Chas. T. Lansdale has bought the grocery store of the Olympia Lumber & Mercantile Co., on the corner of Fourth and Jefferson streets, and will take charge Monday. Mr. Lansdale has had considerable experience in the grocery line, and we believe he will enter upon an exceptionally profitable trade in his extended field of labor. Read this advertisement in this issue of the STANDARD.

An application for a writ of habeas corpus was filed in the Supreme Court Tuesday by Frank Zeener of Chehalis county. The applicant is held in custody by the Sheriff of Chehalis county under the statute which makes it a felony for a man to live on the earnings of a fallen woman. The applicant for the writ raises the question of the constitutionality of the law under which Zeener was arrested. The Supreme Court issued an order to the Sheriff of Chehalis county to show cause on December 18th why the writ should not be granted.

Albert Insel this week brought to town his prize pumpkin, from his productive farm on the shores of Lake Isabel, and it tipped the scales at 98 pounds, or six pounds more than the Lyle pumpkin, now in the Journal window. Besides the big fellow, there were eight other pumpkins on the Insel vine which averaged 45 pounds, and there is no telling how big a single one would have grown. Mr. Insel donated his pumpkin to the Seattle General hospital for Thanksgiving pies. The Journal, or any of our Thurston county farmers beat this?

The ladies of Woodcraft at their meeting held last Friday evening, elected the following officers for the ensuing term: Past Guardian Neighbor, Mrs. L. Fortman; Guardian Neighbor, Mrs. Henry Ott; Adviser, Mrs. Alex. Wright; Magician, Mrs. J. T. Otis; Outer Sentinel, Mrs. D. E. Hendricks; Inner Sentinel, Mrs. Mary Lams; Musician, Mrs. Rowles; Attendant, Mrs. W. H. Yeager; Captain of Guards, Nell Finley; Manager, Bathburn; Clerk, John T. Ott. The circle invited the W. O. W. to have a combined installation in January, at which time the newly elected officers take their seats.

Why does the Recorder persist in using the word "dancer" when alluding to the passage from Tacoma to Olympia? "Mr. Flapoodle came down from Tacoma," one day, and "a large number of Chinamen came down on another, from the canneries at the mouth of the Sound," on their way to Everett. Unless our enterprising little contemporary can liberally make water run up hill, the expression is faulty. The excuse that north is at the top of the map, by usage for convenience, does not justify anybody in reversing the laws of gravitation although it may apparently place Tacoma on top by so doing.

County Superintendent Brown Monday received from the State Superintendent's office the list of successful applicants for teachers' certificates at the late examination. The successful applicants from Thurston county were: Martha Groat, Rose Woods, Maude Howland, of Olympia; Gertrude Howland, B. M. Davenport, Little Rock; Mary F. Conway, Meadow; Allie Norman, Pleasant Glade; Herbert Raymond, Collinsdale; Emma Whittier, Chambers Prairie; Agatha Shirley, Rochester; Edna E. Wiseman, Gull Harbor; Bertha Radke, Lacey; A. Birdie Cooper, Yelm, and E. N. Steele, Tenino. First grade certificates—Gracie Greenbank, Olympia; Lillian Abernethy, S. I. Stone, Yelm, and Geo. W. Slickles, Tumwater.

MILLS & COWLES

STATE NEWS.

A Brief Summary of News Gathered From All Parts of the State.

The first lumber yard Pasco has had for years is now in operation.

The shingle mills of Castle Rock and Kelso have been closed down because of a strike among the shingle weavers.

J. B. Johnson, one of the pioneers of Whitman county, has sold his farm near Colfax, consisting of 440 acres to Dr. J. J. Howell.

A Spokane dispatch of the 19th states that John B. Allen, son of the late Senator Allen, of Seattle, had been suddenly seized on the streets.

He stopped people, asked foolish questions, tried to provoke fights and pulled a knife when arrested. He was locked up. He had been there for a week on a spree, though he was sober when jailed.

CASTORIA. The kind you have always bought. Green River Hot Springs. Excursion tickets to Hot Springs Wash., and return, good 30 days, on sale all the time at Northern Pacific office. Rate, $3.75. A. E. STANFORD, Agent N. P. R.

The shingle men of Snohomish county met at Everett Wednesday behind closed doors, and agreed to affiliate with the organization that is being formed to be known as the Interstate Red Cedar Shingle Association.

Sixty shingle men were present. Headquarters will be established in Seattle. The association expects to include all shingle manufacturers of the Pacific Northwest, and to control the output and appropriation of the product for each mill.

The rules become effective on January 1, when prices are to be as follows: Stars, $1.50; stars, $1.60; standards, 60 cents; Eureka, $2; Perfections, $2.25. This is an increase of 20 cents a thousand. The association guarantees to handle 75 per cent of the output of all the mills in the combination that manufacture the proper proportion at the fixed price. It also agrees to take the remaining 25 per cent, but at slightly reduced rates.

Searching parties were immediately organized, all the neighbors and many others were engaged all night in a systematic effort to find her. Every foot of ground, every hole, shed, or other place of concealment searched, without success, but it was not till yesterday morning that she was found in an old deserted schoolhouse to south and west of the appropriate limits, where she had wandered in the rain and finally found that shelter.

She was sitting asleep in a chair. Messrs. Morris Crandall and Coates, who were making a last round-up of the outlying district, before abandoning the land search for dredging in the bay, for, as hours passed in unsuccessful endeavor, it was thought that she must have found rest in a watery grave. Dr. Mitchell, who was immediately summoned, found the girl to be in an apparently sound and sane condition, although she had passed the night without hat or jacket, and her clothing must have been saturated with rain before shelter was found.

She inquired if her father had been looking for her and seemed somewhat surprised at the excitement her absence had created.

A HAPPY ENDING.

Excitement Over the Absence From Home of Miss Mamie McIntire.

Quite an excitement was occasioned Wednesday evening, about 6 o'clock, by the disappearance of Miss Mamie McIntire, from her home on West-side. The cause for apprehension for her safety rested upon the fact that the young lady had been suffering from mental depression, caused by too close application to her duties as stenographer and clerk, in the Fish Commission's office, where she had been employed several years. This depression had resulted in melancholia, and she had, it seems, talked of suicide as a relief from mental and bodily affliction.

Searching parties were immediately organized, all the neighbors and many others were engaged all night in a systematic effort to find her. Every foot of ground, every hole, shed, or other place of concealment searched, without success, but it was not till yesterday morning that she was found in an old deserted schoolhouse to south and west of the appropriate limits, where she had wandered in the rain and finally found that shelter.

COFFEE!

THE "BIGGEST" GROCERY

IN THE CITY OFFERS YOU: THE "BEST" OF COFFEE

When you buy the CHASE & SANBORN'S "HIGH GRADE" COFFEES, you are not experimenting; you always get the best for the money you pay.

This is because they are unlimited in means, and do not spare time or money to thoroughly study the coffee business. They profess to be, and are, experts in that line.

They have but one merchant in a town to handle their goods, and the patrons of that merchant never use stale or old roasted coffee, from the fact that they order all old roasted coffee shipped back, and send fresh roasted in its place.

No other coffee house does this. No other coffee house looks after their customers so loyally. There isn't a merchant in any town but that would gladly accept the sole agency for CHASE & SANBORN'S COFFEE and abandon all others, which, in itself, is conclusive evidence of their selling and drinking qualities.

Do not be deceived but come to headquarters and get COFFEE that you know to be best.
