CITY NEWS IN BRIEF.

Considerable rain has fallen the past week. A young daughter of Arthur Weston is quite ill of typhoid pneumonia. "To-night and Saturday showers," proclaimed the weather oracle today. The next steamship for Alaskan ports will be the City of Seattle, Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ott have returned from their wedding trip to California. Eugene S. Horton and Frank Mitchell have opened a plumbing shop on Columbia street. Joseph Chiberg arrived from Nome this week, to spend winter in a more congenial climate.

The "S. R. O." sign was displayed the first time in ten years at Olympia Theater, Monday night. J. T. Bethel is down from the Swauk mining district, where he is now engaged in business. It is said that another attempt will be made to sink an oil well on the Sarver farm, near Tenino.

Mrs. S. P. Wiman is in attendance on her son John, at Seattle, who is afflicted with typhoid fever. An artesian well is being driven on the Millard Lemon premises corner of Fourth and Franklin streets. The steamer City of Aberdeen came in this morning and will be laid off from service for an indefinite period.

Eltney Van Epps, who has been three years in Alaska, arrived home Tuesday. He will return after the holidays. The Hi Henry minstrel performance Monday night came fully up to expectations and was greeted by a packed house. Work has been suspended on the court house building and capitol annex the past few days in consequence of heavy rainfall.

Surveyor General Kingsbury has opened, listed and forwarded the bids submitted for surveying the Quinalt Indian reservation. B. F. Denton, of Mud Bay, returned last Saturday from his Eastern trip, during which time he visited the Pan-American Exposition.

A Teachers' Institute has been in session the past week in this city and from appearances more than usual interest has centered therein. The State Treasurer has made a call for capital fund warrants numbered from 101 to 146, involving $4,471. The call matures on the 9th inst.

Leander Fenholm and Miss B. K. Erickson were united in marriage Tuesday evening, by a minister of the Lutheran church from Tacoma. J. K. L. Mitchell has bought the "McClellan" sawmill at Tenino. It has a capacity of 25,000 per day and the sale includes a logging outfit.

Tom Prather's language is expressive, if not elegant, when he talks about those mischievous boys who appropriated his gate on Halloween. Mrs. Bernetti Willard was Wednesday accorded a decree of divorce by the Superior Court from Alexander Willard, on the ground of cruelty.

Mark Jones has sold to Walter Gunstone lot 2, block 31, Swan's addition, on Sixth street between Pearl and Quince, for a consideration of $450. A dozen silk umbrellas were stolen from the residence of Judge Dunbar last Tuesday night, the property of guests, while they were playing whist within.

C. Holthusen has sold his bakery and restaurant business, on Fourth street, to C. H. Robbins, lately of Centralia, who has assumed personal supervision. "King of the Opium Ring" wanted to change its date this week to Nov. 4th, just ahead of "Under Two Flags," and had to be refused to protect the date of "Two Flags."

A. E. Windas and Miss Sibley A. Simpson were united in marriage Wednesday noon, at the residence of the bride's mother, corner of Fifth and Franklin streets. It is probable that the game season will be over, or large game all exterminated, before the court gets around to the agreed case to test the constitutionality of the game law.

The 33d anniversary of the organization of the A. O. U. W. was observed by the local lodge, at their hall in this city, at which a literary and musical entertainment was held. O. C. White was called to Eugene City, Ore., Tuesday, by a telegram announcing the serious illness of his father. He left by train the same afternoon to minister to his wants.

G. V. Swarlow and Miss Margaret Ivas were united in marriage by Squire Schomber, Saturday afternoon. They came up from Seattle and returned after the silken knot had been tied. The steamship Umattilla sailed from the Sound for San Francisco, Thursday, J. S. Saunders being a passenger by her from this city. The next steamer for that destination will be the City of Puebla, Tuesday.

up against a proposition that has landed him in the Reform School. It seems that he hired a bicy cle, a few days ago, and forgot to return it, but did not neglect to remove the name and number plate and secure it in the basement of the capitol, where it was found, Monday, and identified as the missing wheel. Justice was swift in this case, as the word had been, for some time, held by a bare thread, and the very next day "Frankie" started for the institution established to cast out the devils which infest youthful miscreants.

An Amazon with the suggestive name of "M. E. Church," deals a solar plexus blow at Chief Sledge in Oly's Tuesday issue, simply because he obeyed instructions of the City Council and notified the irate lady that she had to quit visiting smallpox patients or go to the pest-house. She claims that she is "as clean externally and internally" as he is, which matter, she should know would require an X-ray examination to determine, and must, therefore remain problematical. She further asserts that the Lord is on her side, which, if true, should restrain her from rushing into print. Christ was meek, patient and long-suffering, and instead of hurling abuse at those who assailed, and finally crucified him, sent up the humble petition "Father forgive."

Col. C. J. Holt has finished up his temperance crusade and gone forth to "fight the Demon" in other fields. He sums up as result of his labors 275 recruits to the temperance league and 55 new members for the W. C. T. U. What proportion of this accession may be classified with the habitual drunkard, and in need of moral restraint to overcome fixed habit, does not appear, but it is that element which true temperance reform seeks to benefit and over the reformation of a single unfortunate there should be more rejoicing than a mere profession of steadfastness of ninety and nine who have never indulged in the de-lu-sive pleasures of inebriation. "A few years ago, when the writer of the above lines presided several years over an exceedingly large and popular organization known as the Blue Ribbon League, it was noted that the pledge-signers were almost wholly confined to those righteous people who needed no hitching-post to hold them steady.

John Segrist, who spent several months in this city a short time ago, as a representative of an Eastern photographic house, died in Columbus, Ohio, Monday, from injuries received Saturday afternoon, in a football game of the Ohio State University team. Mr. Sawyer received Wednesday a letter from Frank Govey, written in Dublin, Ireland, where Mr. G. is spending a few days on his return from Japan. He will visit in Ohio a few weeks and then return to this city, which he considers his home.

Elias J. Payne shipped Monday fifty young fir trees to the Superintendent of the National Zoological Park, at Washington, in the hope that Washington fir may, in the course of time, ornament the city honored by the same illustrious name. David Drewry, of Bush Prairie, had his left hand badly mangled by a threshing machine he was operating, one day last week. All the fingers were badly lacerated and some of the bones broken, but the hand will be saved.

birds have been the only evidence this year of the flight of "this bird," but old-timers say that white alone is sufficient warning that the coming winter will be very cold. About six years ago Franklin P. Speck, an attorney residing at Pasco, brought suit in the Superior Court against Captain William B. Gray, then Sheriff of Franklin county, for alienating the affections of his wife. After a long and sensational trial the jury gave Speck $15,000 damages. Of that amount $30 was collected on execution. The six-year-limit having expired, Speck began proceedings to renew the judgment. His action prevailed, and the judgment now calls for $20,240 and costs. A divorce being granted the Specks, Captain Gray married her and they are living at Pasco. Henry Meyers committed suicide at Orting, Friday night, by shooting himself. He had been divorced from his wife about one week. The night before he had gone to the family home near Orting and made such demonstrations as to drive Mrs. Meyers in terror from the place. She was accompanied by the younger children who make their home with her. Shortly after leaving the house, she heard two shots, but thinking they had been fired for the purpose of further intimidating her, she paid no attention to them, but went to Tacoma and swore out a warrant for the arrest of Meyers. When the officers went to serve the warrant they ascertained the man was dead. Mr. and Mrs. Meyers had lived together for more than a quarter of a century. Seventeen children had been born to them. About a year ago three of the children died within the space of one week. Since the children died Meyers seemed to be a different man and he began drinking and became abusive. Mrs. Meyers sought a divorce. After the papers had been served Meyers sought and secured a reconciliation. But his vows to do better lasted one week. Then Mrs. Meyers again sought a divorce and this time secured it.

STATE NEWS. A Brief Summary of News Gathered from All Parts of the State. John B. Hedges, ex-Treasurer of Pierce county, died at Tacoma, Sunday, aged 45 years. The total shipments of gold from Dawson for September was $3,000,000. This brings the total for the last four months to $21,000,000. Fishermen who have been supplying the Seattle canneries have advanced the price of salmon from five and seven cents each to straight fifteen cents. Considerable Walla Walla fruit has been found to be infected with the San Jose scale, probably 100 tons of prunes alone having been rejected as unfit for shipment because of the pest. Men in search of hogs are offering high prices in the vicinity of Dayton, Columbia county has plenty of stock hogs, but a shortage of porkers ready for slaughter. The price now offered the farmer is $5.75 per 100, on foot. While attempting to walk a log across a pond at Davis & Dineen's camp near Hoquiam, recently, Peter Kammer fell into the water and was drowned. He was about 30 years of age, unmarried. He has a brother and sister in Minnesota. The pruner drier at Elberton, which is said to be the largest in the world, with 3,000 crates, each holding 50 pounds of fruit, is now running night and day. It is estimated that the drier will handle 1,000,000 pounds of prunes this season. Harrison Tate and J. W. Harrow are in the county jail at Dayton accused of assaulting Sarah Carver, a 14-year-old girl, at the Fletcher farm, 12 miles from Dayton. The girl's parents have been divorced and she has been living from house to house. Lying unconscious at their home at South Bend, Mrs. Rebecca Webb and her son Charles, were found Monday, suffering from slow corrosive poisoning. The young man has since died and his mother cannot survive. Grant Webb, a son, who it is alleged was divorced from home several days ago, is under arrest and his sister, Cora, aged 20, is under police surveillance. She says she does not believe Grant poisoned the family's food. Robert R. Walsh, of Sheridan, Wyo., who has a contract with the British Government to supply 1,000 fighting horses, to be used in South Africa, the other day shipped 625 to Billings, Mont., where they will be inspected by British Army officers and sent by rail to New Orleans for shipment. The horses were bought in Eastern Washington, Oregon and Northern Idaho. Mr. Walsh is at Walla Walla buying more horses. George Matthews has been arrested at Wullock charged with adultery. The wife of M. M. Balfour, of Cowlitz, is implicated in the affair with Matthews, and Mrs. Balfour is the principal witness against him. When the case was called Wednesday, Balfour was unable to testify, lying down and crying in court or sitting mute when questioned, although she had previously told her story in full to the Prosecuting Attorney. Next morning she was unable to appear and the case was continued until Monday. Sunday night two strangers attacked Mr. Coombs, in the eastern part of Snohomish, striking him a stunning blow. They did not secure any booty. Night Policeman William Brown went to and remained in the vicinity of the occurrence. The highwaymen soon came out of hiding, and on being ordered to stand, broke and ran. The officer, after ordering them to halt, fired, and the ball struck one of the men in the back. Both men were placed in jail. They were identified by Coombs. A rubber hose two feet long stuffed with gravel was found where they had dropped it. Aberdeen Bulletin: Evidence of the flight southward of millions of "white birds" are to be found on the streets nearly every morning. Every fall, and especially so in seasons preceding an exceptionally hard winter, these birds are seen in vast numbers flying southward. They travel day and night in their haste to escape the bitterness of the cold north, and it is this fact that results in many of the birds being killed, and also in the fact of their flight being made known, for the birds are strongly attracted by a light at night, and often dash out their brains from striking one. Nearly every street light in this city has been the means of one or more birds being killed in the last few days. Dead
