Queen Mary's Birthday Anniversary Is Quietly Observed in England

(Special from United Press.) London, May 26.—England partially forgot her mourning for the late King Edward today in celebrating the 43rd birthday anniversary of Queen Mary. The celebration, however, was lacking in most of the gala features that usually mark the birthday of England's Queen. An artillery salute in St. James Park officially announced the event to the city. Many floral gifts were sent to Buckingham Palace.

STRATFORD

Tuesday last Father Duggan of Westport came on a visit to Father O'Connor in his new Overland touring car, and the two gentlemen took a run up to New Haven. The Woodmen of the world are expecting a number of visitors this evening from Bridgeport.

This afternoon Mrs. Edwin C. Spall has been entertaining one of our Embroidery clubs.

Mrs. Elmer Beardsley and Mrs. William Stage were at the luncheon given by the Art League at the Stratfield.

George O. Lines, Jr., has purchased a Paterson automobile.

One of the most forward vegetable gardens, filled with a great variety, belongs to the Catholic rectory, and is in charge of Thomas O'Shay, an expert gardener.

Mrs. Gilbert Edwards has been entertaining Mrs. Calkins of Norwich.

Everything indicates that there will be a large gathering this evening at the birthday festival at the Methodist church.

The white police as a stopping place for trolley cars in front of the Catholic rectory, which some persons painted green a few nights ago, has been repainted by the company. Father O'Connor said yesterday that he has good foundation of knowledge as to the persons who instigated the trick and inspired the defacement. He could expect nothing better from such a source. No doubt he could become the biographer of the individual if the occasion demands.

Something like 25 guests assembled at the residence of John W. Rogerson yesterday afternoon to attend the wedding of his daughter, Dora May, to Charles Cooke Breyer. The ceremony was by Rev. George E. Farrar. After returning from a wedding trip the happy couple will reside in Bridgeport.

Something like 200 people sat down to the supper given in the town hall on Tuesday evening by the members of the Order of the Eastern Star to their visitors. A large array of grand officers was present.

Some of our local Masons have made an "enjoyable" visit to Masons in Monroe.

Swan Brewster has been on a fishing trip to Kent.

FAIRFIELD

H. E. Rowland and family of New York, arrived in town yesterday for the summer.

A pleasant little reception was given on Tuesday at the house of E. B. Morehouse by Miss Eleanor Morehouse, complimentary to Miss Farrar of Washington.

Many folks in town are surprised to notice what a heavy coat of oil has been given to some of the roads leading in the direction of Snake Hill. In many places the oil stands in puddles, and it is believed it will be a long time before the paste like mixture will dry.

William Dalling says he expects to have School street opened in about a week.

The latest soft drink at the village pharmacy is the "Snake Hill Fliz." Boyle will serve it.

Sunday evening Prof. and Mrs. Francis Brewer entertained a few friends at luncheon, including Prof. J. M. Baker of the Boston University, Dr. and Mrs. Bushnell, Edsworth Bushnell and Miss Clay of Hartford.

Judge J. H. Perry has been elected one of the trustees of the Hartford Theological Seminary.

The book prepared by ladies of Southport, full of home made recipes, is now on sale.

Fred Hyde and family are expected from Washington in a few days, to open their house in Southport.

The Eliza Pike house in Main street is to be occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Edward Doxide.

Mrs. Carl Williams is making an extended visit in New Milford.

SEYLER ACQUITTED OF MURDER IS BACK HOME AGAIN

Feeling Against Accused Disappears and Police Now Roundly Scored for Making False Statements

(Special from United Press.)

Atlantic City, N. J., May 26.—Declaring he "was back to stay and he would protect himself" if any attempt were made to drive him out of town, William T. Seyler, acquitted at May's Landing of the murder of Jane Adams, returned to his home here today.

The feeling against Seyler has mostly disappeared and residents are today roundly scoring the police for having made false statements regarding the case. From the beginning the police insisted that they had a complete case against the accused and that there was no question of his guilt. They failed utterly, however, to substantiate this on the witness stand and the story of Seyler that his answers to the police questioning were deliberately distorted by them is believed here.

The record of Seyler's trial is expected to be called for by the special committee of the United States Senate that is now investigating "third degree" police methods. Seyler's allegation that he was given drugged cigarettes and that threats of personal violence were made, while he was not permitted to sleep or eat, has aroused intense feeling against the police and there is a growing demand that the city authorities take up the matter.

Orvis Seyler, who was held as a witness against his brother, will hardly be prosecuted further. The district attorney announced on Wednesday that he would cause Orvis' arrest for perjury, but as this statement was made while he was angered because the young Seyler had failed to tell the same story on the stand he had told him privately, it is not taken seriously.

Elsie Seigel's Murderer Thought to Have Killed Himself in Buffalo

(Special from United Press.)

Buffalo, May 26.—The Buffalo police have asked the New York detectives to identify a Chinaman, Leung Kee, also known as Joel Kee, who killed himself in a laundry here and who answers in many respects the description of Leon Lee, murderer of Elsie Seigel, the granddaughter of General Franz Seigel in New York in June, 1908. Kee, according to his passport records, formerly resided at 2012 Fulton street, Brooklyn. Papers in his pocket indicate that he was a member of the Chinese Free Masons at San Francisco and that he had a brother at 907 Race street, Philadelphia.
