SEELEY WINNER IN TOURNEY AT HIGHLAND CLUB

Meriden, Aug. 30.—At the annual fall tournament of the Connecticut Golf association held here yesterday at the Highland Country club, W. Parker Seeley of the Brooklawn Country club of Bridgeport won first prize for the best 36 hole gross score. His card for the day was 161. Second prize in the 36 gross event was won by R. L. Jackson, Highland club, of Meriden, 82-83-165, while third prize was won by E. Fredrick of Highland club, 83-82-170.

In the 36 hole net scores, first prize was won by H. H. Fellows, Highland, 83-11-17-22-144; second prize by L. Snow, Hartford, 83-86-1-24-150; and third, G. T. Hubbard, Highland, 92-85-137-24-153. R. D. Sanford of the Bantam River Golf club of Litchfield, won first prize for the best gross score on 18 holes, which he secured in the afternoon round with a net score of 81. First prize for the best net of 18 holes was won by W. B. Douglas, Highland, in the morning card of 42-48-88-16-72.

About 70 players, representing 29 clubs in the state, competed in the tournament. Of the eight prizes offered, six were won by the Highland Country club of Meriden captured five. The prizes were loving cups, which have been on exhibition at various club houses in the state during the past few months. Some of the prizes were smashed on the links just after dark and returned with an incomplete ticket. After the playing a dinner was served at the club house.

TIGERS TRIM YANKS TWICE, RELEGATING THEM TO 6TH RUNG

The roar of the Tiger was heard at the Polo Grounds yesterday. The last seen of the Yanks in the lead of their club house barricading the door. Not that they are afraid of the Jungle Cats. They are going after them again today, but they do desire a few moments' rest and quiet in which to get their second wind.

Jennings, Cobb & Co. took the first game by the count of 4 to 1. Even had the Yanks been able to add the runs that they made in both contests they still couldn't have won a game. It was not so much that they couldn't hit the ball. They made seven hits in each game and they scored by a triple and a couple of doubles, but they were not able to hammer the leather with runners on the bases.

The visitors had no such difficulty. They not only clouted the ball to all corners of the lot, but they made their hits count. They scored in the first and second innings, and in the second they scored in the first and second innings, and in the second they scored in the first and second innings.

Nick Cullip twirled the first contest against Harry Coveleskie, and the Detroit left hander had decidedly the better of the argument. As a matter of fact Cullip did not last through the contest, but was relieved by Slim Love after the enemy had made five runs in six innings. Love went along well enough for two frames and then the Tigers got to him for four more runs.

The invaders didn't lose any time in scoring. They counted in the very first inning on Vitti's triple and a sacrifice fly by Bush. They made two more in the fourth on singles by Cobb and Veach, a pass to Burns and a long drive to centre by Spencer. In the sixth they drove Cullip from the mound. Cobb almost knocked Nick's head off with a fierce single to centre, but he was caught stealing a moment later to the great delight of the 20,000 fans in the stands and bleachers.

A double by Veach, Crawford and Young and Spencer's single gave Detroit two more tallies. Love might have been more effective with a little better support. With three men on bases in the ninth inning and one out Veach tripled to right. He knocked as if hitting the hit. Veach himself scored on Crawford's sacrifice fly.

The real feature of the first game was a great catch by Hughie High, who, by pulling down a ball with one hand while on the dead run, probably robbed Cobb of a four-base hit to deep left centre.

DODGERS COMPLAIN OF SMOKE NUISANCE

New York, Aug. 30.—Charles H. Ebbets, Jr., secretary of the Brooklyn National League Baseball Club, and George Lupton, groundskeeper at Ebbets Field, were in Flatbush court yesterday to complain against the Hygeia Ice Company, which has a plant on Franklin avenue, opposite Ebbets Field.

Zach Wheat and the others playing the outfield at Ebbets Field, Mr. Ebbets said, had complained that smoke coming from chimneys of the ice plant, oftentimes mixed with cinders, made it difficult for them to judge fly balls driven into their territory. A summons will probably be issued to have the officials of the ice company in court some time before the Dodgers get home on September 12.

BEALS BECKER, NOW THE HITTING SENSATION OF THE AMERICAN ASSOCIATION

Kansas City, Aug. 29.—Beals Becker, who played with numerous major league clubs, but who now is with Kansas City in the American association, leads the circuit in batting with a .323 mark. Clemons of St. Paul and Chappelle of Columbus are right on his heels. Ray Demmitt, who at one time played with the Browns, is ahead in home runs with 10 and total bases with 184. Cozy Dolan, ex-Card, leads in runs with 63. Becker was with the Philadelphia Nationals last season and for a time was classed as one of the heaviest hitters. He fell way off in his batting and Manager Pat Moran handed him his release.

DODGERS' RALLY IN EIGHTH SUFFICIENT TO DEFEAT 'CARDS'

St. Louis, Aug. 30.—As the Dodgers came to bat for their half of the eighth inning of yesterday's game at Robinson Field the second victory of the day for Boston was posted upon the score board and evidently the thought of the Braves overtaking them had an inspiring effect, for they immediately smashed through the Cardinals for five runs, overcoming a two-run handicap, and finally winning by 7 to 4.

It might also be said that Charles Rigler, an umpire, aided the Easterners very much by giving a poor decision on a runner at the plate. The Dodgers probably would have won even had Stengel been called out on the play in question, but at that time it was the turning point of the contest. Leon Ames was pitching for the Cards during the beginning of this mad melee. "Red" having relieved "Mule" Watson in the sixth inning when the visitors became entirely too friendly with the "Mule's" delivery.

The Dodgers took a look at the score board and then started after them. Stengel, first up, slapped a mean bouncer to Corhan and was safe at first. Merkle drove a line single to right, Stengel stopping at second. Wheat shot a single to left and Becker's throw beat Stengel to the plate, but, much to the surprise of every one, Rigler decided "Casey" was safe. There was the usual kick registered, but, of course, to no avail.

At this juncture Williams relieved Ames. Cuthaw, first to face "Steamboat" bunted between the pitcher's box and third base, Williams getting the ball and making a high throw trying to force Merkle at third. The old Giant scored on the error, while Wheat reached third and Cuthaw scored. Meyers then scored this pair with a single to centre. Olson sacrificed, Williams to Snyder, Miller lifted to Wilson, but Smith did the unexpected and dropped a single in right-centre, Myers scoring. Mowrey forced Smith at second for the third out.

Stromboli Winner at Belmont Park

New York, Aug. 30.—Stromboli, the same winner that wears the colors of August Belmont, gladdened the hearts of those who were on hand yesterday at Belmont Park to welcome the return of maccie. Stromboli was a 7 to 5 favorite in the Belmont Park Autumn Handicap, a scamper over a mile and a furlong.

The breezy atmosphere made the good plodder feel like a runnin' fool, for he captured the stake in gallant fashion. Stromboli is probably one of the best backed horses in this neighborhood when he looks to have a chance. Yesterday was no different than previous occasions, and few were present that didn't have a little wager in the chestnut.

Stromboli was well ridden by Johnny McTaggart. The little lad kept his mount off the pace set by Capra until he started to round out in the back stretch. Stromboli moved up slowly, and when he sauntered into the home drive was a little to the good.

Coming down to the wire Stromboli shook off Capra and skipped to the wire an easy winner. Copra was just as easy second. Frizzle gathered in the short end of the purse and Short Grass toddled home last beaten off.

NAHMA BEATS TIME LIMIT AND RIVALS IN ST. RING RACE

Nahma had to beat 10 yachts, Fatherson Time and the clock to win the second of the series of races for the Manhasset Bay cup, which was sailed on the waters of the Sound yesterday. With just 35 minutes of time staring him in the face, Addison Hanan, who was at the tiller of the cup defender, squared away from the last mark of the 20 mile triangular course set for the race yesterday. He was then at Oa Neck and had to cross the Sound, a distance of three and one-half miles, in that time, or there would be "no races," after five hours of hard sailing.

The wind was none too strong. Nahma was behaving beautifully. He broke out his spinnaker, called on all the gods of the winds and waters to help him and set at his task. It seemed an impossible one to one crowd on the craft following the racers. Hanan has been taught there was no such word as fail. He proved to the crowd that it was not in his vocabulary, at least. When defeat seemed certain, he steered Nahma across the finishing line in triumph, with but one minute and 47 seconds leeway. Nahma finished triumphant at 6:08:13. Han at 6:10:01 they would have been no race, officially.

It was the greatest race Hanan ever sailed in his long career, even surpassing that wonderful exhibition of Monday, when he sent his crippled yacht across the line in third place and won undying fame among yachtsmen by so doing. He has the satisfaction of knowing that among yachtsmen he has won an important niche in their hall of fame. The second race of the Manhasset Bay cup series was the finest, and at the same time the narrowest, escape run being no race in the history of the struggles for its possession.

As Nahma and Ahmeez are now tied in points, today's race will presumably decide the possession of the much-coveted trophy for another year.

VICTOR IN FIGHT TONIGHT IN LINE FOR TITLE SCRAP

New York, Aug. 30.—If ever two young brawlers were intent upon one thing they are Johnny Dundee and Joe Welling. And the thing uppermost in the mind of each is to win by a knockout tonight in Madison Square Garden. Welling is the last stone in the path of Dundee for a decision match for the lightweight title.

Reversing the picture, Joe can arrive at the next to top round of the ladder in one leap by stopping Dundee. That Welling packs the K. O. wallop many opponents can testify. In Dundee's case it is something new and infrequent, but since he boasted of packing a new man killer, he stopped the only opponent to face him, Young O'Leary, in Boston.

Val Sentay, who won the middle light heavy and heavyweight amateur titles on the Pacific Coast in the last tournament, is here to show his wares in the pro class. He will box the semi-final against Jack West.

PIRATES BUY A PITCHER.
Pittsburgh, Aug. 30.—Richard Allen, a pitcher, has been purchased from the Jacksonville club of the South Atlantic league, by the Pittsburgh National league club.

PLAQUE UPSETS TIGER FOOTBALL TEAM SCHEDULE

Princeton, N. J., Aug. 30.—The indications now are that the football game scheduled between Princeton and Holy Cross at Princeton on September 20 will not be played here, owing to the epidemic of infantile paralysis in the State.

Whether the game scheduled here with North Carolina on October 7 will be played is not known as yet, but it would not be surprising if this game was also played away from here.

It was announced a few days ago that Princeton's opening football practice would start on September 12 at the grounds of the university here. Today the announcement was made that while the original date of practicing would remain the same, the practice would not be held here, but at a field to be located later on. This action was taken after a consultation with members of the local board of health.

The management of the football team announced this evening that it had not had time to locate a field for the football practice, but it was said this field will be within a reasonable distance of here. "Speedy" Rush, coach for the team, was here this afternoon. He remained but a short time and will return again in a couple of days.

RALLY WINS FOR WORCESTER OVER PARK CITY CREW

(Special to The Farmer)
Worcester, Aug. 30.—Werre, dropped by Bridgeport, had the pleasure of hitting a home run in the sixth on a two-bagger yesterday in the game between Bridgeport and Worcester, which the Boosters won, 9-2. Horkheimer did fast work at short and hit two safe ones. Flaherty caught a good game.

A batting rally in the sixth won for Worcester. Bridgeport made its two runs in the sixth, on four successive singles. The score:

ALEXANDER EARNS $1,000 BONUS FOR WINNING 25 GAMES

Chicago, Aug. 30.—Grover Alexander, star pitcher for the Philadelphia Nationals, is enriched $1,000 for having won his game against the Cubs here Monday. It was the twenty-fifth victory for Alexander this season, which gave him the bonus of $1,000 offered by the Phillies should he score 25 wins during 1915.

LARRY DOYLE SEES GIANTS NIP RALLY AND DEFEAT REDS

Cincinnati, Aug. 30.—The Giants beat Matty's Cincinnati Reds here yesterday afternoon by a score of 3 to 2. The Reds made a rally in the last two innings, but failed to overcome New York's lead.

Helnie Zimmerman did not report here yesterday, but telegraphed McGraw that he would be on hand for today's game, and that he was well satisfied to play baseball in his home town. Helnie is a resident of the Bronx.

HOLDERS RETAIN HONORS AT FOREST HILLS

Johnston and Griffin Allow McLoughlin and Dawson Only One Set.

With the national doubles champions—William M. Johnston and Clarence Griffin—successfully defending their title in a spectacular court battle against the challengers, Maurice E. McLoughlin and Ward Dawson, and with 60 pairs of the best tennis players of the country in action on a wide expanse of velvety green turf, the 36th annual, national lawn tennis championships got really under way yesterday at the West Side Tennis club at Forest Hills, L. I.

The rain and guests of wind which spoiled the opening on Monday were forced from memory by the clear sky and dry, fast courts which were ready for yesterday's play. The disappointment of the first day only tended to increase the interest in the blue ribbon tennis event of the year, and when the four youths from the Pacific coast took their places to begin the struggle for the national doubles honors there was a crowd of 8,000 spectators, which included most of the well known lovers of amateur sport hereabout, assembled in the stands.

Johnston and Griffin, the champions, won from McLoughlin and Dawson by the score of 4-6, 3-6, 6-7, 6-3. This was the feature event of the day, and enthusiasm ran high as the once peerless McLoughlin and his tall team mate, Dawson, tried in vain to wrest the title from the pair of champions, who played together with perfect harmony.

Courts a Vast Motion Picture.
But this wasn't the only attraction of the day of keen sport, for by any means. The crowd hurried from court to court to get a peek at other players who were fighting it out in the singles, and exactly 20 times as difficult to see all the matches as it is to see all that is going on at a three-ring circus. A view of the tournament from the upper tiers of the grand stand resembled a great motion picture. The effect was kaleidoscopic, as the scores of players moved back and forth between net and baseline.

There was a great throng around the court where the wily and wry little Japanese, Ichiya Kumagae, was having an easy time disposing of Danforth Gee, Jr., of Hoosick Falls. The Oriental is one of the picturesque figures in the big tournament, and he was the centre of admiration. Another player which attracted great attention was that between Karl Behr and Conrad B. Doyle of Washington. Behr was extended to five hard sets to win. On a nearby court, Willis E. Davis, the clay court champion from California, was defeating Joseph J. Armstrong of Philadelphia. The veteran, Fawcett, put out the other Japanese player, Hachibiro Mikami, in straight sets. There were dozens of players whose names are on the tip of the tongue of every tennis enthusiast, playing on one court or another, and the spectators promenaded from court to court to get a glimpse of as many of the matches as possible.

It would be a hard task to find a prettier place for the tournament than Forest Hills. There it is, set on the Long Island plains just like a little Spotless Town. The village, with its quaint-looking houses and red-roofed gables, looks for all the world like an old English hamlet. Hard by are the tennis courts hemmed in by beautiful shrubbery and trees.

Resplendent Touches of Color.
The big blue and yellow banners of the West Side Tennis Club flew from the flagpoles, and there were great splashes of color on the green-striped awnings of the clubhouse and the red-striped tops of the lampposts. The women folks were all resplendent in summer finery and the grand stand showed great patches of color from silken jackets and hats of many hues. Many of the younger women wore summer kowns which had all the goodness of Joseph's coat. The neckties and hat bands of many of the men added color to the scene, the husband of Secretary Edwin F. Torrey being in particular a gem of liveliness.

The courts were in wonderful condition after Monday's rain. They were as smooth and hard as the green baize tennis table—so attractive that one of the debutantes remarked that they were smooth enough to dance on.

All the onlookers had their favorites and there were many who were keeping a watchful eye on the little pinner from the East, Ichiya Kumagae. Since his defeat of Johnson, he looms up as a dark horse. Johnson, the present title holder; Geo. M. Church, the Princeton player; the ex-champions, Maurice E. McLoughlin and R. Norris Williams, 2d., all have their admirers who expect them to come through the week's play with flying colors.

Kumagae was almost mobbed by the photographers. Everywhere he turned he faced a battery of cameras. He stood the ordeal with fortitude, and wore a continual smile, emphasizing by his white teeth. Finally, the little Oriental was rescued by his many Japanese friends, who are attending the tournament in large numbers to give encouragement to the Oriental star.

One of the first to congratulate Kumagae after he had won his match was Miss Mollie Bursted, the women's national champion.

Applause Greets Contending Pairs.
It was nearly 4 o'clock when the champions, Johnston and Griffin, appeared on the courts, followed by McLoughlin and Dawson. A storm of applause greeted the quartet as they began to lob the ball at each other in practice. McLoughlin was the favorite of the four with the crowd, and his smile and shock of auburn hair have changed not a whit since his last appearance here. His work was watched with interest yesterday for the test of the match would show whether the California Comet still retained his former malvelous speed. The chubby Griffin and the lean, freckled, boyish Johnston and their opponents tapped the ball back and forth for a while and then the un-er, Eddie Conlin, took his place and the match began. The spectators followed the battle of their lives. When "Red Mac" had a chance for one of his cannon-ball smashes he would bound the ball high over the heads of his opponents. They were wise enough to keep the ball as close to the net as possible.

In the fourth game of the first set McLoughlin and Dawson engaged in a beautiful rally, the ball whizzing back and forth many times before Johnston, finally getting into the fray, drove it into the net and lost the game. For a time the challengers kept an even pace with the champions, but Dawson was wild, and his returns overdrove the mark.

When the crowd wasn't worked up to applaud the quiet of the courts was broken only by the sing-song tones of the umpire, calling out "Fifteen-love, fifteen-all," or "game for Johnston and Griffin."

The second set found the champions playing a game which had harmony and smoothness. The action had been swift and the spikes of the players were tearing up the velvety turf. In the eighth game of the second set one of Dawson's returns seemed to balance momentarily on the top of the net and then tumble over the wrong way. The play made everybody, including Dawson and McLoughlin, laugh.

Cheers for the Ex-Champion.
Enthusiasm over the match increased in the third set, when, for the first time, McLoughlin and Dawson won a slight advantage at two games to one. It was then that the friends and admirers of the Comet let themselves loose, and for the first time during the match cheers added to the din of the applause. It was in this set that McLoughlin made the first service ace of the match, when he at last got one of his cannon-ball drives which attracted great attention. The opposing player like a flash, Mac also caught a high lob from Griffin and slammed it so hard that it bounded over the canvas into the stand.

The biggest demonstration of the match came when the challengers took the set 4-6, 5-7 and all the spectators were on their feet to give McLoughlin and Dawson encouragement. Then came the intermission, and the badly cut turf was rolled out smoothly again. For a time the sun disappeared behind the slate-colored clouds and there was a touch of October coolness in the air. Then the sun came out again and the match was resumed.

TRAVERS WON'T PARTICIPATE IN GOLF CONTESTS

New York, Aug. 30.—With 155 entries, including every prominent player with the exception of Walter J. Travis and Jerome Dunstan Travers, the nation's amateur golf championship will get under way over two courses of the Merion Cricket club at Haverford, Penn., on Monday morning, Labor Day, at 8:30 a. m. At this hour, standard Eastern time, L. R. Munger of Dallas, Texas, will tee up his ball on the first tee of the east course, with Sherill Sherman of Yahnundals as his partner, and at the same fatal moment, one mile to the west, G. A. Ormiston of Oakmont will start his qualifying journey over the west course, accompanied by Chisholm Beach of Fox Hills.

All the metropolitan favorites, all the promising youngsters of the South, and each and every one of the formidable aggregation from the Middle West will be on hand at the Merion links to try to dethrone Bob Gardner from his high position as national amateur champion. Gardner's position is very insecure, for not only has he 154 separate and distinct individuals bent on depriving him of the title that he won last year at Detroit, but such a small thing as a cut finger is liable to put him hors de combat before he makes his official start or constructs his first line of interventions. However, he is scheduled to appear at the first tee of the east course at 9:30 a. m. in company with Hamilton Kerr of Greenwich, and, judging from his past performances on the links and on the athletic field, nothing short of an amputated leg will keep him from at least making a bid for the retention of his title.

STRIKE CAN'T STOP WELSH-WHITE "GO"

Colorado Springs, Col., Aug. 30.—An announcement was made yesterday afternoon by the management of the Colorado Springs Athletic club that the Welsh-White championship fight, scheduled for Labor Day, in this city, will be held regardless of railroad conditions.

The announcement was made because of reports that have been sent out that the fight would be postponed until after the settlement of the railway controversy.

BENGALS TO PLAY WATERBURY TEAM

Sunday afternoon the Bengal nine will travel to Waterbury, where they will play the fast East Sides of that place. The trip will be made in an auto bus, which will leave Park and Railroad avenues at 10 o'clock sharp. The following players please report: L. McNamara, A. Mathewson, H. Molsham, J. Reed, C. Steele, S. Mooney, R. Tierney, J. Cassidy, J. McCarten, D. Alford, J. Pistey, B. Mathison and S. Curran. The Bengals challenge the Glenwoods for a game Labor Day afternoon to be played at Seaside park.
