TOSSED 10 FEET SKYWARD, HACK DRIVER NOT HURT

Speeding Trolley Car Crashes Into Livery Vehicle in Dense Fog.

Out of one the densest fogs this vicinity has seen in many years, a Southport-bound trolley car and a hack owned by John Heaphy of 45 South avenue approached each other on the trolley tracks at Creekside avenue, Fairfield, yesterday afternoon.

The trolley car stopped after traveling many yards. Passengers ran to the assistance of Matthews and helped him to his feet. Despite his great fall and the shock, he was merely stunned and bruised.

DISPLACED SALOON CUSTOMER THROWS BRICK THROUGH PANE.

Because the wine clerk wanted to put a free "kick" on a glass of beer for Thomas H. Lynch, rather than supply a new glass demanded by the patron, Thomas H. Lynch, of Lynn, Mass., heaved a brick through the handsome plate glass window of the Lacroix & Anderson saloon at 660 Main street this afternoon.

STILL COUGHING AND NO RELIEF?

Why don't you try some other remedy? Frequent coughing increases the irritation of the bronchial tubes and often becomes chronic.

THE CYRUS PHARMACY Fairfield Avenue and Courtland Street

Mrs. Mohr Tells Jury Doctor Loved Her

asked me to let Charles go to Newport with the doctor. I refused. He told me the doctor did not intend to have anyone else going down. I decided not to let Charles go.

"At my home, a woman friend left me at 9:15 and I gave both the children a bath. I retired about 10:20 p. m. Some time in the night some one rapped on my door. I and two nurses who lived in the house responded. It was an officer. He said: 'Mrs. Mohr, I'm sorry to bring you this news, but the doctor was shot on his way to Newport.' I almost collapsed.

"I don't know what I did for 15 minutes—I was frantic." Mrs. Mohr then told of applying for the guardianship of the children and her husband's property, by advice of counsel, and of going with friends to the doctor's office.

"Florence," (the doctor's office girl) and George Rooks were in the office, the witness said. Miss Ormsby shrieked out, 'My God! Mrs. Mohr! I asked her what the matter was. She said, 'Let me out. Give me that key.' I told her to take the key alone.

"Mr. Wallace said to me," she went on, "No one will believe those niggers. I did not say such a thing, and it was Mr. Wallace, not I, who said that Miss Burger was a peach blonde. Mr. Wallace told me there were two men down his way who 'had it in' for the doctor because of blackmail at the time the doctor was treating their daughters."

"Did you tell Constable Wallace that you loved the doctor, that he was the father of your children and did Wallace say the doctor was a scoundrel?" Mrs. Mohr was sobbing as she replied. "Yes."

"Did you express yourself to him as bitter toward your husband?" "No, I expressed to him to help me keep Miss Burger from my husband."

PRIMA DONNA SINGS DUET WITH HERSELF ON EDISON MACHINE

Unusual Experiments Conducted at Casino Before Large Audience.

More than a thousand persons, comprising the musically educated population of Bridgeport and its suburbs, assembled at the Casino, last night, to witness a series of experiments, in which Miss Cheryl, the noted prima donna, demonstrated the accuracy with which musical tone is re-created, through the diamond disc phonograph, the most recent and most interesting invention of Thomas A. Edison.

Miss Miller sang solos with herself, her own voice and her recreated voice blending in a perfect harmony, if that can be called harmony, which is the union of two identical voices, marked by no distinguished difference, excepting an increase of volume. Miss Miller also sang a contra melody, executing a duet with herself, so to speak, in such lyrics as 'Bonnie Doonee' and 'My Ain Country'.

"The effect of this work was most pleasing, though accompanied by a slightly uncanny effect, as of one singing with an invisible self. Arthur L. Walsh, a well-known and talented violinist, long associated with Mr. Edison in his musical experiments, played solos and contra melodies with the machine, which used records made by several famous masters, including Carl Flesch, the Hungarian virtuoso, and Albert Spalding, the well known American violinist.

"It was impossible to distinguish Miss Miller's voice, from her recreated voice, as she sang in solo with the machine. It was impossible to tell when Miss Miller ceased singing, while the record continued, and impossible to tell at what point she resumed the music. The evening was opened with remarks by Lynn W. Wilson, who paid a brief tribute to Mr. Edison. Miss Miller, the singer of the evening, has appeared as a soloist with the Boston Handel and Haydn society, the New York Oratorio society, the Chicago choir, the Chicago Apollo club, Pittsburgh Mozart, the Boston Symphony, the New York Symphony, Chicago Symphony, Cincinnati Symphony, Minneapolis Symphony, St. Paul Symphony and Pittsburgh Symphony orchestras.

"The program follows: 'Oh, Rest in the Lord, Elijah,' Mendelssohn. 'Abide With Me,' Liddle. Miss Miller with the laboratory recreation of her voice. 'Ave Maria,' Schubert Wilhelm. 'Ave Maria,' Bach, Gounod. Mr. Walsh with records of solos by Carl Flesch, Albert Spalding and Marie Rappold. 'Ah, My Son, Le Prophete,' Mayerbeer. Miss Miller with laboratory recreation of her voice. 'The Two Larks,' Leschetizky. Re-creation of piano solo by Andre Benoit. 'Bonnie Doonee,' Burns. 'My Ain Country,' Hanna. Miss Miller with laboratory recreation of her voice. 'Meditation,' Thais, Massenet. Mr. Walsh with re-creation of solo by Albert Spalding. 'Old Folks at Home,' Foster. Miss Miller with laboratory recreation of her voice. The interest of the audience was shown in the sincere applause it gave to each selection.

Fairfield Holy Name Society Entertains

(Special to The Farmer.) Fairfield, Jan. 27.—Despite the unpleasantness of the weather, many members of the Holy Name society of St. Thomas' church, gathered last evening in the hall on Spring street, and held an excellent address by Rev. W. F. Blake and Major William Flynn. Major Flynn was the guest of the evening, and he gave an inspiring talk. He reminded the young men of that their organization stands for and told them of means that lay in their power to be a great force for good. Father Blake spoke briefly of his plans for work in Fairfield. An excellent entertainment and luncheon was provided by the society. Frederick Granville, Harry Anderson, William Thompson, Edward Thompson and Richard Dunne played and sang. John Mullins, president of the society, presided.

SOAP ON HAIR CAUSES DANDRUFF, SCALP GETS DRY, HAIR FALLS OUT.

Girls! Get a 25 cent bottle and try a "Danderine Hair Cleanse." After washing your hair with soap always apply a little Danderine to the scalp to invigorate the hair and prevent dryness. Better still, use soap as sparingly as possible, and instead have a little Danderine Hair Cleanse. Just moisten a cloth with Danderine and draw it carefully through your hair, taking one strand at a time. This will remove dust dirt and excessive oil. In a few moments you will be amazed, your hair will not only be clean, but it will be wavy fluffy and abundant, and possess an incomparable softness and lustre.

President Sends His Regrets To Members of Local 1856 Club

President Woodrow Wilson has sent his regrets to the members of the local 1856 club that he cannot be with them at their annual banquet tonight. The President, who is the youngest member of the club, was elected to honorary membership several years ago. He always receives an invitation to the annual banquet and each year sends a letter in reply. The club sent him an appropriate gift on the occasion of his wedding. Membership in this unique organization is limited to men born in 1856. It is expected that about 50 will attend the banquet this evening to be held in the private dining room in the Stratfield County Health Officer George E. Hill will be the speaker and guest at the affair. A number of features of a special nature have been arranged for the dinner. William K. Mollan, Robert N. Blakeslee and E. W. Fairchild comprise the committee of arrangements. The annual banquet of the club always holds a summer outing. The president of the organization is Robert N. Blakeslee, the vice-president, F. L. Chapman and the secretary and treasurer, George Zumstag.

Worrying Over His Ill-Health, Gabor Dies By Hanging

Worry over failure to regain his health after a long period of illness, John Gabor, age 50, of 1893 Pembroke street, an employe of the Bridgeport Brass Co., committed suicide by hanging himself to the bars of a cell at Lakeview home at 10 o'clock this morning. Gabor was taken to Lakeview home last evening, suffering from an attack of delirium tremens and he was locked in a padded cell. This morning he appeared rational and was moved to another cell. Here he ended his life by hanging himself to the cell bars by tying the bed sheets about his neck. He was found this morning by Dr. J. J. MacDonald who was making his morning investigation of the condition of the patients. Gabor is survived by a widow and seven children. He was the father of two well known amateur baseball players of this city. The Rev. J. J. MacDonald, minister of the Protestant Episcopal church, officiated at the funeral which was held at 10 o'clock this morning. The interment was in the Holy Sepulchre cemetery.

William H. Hull Weds Miss Kinsculla

Mr. William H. Hull of 99 West Liberty street, and Miss Mary M. Kinsculla were married this morning by Justice of the Peace Clarence E. Winthrop in the city hall. Immediately after the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Hull took the 10:11 o'clock train for New York, whence they will go to Springfield, Ohio, where Mr. Hull will take a position of importance with the Furnace & Co. The Misses Ethel and Edith Hull, sisters of the groom, were witnesses at the wedding this morning. Mrs. Hull had been with the Smith, Murray Co. She is a young woman of charming personality and many talents. The groom is well known in the dry goods business in Bridgeport, where he held offices of trust. With the Springfield, Ohio, firm he will be advertising agent. The marriage of the couple will be a surprise to their hundreds of friends. Mr. Hull's contract, however, called for his presence in Springfield, immediately. For this reason, no elaborate preparations were made for the wedding, and few knew of their intention.
