CITY NEWS IN BRIEF.

Vote right. Halloween. Election next Tuesday. Didn't it rain last night? The streets are quite muddy. Smelt are plentiful in our bay. Candidates are becoming uneasy. Wild ducks are getting numerous. Mayor Davis of Hoquiam is in the city. Columbia Hall is receiving a new roof. Take plenty of time to mark your ballot. Vote for P. M. Troy for County Attorney. The bottling works have resumed operations. Every candidate is confident of being elected. There will be many "sore heads" after Tuesday. Captain Waite, of the West Seattle ferry is in the city. The Multnomah will probably go on the gridiron Sunday. A daughter was born to Mrs. G. W. Ingham last evening. Have you noticed that broad smile on the faces of candidates? Look out for the man who continually prates about his honesty. Sherlock and Little Rock each held a "grand" ball Saturday night. Mrs. G. H. Clark entertained the Eastside Whist Club Tuesday night. Mrs. M. Glidden and daughter Alice, of South Bay, are on a visit to Tacoma. A car-load of moulding sand came in Wednesday for the Pioneer foundry. J. S. Roberts is a new arrival from Ohio and expects to make his home here. Roscoe O. and Henry Snider are in our city from Ohio, looking for a business opening. Rev. H. R. Pendleton is conducting revival services in the Christian church this week. The Sisters of Charity are making preparations for their annual fair and sale of fancy work. Wiley Banks has gone to Tacoma, where he has employment in one of the big grain warehouses. The weather prediction to-day reads: "To-night and Saturday, partially cloudy. To-night showers." Frank Wiman is the happiest man in town. He is the father of bouncing twin boys, born Wednesday. Miss Nellie Everhardt returned to her home at Everett yesterday after a visit with her sister Mrs. Wetmore. The K. of P. have completed all arrangements for their "grand" ball to be given at the Army on Nov. 14th. The steamship City of Puebla sailed for San Francisco to-day. Kollen Wood being a passenger by her from this city. The Tony Faust restaurant has adopted restricted hours of business. It will be open hereafter from 6 A. M. until 8 P. M. The Pioneer Foundry is erecting a large addition on the west side of its premises for a moulding room for the larger castings. McLane precinct is going to have a new public hall. The citizens have joined together and purchased a site from J. G. Bolster. Forty students are now in attendance at the People's University and fifteen occupy rooms in the lately completed dormitory. Leonard Longmire lately sold the timber on his farm in section 30, township 16 north, range 3 west to S. C. Knowles of Tacoma. An infant child of M. H. Mulkey was struck on the head with an ax in the hands of another child, a few days ago, and severely injured. O. C. Huggert has purchased from the Ostrander estate lot 6 of Ostrander's subdivision of block 38. The consideration was $1,100. The American bark Olympia is the latest vessel to load lumber at the Westside mill, the Sabel having recently completed her cargo. Dr. H. S. Wyman, wife and daughter, returned Wednesday night from a trip to Alaska. The doctor's health is much improved by the trip. St. Martin's College, at Woodland, an Olympia suburb, has a juvenile brass band, which is said to rival Prof. Davis' organization in proficiency. Daughters were born to Mrs. James Skar and Mrs. M. A. Westerman, of this city, and to Mrs. Wint. Bennett, of Shelook, within the past week. The next steamship leaving the Sound for Alaskan ports, will be the City of Seattle, Thursday, and for San Francisco, the Queen, Wednesday. The street this side of the street railway company's log cabin, on the hill opposite Tunwater, is being graded by the street force of that town. Henry Kearney and Miss Helen Welner, of this city, were united in marriage, last Sunday, and are now on a bridal trip to the lower Sound cities. The illness of N. E. Smith, driver of Kearney & Co.'s delivery wagon, has compelled him to take to his bed, and Joe Kirkendall is temporarily filling his place. Inez Perry, arrested at Seattle a short time ago, on a charge of larceny committed in Montana, has been taken there for trial on extradition proceedings. Finnegan's Ball drew a fair house at the theater Tuesday night, but it knocked the smelters out of "On the Stroke of Twelve," which came the next evening. Mrs. W. H. Bennett, of Shelook, has received a tax title to two acres of ground upon which stood the famous Ragland blockhouse of Indian war days. The description of the property still contains the mention of the old title of the pioneers.

Jack Gimblet is again at the hospital. The last few weeks had been spent by him at Dr. Peppard's ranch on Bush Prairie, without any change for better or worse. Joseph Armato, an employe of the Olympia Brewing Company at Tunwater, and Miss Anetta Seyk were united in marriage at Tunwater, Wednesday, Rev. Father Allaine officiating. Swan Solbeck, as administrator of the estate of Geo. W. Fry, has sold to Conrad Schneider the square of section 4, township 18, range 2 west. The property is situated near Mud Bay. The consideration was $750. The Olympia Eagles will go to Tacoma Sunday, by invitation of the aerie of that city, it being the occasion of the dedication of the new Eagles' hall. A good time will be had by all who are fortunate enough to be present. There is no doubt but that Arthur Callow will be re-elected auditor. He has made a good officer, and is certainly deserving of another term. You will make no mistake, irrespective of party, in placing an X opposite his name. A flight of stairs is being built from the brewery bottling works on the depot grounds to the top of the bluff, to enable its employes to climb the elevation on Tenth street without a detour of several blocks to reach their homes. The steamer Aberdeen resumed the afternoon service to-day, to take the place of the Capital City, temporarily disabled by one of her periodical mishaps, which she repaired for a time on the sands at Dash point, just north of Tacoma, in a couple fathoms of water. A. S. Caton, a member of the Olympia Development Co., has arrived from Coshocton, Ohio, with his family, to make Olympia their future home. They were accompanied by Charles Moore, and Mrs. A. J. Juniper, who will also become residents of our city. J. A. Ricker, manager of Outdoor Life, the well-known sporting magazine, has been named as the new hunter, a present of a $75 camera. Frank now proposes taking a number of views of animals he kills, and scenes in the woods, and forward them to the magazine. A gun club has been organized in this city with Adjutant-General Jas. A. Drain for president, W. J. Agnew Vice President, and W. T. Cavanaugh Secretary-Treasurer. The club has leased all the grounds on the north side of the Nesqually river, where it enters the Sound. J. W. Seawright will re-open his lunch room and bakery at 122 Washington street, in the old Odd Fellows' building, which is already prepared to entertain a limited number of his former customers at his coffee stand, and expects to have his bakery in service soon as brick can be procured to build the oven. A party of Masons came up from Shelton Saturday in Joe Deer's launch to attend a special meeting, at which the Grand Master of the order took part in the work. The party who came up were John Nelgen, S. L. Woods, W. M. Cooper, W. H. Maxwell, Marcus Knight, Wm. Shorter and Daniel McLary. At a recent meeting of Fire Company No. 2, the following officers were chosen: Secretary, Louis Brautigan; Captain, William Lathrop; First Lieutenant, Wendell Raymond. New members elected were: C. M. Bolton, L. A. McBratney, Chas. Nunn, Ben. Shinccke and Henry Reder. The boys went out for a drill Saturday night. Floradora, with the great Corinne, who appeared in this city about eight years ago, is now at the Marquis Grand in Portland. This is a stellar attraction, and should by some means be induced to visit our city. It has a Beauty Chorus of 70 charming ladies, its own special orchestra, and magnificent scenery. It comes high, but we want it. "Now is the winter of our discontent," sighs the expectant candidate for the governorship, as he looks on the continuous patter of the rain upon the roof, and may the outpour be "In the bosom of the ocean buried," is a continuation of a simile devoutly prayed for, as he watches the rivulets formed by it coursing their way to our part of Pacific's broad expanse. Tuesday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, the funeral of Alfred Dunlap took place at the home of G. E. Davis, conducted by services at the house and at the cemetery just east of the little hamlet. Deceased was 72 years of age, and the last member of a pioneer family, consisting of a father and mother and two brothers, who left his impress upon olden times. Horace Skelley, a well-known young man from Mastlock, who recently returned from a tour of England evidently made the most of his trip, says the Shelton Journal. Horace quietly secured a marriage license from Auditor Bell and went to Seattle yesterday, where it is reported that he will meet a young lady, Miss E. M. Blackwell, from his old home, and they are to be married at the home of Robert Simpson, in Olympia, to-day. Those dealers who seem impressed with the idea that the price of wood is capable of indefinite expansion may learn when it is too late that in coal they have a powerful competitor. Coal is now cheaper than wood, and it makes a better fire. The only exception to its use has been based upon the quantity of ash it produces, but it is claimed that this objection is being overcome as the older grade of coal is reached. Laberco handles the best coal. A burglar entered the abode of A. W. Keady, Wednesday night, and holding Mrs. K. and her hired girl up with a revolver, proceeded to plunder the house for valuables. He found $11 in coin, but several articles of jewelry were left, the idea doubtless being to avoid possession of anything that might lead to identification. The burglar wore a mask over his face and a rubber overcoat to conceal the clothing he had on. When the robber left it was with the Trajan injunction to keep quiet for half an hour which admonition was carefully observed. There seems to be absolutely no clue to the identity of the malefactor, so it may be well for our people to keep a rod in pickle for such unwelcome visitors. The new N. P. train schedule which goes into effect Sunday will be as follows: No. 7 leaves Olympia at 10:45 A. M. for Portland. No. 8 leaves Olympia at 12:30 P. M. for Tacoma. No. 309, leaves Olympia at 6:45 P. M. for Harbor ports. No. 310, leaves Olympia at 9:35 A. M. for Tacoma. It will be observed that No. 310, leaving Olympia at 9:35 in the morning, and returning at 6:15 in the evening, will enable Olympia people to make the trip to Tacoma and Seattle and spend the greater part of the day there in the transaction of business. It will also enable down Sound people who have business here and want to get home the same day to arrive on the 10:45 train and return on the afternoon boat. The armless man who gave exhibitions on the street here a few days ago, has got into trouble at Aberdeen. It seems he got drunk and cleaned out a restaurant, a saloon, and set at defiance the authority of the city, which it must be admitted far exceeds the tricks which created so much wonder here. It seems that when the waiter in the restaurant did not respond promptly, the amibi-biped drew a pistol from his pocket with his foot and flourished it about in a manner which soon cleared the room of everybody. He then went to a saloon and knocked a man down with his foot, when the City Marshal, by the City Marshal, but not until he had received the imprint of the freak's foot on his stomach. He was fined $25 and costs but refused to pay until he saw the inside of the calaboose, when he immediately "pungled."

A LETTER FROM MR. CALLOW.

He Answers Some of the Malivolet Charges Against Him.

ED. STANDARD: Much as I dislike personal controversies, I feel that it is my duty to correct some of the inaccuracies which have occurred in the references made to me during the present political campaign by the Daily Olympian and its publishers, and ask of you sufficient space to make as brief a reply as possible to the misstatements they have seen fit to make concerning me. When Olympia, in its issue of Oct. 8th, in commenting on the resolution of the Board authorizing the expenditure of the funds necessary to comply with the law in regard to the checking of the Treasurer's books, states that pursuant to this resolution, I "employed extra help (named by Ismay) at a cost to the taxpayers of $251.55." The charge that this "extra help" was named by Ismay, is simply the silly imagining of the Olympian writer. I selected the men myself to do this work, without any suggestion from Mr. Ismay, or anyone else, and the men who did the work were employed for the sole reason that they were the most competent men to be had at the time. It was readily seen that the Olympian strikers knew that none of the cost of this work was paid to me, but to Mr. Sapp, on Oct. 24th, when a communication charging me with receiving this $250 personally, in addition to my regular salary, they deliberately and maliciously lied, knowing it to be a lie and thinking to clinch it and make it do all the service which editorial verbiage could force it to do, and to protect the County Treasury from the raids of the grafters, during the past two years. Very respectfully, A. L. CALLOW.

A DENIAL.

Mr. Callow Pleads "Not Guilty" to the Charge of Manipulating Convention.

ED. STANDARD: Replying to Mr. Yantis' letter in your issue of Oct. 24, I beg to say that I had absolutely nothing whatever to do with the nomination of or failure to nominate a Democratic candidate for Commissioner from the Third district. I have been doing so long take much part in politics and it was impossible for me to find time even to attend the County Convention. I did not know either before or after the Convention what was being done in regard to the matter. I did not feel either qualified or inclined to take any part in it. From the best information I can obtain, Mr. Yantis is "away off" on what he evidently believes to be the facts in the matter. Particularly in regard to the fact that he says that two years ago Mr. Otis went to work in the Bucoda mill in order to canvass for Mr. Ismay. Mr. Otis had scarcely a speaking acquaintance with Mr. Ismay two years ago, and it happens that it was over four years ago, instead of two, that Mr. Otis worked in the Bucoda mill. Very respectfully, A. L. CALLOW.

Maintains Her Record.

The Capital City sank Tuesday evening, off Dash Point, three-quarters of a mile south of Brown's point, just out Tacoma harbor, on her down trip, by collision with the Canadian freighter Trader, which was on route from Stevenson, B. C., for Tacoma. An immense hole was torn in the former vessel, just about the company, and she began to rapidly fill, when she was run ashore, and sank with her upper works above water, from which a score of passengers were afterwards taken off by the steamer Flyer. The Trader was likewise considerably injured, her stem torn off and a hole punched into her bow above the water line, but she made port in safety and by shifting cargo the break was kept above water. The accident must have occurred from mistake of signals. The captain of the Trader insists that he sounded the usual signal for passing on the starboard side twice, the first not being answered and a second being taken as understood, but the Capital City then started to cross his bow, with disastrous result to both vessels. Capt. Edwards, of the Capital City, says he did not see the Trader's lights, and it was impossible to avoid the collision when he saw her shadow. He claims that the Trader gave the starboard signal and then attempted to pass on the port side. The Capital City may be saved, but it will be at large expense. She may be floated to some wharves to the drydock, but her big dynamo will be practically ruined and her boilers injured by submerision, and her engines and hull are severely damaged. The steamer was yesterday raised from the bottom by four big pile drivers and towed by the tug Fearless across the bay to Old Tacoma and beached, where she will receive such temporary repairs as will enable her to proceed to the drydock at Seattle. A millionaire mine owner of Alaska, named E. O. Lindbloom, and a friend known as "Cowboy Jake," got on "high horses" the other day at Seattle and entered an auction store where they raised a disturbance, and became so riotous as to be placed under arrest. The man of millions it appears had enough self-respect to conceal his name, and the police entry reads: "Ole Olson; Swede laborer; disorderly conduct; cash bail $50." The double eagle was of course forfeited.

Every Democratic vote is needed.

This applies to you.

STATE NEWS.

A Brief Summary of News Gathered from All Parts of the State.

Wm. L. Fondhus, a prominent rancher of Vashon Island, died Sunday. Richard Quinn, a man about 50 years of age, was found dead in bed in at Seattle lodging house Saturday. L. K. Munson's store at Shelton was wholly destroyed by fire last Friday night. Loss $4,000, consisting mainly of furniture, insured. The Comptroller of the Currency has declared a dividend of 15 per cent. in favor of the creditors of the insolvent First National Bank of Vancouver. It is proposed to establish a breeding station for sockeye salmon on Dukota creek, near Blaine, if the mills of Blaine can be induced to put in saw-dust burners. Cuba Stockton, the 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Stockton, of Suotomish, fell from a boat in which he was playing, Tuesday, and drowned in eight feet of water. Frank Koch, aged 17, was found dead under the Seattle power-house, Tuesday, and it is thought that he was electrocuted. It is evident that he was searching for copper as several strips were found in his pockets. Attorneys J. E. McGrew and A. G. McBride have been ordered to show cause at Seattle why they should not be debarred from practice. They are accused of having accepted cash to compromise a fraudulent real estate case. During the month the Seattle Electric Co. conductors took in $27 in interest half-dollars and quarters. Capt. Bell of the United States Secret Service thinks the spurious coin is made in the East and sent to this State for distribution. The farmers of some of the eastern counties propose extermination of the ground squirrel by crossing the breed with the timber squirrel from Kansas, which species can be destroyed. If the plan fails, the imported squirrel is an edible product and may be utilized for table purposes. The price of hogs has declined somewhat from the high rate of August and September. About $5.75 is now the ruling price per 100 pounds, a decline of 75 cents. The rate will probably be lower, for the potato crop is large and prices range from 30 to 40 cents for them, and by feeding the crop to hogs a dollar a hundred may be realized for the tubers. When Lucinda Wacca, the niece of the Italian gardener, at Seattle, eloped with the young man who drove the garbage wagon, and with $300 besides, the gardener hoped the errand pair could return to be forgiven, but many days have passed and he has no word of his missing niece. The police in the town about Seattle have been notified that the two are wanted, but the search so far has had no results.

He Grasped at Time but Caught a Small Part of Eternity.

A burglar giving the name of Thomas Casey, stole a watch from the living rooms above the Haworth fruit store, Tuesday afternoon, and being caught as he was leaving the premises by the sheriff and a volunteer posse surrounded the building and finally induced the thief to come out, when he was escorted to jail. The watch has not yet been found, but it is thought he may have laid it under the building. The thief, on trial, was convicted and sentenced to thirty days' imprisonment.
