STUDENTS PARADE TO BOWL YELLING FOR YALE PLAYERS

New Haven, Oct. 13.—Headed by Seth Low, 2d, captain of the varsity crew, and Capt. Milburn of the nine, over 2,000 Yale undergraduates marched to Yale Field in a body yesterday afternoon for the first open practice of the varsity football squad, and cheered practically through the entire drill.

The demonstration, which it is understood was originally started by Head Coach Guy Nickalls and Capt. Low of the crew, was the most spontaneous in years, and was the more remarkable in that it came after the defeat of Yale by Virginia and the playing of the team to a standstill by Lehigh. The cheering, cheers for each member of the team and for all of the coaches.

The aspect of the Yale crew swinging the varsity undergraduates into line for another major sport is a new one, interest in boating at Yale having been painfully in the six years of defeats until Nickalls took charge.

The undergraduates saw the team defeat the varsity by a score of 8 to 0. The cheer of the regulars was no game for congratulations, however, for the varsity came within an ace of stopping a touchdown against them, and management of the line was very sloppy as was the kicking. The coaches manifested it as "fab" at the conclusion of the game. More hard work will be necessary before the Spring term, according to Coach Nickalls.

Today was the first time that the game of Yale Field have been open to visitors, even undergraduates, for many years. It has been the rule all the while.

Capt. Nickalls, the head coach, addressed the varsity and freshman cheer squads to report for the parade, and the same orders were given to the staff and track crew.

HOME TOWN ADMIRERS OF CARRIGAN PRESENT HIM WITH LOVING CUP

MAYOR BRAUN OF LEWISTON, MAINE, CARRIGAN'S HOME, PRESENTING CUP TO CARRIGAN. DOROTHEA LANNIN OUT FIRST BALL. LEWIS SECOND, 2/3 THIRD INNING.

Bill Carrigan, who made a champion squad of the Boston Americans and who is now the center of attraction, was presented with a silver loving cup by admirers from his home town, Lewiston, Me. Mayor Braun of that city made the presentation in the presence of 40,000 fans, the greatest number that ever witnessed a championship baseball game. After the presentation Miss Dorothea Lannin, daughter of the owner of the Red Sox, threw out the ball that started the contest, which, according to the consensus of opinion, was one of the greatest pitchers' battles ever witnessed. In the accompanying photo Lewis, who made three of the Sox's hits and drove in the winning run, is seen being put out at the second station. This play was made in the third inning of the game.

WAGNER'S OWN COLUMN

Coach Guy Nickalls of the Yale crew is making a determined effort to arouse the fighting spirit of Yale undergraduates. It was he who urged the students to come to the support of the football team and he ordered every crew candidate to turn out for the parade of students to the Bowl yesterday, where the boys cheered the players during practice.

A few years ago interest in rowing at Yale was very slight owing to the many defeats inflicted by Harvard. But since Nickalls' coming things have changed. The English coach believes college spirit should be back of all college teams and his action in coming to the aid of the football squad will make him more popular than ever with the undergraduates.

Watson M. Washburn, the Brookline tennis star, won the championship of the West Side Tennis club in New York yesterday by beating Hugh Tallant in three straight sets in the finals.

Harvard has a veteran line man, Gilman, who so far has been kept out of the game because of weak ankles. Coach Haughton is probably waiting for him for the big games and his advent will greatly strengthen the defense.

Yale is making quite a list of undesirable teams and officials. The Lehigh team is to be barred from Yale field next season and last Saturday's officials are not wanted again.

The prize fighters and ball players are playing in tough luck these days. Billy Gibson, the New York promoter, has offered Jess Willard $50,000 for a ten round bout in New York to meet the winner of the Moran-Coffey battle. A few years ago Willard didn't know there was that much loose change in the world.

The ball players are never satisfied. The winners in the world's series will get almost $4,000 each but they waited on the National commission yesterday and demanded a share of the moving picture money. They are balking on giving $5 each to a fund for the trainers of each club. Although the players are always kicking about the meanness of magnates it is a fact that most players are also tightwads.

How would Chalmers and Shore have looked on the Giant pitching staff this season? Both were allowed to get away by Tom McGraw because he saw no possibilities in them.

Owner Lannin of the Red Sox and Ty Cobb had a dispute in Boston the other day. Cobb wanted to buy some seats for friends but Lannin wouldn't let Ty have them. He was angry about Cobb's criticism of the Red Sox in a newspaper story. "If I had my way I'd keep you out of the park," said Lannin.

CHALMERS' CLEVER PITCHING WASTED IN FOURTH GAME

Boston, Oct. 13.—Genuinely struggling against the superior batting and pitching of the Boston Red Sox the Phillies again went down to defeat at Braves Field yesterday afternoon by that same old score which haunts them day and night, 2 to 1. Occasional flashes of play showed that the Philadelphia club was trying desperately to even its world's series with their rivals, but two defeats and a third starting them in the face had its deadly effect, and the Phillies, who were so peppery in the first game last week, seemed dejected and broken in the answer to the mainstay of the pitching staff, Ernle Shore, was again holding the Phillies at bay, and by heady, blinding pitching in the pinches, refused to permit the Quakers to stage a rally.

The game was in spirit yesterday. There were dazzling plays, and Scieck played a part. The "breaks" went to Boston again. Fortune again smiled on the winner. Snappy, smashing batting against Moran's last best effort, Chalmers, brought victory to the Red Sox. While the home boys were merely crashing their way to the front, the mainstay of the pitching staff, Ernle Shore, was again holding the Phillies at bay, and by heady, blinding pitching in the pinches, refused to permit the Quakers to stage a rally.

George Chalmers has been saved to pitch this game because he is a cool customer under fire. He was fit for yesterday's ordeal, and to his credit it must be said that he did his part well. The defense his teammates put up to hide him was of high calibre, but the attack was again woefully weak. In spite of stick work on the part of the Phillies' best batsmen in the answer to the downfall of Pat Moran's men and the National league.

The Phillies were so thoroughly outclassed by the sprightly Red Sox that for eight innings it looked as if the Quakers were in for a humiliating whitewash. Then, with two men out in the eighth, Cravath, whose high leg has been a long time coming, smashed a bounce to centre field which hopped over Speaker's head and landed the heavy hitter at third base. Luderus came through with a single which drove Cravath home with the long run.

Duffy Lewis, the snappy left fielder from the West coast, was again the big figure in Boston's victory. He was the pitcher in the sixth inning, and in the field he covered ground as fast as a shadow, and at the bat he produced the longest hit of the series when he sent the ball against the left field wall in the sixth inning and sent Hobbs to home with Boston's second run. It was a slashing bang, and brought a big cloud of disappointment across the face of Pitcher George Chalmers and a darker one over the countenance of Pat Moran. Besides that two-bagger, Lewis had a sacrifice and a free pass. He is still the kingpin hitter of the series.

WINNER OF COFFEY MORAN GO TO BOX CHAMPION WILLARD

New York, Oct. 13.—The first act of Billy Gibson, the new manager of the Garden boxing shows was to open negotiations with the managers of Jess Willard regarding a meeting between the winner of next Tuesday's bout between Jim Coffey and Frank Moran and the champion.

Regardless of the numerous offers to have Willard box out of New York, Manager Gibson will make known his offer by the end of the week. Both Moran and Coffey are anxious for a meeting with Willard and it is expected the terms offered will be the winner of Tuesday night's battle will be accepted.

Opinion as to the winner of the Coffey-Moran affair among boxing fans is divided, but on account of the large following of the Dublin giant, the latter will likely enter the ring a slight favorite. Moran has every confidence of stopping Coffey and has little fear of Willard's big left hand.

The Pittsburgher is a much more seasoned fighter than Coffey, having had the experience of meeting far superior men in the ring last Coffey.

The crowd of spectators at the new Polo club every day to watch Coffey train have been so large that admission of 15 cents is being charged. More than 4,000 fans have paid to see the big follow work in the past ten days.

LEHIGH WILL NOT BE GIVEN GAME BY YALE NEXT SEASON

New Haven, Oct. 13.—It is taken for granted that Lehigh will not be found upon the Yale schedule next fall. The fact that it is possible that Gurney, Thompson and the rest may be able to play again this season, while Baldridge and Black are out of the game for two or three weeks, is regarded at Yale as evidence of the strenuous opposition which Yale underwent in Saturday's game. It is many years since five first string varsity players, all perfectly seasoned, went out of a football game off the Yale team with any such character of injuries.

There is every indication that the list of officials for the football games of the season at Yale will undergo some changes by the Central Board of officials because of the protest made by the Yale football management against the officiating in the Lehigh game. It has seemed to followers of football here as if the Central Board allowed nearly every official in the country to secure an assignment in one of the Yale games.

The list has included officials from nearly every University and Yale has overlooked many short-comings. Yale does not wish to return to the old system of selecting with the opposing eleven a list of officials for every game in advance, but, as the officials who are sent here are paid liberally for their trouble, Yale will insist hereafter on the best selections which the Central Board can make.

Last spring the Central Board assigned officials for all the Yale games of this fall. There is no fault found at Yale with the set assigned for the matches. Yale will play against Princeton and Harvard. This includes such top-notchers as Nathan Tift, Dave Pitts, Billy Morris and Joe Pendleton, and is regarded at Yale as without much possibility of improvement.

REM-ARMS WINNERS IN SINGER SERIES

The Remington-Arms team won the deciding game in the series with the Singers yesterday at Newfield park before a fair sized crowd. The score was 1 to 0 and the fans kept up their ingert until the finish. Southpaw Clampton was in fine form for the Singers and it was a shame that his speed effort should have been wasted because his team mates couldn't do any hitting.

Corkins, who generally catches for the Rem-Arms, turned himself into a pitcher for the day and held the Singers to two hits. Pura caught well for the Rem-Arms. In the ninth the Arms boys won the game. Sherwood doubled along the third base line and Pura sent him home with a single to center. The score:

EACH MEMBER OF WINNING CLUB TO RECEIVE $3,779.98

The paid attendance of the fourth and last game of the series between the Braves and the Athletics, played at Fenway Park on October 13, last year, was $4,365, and the receipts were $62,655.

The attendance at the first four games of the series between the Braves and the Athletics last year was $11,000, and the receipts were $226,739. Last year the players divided $121,899.16, whereas this year they will divide $144,899.55, or $23,000.39 more than last year.

In the first series between the Giants and the Athletics in 1913 the attendance for the first four games was 114,510, and the receipts were $250,925.56, of which the players shared in $135,264.19.

The attendance in 1912 in the series between the Giants and the Red Sox was 137,004, and the receipts were $273,282, of which the players received $148,173.28, the high-water mark for a World's Series. In 1911 the Giants and the Athletics played before 126,138 persons in the first four games, and the receipts were $256,861.50, of which the players' share was $127,910.61.

Yesterday's game was the last in which the players share in the receipts.

Of the players' share the winning team will receive 60 per cent, of $144,899.55, or $86,939.70, and the losing team will receive 40 per cent, or $57,959.82.

As twenty-three players of each team are eligible contestants in the series, the individual share will amount to $3,779.95 each.

To the losers will go $57,959.80, divided into twenty-three equal shares of $2,519.12 each.

GIANTS DEFEAT YANKS IN HARTFORD

Hartford, Oct. 13.—The postseason game between the Giants and the Yankees was played here yesterday afternoon and the Giants won by 6 to 5, in an exhibition that didn't particularly please Hartford fans, even though they were witnessing the play for the championship of the Polo grounds. Germany Schaefer, the baseball comedian, came with the Yanks, and he met with a cold reception, which only shows how hard it is to please some fans.

However, as far as baseball was concerned, Germany didn't help the Yanks a great deal. He was too busy trying to amuse the crowd of 1,200. But the Yanks didn't want to be amused and poor Germany didn't get onto that fact until the game was over.

For the Giants, Ralph Stroud was on the mound and Pol Perritt was in right field, which is a strange place for Pol. Fleh pitched for the Yanks and he was assisted by Wild Bill Donovan. Bill felt called upon to throw in the eighth inning. (As usual when Bill is overtake with one of those inclinations the Yankees may as well admit they are beaten. As becomes his name, Bill was wild and he forced in one run but Burns completed the disaster when he knocked a home run, the ball losing itself in the long grass.

HIGH SCHOOL FIELD DAY PROVES GREAT SUCCESS

The High school track meet at Seaside park yesterday was watched by a big crowd and proved a great success. In football the Juniors beat the Seniors by 12 to 0 and the morning Sophomores and Freshmen won from the afternoon Freshmen by 13 to 0.

In the track meet the morning pupils beat the afternoon department by 48 points to 29. Markie was the individual star, winning 13 out of 23 for the afternoon boys. The events:

HARVARD WORKING HARD TO IMPROVE DEFENSE FOR VIRGINIA CONTEST

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 13.—The Harvard football practice yesterday morning was so stiff that few of the players had energy left to stand the ball game in Boston. The day was the first on which the coaches have decided to drive the team to the limit to establish the physical endurance of the men and their ability to stand punishment.

The day had several interesting features. The first was the placing of Taylor at guard with Dadrnan. They Lyman was in the first line-up and Watson improved so much today that he was shifted with Wilcox, and now is the first-string quarter back again. King was not out. Rollins being in the regular backfield with Mahan and McKinley. Harvard is working hard to develop a better defense against Virginia than the team has put on all year. In the games so far Harvard, although always a winner, has been generally outclassed.

BETTING 3 TO 1 ON RED SOX TO TAKE THE SERIES

Philadelphia, Oct. 13.—Both the Philadelphia Nationals and the Boston Americans, contestants for the championship of the world, were given an enthusiastic reception upon their arrival here today from Boston. A thousand or more rooters, who had accompanied the teams to the Massachusetts capital, after the first two games of the world's series here last week, were in the same train, as were also several ticket speculators and many camp followers.

The faithful followers of the Phillies still were optimistic in spite of the defeats suffered by their favorites, while the Royal Rooters and other Boston fans were jubilant in anticipation of a victory today which would clinch the premier title.

The bleachers began to form in line around the park long before noon yesterday and by midnight more than a hundred persons were in line. They had brought all sorts of devices for warmth and comfort. Boxes, chairs and benches were brought to sleep on while one enterprising youngster had carried over a couch hammock set on an iron framework. With an overcoat and blankets to keep out the chill night air he was the envy of those less fortunate. By 10 o'clock when the bleacher gates were opened, thousands of men and boys were awaiting eagerly to gain front seats. The fact that Boston has won three of the four games played, did not appear to decrease the demand for tickets. Speculators as on the two previous days of play here demanded greatly advanced prices for what tickets they had.

There was very little Philadelphia money in sight here either on today's or the final result of the series. Some bets were placed, however, at odds of 3 to 1 that Boston would take the series and 5 to 4 even money that they would win today.

With the shifting of the scene of battle to the home grounds, Philadelphia fans looked to Grover Cleveland Alexander to head off the Boston and thus keep the Phillies in the running. Alexander, who appears to be the last hope of the national champions, says he is ready and anxious to go back in the box today and feels sure that with the brilliant offensive support his teammate have put up throughout the series he can deliver the game or at least will give the Phillies a fighting chance for the title.

George Foster, who had the Philadelphia batters virtually at his mercy here on Saturday and won the game by his own timely hitting, was looked upon as Manager Carrigan's most likely pitching selection.
