UPHAM THOUGH HARD HIT SHOULD HAVE CREDIT OF VICTORY

New Haven Got All Their Runs After Chances to Retire Them Were Missed

The best of the clubs have a blow. When it is a pennant aspirant that blow is all the more noticeable. Yesterday was not our day, for New Haven just slipped a few over on us, coming across with a total of seven runs, about as many as they made all last week, to a little loner, which saved us from a shut out. Uppie Uppham whose stock the New Haven papers have been boosting ever since he let them know south a few scattered hits in two games, was called upon yesterday to have an encore. He was led to the well once or often, New Haven time slipping with 13 good sound wallops of the variety that tell stories in the matter of runs.

Capt. Auger Biggest Man in World Issues Defi With Johnson in Kidding Role

Jack Johnson refused to accept a cent, not even expenses, from Terry Lee, last night when he came to this city under Lee's management to repay a debt of gratitude he has borne in mind for three years. The house was not large and had Johnson demanded what was coming to him, Lee would have owed himself money. Johnson took Lee and all the latter's friends completely off their feet when he announced in a speech following his six rounds exhibition, that he would not take one cent from Lee, and the big black man was given rousing applause and cheers.

Meaty Gossip Pertaining to Plays and Players in the National Pastime

A cog slipped. In Waterbury today. It wasn't Uppy's fault. Next home game Thursday, Finnegans will be here. The best of clubs have an off day. Maybe the Finnegans will have theirs today. The Mechanics are the only club in the league who have not enjoyed a winning spurt, or been mixed up in a losing streak. Consistent playing week after week, has kept them at the top. Again "Bugs" Reisel repeats a defeat over the Mechanics. Twice but a few weeks ago when he came here fanning 14 men. "It was about time we got to Uppham," said Phil Corcoran, after the game. "He worked the high hand on us too often."

100,000 A SHAVE

It Lulled Budd to Sleep While the Price of Stocks Tumbled. One of the anecdotes in Joseph L. King's "History of the San Francisco Stock Exchange Board" is as follows: "While stocks were quite low during a spell in 1873 a discovery of ore was made in Ophir, the stock advancing in price. It was the policy of those in control of a Comstock mine to keep secret any improvement until they could secure for themselves a good quantity of the stock. Budd heard of this Ophir discovery and bought some stock, and as the price advanced from $18 to $25 the profits on his purchase at low figures enabled him to buy more stocks. Being quite a plunger, he purchased in all 2,500 shares. As the stock still advanced to higher figures he sold about 1,500 shares, leaving him a balance of 1,000 shares when the stock reached $32, which would have given him quite a large profit if all were sold at that figure. During the recess that day he determined to sell the remainder, which would give him quite a profit. The afternoon session was devoted to the calling of outside stocks, occupying half an hour, after which the members would call up, through the chairman, any of the Comstock shares. Budd, thinking he had time sufficient during that first half hour to get shaved, sat down in a barber's chair and, being quite flush, gave the barber $5, directing him to give him a good shave. It turned out to be too good a shave, as Budd went to sleep, and the barber, being well paid, devoted quite a time in making his customer appear respectable. Budd woke up, looked at his watch and made a rush for the board. He ascertained that Ophir had been called and had broken so badly that when his stock was sold he only obtained $10 a share for it. He always claimed that that share cost him just $40,000.

Getting Into a Life Buoy

The average person in danger of drowning usually attempts to lift a life buoy over his head, with the result that he is immediately plunged deeper into the water. A good swimmer can do this with a sudden upward jerk, but with the nonswimmer it is almost an impossible feat. What he should do when he has seized the buoy is to place both hands, palms downward, on the buoy on the part nearest the body, pressing it downward and slightly away, when the farther part of the buoy will rise out of the water and actually fall over the head. The arms can then be put through easily, "and there you are."

YANKEE BOAT OUTPOINTS CANADIAN CUP CONTENDER

(Special from United Press.) Manchester, Mass., July 25.—Balked in the attempt to sail a triangular race here for the Seawanhauk cup, the Massachusetts of the Manchester Yacht Club and the St. Lawrence of the Royal St. Lawrence Yacht club of Canada will try again this afternoon over the same course. During a part of the race time yesterday in which the conditions for the yachts were about even, it was declared by observers that the Yankee craft showed clearly superior at least in beating to windward. The course today is three times around a triangular, the whole distance totalling 12 miles.
