Has Joined the Many Local
Indorsers of Lax-a-Tone.

I have received many indorsements in the past few days, said the Lax-a-Tone man at Hartigan's drug store, and all of them speak in the highest of terms for the great remedy, Lax-a-Tone. They are from your home people and I predict that Lax-a-Tone will be in every household in a short time. Mr. Rocco says: "I could eat and enjoy my meals. I awoke in the morning feeling refreshed and now I know what it is to have a good sound digestion and recommend this sterling remedy."

Need Good Man For Milk Inspector, Is Sophian's Opinion

Dr. Sophian said today the best men obtainable must be procured for the business of milk inspection. Prof. H. F. Judkins of Storrs endorsed Dr. Sophian in this.

Arrangements are under way for employing a man now working for the government. He has been recommended by Storrs Agricultural school. "We must have a purely practical man, who is also a college graduate. One good man can accomplish much good by visiting the dairies only once a month, while a poor man can spoil everything visiting them every day," said Dr. Sophian.

Sparks' Circus Parade Has Unusual Features

The Sparks' circus parade, which moved over an unusual route through the city's center from and to the East Side, where the tents have been pitched on Boston avenue, was witnessed by many persons along the highways today.

It was composed of the usual assortment of horses, animal cages, bands, riders, camels and elephants. Three notable novelties shown by the Sparks' circus street offering were clean-shaven attaches, exceptional calliope players, a standing clown who rode a donkey to the edification of manyurchins and a spirited tandem. Two baby elephants in the herd, which concluded the parade, were an added attraction.

It would appear from the street attractions today that the management purpose to please the public in their three ring show, which comes to Bridgeport for the first time.

CINCINNATI CRITICS SAY CHASE IS STILL PEER OF ALL FIRST SACKERS

Cincinnati, Aug. 4.—"Who said they never come back?" yelled a member of the Reds the other day after Prince Hal had pulled off a sensational play. "Just think it was only last year that a number of critics thought that Chase had about seen his last days as a first sacker," continued the speaker. "But now he has fooled them. Since he joined the Reds Chase has put up a wonderful game, in fact as good as he ever did. Not alone has he played a grand hitting game, but his batting has been heavy too. I don't believe there is a first baseman who compares with Chase," concluded the Redleg. Photo shows Chase at bat.

The man, Mr. Johnson said, tried to enter a shanty to telephone, but found it locked. He hunted a telephone and at last found one in a boiler of the National Storage Co. warehouse, later destroyed, and gave the alarm, after which he swam from Black Tom to another pier a mile distant.

MAN NOT WIFE'S REPRESENTATIVE UNDER THE LAW

That is the Ruling of the Supreme Court in Suit of Newman vs. Jennings.

That a husband is not a representative of his wife, in the meaning of the law, is the ruling of the supreme court in the suit of Robert H. Newman of this city against Charles H. Jennings of this city. This opinion sustains Judge Webb who decided in favor of Jennings when the suit was tried before him in the superior court.

The case was a dispute over the estate of Wakeman B. Meeker who died in this city in 1915. He inherited the property from his wife, Eliza H. Meeker, who died in 1901. According to the terms of her will the estate, in the event of Wakeman B. Meeker's death, was given to her two sons or their children or representatives.

One of the sons was Joseph Jennings who died, leaving a daughter Mae Jennings. She married Robert Newman. After her death Newman put in a claim for a share of the estate on the ground that he was her representative.

The court ruled that in legal parl-

The dissatisfaction is said to have arisen from the inconvenience of sleeping quarters in connection with the temporary isolation hospital at Hillside home. For the care of pa-
