Murder at Albany.

Dispatches received here yesterday morning from Albany announce meager particulars of a murder in Albany, where in Campbell, of that place, met his death at the hands of W. W. Saunders, of this place. Formerly editor of the Benton Leader. Saunders left Corvallis Tuesday for Albany, informing a friend that he had just heard from Albany and that he had something to attend to there. Wednesday evening about 7:40 o'clock he met Campbell walking on the street with Miss Mattie Allison, when Saunders shot Campbell, the shot taking effect and his victim fell from the sidewalk, when Saunders shot the second time, but without effect. Campbell died the next morning at 6 o'clock from the effect of the shot. The assault was entirely without provocation, the dispatches so state. Saunders was arrested a few minutes after, and at the time of going to press, his preliminary examination was not concluded. It is reported that Saunders was to be married in a few weeks to a sister of the young lady with whom Campbell was walking at the time of the shooting.

Clara Foitz.

We are pleased to state that negotiations are pending to hear this distinguished California Lady Lawyer and Dramatic Orator give one of her famous Dramatic representations the life and character of Col. E. D. Baker in this city at the city hall, on next Monday or Tuesday evening. Clara Foitz is known in California as one of the most brilliant lawyers and has the reputation as being one of the most scholarly and elegant orators in America. We bespeak for this fair talented lady a crowded house, should she appear here. The following notice was taken from the S. F. Post in reference to her appearance in San Francisco: "Having a good voice, engaging manner, and dressing with excellent taste, displaying constant evidence of strict and careful parental training, and wearing always the jewel of true womanhood, she has become a great favorite."

A War. 1. g.

Since the Oregon Pacific Railroad company have constructed their track to the warehouses on the river, it has become a custom with the boys of the town to jump onto trains while in motion and ride on the flat and box cars to and from the depot. This is a very dangerous practice, and if indulged in will surely result in a serious if not fatal accident. Over the track between the depot and the river there is a telephone wire which is at the right height to break a man's neck while standing on top of a box car, and is considered a very dangerous trap, even to the train men, and much more so to boys who are ever on the alert for a ride on a passing train. The city council should pass an ordinance making this foolish practice a punishable offense.

An Overcoat Thief.

Last Friday morning a guest at the Occidental hotel left his overcoat in the office room while he went up stairs for something. On returning in a few minutes his overcoat, which he had bought only the day previous, was not to be found. Marshal Pygall was informed of the fact, and Saturday evening he found the lost coat in Albany, in the possession of J. J. Vanata, who was formerly a U. S. deputy marshal at McMinnville. Monday morning Vanata was given a preliminary examination in Justice Quivey's court and was bound over in the sum of $200 bonds.

Miss Grace Hawthorne.

This charming actress appeared before a Corvallis audience in three performances this week. Tuesday evening in the play "Queens," Wednesday afternoon in "East Lynne," and Wednesday evening in "The New Camille." Her company was a well selected one and gave general satisfaction. It is the universal opinion that this is the best theatrical troupe that ever played before a Corvallis audience.

For subscriptions we have waited patiently through the dull part of the year and now the time has come when delinquents should pay up. When you read this don't think it means your neighbor, but if you own a quarter of a dollar take it home, and then pay up.

A Marcellus merchant who started a business with $5000 and became a millionaire, left his property to a friend with the condition that he should be buried with the sum of $5000 placed in his coffin. The executor bewailed the reckless waste of money, and was at his wit's end to know how to defeat the whimsical clause in the will. At length a happy thought came. "I will put a check," he said, "into the coffin for $5000. It will be duly honored when he presents it."

It will be remembered that about the time John Messenger and Nick Basen went on an extended trip east of the mountains, a few weeks ago, the GAZETTE called attention to a rumor on the street that they went away so as not to be present to test if before the grand jury at the coming term of circuit court, and the GAZETTE then remarked that such rumor was no doubt a mistake, because these gentlemen would not leave their motives of that kind. It transpires that the GAZETTE was correct because they returned home during the week.

A Lafayette, Yamhill county, correspondent to the Oregonian says: "What we need very much along the line of the west side railroad is a morning and evening mail. As it is now, the mail arrives at Portland so late in the evening that an order for goods can't be filled in time for next day's freight, so it has to lie over one day and come up on the third. Whereas, if the mail reached Portland at 8:30 A. M. there would be plenty of time to get goods in for the next day's train, thereby saving one day, and some things might be carried by express the same day the order is made. Let some one of influence take hold of this matter and push it; it will pay and please the people."

The Musical Entertainment

The musical entertainment given at the City Hall for the benefit of the Congregational church last Monday evening was a success, financially and otherwise. Part first of the programme consisted of music by the Cornet Band; Quartets by Mesdames Addison and Layton, and Messrs. Bell and Bennett; Instrumental solo by Miss Ila Burnett; Recitation by Miss Addie Kelly, "The Chausman's Reveng," which was well selected and admirably rendered. A solo by Mrs. Jennie Lee; an instrumental solo by Miss Inez St. Clair, in which she exhibited rare musical talent. The duet by Mesdames Arno and Layton, "Memories of the past," was well rendered and highly enjoyed. The closing scene of part first was stationary, repress using music, painting, drama and epichore, was worthy of particular mention. Part second consisted of a quartette by Mesdames Addison and Layton and Messrs. Bell and Bennett. The Cornet brigade by seventeen young ladies of Corvallis, with Miss Bertha Neuggass as captain, was one of the most pleasing features of the entertainment, and was repeatedly encored, when it was produced the second time. Considering the fact that the young ladies had only a little more than a week's drill on this performance, it evidently reflects much credit on the performers and their instructors. Their jaunty uniform and execution of military tactics was admirable. Solo by Mrs. B. L. Arnold; Instrumental solo by M. Emma Sauness; Solo, "Waltz Song," by Mrs. A. L. Layton was highly enjoyed when she reappeared and sang the old familiar song, Kathleen M. Moore, much to the satisfaction of the audience. The quartette, "Rock the ship" was also encored. The closing scene, scene, the sculptor's studio was very fine. The success of the entertainment was due to the untiring energy of Mrs. A. L. Layton and co-workers.

The State Normal School. MOSMOUTH, OR., Nov. 3, 1885.

ED. GAZETTE.—It is very encouraging to note the increasing friendliness and interest of the Press, in our work at the Normal School located at this place; among the corps of friends in our work, we take great pleasure in including you, and we have decided that information in regard to our work, increasing attendance, and also a few locals from our city would be of interest to you and your readers.

Your very humble servant having been elected to furnish the required information, I further offered if agreeable, to try and furnish the necessary matter every two weeks, in time for publication during the school year if possible.

Yours Very Truly, WM. L. WORTH.

NORMAL NOTES.

The attendance at the Occ. on State Normal School, Mosmouth Oregon, in all departments, is about one hundred and ninety students, and the attendance is increasing at the rate of six to ten students per week. Students are attending school here from almost every county in the state. We also have students from Washington, Idaho and Wyoming Territories. Last Monday morning we were profitably entertained by a lecture from Prof. Stevens, being taken from his practical life experience as a law-lover, miner, student and teacher. Among the visitors during the past week was Mrs. Cook, Mr. Frank Mulvey, S. S. McFadden and F. S. Lanham; also a large number of strangers, who seemed to be interested in our work. The size of our classes have increased so much during the present term, over that of any of our former terms, as to make the present facilities for accommodating them with the proper recitation seats, much crowded. Miss Maud Douhly's room is soon to be furnished with new desks. Among the students enrolled during the week, two are from Washington Territory, Mr. Frank Pierce of Wyoming Territory, late a student of this school has been employed to teach the Dixie school.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

The students have and maintain four Literary Societies. The Vesperettes, Utopians, Hesperians and Websterians. The interest in the society work is unusually great this year.

DEPARTMENT.

The conduct of the students has been above reproach this term, which speaks well for them and the institution.

CITY LOCALS.

Dr. Waterhouse, postmaster, is doing the finishing work on his new building on Main St., which he is to furnish with a large stock of groceries soon.

We are to have a furniture store.

Next Tuesday evening Ira F. M. Butler and wife will receive the friends at their home, on the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage.

We are glad to hear that Miss McFadden, teacher of Painting and Drawing in the Normal School, is rapidly recovering from her recent illness.

Singing at church next Saturday evening.

Foot ball is the rage, and is the consequence.

Oregon Fruit Compartment.

The editor of the Silver City, Idaho, Avalanche pays the following merited compliment to Oregon apples: "Ever since we were a boy we heard about the big red apples of Oregon and the pretty girls with 'web feet,' but it has not been our good luck to behold (much less eat) the former until Thursday, when E. H. Moore invited us to inspect a box which he had just opened, out of one hundred that he had just received from Portland, and as he did so, he remarked to us: 'No Brie City worm-eaten apples about these. All are good solid, firm apples, which one can eat without biting a worm into, as you are almost certain to do in eating the Brie apples.' As we seemed to doubt the truth of his remarks, he said: 'Take a box, and if you find one apple that is worm eaten, come and get another box.' We found none worm-eaten, but just as represented."
