CITY NEWS IN BRIEF.

This is "growing" weather.

The local shingle mills have resumed operations.

Mrs. S. G. Osborne, of South Bay, has been quite ill the past few days.

The weather forecast issued today reads: "Fair to-night and Saturday."

Very little interest appears to be taken in the school election to-morrow.

Give the census enumerator a soft answer. His job is not an easy one, at best.

Mr. O'Toole, of South Union, is very ill at the hospital with Bright's Disease.

A stalwart son was born to Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Pemberton, on Westside Sunday.

A baby girl came to stay this week at the residence of Clark Calahan, on Eastside.

Jesse Ferguson and Allen Weir attended the Pioneer meeting in Seattle this week.

Mrs. O. C. White and family have returned from a prolonged visit in California.

The local camp Woodmen of the World will go on an excursion to Seattle Sunday.

Prof. Trevor Kincaid, of the State University, visited his parents in this city Tuesday.

Mrs. Marie Garrison left Wednesday for Pullman, her former home, for an extended visit.

Edith Prather has returned from Walla Walla, where she has been attending school.

Mrs. T. T. Kavanaugh, of Seattle, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Phillips, her parents, in this city.

Judge Porter attended the Grand Commandery of the Knights Templar at Tacoma this week.

The hand performed on the plaza Wednesday evening, rendering some very pleasing selections.

C. H. Fridham has been awarded the contract for supplying the Poor Farm with groceries this year.

The city has ordered a sidewalk built on the west side of Washington street between Eighth and Tenth.

A son was born to Mrs. Holton Martin Monday, and a daughter to Mrs. J. Y. Kennedy, the same day.

A second call this year for school warrants to the amount of $3,500 will soon be made by the County Treasurer.

The many friends of A. A. Phillips will be pleased to learn that he is in a fair way of recovery from his severe illness.

The steamer City of Topeka sailed Monday for Alaskan ports with Mrs. J. Y. Ostrander as a passenger from this city.

The steamer Umattila, which left Seattle Sunday for San Francisco, carried as passengers from this city E. W. and M. E. Lang.

Mrs. Ida Sickels has leased the upper part of the Porter building, on Franklin street, and is fitting it up for a lodging house.

Two excursion steamers visited this port Sunday, the Dauntless from Tacoma, and the Fairhaven from Seattle, bringing about 200 people.

T. P. Holcraft has sold his interest in the job printing office at Whatcom to his partner, John Boyer, and will hereafter make Olympia his home.

Mrs. E. E. Hinkle (nee Lona Giles) and children, of Lincoln, Nebraska, arrived Wednesday, on a visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Giles.

Mrs. Frank Dickinson, accompanied by her daughter, Miss Alice, of Portland, came in on Wednesday evening's train for a visit with Mr. Dickinson.

W. S. Eldings, lately appointed U. S. Judge at Hawaii, was at one time an attorney in this city and is a son-in-law of Hon. P. D. Moore, of this place.

Martha Utterback has been granted a decree of divorce from Charles Utterback and custody of the minor child and possession of the community property.

The Woodmen of the World dedicated a monument to the memory of C. S. Baldwin, who died at Little Rock about a year ago, in Masonic cemetery, Sunday.

The County Commissioners have allowed County Auditor Graham an extra clerk, to enable him to complete his annual report by the end of the fiscal year, June 30th.

John R. Mitchell will deliver an oration at Yelm on the 4th of July, and, if opportunity affords incidentally put in the day in "fishing," a sport of which he is inordinately fond.

The Kirby road matter which has loomed up so persistently before the County Commissioners the past two years, has been quieted by a contract made with John Olson to construct it for $110.

The high-school graduates held a reception in G. A. R. hall Wednesday evening, to parents and friends, at which a delightful season of social pastime resulted from the efforts of the class as hosts.

The steamship Puebla sailed from the Sound to-day for San Francisco. The steamship Queen will leave for Alaskan ports to-morrow. This will be her initial trip as a "summer excursion" boat.

There has been more trouble in the Tenino school. Mr. Gilmore came in yesterday to secure the arrest of the teacher for excessive punishment of 1900, consisting of 21 pupils of the Olympia high school. The exercises consisted of readings of essays, original declamations interspersed with music, vocal and instrumental, by the class and others. The stage was beautifully decorated, and with the unmounted group of sweet maidens and brave men, with a garden for the background and woodland framing, presented a tableau of radiant loveliness. Prof. Morgan, of Ellensburg, delivered an address at the close, and Director King distributed the diplomas. A list of the graduates appeared in the last issue of the STANDARD.

ON THE BILLS.

OUR CORRESPONDENT EN ROUTE FOR "PAR-EE"

The Motley Display of Characteristic Curios Embarking Preparations for "Casting Off" Amid Final Adieux—Why the German Liners Are to Be Preferred—Experienced Seamen in Command—Arrive at Cherbourg and Greeted by the Grand Napoleon, in Bronze—Some Fair Promises of the Correspondent.

From a Special Correspondent.

ON THE BILLS, May 20, 1900.

In order to reach the Paris Exposition, we Americans must embark. There is no dry road thither. Embarkation on a great liner is an act on a great stage with comic, melodramatic and even tragic scenes. The huge vessel looms alongside the pier. The hour for sailing is 11, but three hours earlier the passengers begin to arrive with bag and baggage, scrip and scrippage, some with family, valets and maids, others alone. Some with an umbrella. Some in liveried carriages, others on the street car. Messengers arrive with flowers, the gifts of friends. Some of the bouquets are magnificent and expensive. They are now, three days out, displayed in the steamer salon, making it look like a florist's bazaar. One huge bouquet of rare roses and orchids I am told cost at least one hundred dollars.

For an hour or more before the time for sailing the decks and public rooms of the great vessel are crowded, but for the most part by relatives and friends of those who have come to see the passengers off. The hour for sailing is near, the screws of the steamer are turning, but merely for practice, getting their hand in before they strike the long wet streak across the Atlantic. The ship's band breaks upon the babble of tongues with a lively prominence. Many, supposing the hour has come, rush down the plank, lest they be taken to Europe unprepared; but the more experienced await the final signal, for the band will, with intermissions, play several more airs. The time for parting has come. Those who sail on the Hamburg-American line are largely German-Americans, and they either feel more, or pretend to feel more, or restrain their feelings less than we undemonstrative unhyphenated Americans. They kiss, embrace and weep, and then, after a breathing spell, rush at each other and do it again. Men kiss men and women kiss women, et vice versa ad libitum, all the while looking at each other with such looks of longing desire, spiring fondness, as we are accustomed to see only when the coffin-lids close for the last time. Finally there is a signal for friends to leave the boat and after a last repetition of harrowing partings, the immense steel float, riding hotel moves slowly from the pier and then with increasing speed slides down the bay and out to sea. We had beautiful starting weather, but fine weather will not prevent seasickness in the predisposed, for we were not out of sight of the Gods of Liberty in New York Harbor before some of the passengers were reclining on steamer chairs and sucking lemons.

After having crossed the Atlantic by German lines, I confess to a preference for German-manned boats. The service on deck, in cabin and at the table is the best I have found. It is prompt, intelligent and cheerful without obsequiousness, and without the perpetual suggestion of tips or extra pay, although no doubt they know that will come. But I prefer these boats mainly on account of a feeling of greater security, which one always experiences in the presence of perfect order and rigid discipline. In the crews which were the great passenger ships of the German liners the German Empire has educated a race of seamen that is second numerically to that of England alone, and perhaps not second in the skill, courage and sea-worthiness of individual sailor. It must be remembered that these trained men of the merchant marine belong to the reserve force of the German navy and can be called on at any moment to man the warships that the German Kaiser is so industriously building. It should be remembered by our countrymen and statesmen that within the last year the United States has sent an army of seventy thousand men over a sea route of 7,000 miles and that England has traversed the same distance with more than 200,000 and 50,000 horses. We are no longer the isolated people sea girt as by fire we once were and we have not an overwhelming navy like that of England to protect us. Count von Moltke said he had drawn a dozen successful plans for the invasion of England, but had never been able to plan a successful retreat after he had landed an overwhelming German army. Would he find the same difficulty with the United States? He, or rather his successor certainly will if our sea power keeps pace with our wonderful material development and our widening interests abroad.

We are now in sight of Cherbourg with its great walled artificial harbor and colossal statue of the Great Napoleon, astride a big bronze stallion, his arm extended pointing to the magnificent wall stretching far out in the sea and inscribed below in excellent French, though he spoke an Italian patois, "I will reproduce at Cherbourg the marvels of Egypt."

I shall take the train for Paris to-morrow and in my next letter will tackle the exposition. The subject has already been much written and I would despair of adding anything worth printing were it not for the fact that it is a physical impossibility scientifically proved that no two eyes ever see the same object. If this is true of the physical sight how profoundly true it is of the psychical insight.

Surplus, over 29,000,000

The oldest in the United States. The richest in the world. It is liberal in its terms, economical as to cost, and protective in its scope.

Why should a man insure in the Mutual Life?

Because it provides for him in old age.
Because it protects him against poverty.
Because it protects his other investments.
Because it provides for his family in case of death.
Because it will help him in the business world.
Because it is a duty to provide for his wife and family.
Because it is a safe thing to see the widow and her family destitute.
Because it is a source of great satisfaction to a man to own a Mutual Life Insurance policy.
Because it furnishes immediate relief, and keeps the wolf from the door in case of death.
Because cash invested in the Mutual Life Insurance Company is cash invested in a great consolidation to a man when taking the last fare-well to his family he is able to say: "I am glad that my insurance policy will keep you from want."

OYSTER BAY ITEMS.

A. J. Smith has returned from east of the mountains.

Manson Rogers has a crew of men at work at his new camp at McDonald's ranch, Frank Holman, an Olympia boy, is foreman of the camp.

The oyster trade this fall will be very brisk, owing to it being election year, and oysters will be at least $4.50 per sack on the beds and will go to $5 at the height of the season, and will be scarce at that price.

William Krise sold a scow-load of seed oysters to a party in Vaughn's bay for $700, a dollar a sack being the price paid. W. D. Hudson also sold some 400 sacks to the same party at the same price.

David Helser is dyeing his oyster beds. As showing the increase in value in oyster lands, this bed is a good instance. Mr. Helser purchased it from Sam. G. Ward in 1887 for $100. To-day these holdings are worth at least $7,000.

A party of Shelton business men has purchased J. S. Smith's oyster lands for the sum of $12,000. The deal is held by Mark E. Reed as trustee for the parties interested. Mr. Smith will probably move east of the mountains soon.

There are some so-called hunters in this neck of woods that are pretty low down on the scale of humanity. They will shoot a mother hen and leave her little brood to starve to death. It seems as if the grouse are doomed to extinction if these heartless skunks are permitted to skate around in the timber.

A large bear was killed last Sunday by Frank Mossman, the bear being killed by his white cub, after a long chase. Mossman has taken 25 wild cat scalps to the Auditor of Mason county since last February, one of them being a freak of nature, a wild cat with a long tail and a beautiful striped body like a leopard. It was purchased by Auditor A. Bell.

W. G. T. U. State Convention.

The 17th Annual Convention of the W. C. T. U. of Western Washington begins this evening in the theater.

The Executive committee meets at 6 o'clock, and at 8, sharp, there will be a grand rally in the same building to listen to John F. Wooley, of Chicago, who is said to be one of the most eloquent platform orators of the day.

On Saturday morning at 8:30 the convention will be called to order by Mary L. Page. Routine work will be varied by addresses from the local clergyman, and addresses of welcome by State officers and the Mayor. Mrs. Mattie A. Graves, State Organizer, will respond to these greetings.

STATE NEWS.

Hill's jewelry store in Everett was entered by thieves Tuesday while the proprietor was at supper, and $350 worth of wares were taken.

A brakeman named W. S. Bush, employed on the Chehalis-South Bend branch, got both legs badly mangled at Pe Ell Wednesday night by being run over by the cars. He was taken to Tacoma for medical treatment.

The steamer Valdez left Seattle the other day for Cape Nome, having on board 607 passengers and 1,000 tons of general freight. "Lucky" Baldwin, with a string of race horses and a vaudeville troupe, was a passenger.

The Bellingham mill at New Whatcom, which has been idle since 1891, will be put into operation. The E. K. Wood Lumber Company, of San Francisco, has bought the mill, and will spend about $25,000 in equipments.

In the person of Miss Edith Brown, Bay Center has the rival of the boy preacher, who attracted so much attention recently on Puget Sound. She preached at South Bend Sunday to a large congregation. She is but 14 years of years, but her thoughts were those of a mature woman, and were well and forcefully expressed. She also has a fine, though uncultivated, voice for singing. She is attractive and intellectual in appearance, and is the daughter of George W. Brown, a prominent Bay Center oysterman. She was licensed as an evangelist at the recent session of the Free Methodist conference, held in Everett.

Notice of Sale of Second-Class Tide Land.

Notice is hereby given that on the 7th day of July, 1900, at the hour of two o'clock in the afternoon, on said day, at the door of the Court-house in Thurston county, Washington, the following described tide land will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder therefor, to-wit:

All Tide lands of the second class owned by the State of Washington, situate in front of adjacent to, or abutting upon, that portion of the Government molder line described as follows: In front of Lots 2, 3, 4, 5, and 7 of section 12, Twp. 18 N., R. 3 W., W. M., being 157 1/2 chains. In front of Lots 1 and 2 of section 13, Twp. 18 N., R. 3 W., W. M., being 167 1/2 chains. In front of part of lot 2, section 28, Twp. 19 N., R. 3 W., being 130 chains; or a total of 222 1/2 chains, in front of above named lots, appraised at $5.00 per chain, or $1,112.50.

Said tide land will be sold for not less than the appraised value and subject to the improvement thereon, and as approved by the Board of State Land Commissioners in the manner provided by law, a statement of which is now on file in the office of the Auditor of said county. Terms of sale are: Under contract, one-tenth to be paid on the day of sale, and one-tenth annually thereafter on the first day of March of each year, with accrued interest on deferred balance in full on the first day of March of the year in which the full payment is due, at any time and obtain a deed.

The purchaser of such land will be required to pay at the time of sale the appraised value of any improvements or valuable material on such land in full in addition to the one-tenth of the sale price.

The above described tide lands are offered for sale by virtue of an order of the Board of State Land Commissioners, made on the 24th day of May, 1900, duly certified and on file in the office of said County Auditor.

R. A. GRAHAM,
County Auditor.
