Mrs. Victoria Callhoun has bought a strip of tide land fronting the old brewery on Eastside.

The attendance of St. Martin's College, at Woodland, is greatly increased over that of last year.

Charles Summers and Miss Mary Mattie were united in marriage, Monday, by Rev. A. G. Sawin.

H. Martin and family have returned from Gray's harbor, where they have been for the past six weeks.

G. M. Clough, of British Columbia, is visiting C. H. Clough, Democratic candidate for State Senator.

Mr. Kretschmer had so far recovered from his illness as to resume work in his barber-shop this morning.

The new M. E. Church is nearing completion, and will be dedicated about the winter holiday season.

Prof. Venen is expected home from Missoula, Mont., this week, where he has been on a visit to his daughter.

John L. Carroll, a brother of C. R. Carroll, city editor of the Olympian, died in Portland, of paralysis, Tuesday.

Gavin Hicks, the State Printer, Oly, is looking for a man who has $250, which says that Rogers will be elected.

Miss Mabel Cressey, of Independence, Oregon, a sister of Mrs. Laberee, is over on a visit to her relatives in this city.

Quite a large assignment of 12-inch wooden pipe was made Saturday from the factory here to the Diamond Ice Co., of Seattle.

Vacant houses are so scarce in this city that no sooner does one become vacant than there are numerous applications for it.

Mr. Mitchell Garrison, who received severe bruises a few days ago by falling over a steep bank on Westside, is able to be about.

After some delay the pile-driving for the new building to be occupied by Mr. Lister's machine shops began yesterday morning.

A new schedule will go into effect Sunday, whereby the train from Tacoma will arrive fifteen minutes earlier. Thanks for small favors.

Guy Barry, who sailed northeast some time ago, on the U. S. steamer Eastlander, in the service of Capt. Gilbert's geodetic survey, has returned home.

The infant daughter, Esther, of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cook, died of pneumonia at Gate City, last Friday. Interment was had in one of the city cemeteries Sunday.

A. W. Dowdell and party have returned from a several months' survey in the Olympics. Mr. D. killed a number of elk during the trip, at one time coming across a band of twenty-five.

Hannah McClelland has bought from the Thurston County Lumber Co. 595 acres of timber land in townships 17 and 18 north, ranges 2 and 3 west, for the consideration of $4,000.

Wilson Dunn, the man charged with stealing Mrs. Stoll's gold watch, has been arrested, a proceeding which he vigorously protested against. In his possession was found the missing property.

A girl baby arrived at the domicile of S. H. Westover, on Eastside, on the 18th inst. A son was born to W. F. Reach, in this city, about the same time, thus restoring the equilibrium of the sexes.

This year's ballot is 8 inches wide and 38 inches long. If the politicians of the country continue to "scatter," it will in the course of time take a barn-door to record the will of the sovereign citizen.

Jonnie Lowe has been accorded a decree of divorce from John Lowe, by the Superior Judge. Mrs. L. is likewise given custody of the two minor children, and what personal property the defendant possesses.

J. H. Norris has bought of H. G. Struve, Seattle, about 900 acres of realty in this county, and the Chambers residence property, corner of Franklin and Fourth streets, now occupied by Mrs. Sickels.

Louie Cadrette, the well-known logger, who cut his foot with an ax while working in a camp over a month ago, and over which he has had much trouble in healing, is able to be around without the aid of crutches.

G. Kauffman left Tuesday for San Francisco, but Oly hopefully remarks that he will be back in time to vote for McKinley. He is the man who went to a Republican primary a few years ago to ask for a reduction of his assessment.

Judge Linn held, in the Dunn habes corpus case, yesterday, that Justice of the Peace have no jurisdiction outside their respective precincts. Dunn living in a different precinct, Justice Schomber had no right to commit him for trial.

Wood & Sullivan offer to bore a tube well for Peety Hill school for $1.55 per foot, and Edward Metzgar will dig for water if subsidized to the extent of $1 per foot. And now the board are meditating upon which is the better proposition.

Mr. Ronald, Democratic candidate for Congress, will be the last speaker of the campaign, and address the people at the theater, on the evening of November 5th. In the afternoon of the same day, Mr. Heidler will speak in the same place.

Some thief broke into Mr. Fred Clear's residence, on Second street, Saturday night, and abstracted a roll of new carpet, valued at $12. Mr. Clear was fitting up the house preparatory to the removal of his home from another place.

The Woodland race track grounds and buildings were sold yesterday by L. C. Ellis to Henry Schoop, for the sum of $2,900. The transfer includes 85 acres of land, sheds, fences and club-house, a property that is said to have cost Mr. Ellis, during the "boom times" about $10,000.

Mr. Wisner, Chairman of the Campaign committee, calls us down for representing him as having said that the county ticket will be elected "almost entirely." He objects to the word "almost," and declares his firm belief that every man will be elected. We gladly make the correction.

Arrangements have been made for a boat service for Hoyt's "Stranger in New York" company, to this city, on the 27th. They will arrive by the Aberdeen at 2 p. m., in ample time to place their gorgeous array of scenery and make all preparations for a full presentation of their great play.

The waters of the Deschutes have risen considerably in consequence of the late heavy rainfalls. This enables the power company to run their cars and supply lights to better advantage. It will not be long, however, till the company will have ample power through the extra "head" from the new flume.

The main fault generally found with amateur performances is that the acts or numbers are prolonged to an interminable length. Take, for instance, the grand march which concluded Friday night's performance: It seemed interminable, and it was not till the audience had begun to manifest impatience that it came to a close.

George Littlewood obtained a divorce from his wife, who was Julia A. Deford, only last June, and 60 years of age, while the benedict is only 25. This was not, however, the cause on which the marriage was annulled, but the fact that the guy widow had a husband living in Michigan when she gathered in her strapping husband.

It is a noticeable fact that while ladies who are regular theater-goers, always remove their hats while attending a dramatic performance, those who frequent political meetings or a church festival, persist in keeping their pagodas elevated, notwithstanding Dame Fashion has decreed otherwise. Who will deny that the theater is an educator?

John Byrne is becoming quite a landed proprietor. His latest purchase is the Van Epps property, in "Swanton," as Eastside was formerly called, on Fourth street, between Plum and Pear. A large residence and a small office building constitute the improvements on the two lots transferred. The purchase price was $300—"dirt cheap."

The outcome of a political debate in the Fashion salon Tuesday night was the drawing of blood from a crippled Democrat, who had made some remark offensive to the ears of his Republican opponent. We do not publish names because of the pity we bear for people who so far forget themselves as to come to blows over a debate that should always be carried on in a friendly spirit.

P. J. O'Brien is getting things down "Pat" at his blacksmith shop on Columbia street. He has just put in a five horse electric motor to run a water pump to furnish an air current for his forge, which does away with the labor of pumping the old-fashioned bellows. He expects to add a band-saw to his already well-equipped wagon-making department within the next few days.

Another loss that can be laid at the door of the bad boys in this city is the death of a horse belonging to John Grimm. The animal was found dead on Fifth street, between Plum and Pear, where the evening before a number of boys had been seen chasing him. It is probable that while endeavoring to escape from his persecutors the animal fell and injured his spine so badly that death ensued.

The city has won its suit brought by the Illinois Trust and Savings Bank, for payment of claim of a water company for arrearages on a contract made ten years ago, during boom times for payment of about $3,000 a year for the fire-hydrant service. The amount claimed, in excess of what had been paid and received by the company under protest, amounts to about $7,000. Mr. Troy was attorney for the city in this suit.

In a fight between two Chinamen, Ah Quen and Ah Sing, Monday night, at Hong Yek laundry on Fifth street, the latter received a severe cut just the right eye. Justice Schomber made out a warrant for the arrest of Ah Quen, but up to this time he has not been found. Ah Sing, in order to make the damages appear as great as possible, allowed the blood to run and dry over his face in such a manner as to present a horrible appearance.

Several officers of the Port Angeles Eastern Railway Co. have arrived from the East to inspect the work already done on the West Side road, and determine its future. They are C. C. Atkinson, Vice-President and General Manager, E. A. Fitzgerald, Chief Engineer, and A. L. Blackwood, a stockholder. Their main object is to meet Virgil G. Bogue, the eminent railroad engineer, and consult with him regarding the expediency of speedy construction.

The case of Wilson Dunn, on preliminary trial, Saturday night, before Justice Schomber, developed into quite a sensational direction. It seems that there is a question of veracity at issue. Dunn says the plaintiff, Mrs. Stoll, gave him the watch and she solemnly affirms he stole it. There was much evidence that portrayed animus and motive. The result of the examination was to hold defendant in the sum of $200 to answer to a charge of larceny. In default of bail Dunn languishes in jail.

It has been suggested that the gallery of Olympia Theater be closed, temporarily at least, and determine whether that will have any effect in restraining the boisterous conduct of big boys and hoodlums, at times of late, during each play. It became necessary, during the rendition of "For His Sake," for a reprimand from the stage, to be issued only justifying the outrage under extreme circumstances. Let this admonition suffice, and Saturday night's performance show that this rowdiness is more the result of thoughtlessness than an intentional violation of the proprieties.

The following citizens have been drawn in service on the petty jury during the Fall term of the Superior Court: Milton Giles, C. A. Nettleson, A. T. Erickson, D. W. Chilson, C. H. Bethel, H. C. Kelly, J. H. Meays, F. P. McFadden, Chas. H. Pridham, Henry Kirkendall, John Ross, E. S. Ford, M. M. Kowalsky, W. P. Kearley, Olympia; A. H. Hunter, Hunter; Point; G. W. Bell, South Bay; B. E. Denton, Oyster Bay; Jacob H. H. Morgan, Tumwater; Nelson Bangs, Rainier; Fred, Howes, Mid Bay; Edward Diamond and F. W. Moulton, South Union.

John Wenger, a well known citizen of South Bay, died at his home Saturday, from injuries received by falling from a wagon, on the evening of the 10th inst., while driving home from this city. He was not discovered till the next morning, when he was carried home by neighbors and received careful treatment, but the fall resulted in concussion of the brain and his progress though slow was steady towards the grave. Mr. W. was 51 years and 66 years of age. He was a veteran of the civil war. He came to this coast twenty years ago. The funeral rites were held yesterday, Rev. Dr. Glass officiating.

Mr. Huggins is making preparation for testing his newly invented stump puller. It is an ingenious combination of chains which the tree when it is felled in the ordinary way, is stumped out by the leverage of its weight. The principle upon which it works seems simple enough to insure successful operation, but so even do many of the contrivances planned for ever perpetual motion, that it is often so often hidden condition which confounds the most plausible theories, and what seems in embryo a perfect demonstration, fails when submitted to the exacting requirements of practical test. It is hoped, however, that Mr. H's stump-puller will open a new and firmly based field, for if it does there will, like Col. Sells' eye-water, be "millions in it." The test of the machine will be made some day next week, of which due notice will be given in these columns.

The Merchants' Carnival.

The Carnival, held by our business men, at Olympia Theater, Friday evening, in number of patrons, the stage display, and receipts of the entertainment, were quite satisfactory. It was given under the auspices of the Christian church, and the management of Mr. Stork and wife.

To praise any one of the many beautiful artistic presentations might be unjust, and we will, therefore, say that all were meritorious and some of them exceptionally so. We may be pardoned, however, for making the Stranger in New York's representation an exception: the rendition of "Drake's Address to the American Flag," by Miss Minnie Yeager. Her well known reputation as an elocutionist, aroused expectation to a high degree, and her auditors were not disappointed. The apostrophe to "Old Glory" was a fit setting for the subject and the majestic lines of the beautiful poem.

The other characters represented were:

Hoyt's "A Stranger in New York."

The only company presenting Hoyt's happiest hit, "A Stranger in New York," comes to the Olympia Theater Saturday night, Oct. 27. As has been secured a success in London and now playing to the capacity of the theater in all the principal cities of Australia, plainly illustrates the popularity of Hoyt's "A Stranger in New York" with theater-goers of the world. Not in this city alone, but everywhere. Hoyt's "A Stranger in New York" is presented, immense audiences are always the rule. Hoyt knows how to draw money to the box-office better than any other playwright. His great success in this respect lies in the happy faculty of knowing just what the amusement-seeking public wants, and presenting it to them in the right way at the right time, and presenting all his plays in the smaller cities precisely the same way in every detail as he puts them on in his own theater in New York. He has been catering to the taste of the theater-going public for the past twelve years, and during all that time he has never disappointed his patrons by offering them an inferior entertainment.

The Royal Marine Band.

All the managers between here and Minneapolis are declaring that they have never had an attraction that has caught on so completely as the Royal Marine Band of Italy and are offering almost any terms to have the band return this way after its visit to California. The programmes of the band are more than doubled with encores every night and as the band is equally well both classically and popular music, all classes are satisfied and unite in declaring the Royal Marine Band to be the greatest musical organization they have ever heard, American or foreign.—Minneapolis Tribune.

A meeting was held at Everett Monday to discuss the Asiatic labor situation. Resolutions were passed against the employment of Japanese labor at Everett, against the importation of Asiatic labor, and for prosecution of those guilty of importing alien contract labor illegally.

In Political Parance—That Seems to Be the Idea of the McKinley Forces—The New York Democratic Meeting Good for a Million Votes—How China Pulls the Wool Over McKinley's Eyes—The Breach Widens Between Quay and the Administration—Desperate Alternatives to be Adopted by Republicans to Carry the Electoral College.

From our Regular Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19, 1900.

Republicans, from Mr. McKinley down, have made this a campaign of misrepresentation from the start. Mr. McKinley himself started the false pretense that the war taxes would be repealed at the coming session of Congress, and the promise has been reiterated and reiterated by Republican speakers and writers in all sections of the country. The war taxes will not be repealed by the present Congress, unless the election of Mr. Bryan in the hope of embarrassing his administration, for the very simple reason that the money they produce is necessary to meet the expenses of the McKinley policy of imperialism. This is well known to every prominent official of the Treasury Department, although it would be as much as his place was worth for any one of them to publicly say so. But they don't have to say anything, the figures tell the tale. The official figures show that the total expenditures of the government for the last fiscal year amounted to $188,099,828.00, and the total receipts to $171,271,451.71. Subtract one from the other and you have the "immense surplus" about which Republicans are so fond of talking. There will be no repeal of war taxes, but there will be a reduction in the tax on beer, the brewers having bought a promise to that effect with heavy campaign contributions. Still Republican speakers will go on promising their hearers that the war taxes will be repealed. They go on the theory that a vote obtained by false pretenses counts for just as much as one bought for cash, and is cheaper.

Edges of the big Bryan meeting held in Madison Square Garden, in New York City, will reach the remotest section of the country, and the enthusiasm there aroused will spread until it takes on the qualities of a Democratic tidal wave, which may be great enough to sweep the traitor administration out of power, or may just fall short of that much to be desired accomplishment. No man can say in advance what the result of it will be, but let it be what it will, it is admitted, even by the McKinley forces, that no such outpouring of the masses as that which honored Mr. Bryan has ever before turned out in this city to hear any candidate; and old campaigners, who were there, declare that they were astonished at the intensity and the amount of enthusiasm shown by Mr. Bryan and the other speakers. It was a revelation to New Yorkers, and it opened the eyes of many who have heretofore refused to believe that Bryan and Stevenson had a chance to carry the State of New York. An enthusiastic Washington Democrat who attended the big meeting said: "That meeting was worth a million Democratic votes. It would have been an absolute impossibility in that town during the campaign of 1896. Why Mr. McKinley keeps an American minister at Peking when he invariably turns down his advice and recommendations and acts in accordance with what the Chinese minister to the United States says, is one of those questions which a whole bunch of Americans would like to have satisfactorily answered. It bobbed up again this week, when Minister Conger sent a dispatch warning Secretary Hay that the Chinese government was not 'toting fair.' After that dispatch was received the Chinese minister, in violation of all diplomatic usage, was allowed to have a personal interview with Mr. McKinley, in order that he might present a dispatch from the Chinese Emperor to the would-be American Emperor, thanking him for all he had done for the Chinese government, while members of that government were inciting the murder of Americans and other foreigners in China, and Mr. McKinley dropped the political work in which he is now exclusively engaged for a whole hour to swallow chunks of taffy presented by the wily Chinaman.

Inasmuch as it has been well known in Washington that there has been no love lost between Mr. McKinley and the Chinese minister, who was kept out of his seat in the Senate by Boss Hanna, there was much curiosity aroused when Quay called at the White House and had an hour's private talk with Mr. McKinley. It has leaked out that Quay sought to make a dicker whereby the administration's influence could be used to help him in his fight to control the Pennsylvania Legislature and be returned to the Senate, and that Mr. McKinley refused to help him, on the ground that he had troubles enough of his own just now without assuming those of Quay.
