EVEN TESREAU CANNOT CHECK BOSTON BRAVES

Boston, Mass., May 11.—Things with the Giants seem to be going from bad to worse. They have not won very many games this season, but usually they have been able to win with Big Ten Tesreau on the mound.

Tesreau, after pitching an ineffective game, was finally removed in the ninth when Stalling's did not have enough confidence in him to pull his left-hander through.

WEIRD THROW BY KAUFF LOSES GAME FOR BROOKLYN FEDS

New York, May 11.—Benny Kauff, center fielder for the Brooklins, who was a member of the Giants for a few minutes two weeks ago, assisted Kansas City in winning yesterday at Washington Park by dropping a score of 4 to 3 when he threw the ball from deep center field into the visiting players' bench, allowing two runs to score.

It was in the fifth inning that Benny pegged away the two runs. Gilmore, the first man up for the Kaw-feds, had singled and Brown drew a pass. Packard flied out to the center, then Chadbourne poked a safety in to center. Kauff grabbed the ball and threw it toward second base.

NOTRE DAME DEFEATS CORNELL IN BASEBALL

Ithaca, N. Y., May 11.—A batting rally by Notre Dame in the eleventh inning yesterday afternoon gave the Westerners a 5 to 3 victory over Cornell. Up to that time Johnson had allowed the visitors only two hits, but in that inning a hunt by Wells and singles by Dugan, Lathrop, and Mills and a sacrifice by Bergmann netted the Ithaca four runs.

Outlaws Negotiate for Leases of Parks Controlled by Ousted Eastern Association Magnates

Hartford, May 11.—As the result of a conference held in New York yesterday afternoon with Robert B. Ward, president of the Brooklyn Federals and vice-president of the Federal league, Hartford, Springfield and New Haven, the three cities thrown out of the Eastern association, are to become identified with a Federal league movement, and will make up a part of an eight-club league that will get under way before Memorial Day.

New Haven baseball grounds. Leases of the three grounds have not been ratified as yet, as there were one or two minor matters that remained to be settled upon which he would meet Mr. Carey and Mr. Cameron in Springfield this afternoon and at that conference a final decision would be reached.

FACTORY LEAGUE WILL MEET TONIGHT

There will be a meeting of the Factory baseball league at the Y. M. C. A. tonight at 8 o'clock. Much business of importance to the League is to be transacted. New officers will be elected and the official schedule for 1915 adopted.

LAJOIE COULDN'T BE OUTGUESSED IN HIS PALMY PERIOD

If Napoleon Lajoie has an admirer among the baseball men of the past and present it is Marich Kittredge, the veteran catcher, who now is making his residence in Cleveland. According to Kittredge it was almost impossible to outguess the Frenchman when the latter was at his best.

GOOD BOUTS FOR FANS AT CASINO SMOKER LAST NIGHT

(By "Old Man Grump" At Ringside) The first smoker under the auspices of the Casino A. C. was held last evening at the Casino before a large number of the Casino fans and every bout on the program was run off so well that everyone who was present went home satisfied. Great credit was due to the Casino manager, the matchmaker, for the successful manner in which he handled the affair.

YANKS FALL TO H. BALL; LOSE TO BOSTON

New York, May 11.—The inability to connect safely with the offerings of George Foster at opportune moments and a spectacular catch by the redoubtable Tris Speaker in the ninth inning, were directly responsible for the Highlanders losing the final conflict to Bill Carrigan's Red Sox before a fair sized gathering of fans, including several hundred of Uncle Sam's sailors, at the Polo Grounds, yesterday.

Old Man Opportunity knocked constantly at the Donovanites' door, but our boys turned their back on him repeatedly, and as a consequence they departed in flight on the first western tour with a 3 to 1 defeat trailing them.

The Highlanders didn't score their lone tally until the ninth inning, although they threatened to cross the plate long before the final session was reached.

FIGHT TO GET BOXING FILMS INTO COUNTRY

New York, May 11.—Freddie Welsh, holder of the lightweight championship title, was scheduled to appear before Judge Hough in the Federal District Court in the Woolworth Building yesterday to fight for the title from Bill Ritchie in Olympic Hall, London, on July 7, 1914, but neither Freddie nor his lawyer put in an appearance, much to the disappointment of the gathering, who had hoped to hear the details of the famous contest.

Welsh's appearance in court was to have been made in an attempt to show that it was neither a "prize fight nor a pugilistic contest" but a bona fide and so permit of the entrance to this country of the moving pictures of the battle.

George Considine brought 3,542 feet of motion picture film to the United States showing the two men in the encounter, but according to the Sims act, passed July 31, 1912, "movies of prize fights" are not permitted to be imported and also forbidden carriage in interstate commerce, so the films were detained by customs officials on the continent when they came within their category.

Mr. Considine through his attorney, Frank S. O'Neill, State Boxing Commissioner, is attempting to show that the Sims act does not apply to the meaning of the act, but Assistant United States District Attorney John Walkers' assertion is that they do, and yesterday he submitted a brief in which he gave the facts of the case.

LAJOIE COULDN'T BE OUTGUESSED IN HIS PALMY PERIOD

If Napoleon Lajoie has an admirer among the baseball men of the past and present it is Marich Kittredge, the veteran catcher, who now is making his residence in Cleveland. According to Kittredge it was almost impossible to outguess the Frenchman when the latter was at his best.

"When I was with Washington we had a left-hander named Lajoie," he said, "One day when we were playing Cleveland he told us before we took the field that he had solved Lajoie's weakness.

"Larry came up with three on. Jacobson gave him that slow curve rather low. Larry swung, away went the ball over Charley Jones' head. It bit the old centerfield fence out of Dunham avenue, bounded back and hit Jones on the head, knocking him down.

"Say," said Jones when he came in when the inning was over, "if when you pitch Larry's weakness to him and he hits it so hard it knocks an outfielder down after it hits the fence, I'd hate to be playing center if you pitched one in his groove.

"Then there was a Hunter Hill. We had him on third base. The third baseman used to play a short left field when Nap Lajoie came to bat, and so did Hill the first few games he played against Cleveland. Larry of course took advantage of it and used to lay many a one down and beat it to first. This got Hill sore and he came to us one day and announced he had studied Larry and could tell by his movements when the Frenchman intended to bunt.

JACK EGAN, LOCAL BOY, HAS COME TO JOIN LOWELL, MASS.

Colonial League Cannot Operate in This Territory Without Permission of National Board

(By Wagner) Jack Egan, the local boy who made good with New Britain last season and was booked for New London this year, has joined Lowell, Mass., of the New England League. He was on his way to join Newport News, Va., of the Virginia league when a telegram reached his home here asking him to report to Lowell. Bill McGuire, the local baseball promoter who is also Egan's brother-in-law, wired Jack and caught him at the 126th street station in New York. Egan then retraced his steps for London. Gene McCann, the New London pilot, recommended Egan to Lowell.

The story that the Federals will invade New Haven, Springfield and Hartford presents an interesting problem to baseball followers. It is said that these cities will be added to the Colonial circuit which is supposed to be organized baseball. In order to do this the Colonial would have to make application to the National board to operate in Eastern association territory and would undoubtedly be turned down.

The showing of "Iron Man" Jack Coombs with Brooklyn this season must be an unpleasant surprise to Connie Mack. The lanky Philadelphia leader let Coombs go during the winter, thinking the veteran was all in. But Coombs has won two games already for Brooklyn, beating the leading Phillies each time.

The winner of the Yale-Harvard boat race and the successful crew at the Hudson regatta will be invited to make a trip to the Pacific Coast to take part in a championship event there. It is doubtful if the invitation will be accepted because of the great expense. Leland Stanford university sends a crew almost every year to compete on the Hudson but eastern colleges do not so enthusiastically about going west.

COFFEY TO BOX FOR SAILORMEN OF OUR FLEET

Arrangements for the entertainment of Uncle Sam's sailors at Madison Square Garden on Thursday night are practically completed. Besides a big vaudeville bill, a series of boxing bouts between well-known fighters has been arranged.

Jim Coffey, the latest star in the pugilistic firmament, who looms large as the most logical opponent of Jess Ward for the championship, will box with Joe Jeannette if a dispensation can be obtained from the Boxing Commission. Otherwise Jim will take on Hack Walcott.

Jack Britton, the star lightweight, will meet Young Alhean, Soldier Bartfield will clash with Battling Levinsky.

OLD TIME OUTFIELDERS MADE MORE ASSISTS THAN PRESENT PLAYERS

During the season of 1898 George Van Halten of the New York Giants, in a game against the Washington Senators, was playing center field with Swain who was pitching for the Senators, while at bat happened to make what looked like a safe drive to center. Nine times out of ten it would have been a home run.

Statistics show that the outfielders back in the 80's and 90's had the most assists on the present-day outfielders in making assists. The best record in number of assists made in one season was made by Harry Niles, who was in the majors in recent years, or since predicted by the followers of Perrone, his man was more experienced than Mickey. The fans were treated to a great surprise, however, in the second round when Mickey handed a "beast" on Perrone's jaw, driving the latter through the ropes. It was a draw.

The next "battery assault" brought together Young Monroe and Eddie Kelly. Both boys put an interesting encounter and we would call it a good draw. The fourth set of the night was very interesting and introduced the local fans Young Weidenhamer, of Milford, and Young Levinsky, from Pond Point. It was a corking good bout and Levinsky earned the most consistent record of all old league outfielders in making assists, he leading the league in four different seasons. Ellis, who used to be with the Boston Braves, was good at making long throws and had an average of 25 per season. Titus, Bates, Cravath and Snodgrass have good marks for accurate throwing from the outfield.

In the National League since 1900 Murray of the Giants has the most consistent record of all old league outfielders in making assists, he leading the league in four different seasons. Ellis, who used to be with the Boston Braves, was good at making long throws and had an average of 25 per season. Titus, Bates, Cravath and Snodgrass have good marks for accurate throwing from the outfield.

But the old boys back in the halcyon days of the 80's made some astonishing records in throwing out base runners from afar off. Jimmy Fogarty of the Phillies averaged an assist from the outfield every third game he played. Sam Thompson of the old Detroit and Phillies was a mighty thrower in his day. Jimmy Ryan of the Chicago National League left-handed though he was, could shoot a ball from the farthest corner of the outfield with deadly effect. Bill Lange had a wonderful throwing arm and was feared by all base runners in the National League. The great Mike Kelly, back in 1885

REILLY, YALE STAR, WILL NOT BE PROFESSIONAL

New Haven, May 11.—Reports that John Reilly, star third baseman of the Yale nine, would enter professional ranks at the close of his college career were given a jolt yesterday when it was announced that the big athlete will forsake the diamond at the end of the season to enter business.

This information comes from a person close to Reilly, and sets at rest the rumors that have been flying thick and fast of late regarding his future exploits. It is known that Reilly has received several lucrative offers to join big league clubs.

But he has reached a decision to enter a line of work that should prove more profitable to him than baseball. Reilly's action will come as a surprise to his many admirers who have expressed a desire to see him in a big league uniform.

The present season marks the third for Reilly as a member of the varsity baseball team. He prepared at Excelsior and the younger brother of Harry and Jim Reilly, who played stellar baseball while at Yale. Reilly's star work during the year 1913 was one of the outstanding features of the college season in which Captain Blossom's team registered seventeen consecutive victories and later lost the series to Harvard.

Last season Reilly was woefully wanting in batting. As a fielder his ranks head and shoulders above any college third baseman.

ANNIVERSARIES OF RING BATTLES

1870—Jim Mace defeated Tom Allen in 10 rounds at Kennerville, La. Although both Mace and Allen were English by birth, the latter had spent some time on this side and was the claimant of the American title. The fight was for $10,000 and the world's title and it attracted thousands of sports to New Orleans. The ring was pitched on the turf and the spectators viewed the battle from carriages and omnibuses. Mace outfought Allen in every round, slashing his face with his terrible left, and in a short time one of Tom's peppers was closed and the other was little better. Allen was a glutton for punishment and in the 10th round he put Mace down, but at the same time he fell himself and struck his shoulder against a stake. The impact dislocated Tom's shoulder and his seconds had to toss in the sponge. Mace was declared the winner, and besides the $10,000 stake, realized a handsome sum from his wagers. After that Mace became a lion in the States and Canada.

1877—Dave Sullivan, former featherweight champion, born in Cork, Ireland.

1883—George (One Round) Davis, heavyweight boxer, born in Buffalo.

1909—James J. Jefferies knocked out James J. Corbett in 23rd round at Coney Island. Jeff had become champion less than a year before by defeating Fitzsimmons, and in the interval had fought and defeated Tom Sharkey. Corbett's challenge was greeted with derision by the fight fans but the Californian believed that his superior cleverness would certainly have regained his lost title. He was so eager to finish that he disregarded the advice of his seconds and met Jeff at his own game. Then Jeff, whipped to a frazzle, put all his strength into one punch, and it was enough.

1848—Tom Cribb, long champion of the ring, died in England.

1882—Alfred Moses, lightweight boxer, born in Victoria, Australia.
