A. & B. EMPLOYEES MEET TONIGHT IN MACHINISTS' HALL

A meeting of employees of the American & British Manufacturing Co., both union and non-union, is scheduled for 8 o'clock tonight at Machinists' hall, 27 Cannon street.

Ex-Alderman Frederick Cederholm visited the plant today and talked with the men, notifying them of the mass meeting tonight, which the eight-hour question will be discussed.

Much interest is said to have been shown by the employees of the factory which is engaged in manufacturing large mortar artillery and heavy projectiles for the United States government.

Superintendent William M. Strawn could not be found at the factory to discuss conditions, it being said that he was in South Bethlehem, Pa.

Wilder's Decision Deliberately Omits Important Words

(Continued From Page One.) where the machinists have asked for a slight increase in their pay to bring it up to the minimum standard machinists' wage. Though the decision of the company originally was to make no change today, at the request of the company for an extension of the time, 24 hours, was granted. The decision will be awaited with that of the Locomobile company tomorrow. Active work began among machinists today looking towards the general demand for eight hours in all the Bridgeport factories. This move had been planned a week ago but had been postponed from time to time owing to more pressing matters. Several committees have been appointed to wait on the heads of factories in this city, some of which are not manufacturing munitions, and make the demands in person. In the less important factories a letter stating the demands for the eight hour day, the "time and a half" and "double time" demands is conveyed to the management and prepare the company officials for the arrival of a committee who will await the answer of the company before taking final action through their employes.

Allies Land Large Army In Gallipoli

London, Aug. 11.-The German attack on the fortress of Kovno has been pressed in force. Reuters' correspondent at Petrograd points out that the village of Piple, on which the Germans have held their hold notwithstanding the fierce counter-attacks of the Russians, is only six miles west of Kovno. It lies on the left bank of the Nlema. Preparations are under way for the possible evacuation of the fortress. All military supplies and government properties have been removed and factories are being dismantled. A Zeppelin has appeared for the first time over the fortress of Dvinsk, on the Dyvna, 116 miles southeast of Riga.

Four More Ships Sent To Bottom

London, Aug. 11.-The sinking of four more ships was announced this afternoon. They were the British steamer Oakwood, the Norwegian bark Morra, and two trawlers, the Young Admiral and the George Crabbe. The crews of all the vessels were saved.

ALLIES WILL PUSH CAMPAIGN IN TURKEY

London, Aug. 11.-Recognition of the imperative importance to the allies of forcing the Dardanelles as the shortest road to retrieving Russian reverses and regaining the initiative in the hands of Germany, is demonstrated amply by the sudden landing of British forces in the vicinity of Karaschall on the north of the Gulf of Saros and the resumption of offensive both at the southern end of Gallipoli Peninsula and north of Gaba Tepec.

The Australians and New Zealanders recently have been strengthening their positions at Gaba Tepec. The new landing place on the Gulf of Saros, being on the flank and rear of the Bulair lines, if developed, would menace the strong Turkish defenses across the neck of the peninsula.

Coming at this time, when there is so much discussion as to whether Germany will attempt to crush Serbia preparatory to linking forces with Turkey by way of Bulgaria, these developments at the Dardanelles assume a special importance.

An yet there is no proof that the Germans have withdrawn or are preparing to withdraw any considerable proportion of their forces from the eastern front. On the contrary the offensive which led to the fall of Warsaw has not been relaxed and the position of the retiring Russians is still perilous.

Partial dismantling of Vilna, preparatory to evacuation, as reported from Petrograd, is something puzzling to British commentators, inasmuch as the Russians assert they have repulsed German attacks around the fortress of Kovno, which is sixty miles northwest of Vilna.

The Zepplines reported yesterday over Holland, flying in the direction of the Scottish coast, have not been heard from.

DISPUTE OVER OWNERSHIP OF COCOA IS FEATURE OF BANKRUPTCY CASE

A box of cocoa was the basis of a dispute in the bankruptcy court this afternoon during a hearing on the estate of George Geanaracos, who kept a fruit store in Pembroke street. The Hershey Chocolate Co. claims to own the cocoa on the ground that it was delivered to the bankrupt merchant who failed to pay for it.

Attorney Lawrence S. Finkelstone, trustee of the estate, also claims the cocoa in behalf of the other creditors. The box is worth $22. Referee Banks reserved decision as to ownership.

MISS CARTER TO WED.

Dr. and Mrs. George Carter announce the engagement of their youngest daughter, Isabelle Alma, to Rev. Edward Ellison of Merritt, North Carolina. The wedding will be held September 1 at the Messiah Baptist church in this city.

The Greek government denied that Greece had negotiated a $40,000,000 loan from Germany.

OVER MILLION OUNCES OF GOLD CARRIED BY N. Y. TREASURE TRAIN

New York, Aug. 11.-J. P. Morgan & Company announced that the shipment of gold they received today from London amounted to 1,050,000 ounces of United States gold coin. On the basis of $18,604 an ounce, the total value of the coin would be 19,534,200. The utmost secrecy marked the shipment of the gold from England to Halifax, its arrival there and shipment by rail to New York. The shipment was made in 700 boxes and these were loaded upon 25 motor trucks. A squad of mounted police rode behind the trucks from the station to the sub-treasury, a uniformed policeman rode behind the chief of each truck and four armed guards sat on top of the boxes on each truck.

WHITNEY AVENUE TO BE EXTENDED INTO NEW STREET

Stamford Contractor Purchases Large Tract of North End Property.

Extension of Whitney avenue, 500 feet, to meet a new street connecting with Main street, to be known as Hudson street, and the development of Hair's lot into a residential section, are part of the plans of Benjamin J. Harris, a Stamford contractor who has just purchased a large section of real estate on the east side of Main street, south of French street.

There are about 40 building lots in the tract. The land was owned by the New England Building Co., which recently underwent financial difficulties. Mr. Harris bought the property this week. He plans to sell it in individual building lots.

Mr. Harris is the contractor who built the Hotel Lorraine.

Three Tour System Begins Tomorrow In U. M. C. Factories

Beginning tomorrow morning the Remington-U. M. C. factories will inaugurate the "three-four-system" in at least one of its machine departments. This will mean a constant working tour in the factory, four hours a day. The shifts will be from 7 o'clock in the morning until 3 in the afternoon from 3 to 11 at night and from 11 to 7 o'clock next morning.

It is expected that the output of the factory will be greatly increased under this method, that the men will get more rest, and that there will be less wear and tear on the machinery.

As far as can be learned the U. M. C. will be the first factory to institute this system in Bridgeport though the Bullard and the country has announced that it proposes to adopt the system.

West End Licenses At Great Premium; Manufacturers Kick

Auburn street in the West End appears to be as much coveted as a location for saloons in East Bridgeport in the vicinity of the Remington-Arms plants or Johnson street in the old days when the liquor dealers fought as high as the supreme court to get into such a location.

The application of Andrew Egersey, the second in a few weeks, for Auburn street, is meeting with great opposition from West End manufacturers. A big remonstrance was filed this morning with the county commissioners against the application. It is claimed the location is unsuitable because the neighborhood is a manufacturing one.

Among those who signed the remonstrance are the Artistic Bronze Co., A. H. Nelson Machine Co., F. C. Sanford Manufacturing Co., Marsh Bros. Co., and Stephen Horan & Sons. The commissioners said they had not decided upon a date for a hearing. Egersey is located at 929 Maplewood avenue and wishes to move to 115 Auburn street.

The last man who tried to invade Auburn street was Gera Horvath. There was such strong opposition from neighboring manufacturers that the application was finally withdrawn.

OBITUARY

ELIZABETH C. DINEGAR. Elizabeth C., widow of George H. Dinegar, died this morning at her home, 245 French street. Mrs. Dinegar, who was 80 years of age, was one of the oldest residents of this city, having been born here.

JOHN A. STEVENS. John A. Stevens, of 317 Benham avenue, a well known resident of this city, died this morning at St. Vincent's hospital, at the age of 57 years. Mr. Stevens is survived by his widow, three daughters, Mrs. William Brinckerhoff and Miss Reta L. Stevens of this city and Mrs. William Short of Brooklyn; four sons, Harold C., John E., Howard A. and Fred I. Stevens, also by one brother, William Stevens, of Danbury.

REGINALD MEEK. Reginald Meek, of 199 Bruce avenue, died last night at his home at the age of 54 years. Mr. Meek was a silversmith by occupation and had been employed by the Whiting Silver Co. for the past 30 years. He was born in London, England, and had resided in this city for the past five years, having come here with the factory when it moved here. He is survived by a widow and five children, Mrs. A. M. Cogenau, Miss Florence L. Meek, Reginald M., Stewart and Franklin Meek. General sorrow was evinced throughout the factory today.

FELLED BY HEAVY TIMBER. Alexander MacBeth, 51 Sterling place, is in Bridgeport hospital with a probably fractured skull, the result of being struck by a heavy falling timber at the Arms Co. plant.

REMINGTON GUARD OFFICER COMMITS SUICIDE IN HARBOR

Body of Sergeant John Dwyer Found Floating Off Lighthouse Point.

The body of Sergeant John Dwyer, Co. A., First Artillery C. N. G., who was in command of the guards at the Remington Arms plants in this city for several weeks, was found floating in New Haven harbor yesterday. According to the medical examiner, there is no doubt that he committed suicide.

After leaving the Remington Arms plants, Sergeant Dwyer went to the militia camp at the East Haven rifle range. He disappeared from there last Thursday.

Blinded to the stations at the Belle Dock in New Haven the police found a note to his wife, telling her he was tired of life and he hoped she would meet her divorce. He was living with his wife in this city, as a letter from her found the body indicated she had written from the Bronx.

Dwyer went to Hartford Sunday to join the company before going to the camp at East Haven. During the stay at camp he appeared pre-occupied and morose, mingling little with the other members of the company. The note before her divorce, which was a letter from her found the body indicated she had written from the Bronx.

The body was discovered yesterday morning at 10:30 o'clock by Captain R. H. Page of the steamer Cynosurus, while on duty between Savin Rock and Lighthouse Point. Seeing that the man wore the uniform of the national guard, the captain notified Col. Goodman at the camp in East Haven and the latter identified Dwyer. A short time later the police found the note which he had left on Belle Dock. Near the note were medals which the dead man had won.

SOLDIERS' RETURN BRIGHTENS PARIS IN LATIN QUARTER

Artists At the Front Celebrate With Old Friends Their Homecoming.

Paris, Aug. 11.-In the "Latin Quarter" of Paris the return of some thousand of soldiers on leave of absence from the front has been like the daily flow of adjectives in a cemetery. From mournful desolation, the streets, the cafes, the restaurants have taken on new life. Little "midnight" and artists' models have crept down from their attic rooms in their improvised finery of Sundays and holidays, and proudly leaning on the arm of their student-soldiers sweethearts, parade the Luxembourg Gardens and the streets of Montparnasse in radiant joy for the first time in a year.

For here in the heart of the Latin Quarter, a great part of the population consisted of students in the various arts schools, in the ancient university of the Sorbonne, in the school of medicine, law, and engineering and in the colleges of France. With the outbreak of war it was if a great plague had swept over the Quarter. Almost no men were left.

Now all is alive again in the Quarter. Tables in front of the cafes stretch out to the very legal limit of the awning and beyond. In front of the cafes in the parks, but especially on the trams and trains bound countryward say party of artists in earth stained vestmentals and models in the bravest best celebrate the respite from fighting that the War Department has granted. There is something odd in the sight of a young soldier, a girl on his arm and a paint box instead of a knapsack slung on his back, off for day at the joyous work of creation, after so many months of the grim work of death.

On the opposite bank of the Seine, on the heights of Montmartre, the scene created by the temporary homecoming of so many of the country's soldiers is very different, although no less animated. Here, many of the "permissionnaires" as the soldiers are called, are seeking the company of their friends and family members. Some of the country people of the country, whose means have never permitted them to visit Paris seize the opportunity on their way back from the front to pass a day or two in the city. Sometimes their wives and family meet them in the capital, and together they make a pilgrimage to the points of interest in the ancient city. It is the hour for many people to see France first.

The churches seem to be the most frequented of historic spots visited by these soldiers on their vacations. Notre Dame, the Madeleine, the new building of the Sacred Heart of Jesus on the top of Montmartre overlooking not only Paris but the whole Seine valley, are crowded from early morning until darkness by long, shuffling lines of uniform sightseers. Especially is this true of the Church of the Sacred Heart so recently completed; that thousands of Parisians have not visited it, the new cathedral is a point of interest not only because of its rare, æsthetic beauty, but also because of the legend which is embodied in the legend: "Sacred Heart of Jesus, save France!" Before the fire of the candles, and the silent altar and the chancel and back in the shadows of the church's lofty pillars, all day long there are soldiers kneeling in prayer.

Richard Marsh, the English novelist, died at his home in London.

About 208,000 prisoners of war are employed in various occupations in Russia.

HOWLAND'S

Entrances in Main Street, Fairfield Avenue, and Cannon Street.

Bridgeport, Conn. The Weather:—Fair tonight, Thursday, Wednesday, Aug. 1, 1915. day partly cloudy.

Store closes at 5 daily except Saturdays

Young men too are learning how comfortable these airtight suits are--and price now is $6.50!

That price is as notable as the suits are cool and comfortable.

Don't believe anybody ever heard of it before for such suits.

Mohair with wiry strength and a lot of good looks; Palm Beach cloth in new Polo and regulation styles; Aero Weave in light grayish mixtures; Try either as antidote for heat.

Conservative men have known the worth of such suits for quite a while. But young fellows have fought shy of them; though they were "too old."

Nothing but snappiness and good looks and true comfort in these. Not a bit of "oldness."

Mohairs mostly in young-men's sizes; Palm Beach cloth in all sizes.

Thinking nothing of former price, we make them all $6.50.

Hammonds fall-- in price only.

Good stout hammocks of the regulation swinging type and made by Palmer who excels every other make. Made right here in Connecticut too; for Palmer factory is at Middletown.

Ease-giving, strong, tasteful. Have valance and head-rest, closely woven, generous size.

Were $1.25— 75c Were $1.75 and $2— $1.35 Were $2 and $3— $1.50

The few porch blinds still here are to be bought at just half of former price.

The Rainbow Trail by Zane Grey—$1.35

A story from Zane Grey is always worth reading. It is always of the West; always unusual; always full of action.

The Rainbow Trail is worthy of place alongside of the Riders of Purple Sage.

That, to folks who know Zane Grey, is sufficient recommendation. Folks who don't know, have a treat ahead in getting acquainted.

Just published—$1.35.

Motor coats are extra-well bought now

Every woman's motor coat of Summer weight and material is offered for choice at quite a saving.

Palm Beach cloth which never wrinkle and turns dust a-flying.

Pongee (silk) in natural hue and with much luster. Linen of natural color and various weights.

All of this-season's models are dthoroughly tailored; to be counted on for good service.

Have been $2 to $12.50— $1.25 to $7.50

Barker pure linen collars--60 1-2 doz.

Just one regular 2-for-25-cents collar is pure linen.

That one is the Barker. Because it is pure linen;—it is cool and smooth, it stays smooth; it wears well.

Barker collars are of latest style. They fit comfortably. We know no better at regular price.

But enough men do not know them. We want more friends for them. So—for a little while this is their price.

Madras and other fancy collars as well as the linen.
