Commissioner Osborne reports to the Olympian that in the southeastern part of the county the courses of the Nesqually and the Deschutes river parallel each other at a distance of about half a mile, and that the one of the former river is lower than that which supplies the stream of our splendid water-power at Tumwater. This condition causes a grave apprehension that if a wash of the bank, lately noted, continues, that the waters of the Deschutes will in time find an outlet by the Nesqually. This would be productive of disastrous results to both waterways. It would deprive Tumwater of its admirable water power, and so swell the waters of the Nesqually as to inundate some of the finest farms in the county. Steps should at once be taken for adopting some plan to check the cutting away of the bank of the Deschutes.
A FABULOUS find is recorded on an unknown creek on the American side of the Yukon river, strikingly everything else in that wonderful country. Fifty thousand dollars' worth of gold is reported to have washed to the man in a single day in the new diggings.

characters he is able to represent is a wonderful as his skill in depicting them to life. He is assisted by Willard Gorton, an artist of equal ability.
Thomas Maloney, Secretary of the State Democratic Committee, has received a dispatch from Representative Lewis advising him that Chas. A. Towne, Chairman of the National Republican organization, will visit Washington and Oregon in March, and deliver addresses at several of the larger cities.
Uncle Sam is not noted for verbosity, and he has a way of saying just what he means, so he has reduced the name of the postoffice at Gate City to simply "Gate." It is quite evident that the postal department cannot always be used to boom townships by officially promulgating "city" where there is no city.
A proposition is on foot to set up an evaporator in this city for preparing vegetables for transport on long expeditions, provided an assurance can be given that a sufficient amount of the raw products may be secured. Evaporated potatoes sell to the Klondike trade for 20 cents per pound, and evaporated onions for 65 cents.
A model of the battleships Kearsarge and Kentucky is on exhibition in the show-window of Mills & Cowles' store. It gives so graphic a view of those monster crafts as to almost make the penitive observer think he is on board one of the ships itself. The work is the outcome of Peter Schmidt's mechanical skill. The young artist is the oldest son of our townsmen Leopold Schmidt, of the Capital Brewery.
Edmund Rice is now Superintendent, conductor, brakeman and ticket-seller on the Port Townsend Southern, in place of J. B. Copeland, who has been assigned to other duties. Mr. Copeland is a man of extended information, a positive nature, and an accommodating spirit, and his marked individuality will be missed by those with whom he has associated. Mr. Rice needs no introduction; he is one of us.
Mrs. Ann Stokes, mother of Mrs. A. A. Adams, died Wednesday morning, at the residence of her daughter in this city. She was a native of England, born in 1814, and was the mother of twelve children, of whom her daughter here is the youngest. The family came to this country 46 years ago, settling in Illinois. About six years ago the husband of deceased died and soon afterwards she came here to dwell with her daughter. The funeral rites were conducted at the family residence on Boundary street, by Rev. O. W. Minter this afternoon.
Mrs. Savage & Schofield, the Olympia contracting firm, sustaining the severe loss in the washout of the bridge they were building at Grand Mound, for the county, Sunday morning, from the freshet and drift-wood that came down the Chehalis river. Their loss is about $600, and would have been larger had they not been enabled to save considerable of the iron-work after it had become evident that the structure, far as completed, would have to go. They will not resume work on the bridge till March, as they have to transport some of the materials to each other at a distance of about half a mile, and that the one of the former river is lower than that which supplies the stream of our splendid water-power at Tumwater. This condition causes a grave apprehension that if a wash of the bank, lately noted, continues, that the waters of the Deschutes will in time find an outlet by the Nesqually. CITY AFFAIRS.

An Important Meeting of the Council.
The regular meeting of the City Council took place Tuesday evening—all the Councilmen present, and the Mayor in the chair.
The first business was to go into session as a Board of Health.
City Physician Mowell submitted a report, making various recommendations, which he asked the Board to endorse. Dr. Mowell, among other things, said that it was a decidedly uphill fight to curb the spread of the scarlet fever epidemic while the people concealed its existence. This had been done in various instances, those having scarlet fever in their homes even going so far as to question whether the epidemic was really scarlet fever. In order that there might be no doubt of the genuineness of the prevalent contagion, the doctor read a statement signed by all of the practicing physicians of the city, thoroughly endorsing the attitude of Dr. Mowell in his views of the matter.
The Board passed a resolution to the effect that the most vigorous measures be adopted to stamp out the epidemic, and the health officer's recommendation were unanimously adopted.
The Clerk was instructed to have slips printed containing the quarantine regulations and penalties for violation thereof to be distributed particularly at the city schools, so that children may bring them to the attention of parents.
The Board then adjourned and Council was called in regular session.
After reading and approving the minutes of the last meeting, bills against the city were read and referred to the committee on Accounts and Current Expenses. The same committee recommended that claims to the amount of $672.90 be allowed, and it was so ordered.
A discrepancy in the report of Police Inspector Dial caused some little discussion, there being $8.50 difference between what the committee on Accounts and Current Expenses thought the city was entitled to and what Justice Dial turned over. The Marshal was instructed to call the Justice's attention to that matter, and the report was otherwise approved.
The question of appointing a permanent night policeman and the salary to be allowed him then occupied the Council's attention, two reports from the committee on Health, Police and Public Property being submitted. There was no question as to who should be appointed, David Morrell being the unanimous choice, but there was a hitch on the salary question. Millett and White favored $40 as the salary, when it came to a vote, on motion of Doherty, the compensation was fixed at $45, the same as the other city employes and Mr. Morrell was employed indefinitely.
The same committee recommended that the city jail be cleaned up, the cost not to exceed $60. The Council adopted the recommendation. Columbia hall, too, on the committee's recommendation, will be repaired to the extent of $40.
The committee on Franchises and Licenses recommended that liquor licenses be granted to Charles Vinton and Frank Mickelson. Millett announced that he would vote no on this proposition, his stand being due to his conviction that it was illegal for the Council to grant a license for a period of less than one year. When the vote was taken the judges, taken alone, the other six members taking a contrary view.
The special committee on location of street lights reported that electric lights had been placed at Plum and Fourth and Main and Third, and that the Main and Maple Park and Main streets.
A petition was read, signed by several hundred people for a repeal of the ordinance licensing the nickel-in-the-slot machines, to close saloons and suppress the lottery. The committee reported that it would vote no on this proposition, his stand being due to his conviction that it was illegal for the Council to grant a license for a period of less than one year. When the vote was taken the judges, taken alone, the other six members taking a contrary view.

in the petition presented by the committee of Twelve, Mrs. Egge spoke for a few minutes only, asking the Council to consider well the importance of the petition and memorial.
INCREASING INTEREST.
The Chamber of Commerce Getting Down to Work.
About half a hundred people assembled at the regular meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, in the Equity court room, Tuesday night. Quite a number of farmers were present from the country, which betokens interest and co-operation of this important aid to progress.
The first business of the evening was the presentation and consideration of committee reports. The special committee that had been appointed to solicit $150 to defray the cost of publishing 10,000 pamphlets, through Chairman Hawes, reported that 117 citizens have contributed sufficient funds for the undertaking, one-half of which is cash in hand, the remainder subject to call. The response of the citizens was reported to be cordial, only four persons solicited having shown any disposition to pour cold water upon the enterprise. The subscription list (roll of honor) was appended to the report, which latter was adopted, and on file. The committee was extended a cordial vote of thanks for its efficient services.
The publication of the pamphlet was referred to the Committee on Publicity, with power to act.
The Committee on Manufactures, through Chairman N. H. Owings, submitted a comprehensive letter addressed to an Ohio gentleman who had written the editor of the Olympian for information concerning the establishing here of a desirable manufacturing enterprise. The letter received the unqualified endorsement of the Chamber and was ordered forwarded.
The Committee on Transportation reported that a delegation had met and conferred with General Manager Kinlerly in relation to securing direct schedule connection at Tacoma with west-bound overland passenger trains on the Northern Pacific, and had received assurance that the demand of the Chamber would be granted at once; and reported further, through Frank Owings, that an announced change of schedule in the overland service will bring the trains to Tacoma at an earlier hour in the day, thus establishing the desired connection. The committee reported further that the coming of the Jefferson street railway would be taken up at once, and a change of schedule in the overland service will bring the trains to Tacoma at an earlier hour in the day, thus establishing the desired connection. The committee reported further that the coming of the Jefferson street railway would be taken up at once, and a change of schedule in the overland service will bring the trains to Tacoma at an earlier hour in the day, thus establishing the desired connection.
J. F. Connolly reported that a recent visit to Portland and a stop-over in Chehalis had given him renewed evidence of the fact that it is practically impossible for the traveler on the Northern Pacific railroad south of this point to get any information as to how long it will take to reach Olympia by railway connection at Tenino. He said that Tuesday brought nine passengers into Olympia on the caboose of the Gate City freight train, and reported that he had observed that Olympia is entitled at the hands of the Northern Pacific to a better train service. As an evidence of the important growth of the productions of this county he instanced the fact, not generally known, that during the last six months of 1908 there had been shipped out of Thurston county $300,000 worth of live stock. Mr. Connolly said the new additional train placed on the route between Tacoma and Portland is a light train, carrying but two coaches and an express car, and he believed there is no good reason why this train should not run via Olympia. In this opinion the Chamber unanimously concurred, and Mr. Cavanaugh and others strongly urged the committee to take up the securing of such change as will bring this train via Olympia with the Northern Pacific people.
The Committee on Statistics was granted a month's further time to complete its report on harbor statistics.
The Committee on Publicity was allowed $25 to expend for 10,000 folders descriptive of Olympia and Thurston county. The same committee was authorized to prepare advertising matter for the backs of envelopes used by our business men.
The Chamber of Commerce, in the presence of a number of producers from the neighboring country, who had gathered in to consider with the Chamber the matter of the establishing of an evaporator for preparing the fruit and vegetables of Thurston county farms. Messrs. Shepard, Clough and Eckert, horticulturalists and members of the Horticultural Society, spoke earnestly upon the urgency of taking some such step, in the interest of both the city and the country, and each expressed the belief that this would solve the question of a market for the product of the farm, and would bring city and country into closer relationship.
H. W. Johns had made quite an extended investigation of the subject of evaporation of vegetables, and found the market for sale of the products good, but he doubted the disposition of our farmers to sell the raw material at a price which would enable the enterprise to compete with established business. He had found the price paid for potatoes was $3 per ton and for onions $48, down the Sound, by the evaporator people.
Mr. Barnard, the owner of a small evaporator, suggested the formation of a joint stock company for the establishment of a plant which shall not only dry vegetables but can fruit and fish, manufacture vinegar and supply the market with butter and cheese. By his method of having such an enterprise under one management, the utmost economy might be promoted. It would guarantee a steady market for farm product, a consideration of such vital importance to all. Mr. Barnard thought that not one-half the produce of which farms are capable are produced because of the uncertainty of demand.
On motion a committee of five was appointed to confer with a like committee from the Horticultural Society to formulate a plan for establishment of an evaporator of such kind and factors as may be deemed desirable, and Hugh Ross, C. H. Springer, S. A. Mudge, Allen White and J. E. Connolly were appointed said committee on part of the Chamber of Commerce.

Special Correspondence of the Standard.
Bill Coburn, the blacksmith, says he is going to the Klondike next month.
Harry Bartell had a fine Jersey cow killed by the freight train one day last week.
Fritz Rotch is able to be up and around again after a severe spell of sickness.
John Uter is still on the sick list. His complaint seems to be the decay of old age.
B. E. Loomis had a severe attack of heart trouble a few days ago, but is getting better.
Mr. and Mrs. Sol Blumauer have gone to Portland on a visit to friends and relatives.
B. E. Loomis has a very fine stock of granite ware which goes as a prize with baking powder.
The mill has started up again after being shut down for a week on account of the scarcity of logs.
Miss Belle Prince has gone to Tacoma as companion to the invalid mother of Miss Cecoc.
Mrs. Job Heycock went to Portland on the 8th for a protracted visit with her son Reese and family.
There are four passenger trains running through Bucoda now between Seattle and Portland, besides several freights.
Emile Kroup had the misfortune to cut his hand quite badly at the mill on Wednesday, so as to disable him from work for a few days.
Bucoda must be preparing for a war from the way the boys arrive this year. The last one stopped at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Helwig.
There was a photograph entertainment in Bucoda on the evening of the 9th inst. which was pronounced very interesting by those in attendance.
The postoffice changed hands on the 1st of the month. Mr. Isaac Blumauer is now Postmaster with Miss Frankie Garland as assistant.
The housewives of Bucoda are kept busy answering the numerous calls of peddlers and beggars, at their doors. We suppose they are all on the way to the Klondike.
The last masquerade was a great success and was attended by a large crowd from far and near. Supper was served by M. Sutherland and Mrs. Hanaford, both being well patronized.
Robert Davies is becoming quite an expert player on the piccolo. Since Mr. got his instrument, Archie Uter has obtained one exactly like it, and Mr. Chapple has ordered one for his son Will and several others are talking of doing likewise.
Bucoda now has a band of which it has reason to be proud. It plays for all the dances and most of the shows that come to Bucoda. If you take notice you will observe that all the entertainments that prove successful are those that employ the services of the band.
Lindley Shaw came near losing his life one day last week. While working on the river he fell between two logs, and as he could not swim a stroke he was rapidly sinking when Erve Gibson came to his assistance and rescued him from what otherwise would have been a watery grave.
The Star Vaudeville Company gave an entertainment in the opera house two nights last week. It was a success as shown by the large attendance both nights. They promised to return in six months and show again and give all the benefits to the band boys for their generosity in playing for them both evenings and only asking admission tickets for all their hard work.
The home of James Wells was darkened by the death of his daughter Lena on the 3d. She had been sick for years and never recovered from an attack of typhoid fever last fall. She was to have been married next June to a Mr. Clark of Everett, who arrived here in time for the funeral, which was largely attended by friends and relatives. She was a member of the lodge of Good Templars and a general favorite with all.
