

MERE MENTION.

No more smoke. Fosty rumors. Read the STANBARD'S local. Lodging houses are crowded. Have you boarded the big dredger? Sidewalk lumber is in brisk demand. The Capital Theater will reopen Monday night.

Eggs now sell at 35 cents per dozen, and butter is firm at 50 and 60 cents per "two-pound" roll. Much of both products come from the East. Why is it that it takes a week or more to get freight through by rail from Portland? If this is progress, it is like that of a cow's tail—downwards.

Word comes that Miss Rena Cavanaugh is duly established in Wellesley, Mass., Woman's College and, like all Olympia candidates, proves a first-class student. Another down-Easter inquires about good business openings in the capital city. There is still a wide field here for real estate offices and a few more daily newspapers.

The Airey shoe shop building has been moved to the northeast corner of the lot on which it stood to make room for the new brick building about to be erected upon its old site. Col. Winston addressed a Republican meeting at Columbia Hall last evening. The usual stock-trade and showman arguments were displayed but without any takers.

As the years go by, good fire bark, taken from live trees is becoming more and more an article hard to get for general use in town. It now commands a higher price than coal. A pioneer resident of that city says it is a foregone conclusion that Tunwater is to become part and parcel of Olympia. Electrical connection and the street railway will finish the job.

Street Commissioner Messager and his men are doing some good work for the winter. A crackling fire is not an unpleasant companion these chilly nights and mornings. A large number of settlers on Wadell Creek have petitioned for a new school district.

Register your name if it is only to vote for the city of your adoption in the capital contest. A fair quality of coal is now delivered to Olympia consumers for six dollars per ton. The steamer Fleetwood is now laid up for repairs, and will be out of service about three weeks.

A high cloud of black smoke, day and night, evidences the unremitting work of the dredger. James Schneider, of Tunwater, was seriously injured by being thrown from a wagon a few days ago. Miss Anna Callow, of Kamillee, has been visiting friends in Olympia during the present week.

Black huckleberries, the last crop in the "ollaly" line, are still peddled by industrious Indian women. The day is coming again when it will be late to register the names of voters. Moral, be in season.

Work has been completed on the Presbyterian church and services will be regularly held there in the future.

Miss Dora Sternberg is daily expected from Chicago where she went some weeks ago to visit relatives and friends.

A grand ball will be given at Shelton to-morrow evening. The steamer Willows will leave here at five o'clock, p. m.

It will require about two months for the Bowers dredger to complete its work on the Northern Pacific water-front.

If nothing prevents, two rooms in the new opera house will be in readiness for Calthea College next week.

Mrs. D. P. Ballard, accompanied by her daughter Blanche, is in the city. Miss Blanche comes to attend Calthea College.

Fred Guyot has removed his family back to his old home in Olympia. He himself will still remain at the Asylum.

Long Wharf is demonstrating its great utility, just now, during the prevalence of low tides in the early morning.

Mr. D. P. Ballard, now of Vancouver, will remove with his family to Olympia as soon as he can procure a dwelling house.

Miss Essie Cullen has come back from Chehalis county to stay. She thinks there is no place like home, sweet home.

Mr. George Barnes proposes to erect two business houses on his lot recently vacated by the removal of the Methodist church.

Talk capital, preach capital, whoop up capital. Nay, work, wrestle, agonize and finally vote for the capital and it will come.

Mrs. P. C. Hale and son have opened a neat real estate office on the corner of Jefferson and Fourth street, adjoining their flat.

Four hobos who stole a lot of Mackinac overcoats from Bestman's store, a few days ago, have been apprehended and are now in jail.

Under the skillful hand of Mr. W. W. Work, the Presbyterian church has become a thing of beauty, and may it remain a joy forever.

A score of brand new enterprises will start into life as soon as Olympia can lawfully proclaim herself the capital city for all time.

The big dredger is busily at work transferring the mud from the flats to the Northern Pacific water front just north of Capitol Hill.

After a long sickness and many relapses, Judge C. C. Hewitt is reported to be slowly but surely regaining his accustomed health and strength.

All the available seat and table room in Calthea College is now utilized, and, like a full hive of bees, teachers and students are counting the days that must elapse before they can "swarm" into the new opera house.

shattered Mr. Criss's right arm, another lodged in his breast, and the other grazed Mrs. Smith's shoulder, who with great presence of mind, had seized the lines and started the horses into a run. Smith followed in pursuit some distance, and then returned to the place of the assault, where, it appears, he placed the muzzle of the gun in his mouth and literally blew out his brains.

Mr. Criss is still alive and will probably recover, with the loss of an arm which was amputated. Dr. H. H. Ferguson, at St. Peter's Hospital, Wednesday, the body of Smith was taken to the city the same day, and was taken to the undertaking rooms of Rablson & Hartman. It was buried Thursday in Masonic cemetery.

An Rejoinder from Mr. McBratney. It appears from the article in the Standard that the blacksmith's caliber is sufficiently large to make it necessary for the editor of that paper. While I have always known that my ability was not as marked as that of many of my fellow citizens, it was quite large enough for me to write the article in the Standard, without dictation from anybody, nor was it prepared for me by anybody. If the Tribune will send their snootier to the Standard office—I do not mean their mentor who in his impotent rage declared the City Council a band of swashes, but the reporter who sneezes and sneers while ostentatiously reporting the proceedings of the Council—he will probably find my manuscript of the article as it went through the printer's hands, which ought to settle a point which is really of no consequence.

It does seem, however, a pity that we cannot all belong to the "learned professions" and be fire-haired lawyers, and it may seem presumptuous that the hand which wields a sledge should brandish in the eyes of its opponents that weapon which is said to be "mightier than the sword," but even lawyers must learn that it is not always well to measure swords with those of men. It may be truly said, "Thrice armed are they who halt the quarrel just."

It to be vanquished by the weakest member of the Council, is satisfactory to the Tribune, it is equally so to me. The sum of my offending lies in the fact that I refused to be interviewed by a reporter and run the risk of being misrepresented (and intentionally perhaps) in the report. So little of the news happenings which appear in that paper are correctly stated, that I very naturally dreaded the ordeal.

The willful misstatements, however, came from a different source. If lies paid taxes we could soon pay off the city taxes. "It seldom rains but it pours." A single untrue statement leads to a torrent of lies, and I find myself accused among other things of illegally creating a street within the fire limits. I built by permission of the Council, and the law authorizes such permission in exceptional cases. That the site is not now included within the fire limits is quite conclusive evidence that it never should have been thus included.

Well, nothing comes out of a sack but what is in it, and as the Tribune's bag now holds little else than wind, I will close and again resume my place of amused spectator of the antics of a veritable Don Quixote.

T. J. McBRATNEY. William Robinson, late of Nortonville, Kas, but who for the past few days has been in the employ of Kent Mill Company, at Kent, was the victim of a horrible accident on the 29th inst. Robinson was working in the mill and helping to turn a log. A big one was in process of sawing and Robinson had his pick-stick hooked into the preparatory to turning it. He was pulling back with almost all his strength to move the log when the hook slipped, causing him to fall backwards on a re-saw which was running at a fearful rate of speed. There was a great deal of noise and the terrible blade went into the poor man's side, and those working near him were speechless with horror. Some of these sprang to his assistance and instantly pulled him away from the saw, and they took him up and carried him out and laid him down where his wound could be examined, and the doctor made a bad report. The man was suffering excruciating pain, and it was feared that every moment would be his last. A doctor came and found that the saw had cut through the skin and inches long, leaving the kidney and other internal organs exposed to view. He was taken to Providence Hospital, Seattle, where he now lies and where he will receive the best of care. Strange as it may seem, physicians say there is quite a fair chance of his recovery. When taken there he was fully conscious and all the time going around him, and even spoke cheerfully of his situation. He is unmarried, and all of his relatives live in Kansas.
