

MERE MENTION.

Olympia has organized a time ribbon league. Mr. E. T. Young paid Tacoma a visit this week. A large boom of logs will soon leave the Eastside. Lieut. Mayo paid this office a pleasant call Monday. Mrs. A. E. Young, of Black River, is convalescing. Mrs. Robt. Marr returned from Victoria Wednesday. Grant Talbot spent a few days in Seattle this week. The Haystack brings in scores of passengers every trip. Mrs. A. D. Whitney, of Seattle, is visiting in Olympia. A goodly number of Sheltonites were in town Wednesday. Get your croquet sets ready. Balm days are close at hand. The Zephyr brought up a load of baled hay Wednesday. Prayer meeting every Thursday evening at the M. E. church. Mr. John Curksh left with his family for Portland, last Tuesday. Mr. P. T. Eshon, of Black River, has a shingle mill in operation. Mr. E. S. Warren, of Portland, now holds cases on the Partition. The Fleetwood has resumed her trips on the Olympia-Seattle route. A new sidewalk is now being built in front of Ford's auction rooms. Seven passengers came in on the Montecano stage, Wednesday. The late big "boom" at Seattle turns out to be an ordinary boom of logs. Mr. M. Z. Goodell, of Montecano, was in town the early part of this week. Old settlers predict an early spring, and an abundant yield of all cereals. Mr. C. T. Fay, of Stillacoom, spent a few days with Olympians this week. Miss Mamie Smith returned, last Monday, from a long visit to Los Angeles. Frank Smith, of the Fleetwood, came in from Seattle and Tacoma Wednesday. The steamer Idaho came up in place of the Haystack last Saturday evening. Gov. Semple will soon pay an official visit to the Penitentiary at Walla Walla. Wednesday Mayor Chambers shipped seventy-seven beef hides to San Francisco. Mr. Joe Young has a mouse so tame it will come to the table and eat crumbs of bread. A son was born to the wife of Mr. C. H. Grinwald, on Eastside, Saturday evening. The familiar face of Mr. Otto Ranke, an old-time citizen, greeted our people yesterday. There are now six churches in town. All except the Baptist being in charge of a minister. The croak of the frog is now heard in the land. This is said to be an omen of springtime. What has become of the Washington Cadets? The boys should take steps to re-organize. The favorite steamer Emma Hayward brought up about 60 passengers Wednesday evening. About $200, was the sum secured from the temperance entertainment last Friday evening. About twenty passengers came in on the Olympia and Chehalis Valley Railroad Wednesday. Mr. A. E. Lillie, a prominent business man of North Yakima, was in town a few days this week. Auditor Tweed has issued a marriage license to Daniel Webster Ingersoll and Mary Ellen Ball. Residents could improve the appearance of city property by setting out a few more shade trees. Jos. Cheim says he can suit you. His prices are reasonable. Look out for the grand Spring opening of Tokias & Kaufman, they are well-known, reliable dealers. The U. S. coast survey schooner Earnest is expected to start on her summer's cruise about April 1. The editor, and Frank Murphy, the handsome young man of the STANDARD, paid Tenino a visit Sunday. And now the hum of the festive drum is heard in the land, as he disposes of his wares to local dealers. Yesterday the Puget Sound Pipe Factory shipped 415 pieces of wooden pipe to Salt Lake City, Utah. Mr. Gale, of the New Transcript, contemplates moving his office to some building not yet decided upon. Mr. Stephens, of San Francisco, and Miss Bonn, of Tumwater, were united in marriage, at Seattle last week. Wednesday night there was not a vacant room in Young's Hotel, many having to go elsewhere for beds. Dr. Woodard, the dentist, it is said, will occupy those elegant front rooms on the second floor of Chambers' brick. A Holy Bible is always found on the sanctum table of the STANDARD. How many contemporaries can say as much? Mr. T. F. Pringle, whose leg was amputated a few days ago, is improving gradually, and is considered out of danger. Last Tuesday was the Rosh Hodesh Nissan of our Jewish friends. The 27th and 28th will be the first two days of Pesah. Now is the time to take your best girl and go on a pleasant excursion down the Sound, while the shockingly low fares prevail. Only a few days more till Charles Acostas and Anna Maria can go walking and gather beautiful flowers from the hillside. See change in ad. of White House in this issue. Mr. Cheim keeps a full assortment of general merchandise, and is worthy of patronage. Beginning with next Sunday, trains on the Olympia and Chehalis Valley Railroad will make two trips the same as other days. This will be good news to residents of this city.

The Olympia saw mill, the planing mill, and the shingle mill are running on full time, and the Westside saw mill will soon be in operation. Billy Henston, of Tenino, came in to see "She" last evening, and it is not the first time he has traveled fifteen miles for the same purpose. Wednesday the Poltobsky brought in a cargo of supplies for the Port Blakely Mill Company's camp near here, returning with a boom of logs. Local temperance workers are contemplating a literary entertainment at Columbia Hall, and a drama is under rehearsal for the occasion. A well regulated debating society is now sustained by the students of Collegiate Institute, meetings being held on Friday evening of each week. Last week the STANDARD published a school report of this district. Why not send in reports of all schools in the county? They are interesting, to parents, especially. Quite a number of prominent citizens visited Seattle during the week. They came back well pleased with their trip, and better satisfied than ever to live in Olympia. The sound of music sweet is in the balmy air, because of the local brass-band boys' meetings. Their membership is ten; their conduct good, and their music still better. Bud Bartlett has purchased 1,300 acres of timber land from the Port Discovery Mill Company; consideration, $9,000. The tract is situated near Mr. Bartlett's present logging camp. Three of the most incorrigible sinners attended service Sunday evening at the Congregational church, and the community has ever since been on the qui vive as to what it portends. If the local scribbler has not made proper mention of past happenings, it was not intentional. The best way to remedy the defect is to call around in possession of shy local news. Olympia holds out splendid inducements to anyone desiring to earn an honorable livelihood, but is a terror to tramps and dead-beats. All of that ilk have their choice of going to work or leaving town. Services at the First Congregational church next Sunday. Subject of morning sermon, "Cross and Crown"; evening lecture, "Absalom." Topic of Thursday evening meeting, "The Wedding Feast." All are cordially invited. Mr. B. W. Johns has purchased the book-binders, formerly belonging to the Tallentire estate. Having secured the services of a first-class book binder, he is now prepared to do all work in his line. Give him a call. Our advertisers are constantly receiving new goods. It would be a good idea to give them a call before sending orders elsewhere. Every dollar invested in town will aid in its advancement, either directly or indirectly. Samuel C. Woodruff, Accountant of Hospital for the Insane at Fort Steilacoom, was in town, last Monday. He has purchased property near Steilacoom and seems to have firm faith in the future of that city by-gone days. Gov. Semple has made the following appointments of Notaries Public in addition to those published elsewhere: John Alexander and J. M. Hall, Seattle; H. M. Lillis and C. E. Claypool, Tacoma and Fred L. Prescott, Spokane Falls. J. R. Meeker, Grand Master of the I. O. O. F. of Puyallup, was in town yesterday, and last evening superintended the meeting of the two local lodges of the order into one, bearing the name of the senior organization, Olympia, No. 1. The Democratic Central Committee of Thurston county will meet at the office of the WASHINGTON STANDARD, on Saturday, March 24th, at 10 o'clock P. M., to consider matters pertaining to party measures. A full attendance is requested. If new comers become weary of feasting the eye on mountain scenery or gazing down the bay, they would do well to take a walk or row to Tumwater and see the waters gliding over the Falls, that some day will turn the wheels of a Lowell. Mechanics are at work putting up a new engine and boiler at the Westside saw mill. The capacity of this mill is to be largely increased and but a short time will elapse before it will be running on full time. A good supply of logs are already on hand. Messrs. Hughes and Ward have closed their temperance meetings and gone to Vancouver. About 500 signed the pledge here, and it is hoped much good has been accomplished. The entertainment given at the close of their meetings by the ladies was a complete success. A grand concert will be given in Columbia Hall, on Monday evening, April 2d, under the auspices of the Congregational society, a full programme of which will be given next week. Talent from abroad has been engaged, and all sweet singers of Olympia, it is said, will appear. One of the springs of the Carlton house back broke last evening as it was returning from Second Street wharf, and let the rear end of the bed fall to the ground. Fortunately it was empty at the time and the horses were gentle, or we might have had a more serious disaster to chronicle. The pupils of Mrs. Jones' class will give a musical recital at Columbia Hall, on Saturday evening, March 24. The programme will consist of attractive choruses, choice vocal and piano solos, duos and trios, with violin, guitar and triangle accompaniments. Tableau illustrations will be a prominent feature. Admission, 25 cents. Sunday night, at the Methodist church some one was throwing shot, or some substance heavier than hi brain, over the house, much to the annoyance of all desiring to conduct themselves properly. There is no law, human or Divine, compelling any one to attend church, and if they have no respect for themselves, should be compelled to respect the rights of others. A party of seven emigrants from Minnesota arrived Sunday evening, to select a location for a colony of about fifty families who desire to locate in some district where they can occupy contiguous farms and engage mainly in objects of husbandry. They left Monday for Gray's Harbor, to examine the rich bottom land which will doubtless suit them if a tract of sufficient size can be secured. A sad accident occurred near Shelton yesterday. It concerns Mrs. Getchell, a sister of Mr. Kneeland, lately from Dakota, was fishing with her daughters from a log which spanned the stream at the head of the bay, when it gave way, precipitating them all into the water. The oldest daughter, Jennie, about sixteen years of age, was drowned, and the remainder of the party it seems had a narrow escape from a like fate. The trustees of Hospital for the Insane advertise for bids for proposals to furnish supplies in this issue. They will confine all bids, save a very few, strictly to the Territory. They are all well-known men of business integrity and moral worth, and all bidders can rest assured of being dealt with fairly. Prompted by a sense of duty, the trustees will purchase the supplies cheap as possible, but they are willing to allow applicants a legitimate margin. Mr. Cavanaugh has been apportioned another dish of "wind pudding." His bid for printing 12,000 copies of the Governor's Report to the Interior Department was last Monday accepted by Gov. Seaple. The price to be paid is for presswork, 25 cents per token; composition, 40 cents per 1,000 ems; binding, $100 for the edition and the paper is to be 50 lb. book paper. The other bidders were Colonel Parker of the Walla Walla Statesman and the Lowman & Hanford Printing Co., of Seattle. Mr. Henry Huden, President of the Olympia Bottling Company, led a case of strictly temperance cordials at this Tuesday. The composers return thanks. The editor ran away with most of it, and ye local merely got a taste. Mr. H. will soon be prepared to bottle all kinds of case goods in his line. "This said Confucius died while trying to brew a liquor which would make him immortal. Mr. Huden's specialty is called Yum-yum, and it has rendered him famous, if it has not clothed him with a robe of immortal glory. Monday night about 8 o'clock, at Messrs. Huden and Frost were passing by the shingle mill, on Eastside, they discovered a bright blaze in the main building, and on investigation found that a fire had broken out in a pile of shavings between the furnace and the side wall. A little vigorous effort on the part of the gentlemen subdued the flames, but they passed just in the nick of time, and had they been a few moments later, the occurrence would have resulted in the destruction of one of our infant industries. Sometimes one feels despondent; thinks that he must spite somebody. In such a state of mind, he will occasionally send abroad for products that may be obtained at home. This is unwise. If you have any task you cannot do, look around home; it is altogether probable some one is looking for just such a job. Remember that encouragement of home talent, home enterprise and home products, is what produces local thrift. And modestly let us add, right here, that any kind of printing can be done at the STANDARD office in a workman like manner, and at prices most reasonable. Robert Mack, who died in this city on the 15th inst., was born in Ogdensburgh, N. Y., Aug. 20, 1834. He came to Walla Walla about twenty-five years ago, where he intermarried with a daughter of Peter Cook, now a resident of this city. From Walla Walla, he removed to Olympia, in 1869, where he has since resided continuously, up to the time of his death. Though Mr. Mack was a saddler by trade and a first-class mechanic, rheumatic affliction has for many years prevented him from following that vocation. He was a man of such sterling integrity that under all circumstances, his word was as good as a bond. He leaves a widow and several children to mourn his loss. He will be buried on Sunday, the 18th inst., at 11 o'clock A. M., under the auspices of the Odd Fellows, of which order he has been a member for many years. "She" was rendered to quite a large house in this city, last evening, by the Webster-Brady Dramatic Co. It gave as good satisfaction as such a piece could, rendered by true artists with only such accessories for scenic effect as can be introduced by a company that is on the wing. The leading parts brought out many of the main features of the story in a vivid colors. Especially was this true of the roles of "Ayesha" by Miss Tittel, and "Ustane," by Miss Vigor. The "Horace Holly," of Mr. Webster, and "Job," of Mr. Brady were likewise worthy representations. Mr. McConnell's voice alone marred the effect of his rendition of "Leo Vincey," but then, there may be youths possessing the bass voice of mature manhood, and if we stretch the imagination so far as to admit of this fact, his appearance will pass inspection. The company left for Tacoma this morning.
