Haven, Dec. 4.—A call has been extended to Rev. W. E. Slaughter, former pastor of the Westville Methodist Episcopal church to the pulpit of the First Congregational church of Thompson, Conn. Mr. Slaughter last year took up some special courses at the Yale Divinity school, but at present is temporarily preaching at Wells River, Vermont, and is not expected back by his friends for two or three weeks to come.

NEW LONDON BLAZE

KEPT FIREMEN BUSY. New London, Dec. 4.—Fire in a building in Golden street, owned by Charles H. Kinck, caused damage to Jerome's restaurant and the building amounting to about $4,000 yesterday. The fire was so hard to subdue that it was necessary to send in a general alarm and call out the entire department.

NORTON DECLARES WOMAN CAME FROM GRAVE IF SHE IS HIS OWN WIFE

"Mrs. Norton" Had Witnesses to Prove He Had Died Months Ago.

Now He Says Wife Died Nearly Eight Years Ago — He Ejected Three Men Who Sought to Talk With Him Sunday.

Besides denying he's dead, Jeremiah Norton of 465 East Main street, told a Farmer reporter today that his wife, who according to Newark, N. J., despatches is seeking alimony from a second husband, has been dead for nearly eight years. A sensation was created in Newark when three men testified they had talked with Norton here Sunday, while in a previous hearing, three other men testified his brother-in-law's corpse on a slab in a New York morgue last January.

"It looks to me like a put up job," said Norton. "My wife has been dead for years. She's buried in St. Michael's cemetery. I never married but once, and I have always lived in Bridgeport since my marriage a dozen years ago. My wife's name was Rogers."

Three men called at his home Sunday and one of them said he was Paul Cassidy of Corona, L. I. I think that the name of a man who married a sister of my wife. He said he was my brother-in-law, Cassidy, about 17 years ago, but I couldn't recall the man who called on me Sunday as Cassidy. He insisted that he knew me, but I can't find a Cassidy and his companions out of the house. Later they followed me down to my work, and finally I had to shut the door in their faces."

Mrs. Elizabeth Gillman of Newark sought support for herself and her two children several weeks ago in the hearing court, but it was shown that she had bank books with $5,000 to her credit. A question arising as to the death of her husband, Jeremiah Norton, three witnesses testified they had seen his lifeless body. On Thursday, when the trial of Gillman's suit for annulment of marriage was heard, three witnesses testified they had seen Norton here Sunday.

Vice Chancellor Howell before whom the hearing was progressing, appointed a commissioner to take Norton's testimony here.

Newsdealer Levi Cobb Receives Newsdealers

Several newsdealers were the guests of Levi Cobb at his home, 1437 Park avenue, last night. Following the supper an informal entertainment was given. George Finckel, Dec. 10, 1909, selected on the piano, John Stanton did some clever whistling, George Greenup sang solos and a quartette comprising N. Giles, Hub Turley, W. Schneider and H. Pierce also added to the program. L. Kost, N. Larsen, J. Keenan, J. Mack and B. Hincks were also present.

Destroyer Paul Jones Makes New Record

Can Delgo, Cal., Dec. 4.—The officers and crew of the destroyer Paul Jones which has just arrived from target practice in Malabar Bay, are elated at the record made with the new Bliss-Levitt torpedo. It is unofficially reported that the marksmen of the Paul Jones made hits out of a possible eleven, under the direction of Lieut. S. M. Davis, Ensign Cassidy and Gunnery William Cox. This record is regarded here as marking an important development in the achievement of the navy.

It was also reported that the Paul Jones had won the President's trophy for gunnery, which she already has already captured twice.

Want $3,000 Damages From Connecticut Co.

New Haven, Dec. 4.—To recover damages from injuries sustained in a collision of his automobile with a car of the Connecticut company in June 1908, W. B. Clarke, of Clarke & Foster, grocers in this city, now is fighting the trolley company in the superior court.

Mr. Clarke on the day of the accident, with his wife and nephew, H. C. Little of the Yale Medical school, was in his automobile on his way home from Savin Rock and was turning from Elm street, West Haven into First avenue, when a trolley following him crashed into the rear of the automobile.

Mr. Clarke claims $2,000 damages, and his wife, who is plaintiff in a companion suit, which is being tried simultaneously, claims $1,000 damages.

AGED MILLIONAIRE OPENS ARMS TO HIS ELOPING DAUGHTER

Forgiveness Awaits Pretty Olga Everard Who is Bride of Father's Secretary

Denied That She is Already Very Wealthy in Her Own Right—Father is Anxious She Should Return.

While the relatives of Mr. and Mrs. James Everard of Greenwich, were endeavoring yesterday to find the brewer's daughter, Olga, to tell her that her parents were anxious to find her to tell her of their forgiveness for her marriage to William Williams, her father's secretary and former chauffeur, the couple were on their way to Atlantic City.

Since last Tuesday, when Miss Olga disappeared from Whig Moleer, her father's country place, at Greenwich, Conn., and joined Mr. Williams in Newark, N. J., where they were married by a clergyman, the couple have been living at the Hotel Belmont, New York. On Thursday Mrs. Williams sent the news of her marriage to her parents, but failed to mention where she was stopping.

Yesterday morning, when the bride saw a published report of her marriage, she prepared to leave the city. Up to this time she had received no word from her parents, nor did she know that her relatives were searching for her to impart the news that all had been forgiven and that she and her husband would be welcomed home. The couple, therefore, made a hurried departure for Atlantic City yesterday morning.

When a member of the Everard family yesterday at Greenwich confirmed the marriage of the brewer's only daughter to William Williams it was denied emphatically that the young woman had recently inherited a large fortune.

"Olga is only 18 years old," it was declared, "and it will be several years yet before she comes into any property."

The bride's father, who is 80 years old and very feeble, was greatly shocked over the news of his daughter's runaway marriage. It is said, but is now anxious that she should come home.

NOVEMBER WEATHER EXTRAORDINARY SAYS MR. JENNINGS

Mean Temperature for Month Over Four Degrees Above Average for Years.

Rainfall Was Less Than Half the Average Precipitation for November—Nov. 12 as Hot as Any November Day on Record.

Weather Observer William Jennings has been delving into his records for 37 years to find a November to compare with the month just closed, and he finds that November, 1909, was remarkable in many respects. It was 4.3 degrees warmer than the average November for 37 years, with a mean temperature of 46. On Nov. 13 the mercury reached 77 degrees, real summer heat, and less than a week before, on the 6 and 7, it had sunk to 28 degrees. He can't find a warmer November day on record than Nov. 12, while the coldest November day he can find the thermometer registered 2 degrees above zero.

On the warmest day, he also found the greatest variation of temperature, the mercuryavoring madly up and down the scale, a disturbance of 31.5 degrees. Both Nov. 14 and 24, the daily range was only 6 degrees.

There is little encouragement as to the condition of drought. The total downpour was 1.92, and this is 1.96 inches below the average precipitation for the month. There were eight days with .01 inch or more of rain. Snow and sleet fell to the depth of .07 inch. Nov. 24 showed a precipitation of .67 inch, the greatest in 24 hours.

There were 13 clear, 19 partly cloudy, and 8 cloudy days, and the prevailing wind direction was northwest. Barometric pressure for the month was higher than usual, 30.14. The highest pressure was Nov. 19, 30.72, and the lowest, the 25th, 29.45.

Any month that is two degrees out of the mean temperature for that period for a number of years, is unusual. But the temperature, for November, over four degrees warmer than the average, is extraordinary.

The vogue of the short wrap seems well assured for the coming season. Mikado silk is especially lovely for afternoon gowns of a dressy character.
