M'AULIFFE IS WINNER OVER YOUNG WALTZ

Meriden, June 7.—Sammy Waltz of Hartford and Young McAuliffe of Bridgeport met again in the ring here last night before the Lenox A. C., in an exciting and exciting a battle as has been staged in Connecticut, and when the bell rang for the close of the fifteenth round both men were on their feet. Twice in the fifteen rounds McAuliffe had Young slipping badly and appeared as if he might put over a knockout punch that would end the argument that has arisen over the right to claim the title of featherweight champion of Connecticut and one of those two times he sent Waltz to the floor with a stiff right hand punch and forced him to wait for the count.

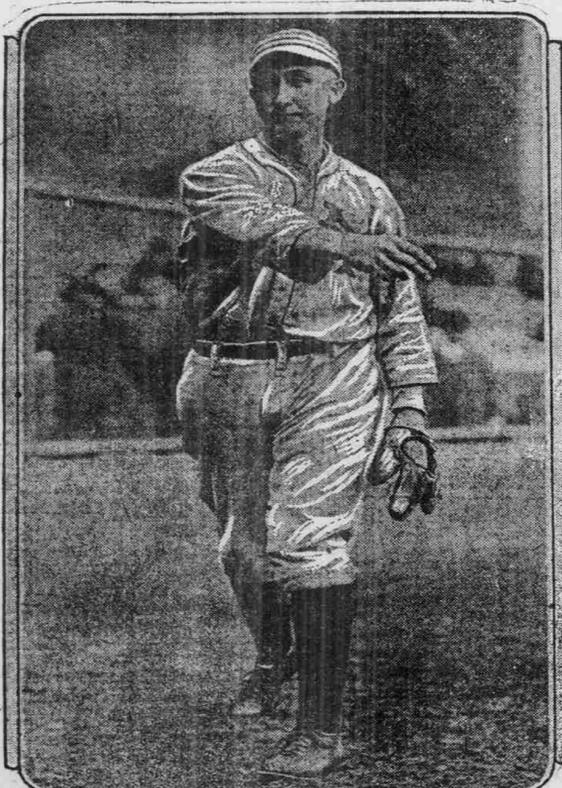

It was the opinion of impartial writers at the ringside that McAuliffe shaded Waltz. A big delegation from Bridgeport cheered McAuliffe while Waltz had many rosters from Hartford on hand.

Both men were under weight when the time came for weighing in, and both looked in fine condition when they stepped into the ring. However, it was plain that Waltz's recuperative powers were superior to those of McAuliffe's, for in the early rounds, particularly in the fourth and fifth, he took some solid punches that made him a bit wobbly, yet he quickly recovered and in the sixth had McAuliffe fighting for breathing space and a chance to duck that stiff right punch.

It was a give and take affair in many instances, McAuliffe landing the oftener. Many of McAuliffe's were knockers to the head, due to his greater reach, while Waltz played principally for a stiff right to the stomach and head, and an uppercut to the jaw at close range.

McAuliffe's style was much the same as when they met in New Haven the first time, while Waltz's style was somewhat different, the most noticeable being his ability to land that uppercut at close quarters, which he ripped home numerous times from the sixth to the twelfth round.

ANDERSON, FORMER FEDERAL LEAGUE PITCHER, NOW ONE OF M'GRAW'S BEST BETS

New York, June 7.—Manager Johnny McGraw says his team is positively going to win the pennant this year. In fact, he is so sure of it that he has made a number of bets with his friends on the outcome. McGraw is highly pleased over the showing of his pitchers, particularly Mathewson, the veteran, and Anderson, the former Federal leaguer. Anderson has twirled great ball all season and is counted one of the best pitchers in the parent baseball organization. Photo shows Anderson sending one over.

POLO GROUNDS STILL JINX FOR M'GRAW BOYS

New York, June 7.—Those unfortunate Giants played a good enough game at the Polo Grounds yesterday, but they didn't win. Pittsburgh won by 3 to 2. So the burning question naturally arises—What's the use of playing a good game if you can't win? The answer is, no use at all.

If the matter was put before a jury, it would bring in a verdict against Al Mamaux, the young Pirate pitcher, as being accessory before, during, and after the fact in the downfall of the Giants. Another young man whose behavior aroused suspicions that he was hand-in-glove with the guilty Mamaux was Joe Schultz, the Pirate third baseman.

This Schultz person is an out-and-out kill joy. In the ninth, when Fred Merkle dynamited a bullet-like grounder to third base which bade fair to tie the score, Schultz stuck his hand in the way and kept the terrific smash down to a measly single. Schultz wasn't sure that he had any hand left after he stopped the ball, but he had saved the game and appeared contented.

Harvard's varsity crews had no changes, Coach Herrick trying the men in the same order that they rowed Monday afternoon.

LES DARCY HAS SHOWN SKILL BY DEFEATING CROUSE

New York, June 7.—Les Darcy again proved that he is a real fighter by knocking out the rugged Pittsburgh middleweight, Buck Crouse, last Saturday at the Sydney Stadium. Crouse lasted only two rounds with the sensational Australian. While never a first class man, Crouse was called for several hours. He had boxed numerous affairs with Jack Dillon, the alleged giant killer, without taking the count, the most noticeable being his ability to land that uppercut at close quarters, which he ripped home numerous times from the sixth to the twelfth round.

TWO CHANGES IN YALE BOAT MADE BY COACH NICKALLS

New London, June 7.—Yale's varsity rowing squad had two shakings yesterday in A boat. Miner was shifted from No. 5 to No. 7, exchanging places with Sturtevant. In B crew, Rockefeller was seated at No. 4. Ghillini was taken from the substitute list and placed at No. 2, Harriman shifting from No. 2 to bow, and Newton being placed in the scrub boat.

Last evening Harriman was jumped from bow in B boat to the same position in A boat, exchanging positions with Hadley. The Ell A crew rowed a mile upstream against the tide and with light wind in five minutes yesterday afternoon.

Coach Guy Nickalls took an impromptu bath while attempting to shoo away a big buck deer that was swimming across the Thames river. Nickalls was in a pair-oar with Assistant Coach Abbott, and, losing his balance, fell overboard. It was a nip

WALNUTS BEAT LAURELS IN LIVELY CONTEST

Last Sunday at Seaside park before a very large crowd, the Laurel A. C. was easily defeated by the crack Walnut A. C. A bright feature of the game was the heady pitching of Moerbach for the Walnuts. Cunningham, the crack Industrial heaver, twirling for the Laurels, although touched for many hits, was not as weak as the score would indicate, the fault being mostly with his teammates, who failed to play as defensively as the Walnuts.

The crowd was so orderly that there is no doubt but Manager Burnes of the Walnuts will be successful in arranging games every Sunday.

Directors of the Hercules Powder Co. declared an extra dividend of 12 per cent. in addition to the regular quarterly dividend of 2 per cent.

WELSH ASKS TOO MUCH FOR TAKING ON BENNY LEONARD

New York, June 7.—Freddie Welsh's brazen demand in the way of a purse for a twenty round bout with Benny Leonard to a decision is so ridiculous that it is hard to see in it anything more than an effort to obtain a little advertising. Welsh has gone back so far that he realizes it is hopeless to expect anything like favorable comment on his prowess as he plays the game from the other end and goes out of his way to make himself a target for adverse criticism.

Welsh is well aware that even in these days of enormous guarantees no promoter would think of granting him the $50,000 he asks for his end. It is not even a fairly good match from the standpoint of competition. Leonard already outclassed Welsh from every angle and defeated him so badly that if the latter did not hold a title it would be a shame to match them over again.

Welsh's demand being so much out of line with the value of the attraction is virtually a confession that he would be defeated if he agreed to fight. It is an admission that he is champion in name only.

Is Alexander Losing Effectiveness In Box

Is Grover Cleveland Alexander losing his effectiveness? In the last three series the Phillies have played Aleck hard and they have been in attempting to subdue the enemy, and this has had a depressing effect on the remainder of the team.

The Robins knocked Alexander from the mound in one of the games in the recent series between the teams in the Quaker City, and the Giants also drove Moran's marvel from the hill in the afternoon game on Decoration Day. On Saturday Aleck managed to beat the Cardinals, but he gave them nine hits, and it was only wonderful fielding on the part of Stock, Whitted, Niehoff and Paakert that enabled him to pull out a victory.

How do YOU feel in the morning?

Lots of men would give a fortune for their old-time vigor in the morning—the vim a man needs in order to do his day's work easily and successfully.

Thousands of men have that much-prized vigor because they keep their stomach, liver and bowels in good working order with Lash's Bitters. They get the sound, refreshing sleep which is nature's restorer of strength and energy.

Lash's works with nature and strengthens as it cleanses. It corrects constipation, relieves biliousness, indigestion and headaches, and overcomes that tired feeling.

O'NEIL ALLOWS ELM CITY PROTEST AGAINST HARTFORD

Hartford, June 7.—According to the Eastern League standing this morning the Hartford baseball club has won a total of 10 games in 26 played. According to Dan O'Neil, vice president of the Eastern League, said Hartford team has won only nine games of 25 played, O'Neil having decided yesterday afternoon that the New Haven-Hartford game, played last Friday afternoon at the Wethersfield avenue grounds and won by Hartford, 2 to 1, will have to be played over. The game was protested by Manager Murphy of New Haven and the protest was upheld.

Manager Waters was handling the indicator during the game and, as everybody who watched that battle realized, he sure had his hands full. The question which he resisted in the protest and the action of Vice President and Secretary O'Neil came in the very first inning. With two out and a man on first and second, the New Haven batter walloped a whale of a hit in the center field.

The man who was occupying second before the bingle, immediately made tracks for home while the man who was on first, shot for third. Dugan played the ball for the man going to third and his throw was perfect, the runner being retired. Waters was right at the scene of the play, with his back turned to home plate. Waters was all at sea and in his distress, signalled for help to the official scorer, the same coming to his rescue with the decision that the run was not across the plate when the out was made.

O'Neil yesterday afternoon, could not reason out why the official scorer should be called into the fracas and gave out his ruling as follows: Inasmuch as Waters could not see the play, he could not make a real decision; that he had no authority for appealing to an outsider (the official scorer) for his opinion and that, if the run had counted, it would have resulted in a tie game. He, therefore, saw nothing more than to allow the protest and decided that the game be played over.

ODELL AND SMITH ARE RELEASED BY BRIDGEPORT

In order to get within the player limit the Bridgeport club let two men go this morning. Al Odell and Catcher Smith were the unlucky pair. The management was sorry to part with Odell, who has been a faithful man since his arrival here. The action was necessary, however, when Baker was secured for third base. Now that Crook has recovered there were three catchers on hand and one had to walk the plank. Smith is a promising youngster and should be able to get a job with some other club.

With the addition of Outfielder Manning, sent here by New London, Manager Ball intends to stand pat on the lineup if the men continue their present pace. Whalen has been steadily improving in batting and his fielding has been fine. Of course changes will be made in the pitching staff until the proper combination is found. House, the former Northwestern league hurler, will report Friday and another man also expected in a few days. Dick Coker ought to be here next week if his injured finger is in shape.

Marty Walsh has been suspended for his poor exhibition yesterday. The management did not like his action in yelling at a fan in the stand. It must be admitted, however, that the fan was at fault for trying to be funny at the expense of a player, who was having his own troubles at that moment. It is probable that Walsh will be traded.

Some fan who sat in the stand at Newfield, yesterday, was flirting with danger. After Walsh had been sent to the stable in the eighth, this fan loudly inquired "Who's pitching for Bridgeport?" and cast asparagus on Walsh's knowledge of the pitching art. Marty, who was not feeling very genial at the time, exchanged some spicy conversation with the fan. Empire Ennis took a hand and ordered Walsh from the field. He refused to go until the umpire had mentioned something about a $10 fine.

Verre made the best catch of the day when he twisted himself into a figure eight and got O'Connor's fly in the third. At the bat Verre looks hopeless for the Eastern league.

George Moshier qualified as a pinch hitter. He hit for Hoffman in the ninth and singled after one man had expired. But nobody could bring him in. Hoffman is bothered by southpaws although he managed to deliver a sacrifice fly which scored Curry in the first.

Pop Anson, one of the most famous and picturesque characters in baseball, will be at Poll's the latter part of this week. He will deliver a monologue in which he will give some inside facts about the national game. Later in the week Anson will write for The Farmer readers about some of his experiences as player and manager of the Chicago Cubs in the old days.

It is reported that Manager Tinker of the Cubs is again making efforts to get Johnny Evers from Boston. It is not likely that the Braves will let Evers go although Johnny has not yet struck his stride for Fallings' men.

The Giants must have forgot to carry the little black bag to the clubhouse yesterday. Perhaps the Pirates stole the value which is supposed to bring good luck to McGraw's men.

LOCALS LOSE ON BAD PITCHING AGAIN

(By Wagner.)

When a pitcher has a lead of 6 to 3 in the eighth inning it is not too much to hope that he will sail on to victory. At that stage of the game the enemy generally has as much chance as Prof. Moriarty against Sherlock Holmes in the movies. But such a wise man as Connie Mack once said, "Take nothing for granted in baseball."

So Marty Walsh blew up with a loud report at Newfield yesterday, and allowed Hartford to tie the score by means of two singles, a double and a pass. Mulrean, a twirler secured from Providence, was sent to the rescue with a man on second and one out. He prevented further scoring in that inning but yielded the winning tally in the tenth on two singles and a hit. During his brief stay, however, Mulrean looked like a good flogger.

Bridgeport played peppery ball and but for Walsh's poor exhibition would have won. Howie Baker worked his first game at third. He had a single, sacrifice and two passes in five times up. Baker also displayed his speed by stealing two bases. Curry showed surprising ability, too. Neal Ball came through with a triple and single. Red Whalen was full of life at shortstop and also belted two hits. Roger Salmon, who worked for Hartford, was unsteady in the early part of the game but did better in the last four innings. The score:
