FRANK MORAN NEARER TO GETTING BOUT WITH WILLARD

Records of Big League Teams in Recent Campaign - Other Sport Notes

New York, Oct. 30.—The records made by the major league clubs in runs, hits, errors and men left on bases for the season just closed furnish data of interesting study. In the National league, the Philadelphia club which won the pennant, made next to the largest number of runs with the smallest total of hits. The Phillies also had fewer men left on bases than any other club and made next to the least number of errors. The Boston Braves were third in run making, seventh in hits, first in number of straddled runners and made less errors than any of their rivals. St. Louis made the greatest number of runs; Cincinnati led in hits, Chicago in errors and Boston in runners left.

Frank Moran, through his decisive defeat of Jim Coffey, has crowded a bit nearer to a bout with Jess Willard. That the title holder will agree to meet Moran in a ten round battle with or without decision is quite unlikely. Willard, by no stretch of imagination, can be termed a whirlwind fighter. In order to win on points or knockout inside ten rounds the conqueror of Johnson would have to travel at a

PRINCETON-HARVARD GAME FIRST OF YEAR IN WHICH THE "BIG FELLOWS" MEET

CAPT. MAHAN, HARVARD, SCENE AT GAME ON PRINCETON FIELD. CAPT. GLICK, PRINCETON.

Princeton and Harvard, scheduled to get together on the gridiron Nov. 6, have the best year's records of any of the teams formerly known as the "big fellows." Yale has been grouped into the mud by Virginia and Washington, and Jefferson, while Pittsburgh and Penn State have taken Pennsylvania's measure. Cornell's defeat of Harvard, 10 to 0, has smeared the crimson pennant, however, and Princeton has been scored upon. Lots of folks can't see another Brickley in Mahan, Harvard's captain, but he's a good enough halfback for any team in America this year. In Captain Glick of Princeton the orange and black has a first class man at running a team. The picture shows the two captains, also the scene of a football game on the Princeton field.

WAGNER'S OWN COLUMN

Nothing much can happen today to astonish football followers. Yale has already been beaten twice so a defeat in the Colgate game would not be startling. As Harvard's colors have also been lowered, the Crimson slate will not be clean if it does down the strong Penn State team. Princeton has been able to produce its usual high class football this year. Cornell has an easy game with Virginia Polytechnic. In fact it looks like an easy day for all the big colleges except Yale and Harvard.

From present indications the football championship will be claimed by Cornell and Princeton. The Ithacans should vanquish Michigan and Pennsylvania, which taken in connection with the victory over Harvard would give them the high rank. Many predict Princeton will beat both Harvard and Yale, thus putting the Tigers very much in the race for the title. Johnny Dundee and Joe Rivers have been matched to box ten rounds in Milwaukee November 8. Dundee is getting to be quite a drawing card since he outpointed Welsh. The poor, old drama is never safe. Here is Frank Moran, conqueror of Jim Coffey, getting ready to make his stage debut. He opens in Pittsburgh next Monday but we don't know how long he'll stay open. Harvard changed its mind about sending Capt. Eddie Mahan to Princeton to study the Tigers. The Penn State eleven looked so strong that the Crimson decided Capt. Mahan was needed at home. Jim Coffey is still running around in circles demanding a return match with Frank Moran. The latter, who is an obliging cuss, says he is willing to oblige Coffey for $10,000. Use all exits when going out. Watson M. Washburn, the Brooklyn tennis star who also holds the title of intercollegiate tennis champion was awarded the Beck prize of $300 in Columbia Law School yesterday. The prize was awarded for the best paper in a certain examination. The Colgate football eleven on its way to the Yale bowl today, stopped in Hartford last night. The team came by way of Pittsfield and paused there to give the natives an exhibition of signal practice. Trinity's stand in refusing to withdraw George Brickley from the football eleven because he played professional baseball, is to be commended. The officials say that so long as Brickley is a student in good standing he has a right to represent the college. That ruling is better than the hypocritical attitude of some institutions which wink at summer baseball playing by students so long as their guilt is not made public. There will be seats for 45,000 at the Army-Navy football game at the Penn State stadium. Head Coach Secretary John B. Foster of the New York Giants who is handling the tickets, have received more than double the number of applications he can fill.

DE PALMA SPEEDS AROUND TRACK AT 117 MILES AN HOUR

New York, Oct. 30.—The promise of the Sheepshead Bay Speedway representatives that the new two-mile track would show the greatest speed ever attained by a racing automobile was fulfilled yesterday when Ralph de Palma drove an English Sunbeam car one lap in 1 minute 2 4-10 seconds, an average of about 116 miles an hour. This is the fastest speed ever made on a track, and not only beats the car's own record of 107 miles an hour when driven by the famous French racing pilot Chassagne over the Brookland's track near London, England, but eclipses the best American record average of 111 miles, made by Barney Oldfield in a Christie racer at Chicago. Dario Resta, the head of the Peugeot racing crew, drove the record-breaking Sunbeam in Europe to five victories. That the Sunbeam will not be credited with this remarkable performance on the books of the Contest Board of the American Automobile Association is due to the fact that no official timer designated by that organization was on hand when the trial was made. Fire destroyed the pier of the Blue Funnel line of British steamships at Seattle, Wash., at a loss of $500,000. An investigation is being made. Farmer Want Ads. One Cent a Word

FRED WENCK NEW BOXING OFFICIAL FULL OF BUSINESS

New York, Oct. 30.—Fred A. Wenck, chairman of the State Athletic Commission, is a man of deeds, and the longer he serves the more he convinces the boxing enthusiasts that he means business. He took hold of affairs at Madison Square Garden on Tuesday night and prevented what might have been an awkward situation. Dundee guaranteed Ritchie $2,500, and when the amount of money in the house failed to come up to expectations he asked the champion to consent to a reduction of $500, which the latter naturally refused to do. Then Monday Dundee's manager, made a few statements, and wound up by saying that he would not allow Dundee to box. Wenck heard of this, however, and proceeded to the dressing room, where he gave forthwith his choice of allowing his man to go through with the match or having him suspended for indefinite period. That settled all discussion. Then there was a discussion over the weight of the men. Ritchie weighed in in the presence of the club inspector, but Wenck was not satisfied that all was well, and ordered the champion out of the ring and made him weigh in all over again. Likewise he attended to the weighing of Dundee as a precautionary measure. "There will be no cause for complaint by the fans at these big bouts if the commission can prevent it," said Wenck yesterday. "It is my intention to be present at all of them, if possible, and I will look after the welfare of the game to the best of my ability. I may make a few enemies, but one has to expect that."

PHILLIES MAGNATE TRYING TO SQUARE PAT MORAN'S CASE

New York, Oct. 30.—In an effort to square himself with Philadelphia fans, President William F. Baker of the National League champions is doing his best to make things appear in a more favorable light since the publication of the stories telling of differences between him and Manager Moran. His first move was to make the following statement: "There is no truth in the statement that there is any trouble between Manager Moran and myself. I told him last Wednesday I was ready to talk contract for one, two or three years, but he said he was tired and anxious to get home, and would see me in New York in about two weeks and fix up his contract and further added that there would be no trouble. Moran's salary for 1915 was a considerably larger amount than has been guessed at by those desiring to make trouble, and he earned a bonus that was paid out Wednesday. The above was said by Baker when he handed Moran a bonus on Wednesday, although at 8 o'clock Thursday morning, just as Moran was about to board a train for Ft. Worth, the latter said: "The Phillies haven't paid me a bonus or given me a single present for winning the pennant." This was 24 hours after Baker asserted that the bonus was handed him. Genuinely scared, Baker asked Pat for a conference, and the pennant winner agreed to meet him in two weeks.

YALE WON'T TRY TO USE PLAYERS HELD INELIGIBLE

New Haven, Oct. 30.—Yale will make no attempt to use at present in athletics its five players who were recently disqualified, according to a statement published by the University Athletic Association which will work with Harvard and Princeton to amend the present rules of the three colleges into a more satisfactory governing code. Included in last night's statement was the letter from Dean MacClenahan of Princeton urging Yale to reinstate the athletes, and a letter from Professor Corwin of Yale to Dean Briggs of Harvard, setting forth Yale's views. The Yale Athletic Association statement follows: "Yale's position in the matter is, as will be seen, that so long as Yale's own rule stands in its present form the five players cannot represent the university on its intercollegiate teams. Whether or not the Yale rule is regarded to summer baseball is fair or reasonable is another question, which it is hoped, will be discussed in the near future by Harvard, Princeton and Yale. Pending such discussion and pending possible future action the Yale University Athletic Association must live up to the spirit and the letter of its present rules. This is fully expressed in the letter from Professor Corwin to Dean Briggs of Harvard. Yale's attitude as therein set forth having also been communicated to Princeton. Eddie Burns, Sensational Backstop, 28 on Sunday. One of the biggest sensations of the past baseball season was the surprisingly good work of Eddie Burns, the Philly backstop. When Bill Killifer was injured the crowd who had longed for his return, seemed to be up against it for a player who could take Killifer's place behind the bat, and uphold the record of Alexander the great? Burns? Bah! Pish! Also, tush who was this Burns party anyway? They soon learned. Eddie jumped into the breach with both feet and a clever head and accurate throwing wing, and the Phils rambled right along the same as before, without showing a sign of the long expected wreck. That the Phils got away with a part of the rich world's series swag is due in no small measure to the ability of this same Edward J. Burns, and his little playmates would do something handsome for him tomorrow, when he will celebrate his twenty-eighth birthday. Eddie is a native son of the Golden West, having been born in San Francisco, on October 31, 1887. He is one of the several Californians who took part in the recent series, including his teammate, "Wooden Shoe" Cravath, and "Dutch" Leonard, Duffy Lewis and Harry Hooper of the Red Sox. Eddie's first baseball fame was gained at St. Mary's College, and in 1911 he broke into professional ranks with Sacramento. He wasn't considered good enough for the Coast League, and was turned over to Tacoma, in the Northwestern. He was a star in Tacoma, and was purchased by the St. Louis Cardinals toward the end of the season, but he did not look good enough on the 1912 training trip, and Montreal got him. His great work in the Canadian metropolis won for him another chance in the big show, and he was bought by the Phillies in the autumn of 1913. Montreal receiving $5,000 and three players. He had little chance to shine last year, as Killifer and Dooin were on the job, but this year Pat Moran let him work frequently, and he became the regular backstop when Killifer was put on the bum. A contract for a 12,000-ton steel steamship, to be completed in 1916, was placed with the American Shipbuilding Co., by the Franklin Steamship Co. A monument is to be erected to Peter Vallone, who lost his life after rescuing six girls from fire in the Union Paper Box Co. at Philadelphia.

TRINITY TO USE BRICKLEY DESPITE N. Y. U. PROTEST

Hartford, Oct. 30.—George Brickley, who for a time was famous because of the prowess of his brother, Charles, as a drop kicker on the Harvard eleven, and who overnight has grown into prominence through the objections raised to his presence on the Trinity football eleven by Williams College and New York University, will continue to represent the Blue and Gold on the gridiron this fall, Williams and New York University protesting to the contrary notwithstanding. This decision was reached by the advisory athletic council in the adjourned meeting held yesterday afternoon to pass upon the formal protest from New York University and a letter explaining the stand of Trinity in this case and the reasons, therefore, has been forwarded to Prof. T. F. Jones, chairman of the committee on student organization of New York University. At the same time the Trinity council takes a sharp dig at the "summer baseball" rule, which, it declares, is frequently evaded and also tends to hypocrisy among the students, because of the manner in which this evasion is winked at. The statement goes even further and says that after Trinity had declined to become a member of the Intercollegiate Athletic Association, and had given the above reasons for so declining, it was again solicited for membership and given to understand that they no longer all of the present members professed to keep the regulations, or seriously tried to do it, and that Trinity might join, reserving its entire freedom of conviction and action. To sum the whole matter up, Trinity stands by its present code of rules for eligibility in athletes, namely, that a student must be of good moral standing, attain the required percentage necessary in his studies, and not be under any disciplinary condition, and that as long as Brickley complies with these requirements, he will be allowed to represent Trinity on the football eleven. Only one condition goes with this, that Brickley shall wish to play, and they further assure New York University that he is under no obligation to play on the Trinity team financially or otherwise.

ENWRIGHT PLAYS WITH HARVARD IN PENN STATE GAME

Cambridge, Oct. 30.—The Harvard football team sent into today's Penn State game is expected by the coaches to show far better football than that which the "varsity" played against Cornell a week ago. The shift on the rushline, which has placed Taylor at guard instead of Cowen, and the fact that Enwright finally has returned to the field will make Harvard strong where it was weak last Saturday. The work of the past few days has also brought about a very general improvement not only in the individual play but in the team as a whole, and the outfit should look much better than against the Ithacans. The line today is without the service of the regular left tackle, Gilman Bigelow, being in his place. With Bigelow's 197 pounds the average weight of the line will be brought up to 185 pounds, and the eleven as a whole will average 178 pounds, this being considered unusual weight for the revised game. The team has done a lot of work on attack this week and the rushline for the past two days has shown a lot of speed and a concerted lift. Enwright has braced up the power of the backfield to no small degree. "Nothing doing" is the management's answer to the report that the Harvard men would be numbered in next week's Princeton's game.

JOHNNY POE, OLD PRINCETON STAR, IS KILLED IN BATTLE

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 30.—John Prentice Poe, Jr., a famous Princeton football player in the early '90's, was killed on Sept. 22, while fighting as a private in the British army along the northern boundary of France. Word to that effect was received from the London war bureau yesterday by relatives in this city. Poe was born in Baltimore 40 years ago. He won international fame as a captain in the Honduran army, when with a handful of men in a fort at San Fernando, he opened fire on a Nicaraguan gunboat, sending it scurrying away under the impression that the Hondurans had a big force at the fort. When last heard from Poe was a member of the "Black Watch" regiment.

REMAINS TACKLE HUMPHREY ELEVEN PICKING COLGATE TO DEFEAT YALE

New Haven, Oct. 30.—Yale today made an effort to pull itself from the football quicksand. Head Coach Hinkey's players have sunk deep into the quagmire and only the rash dare predict a rescue. The game with Colgate was played with the betting odds on the visitors, 5 to 3. This is the first time a minor college has come to Yale a betting favorite. Last week wagers were laid at even money that Washington & Jefferson would defeat the Elis, but every inch gained. The reason for this pleasing change in style of play may be traced to the fact the Pennsylvania men were not worked to death in practice during the past week. Captain Harris, who was not in the battle against Pittsburgh, will be back in the regular place in Penn's remaining games.

REMAINS TACKLE HUMPHREY ELEVEN

The Rem-Arms football eleven will have a severe test tomorrow when the Humphrey team of New Haven appears at Newfield park. The visitors have a strong aggregation and are confident of defeating the locals. A Remington cheering squad has been organized with several former college-men to act as leaders. There will be a preliminary at 2 o'clock between the Seaside and Housatonic. The lineup of the big game: Rem-Arms. Baker, Flanagan, Hayes, Spillane, L. E., Flanagan, Bennett, L. T., Rosenpenny, Proctor, McFarland, L. G., Drone, Plura, Center, Anderson, R. G., Richardson, Cusack, R. T., McCormick, Dunn, Friend, R. E., Silva, McCarthy, Bradford, Q. B., Reilly, Corkins, Jackson, Q. B., Seeley, Frelhet, L. H. B., Moshier, Pickett, R. H. B., O'Reilly, F. B.

MARKED IMPROVEMENT IN PENN'S PLAY OF LATE—CAPTAIN HARRIS IN EXCELLENT FORM

HARRIS OF PENN

Philadelphia, Oct. 29.—Penn's Football team, so often disappointing of late, lived up to reputation recently by holding the powerful Pittsburgh eleven, reputed to be the strongest gridiron combination of the east, to a score of 14 to 7. Beaten by Penn State and held to a tie by the comparatively weak Navy team, Penn was supposed to be in a wretched drubbing in the hands of Glenn Warner's new machine, but the old fighting spirit, that in years gone made the Pennsylvania warriors always to be feared, made its appearance in a most decided manner, and the Pittsburgh men had to battle for every inch gained. The reason for this pleasing change in style of play may be traced to the fact the Pennsylvania men were not worked to death in practice during the past week. Captain Harris, who was not in the battle against Pittsburgh, will be back in the regular place in Penn's remaining games.
