On Monday next the Cottage City sails from Seattle for Alaska.
The Marguerite steamed to Seattle one day this week for inspection.
W. J. Foster is fitting up his yacht Daphne for summer pleasure-trips.
The steamship Walla Walla sails from Seattle for San Francisco Sunday.
Elyses Doble, a student of Washon College, is visiting his old Olympia friends.
Mrs. L. M. Hall has returned from a visit to her former home in Michigan.
"To-night and Saturday rain," is the intimation from the signal bureau to-day.
Ed. McReavy came up from Shelton expressly to see the "Texas Steer," Wednesday.
The Multnomah will make the trip to Seattle Sunday, leaving at her usual hour.
Seventy-eight sacks of oysters came in yesterday for shipment to the down-sound trade.
Work on the Alaska steamer, now under construction on First street, is progressing rapidly.
The Port Townsend Southern has been bringing in trains of logs for the Westside mill the past week.
"Nigger Jim" has deposited $250 with Mr. J. H. Scott for the benefit of "Uncle Bill," the boot-black.
It is the latest conceit of the up-to-date dude to pin a tiny silken Cuban flag upon the hat of his best girl.
Lively "betting" is already in order regarding the outcome of Uncle Sam's first brush with the dons of Castle.
Secretary of State Jenkins will occupy Frank Williamson's residence, corner of Fifth and Franklin streets.
The Girls' Friendly Society held a social at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. Henry L. Badger, Monday evening.
A. D. Whitney, a former proprietor of the Carlton, now a resident of Portland, has been visiting old friends in Olympia.
A Sunday shift of hands is now employed at the Westside mills to facilitate the work demanded by incoming orders.
The steamship Queen sailed from Seattle Wednesday for Juneau. G. Kaufman was the only Olympia passenger by her.
Judge Millette has returned from Wahkiakum county, where he has concluded a term of court held in exchange with Judge Elliott.
Workmen are drilling and removing rock to make room for a foundation upon which to build the fish ladder at Deschutes Falls, Tumwater.
Olympia is reaching out for business. A large raft of shingle bolts was towed this week from New Kamillechie to the Jefferson street mill.
Frank Charles, of Matlock, and Miss Rosa Madison of Elma, were united in marriage by Rev. Henry L. Badger, of St. John's church, Tuesday.
White frosts have occurred during the past few cool nights, but no evidence has yet appeared of pronounced injury to the fruit crop or early vegetables.
A neat pleasure-boat, fitted with Dr. McDonald's propelling apparatus is to be railed on the "one-cent-to-one-dollar" plan, soon as all the tickets are sold.
The first shipment of bob-white quail was received from Kansas, last week, and turned loose to stock the Sound country with this favorite game bird.
The steamer Seaside was chartered last Saturday night to take Dante and his company to Tacoma, to enable them to make connection for Port Townsend.
Major E. C. McDonald, of Spokane, known to our guests as private secretary of Gov. McGraw, was at the capital this week, to look after some business with the higher court.
Another warrant call has been made by the State Treasurer which carries the number of redeemed general fund warrants up to 24,095, and of military warrants up to 2,295.
Mrs. Manning's condition does not improve and it is feared she may not live until her daughter, Mrs. Govey, arrives from Japan, who sailed soon as her mother's condition became known to her.
Marriage licenses have been issued during the past few days to Thomas F. Owens of Bucoda and Miss Frances Cannon of Tenino, and to Thomas Davis of Seattle and Miss Katie C. Pierce of Little Rock.
An alarm of fire sounded Sunday afternoon was caused by a small blaze in the roof of a float lying at the foot of Franklin street. The firemen were quickly on the ground but their services were not needed.
A warrant issued for apprehension of Baker and Tugwell, to enforce the penalty imposed by the Supreme Court did not find those gentlemen at home in Tacoma, when service was attempted. It is reported that they had gone to Spokane to see if Judge Hanford, of the Federal Court, might not be induced to interfere in their behalf.

The display of hunting by our business men, recalls to mind similar exhibitions of patriotism in 1861, when the heart of every loyal Northern man was aflame over the attempt to overthrow our government.
Tickets for Tim Murphy, which appears at Olympia Theater, tomorrow (Saturday) night, are now on sale at O'Connor's. The attendance will undoubtedly be large as Mr. Murphy's reputation extends among the foremost actors of America.
It seems that the effort of Baker and Tugwell to escape the punishment for libel imposed by the Supreme Court, by some legal hook, has been unsuccessful, and they were brought up yesterday for imprisonment in the county jail.
Harry Phipps returned on Wednesday night's boat, from Skagway, where he left his father engaged in out-door trade, he having rented his store building. His account of affairs in that little city does not differ materially from that given by others.
The prospect of war has had the effect of paralyzing several industries, among which is work at the Tenino stone quarry. Mr. Fenton says that the unsettled condition of affairs has caused the delay of several contemplated orders for building stone.
J. H. Scott, of the firm of Scott & Quinn, has been appointed a Commissioner from this State for the Trans-Mississippi Exhibition. Mr. S. will make a zealous and effective representative of Western interests. No better selection could have been made.
The fare from here to Dyea, Skagway and Sitka, which has been $50 first-class and $35 second, has been reduced to $40 and $25 respectively. The fare to Juneau remains $35 first-class, with a round-trip rate of $60. The second-class rate to Juneau remains at $22.
The Northern Pacific Railroad Company have now a large force of men at work on the Seventh street tunnel. It is proposed to drive two rows of piling its entire length to serve as a breast-work for the side embankment. The piles will be driven from the street above.
Ida B. Smith has purchased the thousand negatives taken by the traveling photographers, in Olympia, Tumwater and Shelton. Any one wishing duplicates from same can procure them by calling at her studio, 520 Main St., Olympia. Also open Sundays from 9 A. M. to 6 P. M.
If the bicycle boys continue in the work of improving the paths they have begun it will be possible before long for a lady to walk dry-shod in her gaiters to any point between this city and Tumwater or Woodland. An extension has been finished from the Tumwater path to the cemetery.
Crowds of women and children may be seen any pleasant day at the cemeteries busily engaged in beautifying the flower beds over the graves of their loved ones. The well and pump recently supplied by the Masons will prove a great convenience during the parched season, in making it possible to keep ornamental plants at all times in a healthful condition.
James Doherty, better known as "Nigger Jim," whose success in Klondike has enabled him to imitate in some degree the eccentricities of "Coal-Oil Johnnie," visited Olympia, his old-time place of residence, this week, and found that his list of friends had by no means diminished since his good fortune. Mr. D. has just returned from a trip East.
Yesterday afternoon, Attorney Israel suffered a fainting spell while the argument of the Cronin case was on, and had to be carried to an open window for resuscitation. Mr. L. nerves have been strung to a fearful tension for weeks past, in the prosecution and defense of two men charged with the greatest of crimes, and it is not surprising that his ordinarily vigorous system should yield to the strain.
Shore brothers and Van Epps, who brought the machinery of the Young shingle mill, at Nesqueally, with the intention of removing it to Tumwater and installing it in a new venture there, have concluded to wait until they ascertain the effects of the war upon that industry, before sending more "good money after bad." They are storing the outfit in this city, to await the result of the present condition.
A very interesting meeting of the Chamber of Commerce was held Monday night, at which the committee on promotion of the evaporator and creamery enterprise reported progress, and that the next step was to secure enough subscriptions to the capital stock of the proposed company to justify setting the enterprise in motion. To forward this object, Mayor Lane, S. A. Madge, Allen White and A. J. Falkner were appointed an auxiliary committee.
Mrs. A. A. Adams' sudden death Wednesday night, at her residence on Eastside, is a striking evidence of the uncertainty of life. She retired in her usual health, was soon taken violently ill, and before a physician could be summoned, had departed this life. It is surmised that her ailment was heart disease. Deceased was the wife of Mr. Adams, chief clerk in the Olympia postoffice. She leaves no children. The funeral has been arranged for Sunday.
The shrewd Chinese gardeners of Olympia have peas already six inches above the ground and ready for the hoe. They know there is "Mexican" money in the soil here as well as in Klondike and a good deal easier to be had. While these people are hoarding their small but steady gains, the typical white laborer is not idle by any means, for he is sitting on a nail log in the corner grocery swearing like a trooper about what ought to be done with "them there darned Spanish."

During the month of March there were enrolled in the city schools 228 boys and 349 girls—a total of 577, against 689 for February. The daily average attendance has been, of boys, 277; of girls 304. The per cent. of attendance for March has been 94.14; for February it was 90.61. The cases of tardiness for March numbered 32; for February 43. The per cent. of punctuality for March has been 99.81 and for February it was 99.74. There has been no case of tardiness in the Lincoln school during March.
"Old Innocence," is one of those delightfully original comedies that are rarely presented to the theater-going public, and it is supplemented by "Sir Henry Hypnotized," another admirable creation which will keep the audience fairly wild with merriment. Tim Murphy made the character of Maverick Brander, in the "Texas Steer," and the press accord him even a higher round of praise in the character of Green, in "Old Innocence." There has not been an adverse criticism of him or his company, and he has appeared before the most critical audiences all over the land.
The trial of Jack Cronin, on an indictment for the murder of Ferardi, the Italian fisherman, has been before the Superior Court, with Judge Elliott presiding, the past week. The evidence that has been given is substantially that outlined on the examination for commitment. The case was admirably presented by County Attorney Mitchell assisted by Deputy State Attorney Vance, and the defense just as vigorously conducted by Attorneys Israel, Warner and Winstock. At 2 o'clock to-day Judge Elliott finished his charge to the jury and they immediately retired for deliberation.
Messrs. Eckert and Wisner have formed a copartnership which, while we hope it will be profitable to themselves will surely be of great convenience and benefit to the producers of this county. They propose to handle all fruit, grain and vegetable products, on commission. Mr. Wisner will open a warehouse in Seattle and Mr. Eckert devote his whole attention to collection and shipment to him of each crop in its season. It is thought that this plan will serve a good purpose until our people are able to take care of their products as has been proposed, by erection of an evaporator and creamery.
It seems that fire company No. 2 has not disbanded after all, and that the announcement of such a result as having happened to the City Council, Monday night, was an attempt of some hot-head to frighten men for a performance of official duty according to conscience. It is not the first time that such bulldozing has been attempted and it may not be the last, but it is at best a very ineffective way of accomplishing a result. It is now announced that the company will hold a meeting to set forth their views with regard to the selection of a driver, and that John Stewart, Geo. Allen and Geo. Forbes were appointed a committee to present their case to the Council.
The entertainment given by the ladies of the Eastern Star, in Olympia Theater, Tuesday night, was a very enjoyable affair. The ladies' mandolin club showed much proficiency on that instrument and the guitar. Mrs. Percival, as usual, sang well and received an encore. One of the best numbers was "Jack and Gill," by a quartette of ladies. As a dramatic professional expressed it: "The harmony was exquisite, no matter what may be said of the sentiment of the piece." To Mrs. Follansbee, upon whom the exacting duties of management fell, much credit is due, and the result was exceedingly gratifying, when we consider that it occurred at a time when our city was in poor mood for enjoyment from the death of two of our prominent citizens.
Chas. E. Blaney's big extravaganza success, "A Boy Wanted," which comes to Olympia Theater next Wednesday evening, is one of the largest and strongest farce comedies on the road to-day, in addition to being one of the biggest financial successes of the past season; and it goes without saying that the capacity of the house will be tested on their appearance. The company is made up of artists of ability, who during the play introduced their various specialties—with host of pretty girls, clever comedians, talented vocalists, expert dancers and high class vaudeville artists. The plot of "A Boy Wanted" is a successful scheme to entertain in the best possible manner, and is a continuous laugh throughout the entire evening. There are quite a number of funny situations, which are very happily brought out. It is witty; the jokes and songs are new and free from vulgarity, and with the Blaney trade mark on "A Boy Wanted," is a guarantee of success.
Dante, the wizard, who performed at Olympia Theater, Saturday night, was in street parlance, simply "out of sight." He is pronounced by those who have witnessed the illusion of such masters of the profession as Herman and Keller, to be at least their equal, if not their superior. It is unfortunate that train connections prevented Dante from giving his Friday night performance, or the people would have had an opportunity for forming an opinion of his wonderful powers and been present Saturday night in numbers that his entertainment justly merits. "The Beggar's Dream," in which he apparently burns the woman in rags who he transforms into a beautifully dressed vision of loveliness, and then apparently burns quite as palpably as "She" was consumed by flames in Haggard's renowned novel, was not the least mystifying act performed. Dante is a young man, and we predict that before the lapse of many years he will attain a fame that will place him at the head of the famous magicians of modern times.

Death of Two Pioneers.
The almost simultaneous death of Benj. Harned and Dr. Lansdale, at an early hour Tuesday morning, recalls many incidents of pioneer life in which both gentlemen were prominent actors. Mr. Lansdale came to Olympia in 1851, and Mr. Harned in 1853, but the advent of the latter to the Territory and settlement at Vancouver is recorded a year farther upon the pioneer's roll of honor.
Mr. Harned was born at Long Island, N. Y., Feb. 5th, 1822, making him 76 years of age at death. He moved to Niles, Michigan, in 1839, where he resided till 1852. It was here that he married Miss Eliza Ward in 1843, who remained his life-companion till about three years ago, when she joined the silent majority in the land of promise beyond the grave.
Deceased has been a life-long member of the Masonic fraternity, he having become a member of St. Joseph Valley Lodge at Niles, in 1850, retaining his membership there till he came to Olympia where he had since resided except while serving as physician to the Quinault Indians in 1879.
Dr. Lansdale married, his second wife in Oregon City, a Miss Mary Pope in 1860, who became the mother of four children, three of whom survive, Mary P. Aldrich of Tacoma, Annie E. Root of Seattle, and Chas. T. Lansdale of this city.
The funeral rites of Dr. Lansdale took place yesterday afternoon in the M. E. Church. He had been an active member of that organization all his life. The attendance, especially of the remaining old settlers, was quite large.
with whom his last years have been passed. She is the only surviving member of the family.
The funeral rites of deceased were held yesterday, at 11 o'clock, at Mrs. Tira's residence, on Main street. Rev. Henry Badger officiating as Grand Chaplain for the Masonic fraternity, under whose auspices he was consigned to earth. The attendance was large and the ceremonies impressive.
Dr. R. H. Lansdale was 87 years of age and doubtless the infirmities incident to prolonged life were the cause of his demise. He was a native of Maryland. At the age of ten he became an orphan and was thrown upon his own resources. He found a home with Dr. Sablin, of Troy, Ohio, who gave him a liberal education and took him under his own tutelage in acquiring a knowledge of medicine. In 1834 he went to Indiana and helped to found the town of Warsaw. In 1838 the doctor was united in marriage to a Miss Calceon, of Troy, but she died in 1841. In 1846, the doctor put into execution a resolve he had long entertained of coming to the Pacific Coast, and he joined a party destined for California, which crossed the plains with ox teams. On reaching the destination of the party, he at once took passage on a ship for Oregon, which he reached in October. In the succeeding January he plotted the town of Vancouver, began the practice of medicine and was appointed Postmaster, the first office north of the Columbia river. One year later he came to the Sound, and took up a donation claim on Whidby Island, and founded the town of Coveland, afterwards known as Couville. In 1854 he was appointed Indian Agent, which office he held six years.
After a brief residence at The Dalles, at Dayton and in Tacoma, in 1872 he was appointed physician to the Snohomish Indians, which service he performed three years and then came to Olympia where he had since resided except while serving as physician to the Quinault Indians in 1879.

STATE NEWS
An order has been placed with the Tacoma Mill Company to deliver 91,000 feet of fir lumber, to be used in decking government vessels. The material must be delivered in Philadelphia within 30 days. The lumber will fill seven cars, and each piece will be more than 30 feet long.
The shingle mill and dry kiln owned by C. A. Day, at Sumas, in Whatcom county, were burned to the ground about noon, last Friday. There were 650,000 shingles in the dry kiln; the mill had a capacity of 70,000. There was an insurance of $1,500 on the property. The fire started from a flying spark.
Robert Hall, who is in jail at New Whatcom, pending trial on a charge of raising $1 certificates, attempted to commit suicide last Saturday by climbing up close to the gas burner, and turning on the gas. He inhaled the gas through a paper tube that he put over the burner. When found, he was nearly dead, but was, after much effort, revived.
Charles Neal, who lives near Goldendale in Klickitat county, in order to kill the fleas and bugs on one of his calves, covered it with coal oil and grease. He also concluded to brand it at the same time. When the red-hot iron was applied for that purpose, the oil and grease caught fire, and before the flames could be extinguished the animal was almost destitute of hair. The calf still lives, however, but is not nearly so frisky as of yore.
Allen Bagley was examined as to his sanity in the Superior Court, Monday, at Montesano. Bagley is held for trial for the burning of the Coasta schoolhouse and for shooting at Mr. Austin. During his examination he admitted that he was forced to leave Arkansas on account of being guilty of attempted murder. Judge Hodgdon adjudged Bagley to be perfectly sane, and he will have to face the consequences of his Coasta outbreak at this term of court.
A serious cutting affray occurred in the bunkhouse of the Kent Lumber Company's mill, at Kent, Saturday, in which John Reed, a German laborer, was seriously and probably fatally stabbed by Alfred Gschwend. The row was brought on by Reed telling Gschwend to go and get his hair cut and take a bath. Gschwend resented this and told Reed to attend to his own business; that he (Reed) had already interfered with him enough, and he did not propose to stand any more. Reed continued, however, and finally Gschwend rushed on him and cut him twice in the left arm between the shoulder and elbow.
