

MEN'S SECTION

They're All New This Season. Overcoats Reduced to $14.50.

Piles of handsome coats ready for choosing, that did ample justice to $18, $20 and $22, their former prices. But style is a relentless driver—this season's styles must be sold this season—our policy is fixed on that line. So, while these coats are full value at $18 to $22, you take your pick now at $14.50. The easiest money you ever saved.

Rough belted and plain back models on refined lines, and handsome Chesterfield coats with velvet collars—in a good range of sizes—$14.50.

Downward revision of prices in every line of overcoats present—you'll find beauties at $9.50 to $27.50 that were $12 to $40.

Fancy suits for men and young men—there are great opportunities for men—in need of good suits.

OPPOSITE VIEWS OF SPEAKERS ON RAILWAY RATES

EX-GOV. HADLEY AT ODDS WITH PRESIDENT FINLEY AT CHAMBER OF COMMERCE BANQUET IN NEW HAVEN.

New Haven, Jan. 24.—Something around 350 members and guests of the New Haven Chamber of Commerce heard last night two diametrically opposite views on railroad rates making by former Governor Herbert S. Hadley of Missouri and President W. W. Finley of the Southern Railway, an attack upon some of the views of Wilson's pet views on governmental trust management by the former, a full exposition of the railroad situation as it affects the public from the viewpoint of the railroad man by the latter, and a charming little dinner by the Chamber of Commerce that are held each year on the Yale dining commons.

President Finley's talk in part seemed like a direct answer to Governor Hadley's attack on the railroad man. He said that he had heard the railroad man preceded the Governor. Subsequently the reply, if a reply, was an unusual piece of eloquence or something of that sort. President Finley declared that railroad rates fixed return on the capital invested, but rather on a reasonable value of the service rendered, and he declared that the fixed return idea would be poor and uneconomical. Governor Hadley, on the other hand, declared that the railroads were acting on the idea in basing rates on value of service and that the public had the right to demand that the rates be based on a fixed return on the capital invested.

Governor Hadley dwelt principally on the question of regulating business affairs in today a question of interest and importance second only to the question of the relation of the American people to their courts is because there is a contest between the rules of business and the laws of men. It is due to the fact that in some instances the laws of men are unnecessary and unwise, constituting an unwarranted and meddling interference with business methods and the rules of trade.

Mr. Finley said, in part: "The railways of the United States give to society a transportation service that is more comprehensive from year to year. They perform this service at rates of compensation that, on the whole, are lower than those paid for similar service in any other country. They give employment, directly or indirectly, to millions of citizens and expend such vast sums in the purchase of supplies and materials that not only the industrial life but the general prosperity of the country are largely dependent upon the maintenance of their wage paying and purchasing power."

"In return for their service to society the railways ask from society, not as a favor but as a right, that after they have been subjected to such regulation as will protect the rights of the public they shall be protected in their property rights and shall be permitted to enjoy such a measure of liberty in the management of their affairs as is necessary to the success of any business undertaking."

Five one time Governors of Connecticut—Frank E. Weeks, P. C. Lounsbury, Thomas M. Waller, Henry Roberts and R. S. Woodruff—were among the guests.

Why? It is because these druggists know exactly what they are selling. The prescription for this treatment and the complete and specific instructions for use are with each and every box. The treatment is the best that has ever come to their attention and therefore they distinctly recommend it to their patrons. Ask your druggist. Ask your physician!

CREAMER—MOFFITT

Mrs. Kenneth W. McNeil Matron of Honor at Big New York Wedding.

(Special to The Farmer.) New York, Jan. 24.—The wedding of Miss Ellen Jollette Moffitt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Henry Moffitt, to J. Byron Creamer, of Brooklyn, took place at 6 o'clock Wednesday evening at the Church of the Blessed Sacrament, Broadway and Seventy-first street, the Rev. Mgr. Taylor officiating. The bride wore a trailing gown of silver brocade trimmed with point lace and a lace veil, which was caught up with a coronet of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley, and her only ornament was a diamond pin, the gift of the bridegroom.

Miss May C. Moffitt, in light blue brocade and carrying a shower bouquet of yellow roses, was the sister's maid of honor. There were two matrons of honor, Mrs. Charles W. Moffitt and Mrs. Kenneth McNeil of Bridgeport, who wore white and pink brocade and carried bouquets of pink roses and lilies of the valley. The bridesmaids were the Misses Beatrice Butler, Tamie Pannack of Long Branch, Edna Reilly of Brooklyn, and Genevieve Butler. They appeared in pink moire crepe de chine trimmed with lace, and carried pink roses. All the attendants wore large ligheron hats faced with blue and trimmed with rosebuds.

F. D. Creamer, Jr., with his brother's best man in Springfield yesterday the Rev. Irving P. Barnes of this city, among other things said, that above all, he wanted to be practical with the subject of prayer. It is a practical subject and he has a practical application to life. He said that prayer is the greatest thing God has given us, because it is the power behind the hand that moves the world. But in order for prayer to be real it must come bubbling right out of the heart in whatever language and rhetoric that happens to clothe it, and must be persistent and unwavering in faith. Some preachers say that men should pray only believing fully that God will answer. It doesn't matter what style of prayer or whether one puts himself fully into it, but only that he should go through the motions with faith and God will do the rest. Those preachers say that after all there is little real reason to expect that God will answer our prayers, but the action is a fine spiritual exercise for mortals anyway. Rev. Mr. Barnes condemned this attitude heartily.

Mr. Barnes believes that this is an age for work, and that works count, but little of present-day work has enough supernatural aid such as righteous prayer will bring. Some people try to enlist this supernatural aid, but they really do not pray. They merely "go through the motions" of them or "offer" them, whereas the Christian who reaches out for God actually prays without furbelows or fanfancies. The power of God is just as strong to-day as in the days of old prophets, and miracles are performed to-day just as truly as was the blind man made to see. There are hundreds of instances where the power of God has shown itself in changing the characters of individuals, in moving whole cities to action and in actually freeing men from physical affliction. But, in order that prayers may be effective, they must be lived. A man who is known as a hypocrite in private life might stand in a pulpit and vociferously shout prayer words, with absolutely no effect. If he would have people hear him and be reached by him, he must live a prayerful life. But, above all, the man who prays must feel his utterances from his very soul. He must be reaching out for God and must have the inwrought spirit of God. That is the trumpet call to prayer.

BUEL MARRIED

GEO. W. JOHNSTON RECEIVED ANNOUNCEMENT FROM FORMER HEAD OF GEORGETOWN UNIV.

New York, Jan. 24.—Confirmation of the report that the Rev. David Hillhouse Buel, one-time president of Georgetown University, had married Miss Frances Powers, of Boston, came yesterday from George W. Johnston, of 55 Liberty St., this city, secretary of Father Buel's class at Yale. "A man's ago," said Mr. Johnston, "I received an engraved announcement of his marriage to Miss Powers, but have not seen him since. He gave me an address in this city where I could find him, but since the announcement was made I tried to do so unsuccessfully. At the address he gave me I learned that he had left and that he was not expected to return. I thought where this was, as he told it to me in confidence. "The last time I saw Mr. Buel was at a class reunion held at the Yale club Nov. 29. At that time he said nothing of his approaching marriage. I was much surprised when I received the formal announcement. Mr. Johnston said that he supposed the marriage took place in this city. Inquiries at the office of the Education Bureau failed to disclose the issuance of a license to the couple. Rev. Father Gasson, president of Boston College, a friend of the Powers family was quoted as confirming the report of the marriage. The bride is Brig.-Gen. David Hillhouse Buel, of Civil War fame. The bride's father is Edward J. Powers, a mason contractor. The family of Miss Katherine F. Powers of Boston refused yesterday to discuss the marriage of the young woman with Rev. David Hillhouse Buel, former president of Georgetown University, and Jesuit priest of note. Mrs. Buel when seen indirectly admitted that she is the bride of the former priest, but would say nothing more. When the priest is called he will be learned.

The Powers family are staunch Roman Catholics and the marriage of their daughter is a great shock to them. The mother is dead and the family is composed of the father, Edward Powers, a mason, and five other daughters. The first great mistake Buel made, according to the priest who knew him in Boston, was to get permission from the Father Superior of the Jesuits, under divided misapprehension of travel. He came to Boston and met Miss Powers at Allerton, and there the coupleship took place, unbeknownst to friends or members of the girl's family. How Buel first met Miss Powers remains a mystery.

A mean stuffy cold, with hoarse wheezy breathing is just the kind that leads into bronchitis or pneumonia. Don't trifle with such serious conditions but take Foley's Honey and Tar Compound promptly. Quick relief and sure results are just what you can expect from this great medicine. It soothes and heals the inflamed air passages, it stops the hacking cough. F. B. DAN CUPID IS QUITE ACTIVE AT WELLESLEY

Miss J. Pauline Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Miller, of Wellesley, is one of nine senior girls in Wellesley college, having only a few more months to study for their Bachelor of Arts degrees, who already are candidates for degrees of "Mrs." It has just been announced at Wellesley, Miss Miller is engaged to Arthur Sealey, bookkeeper in the Meriden Home National Bank, a son of former Mayor and Mrs. George S. Sealey, of the Silver City.

Miss Rachel F. Burbank, of East Milton, announced her engagement to Dr. Hazel Benson of New York. They will be married next June. Miss Burbank told her classmates, and travel abroad before sailing for New York. Miss Carol S. Prentice, who entered Wellesley from New York, announced her engagement to Otis Williams, an Amherst graduate, now in business in New York.

Miss Edna Swope of Seymour, Ind., gave the announcement of her engagement to Frederick Shepard, Jr., of Boston, a graduate of Massachusetts Institute of Technology last June. By a dinner dance Miss Dorothy McDowell, who entered Wellesley from New Rochelle, N. Y., announced her engagement to Randall Cremer of Washington, D. C. Mr. Cremer was a student at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology last June and is now an instructor there. He plans to go into business in Washington after his marriage to Miss McDowell.

Another engagement announced was that of Miss Helen E. Richardson of Brighton and Norcross, Southport of Boston, a graduate of Harvard in 1911. Miss Edith Montgomery of Rochester, N. Y., announced her engagement to George Simmons, a graduate of Williams last June and now in business in Baltimore, Md. Miss Alice Merrill's engagement to George W. Lewis, Harvard '10, was followed by announcement of that of Mrs. Edwin P. Baker, of Boston, who also was graduated from Harvard in 1910. The last engagement made public was that of Miss Miller and Mr. Sealey.

All of Wellesley's engaged senior girls are among the most popular of the present-day college girls. Some of them have been active in class affairs since their freshman year.

Pimpily? Well, Don't Be!

People Notice It. Drive Them Off With Olive Tablets.

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get the help of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pimples will vanish after you have taken a tablet a few nights. Nothing ever cleansed the bowels and the liver like Olive Tablets. Olive Tablets are the only successful substitute for calomel—they fill the bowels; there's never any sickness or pain after taking them. They give you a healthy complexion and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating. No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cured with "a dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face. Olive Tablets are made of pure vegetable compounds mixed with olive oil.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints, and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Try them. Take one nightly for a week. Then look at yourself in the glass and see how you feel. 10c and 25c per box. The Olive Tablet Company, Columbus, O.—Adv.

If Your Stomach Is Lacking in Digestive Power, Why Not Help the Stomach Do Its Work?

Not with drugs, but with a reinforcement of digestive agents, such as are naturally at work in the stomach. Scientific analysis shows that digestion requires pepsin, nitrogenous ferments, and the secretion of hydrochloric acid. When your food fails to digest, these agents are lacking in your digestive apparatus.

A Day's Work Is so Much Play to the Man With a Stomach Kept Right With Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets contain these natural elements necessary to digestion and when placed at work in the weak stomach and small intestine, supply what these organs need. They stimulate the gastric glands and gradually bring the digestive organs back to their normal condition. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have been subjected to critical chemical tests at home and abroad and their composition has been approved by the highest authorities. There is no secret in the preparation of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. Their composition is known among physicians as the most popular of all remedies for indigestion, dyspepsia, water-brash, insomnia, loss of appetite, melancholia, constipation, dysentery and kindred diseases originating from improper digestion and assimilation of food, because they are thoroughly reliable and harmless to man or child.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold by all druggists at 50 cents a box and are at once a safe and a powerful remedy for indigestion. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest your food for you when your stomach can't.
