At The Danbury Fair

Experienced Sky Pilot Will Make Daily Flights

One of the big features of the Danbury Fair Oct. 3 to 8 will be daily flights by an experienced aviator in a 60 h. p. biplane of the Curtiss type. George Schmidt is the man who has been engaged to appear, and he is a man whose flying performance has met any criterion will give entire satisfaction.

The Fair management had been endeavoring for some time to secure a competent aviator to fly at the Fair. The attention of a Fair official was one day attracted to a story in a Maine newspaper telling of the great success of Aviator Schmidt's flights in that state. The matter was looked into, and when Schmidt appeared at a fair in Waterville, Me., later in the summer, a representative of the Danbury Fair association was on hand to watch the flights. This representative reported that he was greatly pleased with the aviator's showing. Schmidt flew twenty-five miles over and about the city, the day that the Fair representative was there. Schmidt's managers were communicated with, with the result already stated. The aviator has appeared at numerous fairs throughout the country this season, and has had consistent success in his flights, and the visitor to the Danbury Fair can look forward with confidence to seeing real flights on every day when the air conditions do not make them impossible.

Aviator Schmidt will make from two to four flights daily. The only thing that will keep him from flying will be counter air currents or dangerous eddies, as the space about the Fair Grounds is not sufficiently free to warrant the taking of any chances in an aeroplane. The flights will be made from the center of the race track oval, a location which will make the ascents and descents visible to all persons on the grand stand.

On Monday of Fair week, October 2, the aviator will make a flight, weather conditions permitting, from the Fair Grounds out over the city and back to the grounds. This will give Mr. Schmidt an opportunity to show the Fair management and the general public that he deserves his reputation as an experienced and skillful sky pilot.

Death came last evening to Stefan Mosul the laborer who was run over and badly mangled by his own team in State street extension near the Fairfield line, where he was hauling a load of railroad ties early Sunday morning.

Little hope was extended for Mosul's recovery when surgeons examined him at St. Vincent's hospital. His chest was stove in, and his limbs were badly mangled. A widow and three children survive. He had lived in Bridgeport but a short time before his mishap.

Miss Somerset Is Honored By French Academy

Teacher at Bridgeport High School Receives Cherished Decoration For Educational Service

Persons who have read many French stories will perhaps remember the anxiety of some of the characters to obtain a "decoration" from the French government as a reward of service to public education or some other useful work in which they had been engaged. They will also recall the satisfaction with which such aspirants wore the bit of ribbon which was the symbol of their honors, if their dreams happily came true.

Very few residents are aware that a very unassuming lady who usually keeps her triumphs to herself has just been "decorated" by the division of the French Academy which concerns itself with education and fine arts. Miss Margaret Somerset, head of the French department in the Bridgeport High school is now the possessor of a formal document which appoints her an officer of the Academy and gives her the right to wear the bit of ribbon which French men and women, especially those engaged in education, so earnestly desire. The honor is only granted upon positive proof of the merits of those who obtain it and few foreigners possess it.

The special service which Miss Somerset has rendered to France particularly consists in her successful efforts to establish in Bridgeport a branch of the Alliance Francaise that great national association which has for its chief object the spread of the French language in French colonies and in foreign countries. But even this would not have sufficed to procure such recognition for her if the officers of the Alliance in New York and Paris had not become fully conversant with the extent of her attainments and her unselfish devotion to the cause she has at heart. They were aware that her knowledge of French had been gained through years of study under professors in Paris she had availed herself of the fullest extent of the teachings of the distinguished professors to whom the Alliance entrusts its summer courses. These gentlemen as well as the directors of the Alliance knew the quality of her work and they cheerfully cooperated in procuring for her the unselfish recognition which those who had personal knowledge of the energy and tact with which the activities of the Bridgeport "group" are carried on.

Posses Hunting For Murderer of 17-Year-Old Girl

(Special from United Press.)
 Hendersonville, N. C., Sept. 12.—Free-ly asserting that there will be a lynching if they overtake their quarry, the posses of mountaineers took up the search for the murderer of 17 year old Myrtle Hawkins in earnest today.

The revelations at the coroner's inquest showing the girl to have been violently assaulted and then slain, has aroused the countryside and swift vengeance will be meted out to her assailant, it is believed. It was at first thought that the girl who was soon to be married, had committed suicide, but today, it was known that this could not have been the case. It was also thought that after murdering the girl and leaving her body exposed to the sun and rain for three days, the slayer, haunted by his crime, returned to the spot and cast the corpse into Lake Oseola.

The girl's fiancé, Hal Cooper, is prostrated at Johnson City, Tenn., and his mother is said to be dying from the shock.

Wedding Tomorrow Romantic Finale Of Little Playlet

Of Little Playlet

Miss Halsey and Mr. Prendergast First Met While Playing in Sketch at Cosmovilla

A fitting finale to a courtship begun when they were rehearsing together for an amateur theatrical production will take place tomorrow morning when Miss Mabel Agnes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard B. Halsey of 208 Lewis street becomes the bride of Mr. William Broderick Prendergast of Washington Terrace.

At the time of the "Cosmovilla" at the Army in the Winter of 1910 under the auspices of the Queen's Daughters, "The Obstinate Family," a merry comedy, was put on by a number of well known young Bridgeporters, among them Miss Halsey and Mr. Prendergast. The latter played the part of the young husband, while Miss Halsey, strange enough, was the temptress who in her selfishness any sketch can be put on, rehearsals must be held. When characters were called for Miss Halsey and Mr. Prendergast responded. Prior to that time they had never met, but the happy conclusion of tomorrow will be the result of their courtship which had personal knowledge of the energy and tact with which the activities of the Bridgeport "group" are carried on.

The nuptials will take place with a solemn high mass at the church of the Sacred Heart at 10 o'clock, chanted by three uncles of the groom, Rev. F. J. Lally, pastor of St. Thomas's of Waterbury, celebrant; Rev. John H. Broderick, pastor of All Saints church of Moreau, deacon, and Rev. James A. Broderick, assistant pastor of the Immaculate Conception of Waterbury, sub-deacon. Rev. T. F. Sweeney, Rev. Matthew Judge and Rev. Thomas P. Mooney, of the Sacred Heart church, will officiate at the ceremonies. The organist, Miss Mollie Daly, has prepared a special musical program.

The bride is to be attended by Miss Marguerite Carey, a chum from school days. Richard H. Halsey, a brother of the bride will be best man. As usher the groom's brother-in-law, Mr. Julian L. Halsey, a brother of the bride, Dr. J. Joseph Myers, J. C. Hamilton and Richard McLaughlin. Miss Halsey will be exquisitely gowned in white satin with Dutch lace and pearl trimmings. She will wear a rose point veil with heavy tulle lace edge arranged in a cap shaped crown at the head. She will carry a bouquet of bridal roses arranged in a shower in the center of a baby ribbon and lilies of the valley. Her going-away gown will be a navy blue tailored serge with hat to match.

Miss Carey is to be becomingly attired in pale yellow marquisette over rich yellow satin. She will carry an arm bouquet.

The only jewelry the bride will wear will be a lavallier of diamonds set in platinum, the gift of the groom. The bride's gift to the groom is a diamond stick pin and to her bridesmaid, a pearl pendant on a heavy gold chain. The groom's gift to his best man and the ushers is to each a gold stick pin set with amethyst.

Immediately following the church ceremony there will be a reception and wedding breakfast to the immediate friends of the young couple at the bride's home in Lewis street. The home is being converted into an almost solid bower of flowers by Horan, the florist. The color scheme, green and white will be carried throughout. At the bay windows in the parlors an arch of smilax, white asters and bridal roses will be erected, under which the young couple will receive their friends. Music at the home will be furnished by Bentley's Metropolitan orchestra. The catering will be done by Chef Crowley of the Seaside club.

The young couple have arranged a honeymoon trip of three weeks. They will leave for the continent by automobile. On their return they will take up their residence at 59 Vins street where a cozy little home awaits them.

The nuptials will excite more than ordinary interest in local social circles, because of the popularity of both young folks. The ceremony is being held at the home of the bride, a most charming young woman and has hosts of admirers. She is a graduate of B. H. S. in the class of 1905 and a B. A. on prize winner of that year. She is a soloist in the choir of St. Peter's church in which the groom is also a singer. The future benefactor holds a responsible position with the John Hancock Life Insurance Co. being assistant manager of the state branch which is located in this city in the Security Building. He is a graduate of Middletown High school and also of Holy Cross University. Mr. Prendergast is well situated being president of Div. No. 2, A. O. H., a member of the local lodge of Elks and of Park City country club. His father, Mr. Seldon, is a young man who enters into this great epoch in most everyone's life with more sincere and hearty congratulations than Mr. Prendergast.

ARRIVAL OF KITTY

MAKES HIT AT PARK

A large audience at the Park theatre last night reported most favorably upon "The Arrival of Kitty" a musical farce comedy from the pen of Norman Lee Swartz. The play was continued tonight and tomorrow matinee and evening.

The play is a clever conception of the possibility of humorous mix-ups and keeps the audience laughing throughout. In addition there is plenty of catchy music interspersed and altogether the show affords a good evening's entertainment.

How People Are Paying The Sugar Trust's "Fines"

New York, Sept. 12.—The people are paying the fine of $2,000,000 assessed against the American Sugar Refining Company, say the merchants whose customers protest against the raise of one and one-half cents in the price of sugar.

It will take less than nine days to refund to the trust the full amount of the annual consumption of sugar in the United States is, in round numbers, 8,000,000,000 pounds, or more than 22,000,000 pounds daily. During the canning and preserving season of August, September and October, the consumption is twenty-five per cent. greater than the average. Therefore the people of the United States will use during the three months named approximately 27,000,000 pounds of sugar daily.

Thus the advance of one and one-half cents a pound will put into the coffers of the sugar barons $45,000,000 daily in excess of their ordinary receipts.

Congressional investigation of the Sugar Trust, which resulted in the fine of $2,000,000 against the American Sugar Refining Company brought out the fact that this company controls about one-half of the sugar business in the United States.

Therefore, this company will get $27,500,000 daily from the consumers because of the advance and reimburse itself for the fine paid the Government in nine days.

But the price will not be reduced, after the fine is paid, according to the predictions of jobbers and retailers. These men say that, judging from signs they are accustomed to reading there is more likelihood that the price will go higher than that there will be a reduction.

The refiners say the advance is due to the fact that the sugar trust has not been able to produce as much as it needs. It may be added, the trust also controls.

"There is more devilment in the sugar trade than in anything else I know anything about," said John Arbuckle, one of the country's sugar barons, recently. And the consumers of the country are disposed to agree with him.

LIQUOR DEALERS HOLD 18TH ANNUAL CONVENTION

New London, Sept. 12.—The eighteenth annual convention of the Retail Wine, Liquor and Beer Dealers' Association was opened yesterday in this city, the various committees being organized and reports of the officers being read. There were 100 delegates present.

In his report of the year's work, President Frank Quinn of New Haven reviewed the work of the present Legislature in regard to liquor matters and said:

"I am pleased to report that the membership is larger and the condition of the organization better than at any other time in the history of the organization. In my report last year, I dwelt considerably on the subject of anticipated legislation and with the bills expected of opposition to the organization. It is my hope that the Legislature will have enacted into law certain measures that would certainly be a detriment to our business, and which could not possibly have helped conditions generally. You are well aware through the newspapers of the final distribution of these bills."

"I wish to repeat what I have said at every convention at which I have had the pleasure to report to you, the absolute necessity for a good thorough organization. It places much to look back over our organization for the past eight years, and note the powerful and steady growth. In the year 1902 we organized our association with a nucleus of six locals. Today we have no less than twenty locals in good standing. We are fortunate that such is the condition of affairs in your city. Let your interest wane, especially as regards your local association, and would request that you make a special effort during the coming year to get into your local every man in the trade that is eligible to membership."

(Special to the Farmer.)
 Cleveland, Sept. 12.—With scores of families facing hunger, the garment workers of Cleveland, on a secret ballot, voted almost unanimously to continue the strike here which has now dragged on for over four months.

With the winter coming on, the labor leaders are making every effort to guard against actual suffering among the strikers and weekly strike benefits will be paid.

MUNICIPAL MARKET FOR HARTFORD SOON

(Special from United Press.)
 Hartford, Sept. 12.—A municipal market was decidedly nearer realization today, after the action of the board of aldermen, yesterday, empowering a committee to recommend sites.

Another public improvement project advanced was the waiting station at the head of State street. A special committee was appointed to consider this project.
