RED SOX NEARLY CLINCH FLAG BY BEATING YANKEES

Boston, Sept. 28.—The New York Yankees made a gallant fight to beat the world's champion Red Sox in their home coming here yesterday, but lost in the tenth inning by 3 runs to 2, after tying the score by a great rally in the ninth.

Shawkey play in the extra inning with three men on the bases and none out paved the way for the triumph of Carrigan's men, and placed them a game nearer to the American league pennant.

Long strike Shore, the pitcher who is expected to occupy the mound for the Red Sox in the opening game of the world's series, began the game for the home team and went along smoothly until the ninth. Going into the final inning it looked as if the visitors were hopelessly licked and many of the fans were on their way home.

Peck beat out a hit as a starter and went to second when Shore threw out Pipp. J. Franklin Baker smashed a single to left and Peck crossed the plate. Hendryx duplicated Baker's exploit. The "Home Run King" advanced to third when Hooper fumbled the ball. Mays replaced Shore at this stage of the proceedings.

On the squeeze play Gedeon bunted down the first base line and while Mays was throwing him out Baker crossed the plate with the tying run.

Urban Shocker, the young spitball pitcher, lost all control of the ball in the tenth inning and passed both Mays and Hendryx.

Shawkey was rushed out to take Shocker's place and to save his team from defeat. But Carrigan pulled the same stunt that emboldened the Yankees to tie the score in the ninth.

Hobbs bunted down the third base line and Baker had no chance to get McNally, who ran for Mays, at the plate.

West Point, N. Y., Sept. 28.—Followers of the army football team will have to be content with reading newspaper reports of the Cadets' opening gridiron game here next Saturday with Lebanon Valley, it was announced yesterday.

The public will not be permitted to witness the game, owing to the quarantine restrictions which are still in force as a precaution against infantile paralysis.

Automobiles have been held up at the entrances to the reservation, river boats have made no landings since early in August and passengers getting out of trains at the railroad stations are turned back unless supplied with a special business permit to go up the hill.

Not a mass of paralysis has developed here thus far and if the situation in nearby districts continues to improve restrictions against visitors to the post and football field will be removed in the near future.

Danbury Fair Races For Big Purse to Attract Big Crowds

The trotting, pacing and running races at the Danbury Fair, which opens its gates for the forty-eighth annual exhibition Oct. 2, next Monday, will have more horses in competition than ever before.

The purses total $4,000, and the entries reflect the great interest the horsemen have in pulling down a slice of this sum. There will be a number of star performers in each race.

In the colt race Wednesday afternoon five high-bred baby trotters will make their bow to the racing public. Ten decidedly fast pacers will face Starter Charles F. Pike, of Windsor, Vt., in the 2:08 pace Thursday, and an average of 90 horses, the pick of the stables, will be in the other light harness horse race each of the five days.

The track program starts Monday afternoon with motorcycle races, 20 of the speediest riders in the United States are entered.

CAPTAIN MILLER OF COLUMBIA GIVES PROMISE OF BEING STAR QUARTERBACK OF THE SEASON

Columbia's outlook for the 1916 football season is bright. The majority of last year's stars are back, and the recruits are a likely lot. Nearly every day two squads are at practice, and some of the scrimmages are in order.

Les Darcy won't leave Australia. IS LATEST REPORT

New York, Sept. 28.—Gambling on boxing matches is wide open in Australia and the fighters make more money betting than in purses, having an edge on the book makers through knowing the result in advance in many cases.

Faulkes' Manager Is Out With Claim of McAuliffe's Defeat

Pete Fitzgerald, who manages Buddy Faulkes, sends the following words of praise:

Dixon is putting on the finishing touches of his training at George Mulligan's gymnasium in Waterbury, and is almost on edge right now for his match with McAuliffe tomorrow night.

The Pequot football team will organize tonight and all members of last year's team are requested to be present at Pequotnook and Olive streets at 7:15 sharp.

HERZOG'S TRIPLE HELPS GIANTS TO GET 23RD VICTORY

New York, Sept. 28.—Most of the Giants were entirely satisfied to let their record-breaking run remain at twenty-two games yesterday, but not so with Charley Herzog. In the ninth, with the score 2 to 0 against the Princes of the Polo Grounds and in favor of the saint St. Louis Cardinals, Herzog pounded a three-bagger against the right field wall and pushed over the two runs which tied the score.

Most of the crowd had gone home, taking it for granted that the Giant conflagration was under control. Those who remained to see the glorious finale lapsed into spasms of hysterics which gave passage to the impressive that John McGraw had been elected president or something like that.

All this transpired in the tempestuous ninth inning then came the tenth, when the flaring Giants loaded up the bases with three hits and Bob Steele, the Cardinal pitcher, who had been holding the record-smashers in the palm of his hand, unfurled a wild pitch, and Helnie Zim dashed home with the hurrah tally which won the game for McGraw's lads, 3 to 2.

Up to the last of the ninth inning the Giants' chances looked as if they were worth a badly damaged nickel. Steele had given them, but four hits, and they were batting like a team of pitchers. On the other hand, as the teacher said after she had pounded one of Willie Jones's palms to a rosy hue, the Cardinals played as if they were charged with running a nickel.

Rube Benton came to the rescue and squelched the Cardinals' in their uncharitable drive. Rube gave way to a pinch-hitter and two innings were pitched by George Smith, the young Columbia collegian, who did his job well.

RODRIGUEZ SENT BY M'GRAW TO ROCHESTER CLUB

New York, Sept. 28.—The Giants have released three youngsters to the Rochester Internationals. They are Joe Rodriguez, first baseman; Joe Scheppner, third baseman, and Sandberg, catcher.

Rodriguez has been practicing at the Polo Grounds since he finished the season with New London, with which the Cuban scrobbler was easily the best first sacker of the Eastern league. Scheppner, with Troy-Reading, was the best man at his position in the New York State league. Sandberg, a local product, was a teammate of Scheppner. Rodriguez is to replace Walter Holke.

BASEBALL BITS

If the Giants had broken even on their last Western trip they would have won the pennant.

Cleveland fans are downcast. They expected a first division berth for Lee Fohl's Indians. They can blame weak pitching.

Barney Dreyfuss is said to be tired of baseball. He may sell the Pirates before the snow begins to fly. Dreyfuss has been in rather poor health for some time and cannot stand the worry.

John McGraw has presented the ball which the Giants won when they hung up the twenty-first victory on Monday to the Rev. T. E. Gilmartin, rector of the Church of the Blessed Sacrament. McGraw covered the ball with the signatures of the New York and St. Louis players. Father Gilmartin, whose parish includes the Hotel Ansonia, where many big league teams stop, will place the ball in the museum of the parochial school, to be inspected by future generations.

The Browns will wind up their season after three games with the Tigers. The Yankees, who were tied with the Browns last night, may finish in the first division if they win one game in Boston and two out of three from the Washingtons at the Polo Grounds next week.

It is generally believed that next year George Sisler of the St. Louis Browns will be the American League's star player. Sisler has made wonderful progress and is expected to rival Speaker, Cobb, Jackson and other big hitters a close rub in 1917.

The Phillies excel the Brooklyn at shortstop and third base. Bancroft and Stock excel Olson and Mowrey by a wide margin.

LIGHTNING SHOTS AT SPORTING TARGETS

Yale Pays Two Coaches

In addition to having a hard time downing its rivals on the football field Yale is the victim of bad luck with the coaching problem. After last year's disastrous campaign it was decided to let Frank Hinkey pass out. But there a complication right at this point. Hinkey had a contract which had not expired. Tad Jones was engaged as Hinkey's successor at a big salary so while he is receiving pay for directing Yale's fortunes on the gridiron, Hinkey is also under salary. He reported at the start of the season in order to keep the terms of his contract. It is said the document expires at the close of this season.

Big Series Today

There is lots of baseball talk in New York and its suburbs today. Brooklyn meets the Phillies in the first of the three game series and the Giants are planning to use Alexander in the first and third games for if they can capture two out of three Moran's men will have a bright chance for the pennant. At the Polo Grounds the Braves clash go to the mat with the Giants. McGraw hopes to get four of the five games, thereby giving him an opportunity to take third place from the Stallings clan.

The war correspondents at New Haven are very careless about the way they send out the list of wounded. Yesterday the news from Yale bowl was to the effect that Harry LeGore was hurt and would not be able to play next Saturday. In today's bulletin LeGore is mentioned as the hero of yesterday's practice. Theatrical press agents can no longer claim the gold medal for plain and fancy lies.

DAUBERT GAINING ON RIVALS SEEKING HONORS IN HITTING

The outstanding feature of the race for the batting supremacy in the National league yesterday was that Jake Daubert moved up to second place. As the result of Tuesday's work he passed his teammates, the Cardinal slugger, who had been leading the Tigers over the Indians playing yesterday, and the figures on Tris Speaker and Ty Cobb remained the same.

Here is how the four National league leaders stand:

Table with 4 columns: Player Name, At Bat, Hits, Ave. Chas. ... 528 275 .324 Daubert ... 458 146 .319 Wheat ... 548 174 .317 Hornsby ... 489 152 .311

ENRIGHT, CRACK HARVARD PLAYER, BACK IN COLLEGE

Cambridge, Sept. 28.—Tom Enright of Fall River, one of the promising backfield men of last year's Harvard football team, who was dropped from college just before the Yale game because of scholarship difficulties, was readmitted yesterday after passing his examinations.

Although at present he is ineligible to play on the varsity team, Enright will get into condition by practicing with the squad and coaching the second team until November 2, when he will have a chance to remove his conditions at the hour examinations. If he passes these he will be eligible to play in the real big games of the year.

Last week Billy Boles, who was dropped at the same time as Enright was readmitted. He is practicing daily and will be in good condition to play with the varsity as soon as he removes his conditions. If Enright and Boles get back in the game the Crimson eleven will be materially strengthened. Both are fast players and vital parts of the great Houghton machine of 1915.

The Crimson squad had a long scrimmage yesterday. It lasted nearly two hours without a let up. The varsity beat the scrubs, scoring three touchdowns. One of these was on a sixty yard run by Flower, who intercepted a forward pass near the goal line.

FOURNIER STILL A BOY.

White Sox Infielder Is Great Slugger. Other New Sporting Goings.

Although Jacques Fournier, the White Sox first baseman, has displayed this season a considerable falling off in his slugging proclivities, he has plenty of time to "beat back" for he is only twenty-four today. The big Frenchman was born in the Michigan village of Au Sable on Sept. 28, 1892. It was while a high school student in Tacoma that Fournier first began to attract attention as a ball player, and he was only fifteen, but big for his years, when he landed a professional job with Aberdeen, Wash. He finished the 1908 season in a Seattle uniform, and was sold to the Portland club of the Pacific Coast League for the 1909 season. Jacques played behind the bat in August, he was sent back to Aberdeen, where he had started. In 1911 he returned to the Northwestern League with Vancouver, remaining until June, when he was turned over to Moose Jaw, in the Western Canada circuit.

Up to his arrival in Moose Jaw, Jacques had always played behind the bat, with occasional outfield duty. In the Saskatchewan he was tried out on the initial bag, and got away with it in fine style. What was more important, he began to bang the pellet all over the lot, and hung up a batting average for the season of .317, standing second in the league. Fournier's good work helped Moose Jaw grab the gonfalon, and the young phenom was drafted by the Red Sox. He reported to Stahl's outfit in 1912, but was soon turned over to the White Sox. The sudden transfer from Moose Jaw to Chicago gave the Frenchman an attack of stage fright, and after taking part in a few games, in which his batting was poor, Callahan sent him to Montreal for further experience. He batted .309 for the Royals, and was recalled by Chicago in 1913. The following year Jacques recovered his old Moose Jaw batting eye, and fell on the American league twirlers for an average of .311, which he fattened last year to .322. This season Fournier has been in a batting slump, comparatively speaking, to the great grief of his employer, the venerable Mr. Comiskey.

Bob Moha got only forty bones for whipping Joe Cox in New York, while Big Joe got $500. A real fighter like Moha doesn't stand much of a chance in these days, when boxing is conducted along strictly business lines.

Charley White and Ad Wolgast agree that boxing referees are just what Boston fans say National League umpires are, only more so.

George Chaney says that the sensation of being knocked out is not painful. All present American League take his word for it will please say "Aye."

The ayes have it, unanimous.

A number of southern cities have already issued invitations to big league clubs to pitch their training camps in 'em next spring. A Florida community has also signified its willingness to let the Athletics train there.

Don't need a calendar to know that Autumn is on the job. Hugh Fullerton and Walter Camp are at it again.
