Myers, who has been for years in the employ of the Olympia Light and Power Co., has gone to Seattle to enter service of the electric company there. The motor of the ice-plant of the Capital Brewing Co., at Tumwater, was burned out Tuesday, necessitating the shipment of ice from Portland to supply the trade. Misses Marjorie and Janet Noble, of Portland, returned to their home in that city, yesterday, after a pleasant visit with the family of George B. Lane, on Westside. H. L. Forrest, Chairman of the Populist County Committee, has called a mass convention to meet August 4th, for electing delegates to the State Convention. The Olympia Soda Works use chemically pure artesian water, in the manufacture of their products, a fact of some importance to those who are careful in matters of diet. An iron column has been placed in the doorway of the Chibberg building to support the brick wall of the upper stories which had begun to sag and crack, from a broken lintel. The Sunset Lumber Co. has been organized to operate the McIntosh mill which passed last week into the hands of a receiver. Its trustees are George Lawler and M. F. Wood. hung on a peg for the man who reaches out for it, met with a check the other day when he plastered Sylvester Park with cloth posters announcing one of his unparalleled bargain sales. There was a general protest against the vandal act and the Chief of Police lost no time in removing the offensive placards. The Oregonian's assertion that "a couple of years ago two Olympia marsh farmers drove a few piles to protect a fish-trap location," and have since been paid $12,000 for their fish-claim, is not necessarily untrue because the lucky recipients of a wind-fall do not reside in Olympia. The Olympia marshes are situated near La Conner in Skagit county, and it is probably there that the lightning-stroke of prosperity has fallen. The number of names of business men and heads of families in this city, just completed, furnish an index to the probable population. Mr. Fowler, who has had the matter of preparing statistics for the City Directory in charge has listed 1,879 names, and this multiplied by three, gives an approximately correct result, and places the city's population at 5,637. The directory is now in the hands of the printer and will be issued in about a fortnight. Capt. Kelton, the "ancient mariner," met with a shipwreck in our placid bay, Wednesday afternoon, which came very near sending him down to Davy Jones' locker. It seems that while out in a small sailboat he accidentally fell overboard, and in climbing back up the boat, he had succeeded in climbing on to its bottom, and finally the craft drifted against a pile upon which the Captain fixed a death-grasp and awaited relief. After about an hour's time, which seemed like eternity to him, the steamer Aberdeen came along, and by vigorous shouting he attracted attention and was taken from his unpleasant, if not perilous position. Meany, of the University of Washington, will deliver a series of four lectures on northwestern history, as follows: First, "Voyages of Discovery Along Our Own Coast," second, "Indians, Fur Hunters, Missionaries and about ten days. The oat crop is a promising one. Hops and potatoes have grown well. Cutworms, or larvae resembling them, are creating considerable havoc in the gardens, and even among potatoes and beets. In the eastern sections, fall wheat harvest continues under perfect weather conditions. It is well along, and even finished in especially early localities. The general consensus of opinion is that the yield is somewhat above the average. The past week has been unfavorable for spring wheat and oats. In addition to extreme dryness, hot winds have prevailed which have a tendency to shrivel the wheat. Except in a few favored localities, even an average crop of spring wheat is now impossible without copious rain occurring, which would cause great injury in the fall wheat fields at the present time. Aldridge & Van Eaton received a telegram to-day from a noted North Yakima fruit-grower announcing that he would bring shipment of his Crawford peaches next week. So look out for them at the Saratoga. There does not seem to be any sense of propriety that that corporation is bound to respect. Judge Linn has refused the application for a writ of mandate to compel the State Land Commission to alter alteration of an application to purchase oyster lands. The matter was brought up in the suit of J. J. Breuner, et al vs. the Land Commission. It is intimated that the matter may be taken to the higher court. Philip L., son of Renj. THE Goldbug Democratic National Committee lately met in Indianapolis, and concluded not to put an independent ticket in the field nor to fuse with the anti-imperialists who held a mass meeting lately in New York. It was resolved that a "Go-as-you-please" policy should be pursued, which is construed to mean support of McKinley as many of them did in 1896.
