One hundred car loads of railroad material arrived at the Dalles, Friday evening of week before last.

Robt. J. Margh, editor of the Dalles Times, was married last week to Miss Marie E. Smith of Salem.

Thayer has appointed Mr. Emanuel Meyer, of Salem, Brigadier-General of the Brigade of Oregon Militia, vice Mart V. Brown, deceased.

Governor Thayer has appointed Mr. Sol Ripinsky, of Salem, a member of his staff with the rank of lieutenant-colonel.

A Puget Sound Iron company is about to erect rolling mills, the exact locality being as yet undetermined, but will be some where on the Pacific coast.

The New Northwest gives an account of a hideous monster in the form of a man who brutally beats his wife. His case should be attended to by some one who can administer to him something of a like nature.

Mr. Peter Stenger's house at Harney valley was burned to the ground with all its contents on the 10th inst. Five hundred dollars of Uncle Sam's promises to pay, and $400 in coin were in the house, loss $3,000.

On Saturday last a young man named William N. Babcock while walking through the timber near Mount Vernon, W. T., was struck on the head by the falling limb of a tree and was so severely injured that he died two hours after.

The Burlington Hawkeye thinks there is no use worrying about the tendency of cigarette smoking to destroy the boys lives, because the boy who smokes cigarettes will generally be improved by killing.

The walls of the new insane asylum, says the Statesman, are rapidly assuming shape and proportion. The entire structure, will be under roof by the first of January if no untoward circumstances intervene.

The O. R. & N. Co. estimate that they are making preparations to move about 75,000 bushels of wheat from this section of the country this season. This is an increase of 35 per cent. over last year.—Dayton Chronicle.

It is reported that the O. R. & N. Co. will take up the foreign made iron on their track along the Columbia river, replace it with American iron, and then transfer the road to the N. P. R. R., in order to obtain the land grant to be owned by the latter.—Dalles Times.

The Salem Mills company propose building a new mill this summer on the bank of the Willamette at Salem, with a capacity to grind 600 barrels of flour per day. Mr. Hurst of the company, (formerly of this city) will go East to purchase the most improved machinery.

On his last trip George Washington, mail carrier between Dallas and Alsea, was stopped on the mountains this side of Alsea by a ruffian, who jumped in front of his horse with a club. George jerked out his revolver and the would-be robber suddenly disappeared. There was considerable valuable mail matter in his charge.

We learn from passengers on the down train last week that a little boy was accidentally killed at Latham station, near Cottage Grove, Lane county, on Monday afternoon. It seems that the little fellow was standing on the platform, and, with a stick in his hand, was striking the cars of a passing freight train. Through inattention, he struck with the stick between two cars, and meeting with so resistance to his stick, he lost his balance, and fell across the track. The wheels of the remaining car passed over his breast, nearly severing his body in two. His name was Martin, and he was about nine years of age.—Statesman.

OLD SOL, BLAZE ON! Blaze on, Old Sol, blaze on! With all your pent-up heat—Blaze on! Although I'm cooked from head to feet, Although I'm soaked from feet to head, Although my nose is blistered red, Although I've wished that I were dead, Never you mind, Blaze on!

Blaze on, Old Sol, blaze on! With all your piercing rays—Blaze on! You have my blessing on your blaze, 'Tis true, I'm ever shouting "blaze!" 'Tis true, I've sworn the hot air blue! 'Tis true, a sunstroke comes due; But don't let that unsettle you! Never you mind, Blaze on!

GENERAL NEWS. There are twenty-eight railroad stations between the Dalles and Dayton.

Twenty two hundred tons of freight were handled at the wharf boat at the Dalles on Saturday and Sunday in 38 hours.

One hundred car loads of railroad material arrived at the Dalles, Friday evening of week before last.

There is a girl living near Colfax, W. T., Miss A. J. Welch, 21 years old, who is only 31 inches high. The steamer R. R. Thompson and the barge Atlas brought from The Dalles to the Cascades on Monday 900 tons of wheat. Col. R. A. Habersham, of the U. S. engineering corps, has just completed the survey of a route for a canal north from the Columbia river to Shoalwater bay. It is among the probabilities of the future that such a canal may be built. Prof. Condon says he has examined the sample of millstone sent to Eugene from the recently discovered quarry in Linn County, and finds it to be of good quality. He has not been informed as to whether the quarry will be worked.

Last week M. Radford, living near Cottage Grove, while entering his barn containing a vicious horse, was severely kicked by the animal, having several ribs broken and other injuries inflicted. Fortunately, his hurts, although painful, are not of a dangerous character. While out hunting cows one day last week Miss Annie Savage, daughter of James Savage, of Rogue River, says the Jacksonville Sentinel, shot and killed a panther measuring eight feet in length. She was accompanied by her sister and a couple of dogs. Mrs. Emily Taylor of The Dalles was placed in the insane asylum in East Portland early in the week. She is 54 years of age and is the mother of eleven children, the youngest of whom is 15 years old. About six months ago she was troubled with paralysis and has become completely demented, having no lucid intervals.

A new silver mine has lately been discovered on the north Fork of the Santiam. The ledge is 12 feet in width, and some of the rock has been assayed by Prof. Seem, of Portland, and yielded at the rate of $46 per ton. It is proposed to extract a sufficient quantity of the ore to obtain a certain test of its value.

Gen. Nelson A. Miles, accompanied by Gen. G. B. Dandy and Lieut. O. F. Long, aide-de-camp, is now inspecting the principal posts in Eastern Washington and Idaho territories. There are rumors of changes to follow, of concentration and abandonment of posts, for the more economical administration of affairs in the department.

Last week a new barn belonging to Mr. W. J. McMeekin, about a mile and a half north of Harriburg was burned down, together with its contents, straw hay put up for cow feed, a mowing machine, and about 30 rods of fence. Cause of fire supposed to be matches lost from the pockets of some one of a thrashing crew who had slept in the barn a few nights before.

A man named Geo. Martin employed on the farm of Henry Buxton near Forest Grove, met with a fatal accident on Wednesday last. The team attached to a reaper ran away as he was attempting to mount one of them and he was thrown to the ground and the driving wheel of the machine passed over him, inflicting injuries from which he died in two hours. He hailed from Green county, N. Y., and had been in this state since July 12th.

While a train on the O. & C. R. R. was switching a couple of platform cars on the side track at Comstock Mills on Tuesday last week a four-year-old son of one of the employes in the mills named Martin jumped from the mill platform upon one of the slowly moving cars and missing his footing fell between the wheels. The cars were almost stopped and the wheel ran upon the body of the unfortunate little fellow and then stood still.

Some fifteen years ago Mr. Lee having some trouble with one of his ears placed some cotton there, as people often do and supposed he had afterwards removed it all. Ever since about that time he has been troubled with his hearing in that ear. On Sunday Dr. J. R. Smith made an examination of the ear, removing from it a part of the wax of cotton placed there fifteen years before. Mr. Lee's hearing is now completely restored.—Vancouver Independent.

Several cases of smallpox are existing at Astoria, as well as many more at Seattle, have created some alarm in those towns which are taking measures to prevent its spread. In view of the existence of the disease on the coast it would be well for our people to prepare for stamping it out at once should a case appear in this city. Our laws are sufficient and will be strictly enforced by the council in case the disease appears.—Vancouver Independent.

The town of Yale, B. C., situated on Fraser river, about ninety miles above New Westminster, was almost totally destroyed by fire on the 18th inst. The ruin is most complete. Heavy stocks and fine buildings have been swept away. The loss is variously estimated at from $300,000 to $400,000. Oppenheimer's, the only "fire-proof" building in the town, disappeared like a house built of cards. It did not stay the progress of destruction a single moment. The fire crossed the street at an early stage and destroyed the buildings on both sides of the street, together with the goods that had been saved from buildings on the other side of the street. All the best buildings, except the church and the Hudson Bay Co.'s store and warehouse, and the railway buildings, are gone. Only one hotel is left standing. The railway contractor's property was out of the track of the fire, and they lost nothing practically. The town is wiped out, three fourths in value and number having been burned.

SHOT FOR FUN. From a private letter to a gentleman in Portland from a friend in San Francisco we are allowed to make the following extracts: "My brother says he has no desire to return to New Mexico to remain; that it is the most God forsaken country he ever saw and awfully unsafe. During his stay there he saw several persons shot without provocation. One of them was a druggist from Portland, Or., named A. H. Kallenberg; whom he attended after he was shot and whose burial services he performed on the 4th of May last. He was shot by a cow boy who did it for fun." Mr. Kallenberg will be remembered by many here having been in the employ of Mr. Charles Woodward, when his place of business was on Front street. He married a daughter of Captain Smart, a prominent citizen of Portland at that time. New Mexico cannot be very inviting for immigration according to the above statement.—Standard.

The Secretary of the Treasury has sent to the bankers' convention a statement of his refunding operations, which, though containing nothing absolutely new, is a very succinct and business-like account of a remarkable financial experiment. The points which will chiefly interest the general public are these: On the 6 per cent. bonds extended at the reduced rate of 3 1/2 per cent. there will be an annual saving in interest of $4,451,378; on the 5 per cent. bonds, assuming that four hundred millions will be continued, the saving in the annual interest charge will be about six millions. By Oct. 1, when these operations will be completed, there will be paid of sixes and fives some ninety-three and a half millions, making an additional annual saving in interest of $5,918,761, thus showing a total reduction in seven months—between March 1 and Oct. 1—of $15,370,095 in the annual interest charge of the public debt. That is to say, the annual charge, which was $76,345,937 at the beginning of March, will not exceed $61,475,842 by the beginning of October.

There are at present 187 prisoners in this institution, nearly all of whom are employed by different contractors for convict labor. The Statesman gives the following particulars in regard to this matter: Twenty of them are employed on the Insane Asylum. Fifteen are working for Patterson & Duval in their foundry. At the latter place the convicts were busy at work on castings for W. T. Gray & Co. Their speciality, however, is the manufacture of the celebrated Patterson & Duval stoves, which are of a superior quality and in great demand. Fifty-five men are employed by Geo. Collins in manufacture of brick for the Insane Asylum. They are now burning a kiln containing 300,000, and this is the fifth one burned this season.

Three men work in the tannery, which is run by the Capital Leather Manufacturing Co., which is about being closed out. The tannery building is 60x123 feet, and 3 stories high. At one time there were 50 men employed here.

Twelve men are employed by Mr. J. Stahley in his chair factory. Here we find the latest and most improved machinery used in this line, and skillful work being done by the prisoners, which is evinced by the many and increasing orders for the Stahley chairs from all parts of Oregon and Washington Territory. There is also a saw mill and dry house in connection with this factory.

In the blacksmith shop were four men engaged in making iron anchors to be used in the brick work of the Asylum.

There are also 150 acres of good farming land connected with the prison; this is run by the convicts. This year they have in about thirty acres of wheat; forty of oats, ten of rye, and twelve acres in garden, where vegetables of all kinds are growing in rank profusion. They also keep between fifty and sixty head of hogs, which furnish all of the bacon used at the prison.

There are employed at the penitentiary a first and second warden, six day guards, two night guards, a teamster and a turnkey.—Standard.

A CARD. EDITORS GAZETTE:—In your issue of the 26th inst. I notice an article from the pen of Julius Brownson, secretary of the Philomath Quarterly Conference of the U. B. Church. That article embraces resolutions that are calculated to mislead the readers of your paper. They say that my complaints were not made according to discipline nor in the right spirit.

Now I am willing to submit the matter to any disinterested person who is acquainted with church law, that if when the conference is passing upon the moral and official character of its members, and a name is called and the P. E. asks "is it all right with this brother," and one of the members say "no, I object to the passing of his character on the ground of immorality," is not this according to church law? And I further ask who ever knew of a quarterly conference passing the character of a member thus arrested without investigation? Again they say that my printed statements are in spirit untrue, while too well they know they are both in spirit and letter correct. ISAAC BELKNAP.

PHILOMATH. Bishop Castle has gone to California to hold the annual conference of the U. B. Church. Rev. Wood has gone to Portland with the tabernacle to hold a series of meetings at that place. The tabernacle is a large portable tent, capable of holding about 500 persons. It represents the ancient mode of Jewish worship during the exodus. The trial of Rev. Isaac Belsnap for libel was held last Wednesday before Justice Brownson. The defendant waived examination and was bound over in the sum of $300 to appear at the next term of the circuit court. This matter is of considerable importance and the people are anxious that the whole thing be thoroughly and completely investigated. CORRESPONDENT.
