Howard E. Gray is drawing the plans for the Women's Club-house and will have charge of its construction.

The public library will be open from 2 to 5 and 7 and 8 o'clock tomorrow, in charge of Miss Janet Moore.

Preparations are being made for a general system of permanent paving on Fourth and Main streets the coming summer.

The fees in the general office of the Secretary of State for January broke the record, being $8,062.85.

The enrollment of students in the public schools up to date is 1,282, which is an increase of 117 over the record of this date last year.

John H. Price, of Tumwater, has been enjoying a visit from his sister and daughter, Mrs. Frank Theimen and Mrs. George Blair, of Portland.

J. C. Conine, of Yelm, was in the city Monday. He would like to be a delegate to the National Democratic Convention which meets in Denver next July.

The Equality Club held an interesting meeting in the annex of the Christian Church, Tuesday night, with an attendance of about twenty members.

Mary E. Lawrence has bought part of block 13 in Ayer's addition, of H. A. Cruikshank, for a consideration of $550. It embraces three and two-thirds acres.

The Commissioners of this county have about decided upon making a new and thorough timber cruise to secure a fair assessment and reduce the burden of taxation.

The Olympia Athletic Club won a game of basketball from the St. Martin's College team, Saturday night, played in the Epworth League hall, the score standing 24 to 13.

The Eastside school has received 70 books of juvenile reading to form the nucleus of a school library. The Westside school has likewise made a beginning with about 20 volumes.

What is the use of compelling the use of concrete or brick for the walls of a building, to guard against fire, and surround them with a mansard roof, which is notably a mansard roof?

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Swaney entertained a number of friends last evening at their home on East Fifth street, in honor of that gentleman's birthday. Five-hundred was played.

The County Commissioners of the State will hold a meeting in Tacoma on Tuesday and Wednesday of next week, to discuss matters of general interest connected with their duties.

The Daughters of the Revolution met Saturday afternoon, at the residence of Mrs. C. J. Lord, and elected new officers, as follows: Regent, Mrs. M. S. Remington; Vice Regent, Miss Edith McKenzie; Secretary, Miss Clara McPherson; Treasurer, Mrs. Ella R. Smith; Corresponding Secretary, Miss Gertrude M. Vance; Historian, Mrs. Malvina Hill; Registrar, Mrs. Fannie S. O'Brien.

Cases in the Superior Court where, in Judge J. W. Robinson appeared as attorney are troubling the opposing counsel. It will be remembered the Judge was suspended from practicing in the courts for six months. Meanwhile, in order to call up one of the above matters for hearing, it is necessary to give Mr. Robinson's clients twenty days notice, before any legal steps can be taken adversely to their interests.

The Women's Club-house, corner of Tenth and Washington streets, was sold by auction last Saturday, and brought $210, a small advance on the upset price. It was bought by T. J. Blauevelt, who will remove the building to Ninth and Adams streets. It is somewhat of a historic structure, having been built nearly a half century ago by the prominent pioneer, Jake Myers, and for many years the home of R. P. Shocraft. It was also for a year in the early 70s, the residence of the noted journalist, Deriah Brown, Sr., while he was connected editorially with the STANDARD. It had been the home of the Women's Club several years.

How the Moss could have made so glaring a mistake as to assert that the county played a part in a pipe organ, the first Presbyterian church will give as the first in the city, while St. John's Church people have been the last fifteen years the owners of a splendid instrument in the church service ever since. It was acquired mainly through the energy and ardor of Gen. Ross G. O'Brien, who patiently drilled some of the parishioners into a wonderfully effective orchestra. So far, at least, as the rendition of "Mikado" and "Pinafore" were concerned, and quite a sum was raised for the organ fund to pay for its cost, we have, nearly $2,000.

The City Council favorably considered a resolution Monday night, providing for the installation of a chemical extinguisher on Westside, where the distance is so great from the fire-house and the grade so steep as to practically preclude all attempt to check a fire before it gains a headway. It is a wonderful device, which is a property. An extinguisher that it is thought will perform good service will cost $5.

At a meeting of property owners to consider the extension of the plan for street paving operations contemplated next Spring and Summer, it was decided to recommend the extension of the residence district lying east of Jefferson on Fourth street, and all south of Seventh and Main, from the proposed measure. Mr. Mottman, who is largely interested in the southern part of the city, stated that the cost would be $1,000 per lot, and very few of the lots would sell for that price at the present value of realty. The motion carried, but the vote was reconsidered and passed. With the decided opposition manifested, however, it is doubtful whether the city will include the districts outlying the business part of town.

In a dispute over a check, D. W. Williamson, his wife, Al. Burdette of the Black Lake Lumber Co., and a murderous-looking pistol had an exciting mix-up at the N. D. depot, Tuesday evening. Williamson declared that the check had not been honored by one of the local banks, and he proceeded on sight, as the gamin says, to take it out of Burdette's skin. During the melee Williamson displayed a pistol, which was promptly taken away from him by his wife, Policeman English, who contrary to general belief, happened to be on the spot, arrested the two men for fighting, the woman for having a concealed weapon, a possession and the pistol for being unloaded. Williamson pleaded guilty of assault at the trial, Wednesday, and was fined $35 and costs, aggregating a total of $47.80. The charge against Mrs. W. of carrying a concealed weapon, was dismissed, it being shown that she came in possession of the revolver while acting as peace-maker.

THE EQUALITY CLUB.

"Mizpah" Reviews Some of Its Salient Objects.

ED. STANDARD: A meeting of the Woman's Suffrage Club was held at the Christian Church, Tuesday evening. Mrs. McHenry, the President, read Psalm I., and offered up an inspiring prayer.

Miss Sapp entertained the audience by reading a paper, sixteen reasons why women should vote. Miss Sapp is an earnest worker for woman's equal rights. She is touched by what the Master called the prophetic soul of the wide world dreaming of things to come.

It is said sometimes that women have all the liberty they need, and all the political privilege they know how to use. If the ballot is not a natural right, but only a political privilege, then, when men come together and organize what they call the body politic, they assume authority to govern, to which they can lay no claim. And the only thing in justification is, that it is not best for women to participate in the administration of government.

What business has any man in America to decide for any woman, as to whether she has as much liberty as is good for her? Women are "people," and are as much entitled to the ballot as men, but they are defrauded by men of their rights, or privilege, and are unjustly excluded from all participation in the administration of government. A prominent objection to women suffrage is, that it would give the ballot to a vicious, ignorant class of females. But a much larger class of ignorant, vicious men now vote, and no objection is made to them on this ground. Simple justice demands that women should have equal rights. If vicious character does not debar a man from the franchise, it ought not to exclude the women. The vote of a bad woman is no worse than the vote of a bad man. If one is sustained, why should the other be condemned? I honestly believe that every woman should study the questions for themselves, and do all in their power to get members, who will in time become voters. All history shows that women are as patriotic and self-sacrificing as men, and while they abhor fighting as a business, they yet can fight, when their lives, their honor and their country demand it.

A QUERY.

Do you think that a metaphysician with a long psychological plan, could induce microscopical efforts, in an anthropological man? Could a flat phonological failure with a physiological chill, love a sociological expert? Could a meteorological thrill, with an archaeological splitter, of a dark theological hue, give a nice philosophical treatise on the eyes of my Nellie or blue?

Could Assyriological talent, make a sweet chronological chart of a mineralogical goldbug, with a true anatomical heart? Could a bibliographic genius, with bacteriological hair, give an ecclesiastical lecture on Seattle's zoological air?

Could a swift technological howler, or rabbinical exponent true, give a lexicographical reason, why the eyes of my Nellie are blue?

Could a methodological blockhead, having craniological feet, paint a dry neurological picture of a wet geological street?

Could a smooth astrological fakir, with a teleological brain, give a paleontological hoodlum, in a long ethnological strain? Do you think ethnological records, astronomical worlds will imbue, with correct biographical statements, as to why Nellie's eyes were so blue?

DRIFTWOOD

BY LUE F. VERNON.

Quaintly fair, with tawny hair, And eyes that please me well, I love you more, I now declare, Than tongue can ever tell.

No matter, sir, there's still a way To tell your love to me. I'm up to date and free to say That money talks to me.

Few persons are as easily fooled by others as they are themselves. If every poor man were a philanthropist, the rich ones would not be needed.

Sailing ships should make good use of the wind. They have so much "tackle" you know.

It is said the world owes every man a living. But it takes more to collect it than it's worth.

I have more space in my room now. The varnish is beginning to get scraped off the furniture.

Never tell a woman she is pretty unless you mean it. For she will believe you spoke the truth, whether you do or not.

Good nature is the very air of a good mind, the sign of a large and generous soul and the peculiar soil in which virtue prospers.

The largest, most powerful and richest of all professions, the law, exists because people will not, or cannot, do what they are told.

Women are so conscientious that, when they are in a bath-tub and the hired girl tells them that some man has called to see them, they blush.

Some people, I have observed, have too much wisdom to be very happy. A certain amount of ignorance is necessary to make things go easily.

It is an odd day that the name of sky pilot Matthews, of Seattle, does not appear in the papers of that city, whether he cats quail out of season, roasts some saloon man, or sprinkles the baby.

It sounds funny, but an Olympia doctor declares that currants are "Nature's edible black pearls," because they are a delightful sweetmeat, a nourishing food and a natural medicine, all in one.

An Olympia girl is getting to be quite an enthusiastic piano-player. Too bad her mother doesn't persuade her to join the musicians' union. She wouldn't work more than eight hours a day at it then.

In Seattle at the American and Bismark Cafe, on Sunday, detectives found that whisky was being served in teacups, and arrests followed. This surely proves the old adage "all the king's horses and all the king's men cannot put together a good team."

San Francisco has a tobacco-chewing wife who is suing for divorce. Well, let her chew if she chooses, though the habit is not a nice one for a wife; there are lots of wives who do worse things than that.—Tacoma News Herald.

Yes, some even try to cook. At least Bryan's name is always good for a Democratic cheer with a background of night.—E. F.

Now substitute in the foregoing, "Roosevelt-Republican," and you have the bare, naked, plain and unvarnished truth.

I believe women would make first-class jurors. No need for long deliberations if they were chosen to give verdicts. In case of failure to agree it would only be necessary for some merchant to advertise a bargain sale, and I'll bet there would be a verdict before you could wink.

First Olympia Woman: "Doesn't it make you the least bit envious to see what elegant furniture Mrs. Putnam is putting into her house next door?"

Second Olympia Woman: "Not a bit. My husband says it will be sold by the Sheriff within six months—and I'll be there to buy."

Aunt (to little Freddy): "What dress had your mother on when she went to the party this evening?" Little Freddy: "A long, white short dress."

Aunt: "Nonsense, it could not be long and short at the same time." Freddy: "Yes, aunty. It was long, at the bottom and short at the top."

"I presume," he said, with an air of deep thought, "that the daily study of the peculiarities and features of meteorological conditions is responsible in some part for making the weather-vane." Noticing that his listeners preserved an unsmiling silence, he went on to show by argument and example that undue notice of any peculiarity of the trait was apt to make the possessor proud. But still they demanded a diagram.

"Four times as many men have applied for admission to the city jail during the first eight days of this year as those who have been arrested. More than 100 men sleep on the cement floors of the jail each night because they have no money. Last night 14 men slept on the floor of the jail cells. So far this month 885 men have been given lodging at the jail, while 314 men and women have been arrested."

The foregoing is a news item clipped from the P.-I. of a recent date. And this is the days of "prosperity" and the "big stick." Ugh!

"You ought to go to the Yukon," said an Olympia girl the other night to Mr. Staylate.

"Why so?" asked Mr. Staylate.

"They have a night there," replied the Olympia girl, "two months' long."

He went.

Dresden (Germany) owns a singular piece of property. It is a morning-paper, the Dresden Anzeiger. This paper, upon the death of its last proprietor, was willed to the city on condition that all profits arising therefrom should be spent upon the public parks. Last year, (1907) a large park-ground of nearly eight acres was purchased, and it will soon be ready for use. The paper continues to hold the respect of all citizens, for the trust has been carried out in the broadest spirit, and the paper has never been employed to foster any school of opinion.

If I were a politician I would rather be called "that young street Republican," as was said of Senator John L. Wilson, by the Hon. C. S. Voorhes, then Territorial Congressman of Washington, and be snowed under so to speak, by ballot, than to be elected to the highest office in the gift of the
