A timber-jelling contest is a "leader" in the Olympia celebration, and in addition to the committee's prizes, it is said that one or two of the big saw companies will offer additional inducements for competition.

About four o'clock Monday afternoon, the fire department was called out by a blaze on the roof of Dickinson's saloon. It was quickly extinguished and the principal damage was from the water used to effect that object.

Mrs. Keford lost her purse containing $39 and a valuable chain, before coming ashore from the Multnomah, Marion Canning, formerly of Olympia, and Miss M. Willemina McCormick of Ocosta, were recently united in marriage at the M. E. parsonage, at Hoquiam, Rev. Elliott officiating. The young couple will make their future home at Quinault, Wash.

G. Rosenthal is now in his new quarters in the Korr building, opposite his old stand, with a full and complete stock of drygoods and gents' furnishings, especially adapted for the Fourth of July trade. His store room is larger and therefore has more room to display his stock.

Ex-State Auditor Frost came down from Ellensburg this week to meet the charge of responsibility for the forgery of Geo. D. Evans, his deputy, while filling the position of State accountant several years ago. He has been made a defendant in the proceedings for commitment of Evans for trial.

Mr. Huggins received a telegram yesterday from Pasadena, Cal., stating that his daughter, Georgia, was much worse, and he immediately for that destination. On arriving at Tenino, he found that he would lose a day in making railroad connections, and he therefore returned to this city to make another start to-day.

S. geologic survey had been transferred, returned this week to her home in this city. She reports that Capt. Gilbert will soon open an office for that branch of the public service in Seattle.

It will not be necessary for our people to go away from home to enjoy a delightful celebration of the nation's anniversary, this year. The arrangements made by the committee are as unique as they will prove entertaining, and there is no fear but that a couple of thousand visitors will be present during the two days' festivities.

Theodore L. Brown, an old-time resident of this city, who has been living in Shelton the past two years, came up this week and purchased the Robertson property, a residence on the corner of Maple Park and Main street, which is a pretty fair indication that his future home will be at the capital. The price paid is said to have been $11,000.

The State Land Commission have changed the day of sale of some public lands, at Tacoma, from Saturday, July 1st to Monday, the 3rd, in compliance with the request of a Seventh Day Adventist, who declared that it was against his convictions to do business on his Sabbath. As he was presumably an intended bidder, the board made the change, a courtesy seldom accorded by those clothed with a "little brief authority."

"Tony" Wolfe, the informant against forger Evans, has demanded the reward of $500 offered by the State for the apprehension of that malefactor. He lost no time in filing his claim, with the intimation that the delays of the Circumlocution office will be avoided as much as possible for the reason that he is in pressing need of money, a consideration which will doubtless cause the State's purchasers to relax with alacrity.

Last Saturday, George N. Littlejohn of Bush Prairie, died at the hospital, of some disease to his hip. He was an occupant of the hospital for two days, and had suffered a gradual decline from the day of his admission to that institution. Deceased lived on the old Littlejohn farm, with his wife and two children. The funeral took place Monday at the school house of that district, and interment was made in the cemetery on Bush Prairie.

The Nellie A. Wilson damage suit against the city came to a sudden halt in the Superior Court yesterday. A question asked one of the witnesses met with an objection which materially affected the pleading of the complainant, and permission to amend carried with it a continuance of the case to the Fall term. A jury had been empaneled and a day's dreary pumping of witnesses effected, before it was ascertained that the proceedings would come to naught.

J. T. Bush, of Bush Prairie, better known as "Tall Bush" was last Monday committed to the hospital for Insane, at Steilacoom, for an action which the authorities considered prima facie evidence of insanity—the stealing of a bicycle belonging to the County Assessor. Whether it was from an officer possessing such mighty powers for retaliation, that betrayed mental aberration, does not appear in the evidence on which he was convicted. "Tall" made the point that he had fled off the factory number of the machine, a precaution against identification that no insane man would adopt. Notwithstanding this proof of mental balance, Mr. Bush was taken to the State institution for restraint of people with kleptomaniac impulses.

The school election Saturday afternoon resulted in a sweep for the "Haves." Election, Hugh Ross received 410 votes to 191 for Mann. Schomber was elected Clerk without opposition.

Bush T. Baker, and Miss Delia May Sawin were united in matrimony at the residence of Rev. and Mrs. A. G. Sawin, parents of the bride, last evening. The bride's father, assisted by Rev. William E. Randall, of Tacoma, officiating. Both of the "high contracting parties" are well and favorably known to our people, and if good wishes are a harbinger of success their journey through life will be marked by a calm sea and refreshing breezes until a haven of rest is reached.

Sunday night, Deal's barbershop, on Fourth street, was discovered by officers Mack and Decker to be filled with smoke, and as it was locked and tenanted at the time, an entrance was effected by climbing through the transom. It was found that live coals had been placed in an ash-box from a stove used to heat the bath, and that they had burned through the box and into the floor, establishing very fair conditions for an extensive burn, had their silent work not been discovered just as it was.

Mrs. Cora O. Wynn, wife of Mark Wynn, of Little Rock, was Monday adjudged to be insane and sent to the Steilacoom asylum. She had been acting in a strange manner for a couple of months past. A fortnight ago she was placed in the sisters' hospital from which she escaped Monday morning and was found by Deputy Sheriff Mills at a residence on Franklin street, where she had wandered. Medical experts said her malady was growing worse and that a commitment was inevitable, and she therefore entered, to guard against harm to herself or others.

Mr. Gimblet has rented the large building on the corner of Third and Columbia, and will fit it up with sample rooms as an annex to the Carlton House. And by the way, the Carlton House will pass under its new management next Monday with "Jack" for mine host and Mrs. G. superintending the dining-room, kitchen and beds—in fact everything which conduce to the comforts of home in management of a hotel. It is the belief that the control of this ever popular hotel has passed into hands which will maintain all that has made it famous and add such other features as will bring it up to a strictly first-class grade.

James B. Miller was acquitted Wednesday, in the Superior Court, of the charge of assault with a deadly weapon committed upon Geo. E. Huggins a few months ago. While the assault was clearly proven, it was likewise shown to the satisfaction of the jury that Miller was for the time insane; that the worry and loss of sleep incident to the sickness of members of his family had had such a profound effect physically and mentally that the man was not responsible for his acts. There is no doubt but that sympathy went very far towards the slapping of the verdict, for the crime which Miller was charged with committing—murder—is the greatest offense of which our laws take cognizance. The defense was conducted by Geo. C. Israel, and the prosecution was, of course, made by Prosecuting Attorney Funk.

Some of Uncle Sam's Money Recovered.

Al. Munson of Shelton, and Sheriff Voegtlin of Mason county, were in town Tuesday to interview G. S. Horton, of Belmore, regarding his alleged possession of a part of the money stolen from the Shelton postoffice a few weeks ago. It seems that Mr. Horton came along in a light buggy near Kamillehe, just after Nolan, one of the robbers, had been shot, during capture, and was asked to take the stolen money into his vehicle and carry him into town. This he did, and during the journey was at times separated far enough from the captors for the prisoner to confide in the information to Horton that he had $100 of the stolen money in his possession, that he wished to place in Horton's care, to be restored to him if he got out of the scrape and which he might keep if he (the prisoner) was sent "over the road." The proposition was accepted, and doubtless Mr. Horton has been just $100 richer, and is not the proverbial unreliability of thieves been verified. Nolan, about a week ago, told the Sheriff and Postmaster of the arrangement and they came up and went out to Belmore to secure the money.

Horton, it is said, when first confronted with the charge of having received stolen money, vigorously denied it, but later on admitted that he had received the money but declined to give it up. After the Sheriff had shown him the additional risk he would incur by having proceedings instituted for its recovery, Horton asked for time to talk with a lawyer. He came to Tumwater, and after consultation with W. A. Patterson, decided to return the money to its lawful custodian. It is barely possible that Mr. Horton has not seen the last of this episode, notwithstanding he may have been drawn into the matter without realizing that he was committing a crime against the supreme law of the land.

Weekly Crop Bulletin.

U. S. Department of Agriculture, Climate and Crop Bulletin, Washington Section, for the week ending Monday, June 12, 1899:

Five days of last week were dry and sunny, making it by far the best growing week of the season. The remaining days were cool and showery like the most of the spring has been.

The warm days were only seasonably warm, but they gave a great impetus to backward vegetation. Late gardens have at last started to grow, and there has been some improvement in the crops on lowlands. Throughout most of the wheat section the wheat crop is healthy and progressing finely. Only in a few localities is it spoken of as thin on the ground and whipped by heavy winds. In the earlier localities winter wheat is beginning to head out; in others, it is in the "boot." Barley, rye, and oats are now doing well; the latter is doing best on the uplands. The reports in regard to potatoes are more favorable and hopeful than they have been.

There is fine promise of a magnificent hay crop this season, if the weather is good at haying time. Alfalfa and clover are now in bloom.

Burglars broke into the general merchandise store of C. B. Henzley at Garfield, Saturday night by forcing open the double front door. A half-dozen suits of clothes, two hats, shoes, several vests of dress goods, and other small articles were taken. The course through the store is marked by a trail of grease from the robbers' candle. They evidently stood at the front show-window, which is without blinds, with a candle and deliberately picked out the best hats and shoes.

Rev. Dr. Hayes, pastor of the Pullman United Presbyterian church, is enthusiastic over the prospects of Watsburg academy, which he founded 13 years ago. A friend of the academy recently offered to endow it with $10,000, and give an additional $5,000 for the erection of a dormitory, provided the citizens of Watsburg would raise $5,000 for an endowment. The school has an endowment of $5,000 at present, and with the amount about to be raised, the endowment will reach $20,000.
