The matinee at Olympia Theater to-morrow will be an event in the lives of many children, the laughable comedy "Lost for a Day," being full enough of fun to amuse for the hour and leave pleasant memories for the retrospect of life.

Wm. Whitlatch was killed last Friday, near Rainier, by a heavy piece of plank falling upon him from a tree which he was peeling. Deceased had been a resident for the past ten years, was 70 years of age, and leaves a wife and six children.

An alarm from Box 23, about 9:30 last night, was caused by a child upsetting a lamp on a float-house occupied by Mr. Carter and family at the foot of Adams street. The blaze was extinguished without much labor and with very small damage.

William Cullen and Mrs. M. E. Church were united in matrimony Tuesday evening, at the residence of the bride on Eastside. May peace and plenty, and contentment and happiness attend our brother in this evident attempt at regeneration by joining church.

The Eagles taught a score of eagles to fly, Wednesday evening, at their lodge meeting in Columbia hall. Outside barbarians were led to believe from the rustling of the wings which occasionally assailed the ears blocks away that the victims and their instructors must be exceedingly high flyers.

To-night the Shirley Co. play "A Daughter of the Empire," a four-act romantic comedy, the scenes of which are laid in Paris during the time of Napoleon I. Some very beautiful costumes will be shown and a most elaborate production given of the piece. The Emperor Napoleon is utilized as a speaking character.

William Rediska, of Mason county, and Miss Anna M. King, of this city, were united in marriage Sunday, Rev. Father Sandison, of the Catholic church, officiating. The happy pair left for their home at Mason, in Mason county, Monday, where Mr. Rediska owns and operates a farm.

At the conclusion of the performance of Trilby, at Olympia Theater, last night, Miss Emma Hildebrandt fainted, causing considerable excitement for a time. The prostration was doubtless caused by the highly emotional nature of the play and the efficient manner in which it was presented.

John Riley had a hearing before Justice Schomber, Wednesday, on a charge of grand larceny, for robbing the black jack table of L. Troth, known to the sporting fraternity as "South Before the War," Wednesday night, and was held to answer at the next term of the Superior Court. His bond was fixed at $800.

John Corkish, a representative of the Olympia Pipe Works, has been awarded a contract for a water and sewerage system on the Puyallup reservation, by the Commissioner of Indian Affairs, at Washington. The amount of his awards aggregate a little over $18,000. Anton Berens, of Tacoma, received the award for erection of additional buildings.

A daughter of Henry Ruhle, who resides on Snider's prairie, was thrown from a horse, Wednesday evening, and sustained a compound fracture of her arm. She was brought to town for surgical aid, suffering with intense pain. After arriving at the doctor's office, her sufferings were prolonged an hour or more from the neglect of the doctor to respond to the call.

"Divorce," the play which closes the Shirley engagement, Saturday night, was written from unpublished materials left by the late Bartley Campbell. It is one of the most popular comedy dramas, tears and laughter alternating all through four acts. As presented by this company, it is said to be one of the very best plays being presented in the entire repertoire.

Amanda E. Lammon, eldest daughter of Councilman J. M. Lammon, was united in marriage to Charles L. Duffault, a young man, lately from one of the new England States, who has made a host of friends during his short residence in this community, Wednesday at noon. The happy couple left by the evening train for Seattle, on a short wedding trip. They design founding a home in this city.

It is difficult to discover wherein the school board has bettered the service by turning down Prof. Hawes, who has made the school service so notably efficient, for a man whose chief distinction seems to be that he has served in a like capacity at Centralia a number of years. It is presumed that Messrs. Pritham and Troy, who voted for Mr. Thompson, will be able, however, to give satisfactory reasons for the change.

Dr. Redpath has secured the contract for dosing the county patients this year for $233. The sawbones seem to have figured it down quite closely, for the next lowest bid, submitted by Dr. Mowell, was for $240. It is only the printers, however, who take public contracts at starvation prices, as witness the Olympia's bid of eight cents per square, amounting to 32 cents for thousands ems composition, which at union rates cost 45 cents.

Sunday morning, Mrs. Bertha Martin died of that dread disease consumption, after several months of severe suffering. Deceased was a daughter of the late H. Newmarker, who was several years ago in the grocery business in this city. She leaves a husband and a little girl two years old; two brothers and two sisters, to mourn her loss. The funeral rites took place at her late residence on Second and Washington streets, Wednesday.

"Lost For a Day," which is offered as the matinee bill for tomorrow (Saturday) afternoon, at Olympia Theater, is a roaring three-act farce-comedy, and tells all about a baby that is lost en transit to London. Everybody from grandpa, down to the small boy, takes a hand in trying to locate "baby," and the situations and complications are ludicrous in the extreme. It is a play that is specially suited to ladies and children, who find it very enjoyable always. The prices of admission will be 10c and 25c.

The Council made short work of "Judge" Dobbins, the committing magistrate, at their regular meeting Monday night. They, figuratively speaking, cut off his shoulder straps and reduced him to the ranks, for the disposition he has manifested for creating surprises by his official course. The Council concluded to create a counter surprise by knocking out the prop which sustained his official dignity. Fred Schomber was elected by a vote of 6 to 1 to fill the vacancy thereby created of Police Justice.

Wm. McGown, better known as "Big Bill," who has been long in the employ of Richardson's Shingle mill, sustained a serious injury to his right hand, Saturday, while operating a knee-bolter. One finger was nearly severed, and his hand was fearfully gashed, but he coolly walked down and had it tied up by a surgeon, when he returned to work as if nothing out of the common had happened. During the long time he has operated the most dangerous machine in the mill it is the first accident he has met with.

The Olympia Door and Lumber Co., manifest an activity in turning in fire alarms, if for nothing else. Sunday evening and Monday afternoon, the firemen were called out by an alarm from Box 23, in both instances caused by a blaze in that tinder-box used for a dry-house. No serious damage has, so far resulted, but it is only a question of time when this good luck will cease. It would be far better for the company to construct a safer kiln for drying their product, than to trust to that proverbial good luck which always fails in the end.

It has been a matter of much favorable comment that the ladies very generally—almost without exception—have removed their hats at the performances in the theater this week. No law is necessary to enforce propriety in this matter here, and we note the fact with a pardonable feeling of pride. If the ladies only knew how much better they appear with their hats off; how much more cozy and homelike the house seems to visitors from abroad from this concession to popular clamor; they would feel in a large degree compensated for the trouble of removing their head-dressing.

School Matters.

The School Directors at their meeting Tuesday raised the salaries of all teachers $5 per month and advanced the salary to be paid the new Superintendent to $100 per month—Prof. Hawes has been receiving $50.

The following teachers have been employed at $5 per month: In the Washington School—Margaret Wallace, seventh and eighth grades, $50 per month; C. V. Leach, fifth and sixth grades, $50; Amelia Dittman, fourth and fifth grades, $50; Jennie E. Sikes, third grade, $50; Ida Hill, second grade, $50; and Adelaide Williams in the first grade, at $55. For the Lincoln school: Orson Curry, seventh and eighth grades, principal, $60, and at $50 Mrs. Maria B. Cole, fifth and sixth grades; Mrs. S. H. Barbee, fourth and fifth grades; Miss Florence Prince, third and fourth grades; Mrs. P. C. Hale, second and third grades, and Miss Janet S. Moore, first grade, $55. For the Westside school: D. E. Crandall, principal, $50; Lennie Barnes, $50. For Eastside "Piety Hill" school: Miss Rose Gallamore, etc.

A FEW PLAIN WORDS.

HOW OUR MISSIONARY IS HANDICAPPED.

Our People Do Not Confine Their Growing to the Street Corners, but Give Our State a "Black Eye" When They Write to Their Friends in the East—Moral Cowards in a Land of Infinite Resources.

COSHOCKTON, Ohio, May 28, 1899.

EDITOR WASHINGTON STANDARD:

We are still among the hills of Ohio, and this evening while we write this letter the lightning flashes are almost constant and the loud, sharp peals of thunder, following each other in rapid succession, are almost deafening. A little Jew here in the hotel office, who is repeatedly dodging and rendered about half crazy with fright, rushed over to me a moment ago and said "You are from Washington, I learn." I told him I was, and then he said "I wish I was there now." "You would know why? I don't like this"—motioning toward the storm.

His remark inspired me to write this letter. I have had as good a chance to know the feelings of the people of the East in regard to Washington as any other person in the State, and I believe the present outlook for immigration is better than it has been before for ten years. Everybody admits that Washington is all right. It is not a hard thing to find hundreds in every city that could better their condition by going there now. You state to them the plain facts, in most cases, it is simply cowardice. They would like to have people come there, but they want others to take the responsibility of advising them, and in such cases it is not only not a virtue, but it is mean, selfish, cowardly.

You know, and all who read this paper know that a million people could do better about Olympia, each on a small fruit farm, than they can ever do here, or anywhere in Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, Illinois, or other developed States, where they now live, and yet I see hundreds of letters from Washington, and not a few from Olympia, telling all about the hard times, the poor people, the depreciation in prices, etc., etc., but have seen only two encouraging people by telling the simple truth.

It is about time, it seems to me, to stop telling the people about big prices and great losses. That time has passed and we are all glad of it, and now it is a fact and all know it that land can be purchased there now for one-half its value—yes, for one-fourth its value. Where else on all this continent can you get land in small tracts, fronting on a charming inland sea, so wonderful, both in utility and beauty, as Puget Sound, for from $10 to $50 per acre. Think of the advantages: Near a city; beautiful scenery; pleasing healthful climate; in touch with all the world; largely free from the pests that prevail elsewhere; largely free from storms. No. You cannot find its duplicate in all the world, and you cannot even approximate its advantages and location in other sections for from ten to fifty times the cost.

And so I repeat, the person who has traveled over the country enough to know the relative value of a home in the Sound valley, and will not take the responsibility of advising his friend to come there, is an enemy to his friend and a moral coward.

J. R. CHAPLIN.

KEARNEY & Co. have just received a large supply of Mason's fruit jars, also a large stock of stoneware.

The Jessie Shirley Dramatic Co.

No dramatic organization that visited our city has given better satisfaction to patrons of the theater than the Jessie Shirley Co., which closes a week's engagement to-morrow night. Miss Shirley, the leading lady, has shown a possession of a versatility of talent as remarkable as it has been pronounced in every part she has assumed. Probably the best of these was that of Vera, in "Moths," Tuesday evening, but she is equally prominent in comedy as was shown by her rendition of lighter parts. She has been ably sustained by her talented company, every one of whom is entitled to special mention, had we space to comment at greater length. Suffice it to say that there is not a "stick" in the whole company, and that they are bound to please every community that may be favored by an engagement.

John Reilly introduced a rule not recognized in the game of "black jack," Monday night, when he laid hands on $120 of the dealer's pot, during the temporary absence of the latter, and appropriated it to his own use, without so much as turning a card. The engineer of the game, L. Troth, otherwise known as "South Before the War," of course objected to this irregularity and had a search instituted for the missing coin, when it was found caked in a water closet of the premises. Suspicion at once fell upon Reilly, and he was arrested, placed in "durance vile," and hearing was set for Tuesday afternoon, but strange to say the manipulator of black jack failed to appear to prosecute White Jack for an attempt to beat the game. He was held, however, in the sum of $800 to answer at the Superior Court.

Another unique decision has been rendered by his honor Squire Dobbins. It is that the power which designated him as committing magistrate for the city, cannot rescind that order, and appoint somebody else to discharge those duties. Verily the "Judge" is a law unto himself and it is a sealed book to all others until he chooses to reveal its pages. It is said he claims that his authority to act for the city can only be withdrawn for cause, on charges regularly made, tried and sustained. Well, well; will wonders never cease? Is there any reason why a dogmatic Dogberry may not be deposed, despite a domineering disposition to do the most absurd official acts? The Council probably thought that the cause for removal was apparent and that a verdict had been rendered by the people which justified immediate and decisive action.

The election of one Director and a Clerk on the school board takes place to-morrow afternoon, the polling place being Columbia hall, and the expression of popular will open to men and women of proper age, without the formality of registry. The Director to be selected will succeed P. M. Troy and the Clerk, Fred Schomber, who has for several years so acceptably filled the position. Mr. Troy is not a candidate for re-election, and Mr. Schomber is. The names of Hugh Ross and C. B. Mann have been suggested for Director, and their candidacy is said to represent in a large degree, the popular feeling resulting from the displacement of Prof. Hawes, as City Superintendent—the former gentlemen zealously enlisted in support of the claims of the incumbent of that office and Mr. Mann non-committal, which is construed into opposition, or at least desire for a change. The polls will open at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon, and close at 7 in the evening, the only qualification of the voter being citizenship and attainment of the age limit of 21 years.

A LARGE shipment of stoneware and Mason's fruit jars has just been received by Kearney & Co.
