A very creditable sketch entitled 'Spirit of the Lake,' appears in the Pacific Monthly for May, written by Mrs. Goldie Robertson Funk, of this city. It is based upon a legend connected with a beautiful sheet of crystal water that nestles in the foothills of the Cascades, near the source of Green River. Miss Hazel Harris was awarded a beautiful gold medal by the management of Providence Academy for general deportment and courteous treatment of her associates in the school-room, during the past term. It is needless to add that the award is a rare distinction in a service ranking so high in social amenities. The County Commissioners, acting under the new forest-fire law of the State, have designated the time between June 15th and October 1st as the closed season for burning 'slashings' in the county. During this time it will be unlawful for any person to burn 'choppings' without first obtaining a permit from the Commissioners.

Berglund; Secretary, E. E. Dale; Treasurer, Geo. R. Bettes; Guide, Anna Berglund; Warden, Willa Dale; Sentinel, John Rye, and Trustee, John L. Morgan. A noble pros was entered in the case of larceny that had been preferred against Ned Ferrer, who was accused of stealing a watch from Benny Johns. Johns is an Indian, and it appears Ferrer was a Indian companion who appropriated the watch, keep him from losing it, and had not had time to return it before the clutches of the law had fallen upon him. Capt. J. G. Parker has named his new boat still on the ways at Priest's Point, 'The Caswell.' She is named for the wife of Luke G. Caswell, of Elkhorn Ranch, Thunder Mountain, Idaho, a piece of Caswell's, the engineer of the Caswell will be Alex. C. Riddell, who served in that capacity under Capt. Parker, five years, while he commanded the Messenger. George Bemil, employed in Mrs. Mattingly's livery stable, last Saturday, by accident, took a draft from the wrong bottle in a medicine chest, while feeling unwell, which came very near ending his life. Instead of sulphate of soda he swallowed sulphate of zinc, a poison which began its deadly work immediately and continued until Dr. Kincaid had administered an antidote. The Capital Circle No. 269, Woodmen of Woodcraft, last Friday night, elected the following officers: Mrs. Portman, Guardian Neighbor; Mrs. Henry Ott, Advisor; Mrs. A. Wright, Magician; Mrs. Ida Yeager, Attendant; Mrs. Nettie Finley, Captain of the Guards; Mrs. Brownie, Inner Sentinel; Mrs. Mary Lane, Outer Sentinel; Lillian Matson, Musician, and Otto Braeger, Manager. The civil suit against Dr. Mitchell brought by Dr. La Crose, has been on trial this week in the Superior Court. Five thousand dollars of damage has been claimed, in the land deal which constituted the basis of the criminal case which was tried last week so completely vindicated the character of the defendant. The examination of witnesses was resumed this morning, and the case will probably fill out the week. Gulbranson, Treasurer; O. D. Sutton, Sergeant-at-Arms; Fred Adams, Assistant Sergeant-at-Arms; Campbell, Doorkeeper; F. E. Harris, Sentinel; W. H. Boston, Chaplain, and E. O. Robbins, Trustee. Mrs. Minnie Webster fills the chair of Past President. Bessie, the eleven-year-old daughter of Mrs. Fred Cronquist, was very badly injured Tuesday, in a bicycle collision. The child was riding down Tenth street, going east, when Fred Sypher came down the Franklin hill, at a rapid pace, striking her wheel and throwing her over the side of the road. The victim did not recover consciousness for some time after the accident. Her limbs are badly cut and her face fearfully bruised, and the result might have been still more serious had not the heavy fire extinguisher been applied to the smart of outraged law might prove an excellent restraint upon fast or reckless riding. A verdict of not guilty was rendered last Friday, at 8 p. m., after five hours' deliberation, by the jury in the Dr. Mitchell case. Nobody thought that the doctor would be convicted, a divided jury being about the worst that was anticipated, but it appears the high reputation of the defendant served him a turn in removing any doubt that might, under other conditions, have resulted from the story told by the prosecution. The doctor has received the hearty congratulations of his friends ever since for his happy release from a very trying position, that result from circumstances backed probably by the perverseness of human nature. The Olympia erred when it stated that the Pacific House, (now no more, having just been razed to the ground) and its parts carried away, or burned to ashes) was built in 1858, and Capt. Parker recalls the fact that Col. Cook passed over to his store, a one-story frame building standing precisely where Little Zeo now performs her lubrications, and asked him to name his new hostelry. The Captain, influenced by a quaint sense of humor and knowing that the Colonel possessed a somewhat irascible temper, at once suggested the name 'Little Zeo' in the hope that it might act as an emollient on the acts of its host and owner. It was long afterwards that the Captain explained its suggestive origin, and Col. Cook's comments at once exemplified the appropriateness and necessity. That date was in the Fall of 1853, five years before the Olympian had placed it. It is probably best, if there still remains any disposition to assert the 'Seattle Spirit' and welcome enterprise, to pass the report of the special committee of the Chamber of Commerce over in silence, after the animated discussion which can result in anything but united effort if we want to promote the professed objects of that organization. It seems that the committee thought they were to obtain credentials for admission to some sacred place instead of insuring the enterprise that would forever set at rest all doubts of Olympia's triumphant future. The energy with which a member of the committee insisted that an adverse report to Messrs. Hammond and Ball's proposition be adopted by the Chamber, manifested a conservatism that might do for a village that never expected to be anything else, but never to a city where evolution in time sifts the grain from the chaff. Suffice it to say that the Chamber, with almost unanimity accorded more time for consideration of the proposition in its various details. Linemen are on a strike in Tacoma.

Haying Tools. SCYTHES, SNATHS, FORKS, RAKES AND HOES. Good Assortment. Prices Right. AT THE NEW POWER WORKS. Olympia Light & Power Co. Redeems Its Promise to Supply an Up-to-Date Plant. The Olympia Light & Power Co. has promised some months ago, has made all arrangements and entered into contracts for construction of a new power-house at the lower Tumwater falls which will be adequate for a city many times the size of Olympia. The building will be modern in its equipment and substantial in construction. Some of the rock will be blasted away to secure a permanent foundation and upon it a structure of stone with steel framework will be constructed. A steel flume nine feet in diameter will convey the water from the lower end of the box-flume, where the present machinery is installed, but the large box flume built at such a heavy cost a few years ago, is about the only part of the old power system that will be utilized in the new. The new plant will afford 3,000 horse-power. The electrical equipment already contracted for from the Westinghouse Co., will consist of two 750 and one 267 horse power machines, driven by two Victor Turbines, each of 800 horse-power, controlled by Lombard governors, the best made, to adjust the power to the service required. While the contract for the building, was let to the Pacific Bridge Co., this week, and signed by C. F. Swigert on behalf of that company, the order for the supervision of the construction has been placed with E. W. Cummings, Seattle, who is said to be an expert in such work. In fact, we cannot see wherein a single point has been neglected which may result in failure of the object sought, to supply one of the best electrical plants for its size in the United States. The right of a person or firm to recover for financial injury sustained by reason of a boycott by a labor organization is involved in a suit filed at Whatcom, Tuesday, by C. H. Zumwalt, proprietor of a saloon, against A. J. Blythe, Secretary of the local union of the United Association of Plumbers. When Zumwalt opened his saloon his plumbing work was done by non-union workmen. Writing as Secretary of the local union, Blythe informed Zumwalt that he must pay into the local organization $50 fine for hiring non-union workmen or suffer a boycott. Sixty days later Blythe wrote a letter of apology, saying that the union had ascertained that he (Zumwalt) was ignorant of the existence of a union there and had not meant to oppose organized labor. Zumwalt says that he suffered $1,000 loss of trade during the sixty days between the sending of the first and second letters, and asks the court to award him that amount of damages.

No other coffee house does this. No other coffee house looks after their customers so closely. There isn't a merchant in any town but that would gladly accept the sole agency for CHASE & SANBORN'S COFFEE and abandon all others, which, in itself, is conclusive evidence of their selling and drinking qualities.
