The city authorities are about to make a raid on the unoccupied shacks which constitute such an eyesore on the northern water-front.

J. T. Douglas, a former grocer of this city, goes to Wapato, Yakima county, to engage in the same branch of trade with the Hub Commercial Co.

Misses Anna and Ione Rinehart left Wednesday evening for California, where the former will resume her studies at Stanford and Ione enter the Hopkins Art School.

Dogs without license tags will now have to go on the back streets to escape impounding and possibly execution. The day of toleration has passed. The Avenger pursues them.

Horatio Alling, Robt. Bridges and J. H. Schively will be the orators on Labor Day, and it is not proposed to "cut out" either of them to enhance the pleasure of any one.

The House Bros' new launch "T. & W." and the Traveler made half-hourly trips to the park Sunday. Several hundred persons availed themselves of the quick trips to visit that point.

The M. E. Church people wisely determined on a picnic at Mission Park, this year, instead of "Bargain Counter" Point Defiance, as had been the custom of many Olympia outing people.

A lively scene is being held daily now between the County Commissioners, sitting as a Board of Equalization, and with tax-payers who believe they have been assessed for more than a fair average.

Lawyer Israel was suddenly called to Alaska on professional business this week, and will be absent till about a fortnight from this date. During his absence his stenographer will have charge of the office.

Ben Phillips of Webster, Lewis county, and Miss Gertrude Wakefield, of Curtis, have announced their intention to wed by securing a license from the County Auditor, who acts as Cupid's aid in such matters.

The City Council have ordered a house, built on a street leading from East Bay avenue, by J. F. Rhine, before asking a permit to be furnished before it was considered by the Council, removed. Protest was filed by L. P. Sheldon, on which the act of that body is based.

The Supreme Court has decided that traps and fish-nets are entitled to protection, and when steamers have deliberately run into them suits may be maintained for damages. The judgment of James Fowler for $605 damages by the steamer Fleetwood, owned by Martin and Harrison, on the Chelalis river, was the basis of the suit.

The liquor license granted to W. G. Moore, has been transferred to McKay A. Phillips, the purchaser of "Boxer Resort," formerly the Indian tavern. The cause of selling is prolonged illness of its former proprietor.

An ordinance for acceptance of a tract from the county to extend Seventh street through the Middleton addition, between Main and Water, and one vacating the alley running north and south in the block bounded by Franklin, Union, Adams and Tenth streets, have been introduced in the City Council.

Will that man Goss never get through "milking" the State treasury for alleged claims on capital construction? He has a new demand of $11,372, after several outrageous offers, in the face of delay that cost the State heavily and the many errors in construction that lowers the value of the building. He ought to be unceremoniously kicked out of court.

A decided compliment to Mrs. Chambers and her aids was the proffer of the State Commission to pay all their expenses if they would remain another week in charge of the Washington building. Emer Johnson, State Executive Commissioner, in charge of the building, says that the Olympia administration has been the most successful of all local demonstrations of hospitality.

Two doct men strayed into our town this week, and were promptly told to move on by the police. It is presumed there was cause for suspicion of their integrity. One little act shows that they possessed hobo manners, at least. They sat in public restaurants, with their hats on, while they could certainly have observed that all other diners had complied with that first act of a gentleman, to sit uncovered in a dining-room.

John Erickson, who lives near Mound Prairie, was brutally assaulted by his son-in-law, Harry Slater, a few days ago, and a warrant has been issued for his arrest. A dispute had arisen between Slater and a neighbor named Ombrick, over settlement for a cow, and Erickson had promised to intercede with his son-in-law to compromise the matter. Slater became very angry because his relative had not wholly sided with him, and calling upon the aged man, he brutally assaulted him, knocking him down and jumping on him. He was so badly injured that neighbors spent the night with his wife in caring for him and treating his severe wounds.

Mr. Reder, of the firm of Reder and Phipps, the grocers, has installed a fine platform scale, on which to weigh hay, grain, potatoes, and such other commodities, and when not in use may be used by the ladies for ascertaining their weight. That puts us in mind that in "eye time of yore" a much better way for weighing the girls was practiced by the "boys," by placing an arm around the waist of the "bit of sweetness" and telling her to "step on my foot." It is noticed that to be absolutely accurate on the amount of avoidance thus measured, however, it was necessary, sometimes to take quite a number of long, lingering "helts," especially of one's sweetheart.

George G. Mills has been appointed District Deputy Grand Exalted Ruler of the P. O. E. of Western Washington, by the lately elected G. E. R. of the order in the United States, Robt. W. Brown, of Kentucky. It is a position of no little honor and responsibility, and is well bestowed. George is one of "the boys" and the STANDARD always finds delight in applauding the many distinctions fairly earned, bestowed upon him, and as each is a verification of its judgment of the man, it can be said that he can place him in a position of degree of human character. Mr. Mills is never wanting in inclination or ability to act well his part in the drama of life.

Dr. O. D. Doane, of The Dalles, Oregon, paid our city a visit this week, to look up, if possible, the acquaintances he had made in this city, while a boy, and his father, Rev. N. Doane, resided here as presiding elder of the M. E. Church in a district comprising all that part of the Territory west of the Cascades, extending from the Columbia river to Whidley Island. The doctor was a few years younger than the editor of this paper when he started the STANDARD, in 1880, who bears a pleasing memory of the Doanes so inseparably connected with the history of this State, that a part of Oregon Territory. Rev. N. Doane was closely connected, likewise with the early history of Portland, where he preached and taught school in the early fifties. The doctor's father died last May, in Portland, where at times he had spent so many years of usefulness. The search for old-timers was, however, disheartening to the himself aged pioneer. He found less than half a dozen.

It is singular that the local dailies get things mixed up in their efforts to correct each other on incidents of bygone days. For instance, the city states that Slater the assailant of his father-in-law near Mound Prairie, this week was a prisoner many years ago, and when Sheriff Billings was bringing him to town for some misdemeanor, he was shot by the officer from his pocket, which inflicted a wound on himself from which he died. Rec, the evening paper, calls attention to the fact that the late Sheriff Billings, was not killed by the discharge of his pistol, "for he was now even a greater hero of the capital city almost daily." Now the Mr. Billings who is seen on the "streets daily," is the father of the "late sheriff Billings," and was likewise Sheriff, before him. Late Sheriff Billings, the man who shot him, died himself, is now engaged in land crusing, and is not to be seen on the streets daily, and indeed, only at remote intervals. There, gentlemen, we have untangled the yarn; now try to keep it straight.

Frank Blakeslee, manager of the Olympia Hardware Co., is an up-to-date merchant, as his business career has amply shown, and a friend to the ladies as well. He occasionally gives away by lot, a range, or some other household essential, to those who visit his store, whether they are customers or not. He has now even a greater prize in store that may be enjoyed by all. It is a demonstration in cooking by an artist in that line—Prof. Becker. The Chief began his useful lectures with "illustrations," as the newspapers say, yesterday morning, and he has already demonstrated that he is a master of the culinary art, and that the Domestic is probably the best range in existence. Ah! the range of the jokers. It is not so much philanthropy or gallantry that incites this work, after all, but simply a cold business proposition which is covered up and the profusion of good things he prepares and cooks before your eyes, including a fine cup of coffee! And you can lunch upon the delicacies at his expense. Prof. Becker has created a furore in some of the larger cities, where he has been invited to prolong his stay and instruct classes in cooking. Don't fail to attend one of these lectures. He will be here today and tomorrow.

Receiver of the U. S. Land Office in this city, J. O. B. Scooby, has barred Jesse T. Murphy, once Register of the same service here, from practice before him, with the recommendation to the Commissioner at Washington that it extend to all other land offices, for making charges of bribery and corruption many times, against the local officers of the service. The final feature that broke the "camel's back," seems to have been due to Murphy's pugnacious nature and the determination of the Receiver for continuing a contest case till his successor is appointed, on the ground that one of the attorney's interested is soon to be associated with himself in land matters, and he preferred not to pass upon the merits of the case for that reason, as the delay will not take long, his resignation having been filed a month or more ago. This displeased Mr. Murphy very much and he indulged in intemperate remarks, and he deemed it wise thing to disbar the attorney while he yet had the power to do so. And now the deposed attorney boasts that he will "make good" his charges of fraud, and it is said that he has called upon Attorney Henny to make an investigation. A monkey and parrot time is near at hand.

Bids on Penitentiary Steel Wing and Cells.

The bids were opened Monday for steel wing and cells of the State penitentiary, and were all simply for that work and not including raising the walls of the building. The award was delayed to afford time for an estimate of the cost of that improvement by convict labor and pen-made brick. The bids and bidders on the steel and cells, were as follows:

Minneapolis Steel & Machinery Co., Seattle, $15,900 for steel work, $1,100 for six cells; Mather & Bro., St. Louis, $14,444 for steel, $1,208 for cells; Western Iron Works, San Francisco, $13,990 for steel and $1,357 for cells; Pauley Jail Building Co., $23,475 for steel and $1,970 for cells; Stewart Jail Works Co., steel $21,165; cells $2,097; Diebold & Co., Lock Co., steel $18,584, Diebold plant, $17,519, cells $1,215 and $1,100; Van Horn Iron Works Co., steel, $25,100; cells, $2,510.
